TROUBLE IS FEARED.

History of Our Misunderstanding with Venezuela's Government.

State of Bermudez Sold Rights in Asphalt Lake Which Another Company Claims—Warship Now on Scene of Action.

Venezuela has been officially notified by Minister Loomis that American rights and interests in Venezuelan territory will be zealously guarded and protected.

There has been trouble brewing for some weeks between the New York and Bermudez company, an American concern, and what is known as the Warner-Quinlan-Sullivan syndicate. The latter organization claims certain lands and property by virtue of a decree of the Venezuelan government, which the other company claims it now holds and is entitled to hold until 1908 under a concession.

The United States is not taking sides in this dispute, but insists that any dispossessing or action looking toward an ousting of the New York and Bermudez company shall be by due process of law.

The gunboat Scorpion has been dispatched to the scene of action, and a number of other vessels are available if they are needed.

Venezuela is not menaced by the United States alone, however. Great Britain is interested in the seizure of the two steamers of the Orinoco Shipping & Trading company, which have British registers. In addition, the country is in a state of ferment, brought about by the activity of followers of ex-President Andrade, whom Castro, the present president, overthrew.

The magnitude of the outbreak is not known, but it is apparent that the soldiers are not wholly in sympathy with Gen. Castro. As his power depends upon the force under him, the Venezuelans opposed to the government wil probably take advantage of the attitude of the United States and Great Britain to bring about a revolution.

With this revolution the United States is not concerned, except in the effect it may have upon American interests. At this moment the anxiety of the authorities is due to the hostile attitude adopted by Gen. Castro with respect to the wishes of the American government.

FRANCIS B. LOOMIS.
(Minister of the United States to Venezuela.)

The Warner-Quinlan-Sullivan syndicate asserts that under the recent decree of the Venezuelan government and the decision of the lower court it is entitled to a portion of the property held by the New York & Bermudez company, and that it is unnecessary to await further legal action.

The view taken by the state department is based not only upon arguments made by the claimants, but upon cable reports received from Minister Loomis gave the government to understand that Venezuelans filed claims to certain portions of the asphalt property in the state of Bermudez, claimed by the New York & Bermudez company, and sold them to the syndicate.

The syndicate at once proceeded to take possession of the property covered by the claims. There are armed men, therefore, representing both sides, and a conflict may occur between them. If an attempt is made by the Venezuelan government to dispossess the New York & Bermudez company, as the advices of the state department indicated, it would not surprise the officials should the agents of the Warner-Quinlan-Sullivan syndicate assist them.

The value of the concession held by the New York & Bermudez company is not known, but it is understood that there is sufficient pitch to supply asphalt for the whole world. The company obtained the concession in 1883, and it was to run for 25 years. It began active operations in 1888.

The concession was purchased for the ridiculously small figure of $3,000.

Jury Trials in England.

Is trial by jury becoming less popular? The London Law Journal thinks there is some ground for believing that it is. The proportion of actions to be tried without juries in the queen's bench division during the present term is exceptionally large; the jury cases number 205 and the nonjury cases 190. Even more striking is the want of faith in trial by jury displayed by litigants in the county courts. The total number of actions determined by these tribunals in 1899 was 732,094, and only 1,018 were tried with juries. The number of actions tried with juries in 1899 was, with the exception of 1897, the smallest for 16 years. Possibly this decline in the popularity of trial by jury is due to the increasing tendency of juries to disagree.

A CROWD TO BUY TICKETS.

MANY IN LINE AT BOX OFFICE AT MUSIC HALL THIS MORNING.

After Tickets For "Elijah"—First of the Crowd Arrived as Early as 5 o'Clock.

The sale of tickets for the oratorio of "Elijah" opened this morning at Music Hall at 9 o'clock, and at that time there were several hundred people in line waiting to make their selections. It is not known definitely just what time the first person arrived, but it was somewhere about 5 o'clock. After that the people came in bunches steadily until long after 9 o'clock. Some of the late comers were greatly surprised to see such a crowd present, for they thought it would be easy securing a place in line.

The line made a circle of the lobby and extended up the stairs far into the gallery, and near the end a double line was formed. Everyone was good natured and seemed willing to abide their time in reaching the box office. A few persons took advantage of their friends who had come early and importuned them to select seats for them. In this way much time was saved. Manager Maze Edwards was in the box office, while George T. Rogers, as treasurer for the Choral Society, was also present and looked after the interest of the society as well as those seeking seats. There was very little delay and the business moved along with precision.

WILL FIGHT THE CENTRAL.

SOMERVILLE COMMISIONERS TOOK ACTION REGARDING CROSSINGS.

Will Try to Compell Railroad Company to Maintain Gates—No Action on Trolley Ordinance.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 12—The Town Commissioners met last night and passed an ordinance directing the counsel of the Board to take proceedings in the Court of Chancery against the Central Railroad of New Jersey for not maintaining gates at the Middagh and Hamilton streets crossings, and requiring them to do so, as the present grade crossings were a menace to life.

It was reported that the Central Railroad officials had asked for a conference a month ago with the President of the Board, which had been agreed to, but that the President, Hon. James J. Bergen, had neither heard from or seen anything of the railroad officials since, and it was not proposed to waste any more time on them. The ordinance unanimously passed its final reading.

Andrew Radel, of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, was present, and through his counsel, Hon. Alvah A. Clark, asked that the trolley ordinance be laid over another month, as he had not had time to consult Judge Krueger regarding the same, and he was not familiar enough with the business of the road to know whether they could afford to accept the ordinance.

Commissioner Houston said that they had been fooling with this matter since last summer and he thought it was Mr. Radel's business to know all about this matter. The principal thing asked by the town was a five-cent fare to Bound Brook, which was only just, and if they could afford to carry passengers from Bound Brook to Dunellen, 5½ miles for five cents, they could certainly afford to carry them four miles for that sum.

The matter was finally laid over until the next meeting, with the understanding that final action was to be taken at that time.

DEATH OF JOHN LEGGETT.

Father of Druggist Leggett Passed Away This Morning.

The death of John Leggett, father of Druggist J. H. Leggett, of this city, occurred at an early hour this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Couenhoven, Sherman avenue, Newark. Mr. Leggett has been ill for some time with bronchial trouble, but death was caused by a severe attack of acute pleurisy.

He was a man of strong character and sterling qualities which made him greatly loved and respected. He was a kind and loving father and a true Christian, which fact is a source of much consolation to the bereaved ones. He was a member of the Methodist church.

He was well known in this city, having frequently visited his son, J. H. Leggett, of Central avenue. He was born in Princeton, N. J., sixty-one years ago, but of recent date has made his home with his daughter in Newark.

Three children survive him, Rev. James, pastor of the Methodist church at East Hampton, L. I., J. H., of this city, and Mrs. Edward Couenhoven, of Newark.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

Appeared Today.

Lester B. Harris, the Oak Tree milkman who failed to appear in the city court yesterday after being arrested twice in one day, was tried this morning. He pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication. Sentence was suspended with a reprimand.

Andrew Vanderbeek, of West Front street, is detained at home by an attack of the grip.

DAY PARTIALLY OBSERVED.

MANY COMMUTERS STAYED HOME BUT STORES WERE OPEN.

Decided Reduction in Morning Traffic—Few Attractions Offered For the Day.

Lincoln's Birthday is being partially observed in Plainfield today. While the majority of those who leave every morning to attend to business duties in New York are at home today, most of the local stores are open. Some closed at noon and others will remain open all day. It is a holiday, however, according to statute, and the banks are closed while the postoffice department only made one delivery this morning. The postoffice itself is closed this afternoon.

Such of the commuters as are connected with banking and brokerage concerns in New York did not go to business this morning as the banks and exchanges are all closed. Many of those employed in commercial establishments departed for work as usual, however. The crowd at the 7:26 and 7:59 trains for New York were greatly reduced in size while the 8:30 express was laid off altogether. The passengers who expected to catch the 8:30 were compelled to wait until 8:46 as the Easton express, due here at 8:37, was thirty minutes late. There were few commuters at that hour, however, most of those who had to go taking the early trains.

There was a semi-holiday air about town during the morning. The schools were closed so the children were about and some of the business men, who remained at home, wandered down town. The sale of seats for the oratorio, "Elijah," which began this morning, served to attract many.

There was little to amuse those who observed the holiday. The sleighing was nearly gone but still some of the more enthusiastic were out this morning keeping on the side of the roadway and finding fair going. The young people found that the two principal winter sports, skating and coasting, were rather poor. Holly's pond was cleared off and many took advantage of it to spend most of their day on the ice. Many drove and tramped out Park avenue to Campbell's club house at Avon Park where a live bird shoot is in progress.

For this evening a large number of sociables and entertainments have been prepared, the most important of the latter being the Rutgers College Glee Club at the Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association. There will also be any number of private dances and a public one in Saengerbund hall.

There will be a union meeting at the First M. E. church this evening at which Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman will speak.

FOUGHT FOR RENT.

Suit Finally Settled Through Suggestion of Vice-Chancellor Stevens.

The case of William Brown, owner of the Rice farm at Greenbrook, and Benjamin M. Bailey, the tenant, who was to give one-half of the products for rent, was tried in the Hudson County Circuit Court yesterday before Vice-Chancellor Stevens.

W. S. Angleman represented the defendant, and Solicitors McGee & Bedle, of Jersey City, the plaintiff. The defendant was prohibited by order from selling any of the farm products as the plaintiff claimed that he was not getting his share.

Mr. Angleman asked for a dismissal of the restraining order, producing affiadavits to show Bailey's transactions. It was finally agreed on the suggestion of the vice-chancellor that all products be sold and that the money be divided between Brown and Bailey when Brown agreed to pay Bailey in cash for his share, and take everything.

G. J. Tobin to Build.

George J. Tobin, the North avenue plumber, who recently purchased the Webster property at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fourth street, will shortly commence the erection of a handsome brick building on the site. On its completion he will remove to it from his present location in the Taylor building.

Fined For Fighting.

Nicholas Kelley was arraigned before City Judge Runyon in the City Court this morning on a charge of assault preferred by Edward Dooley. In his complaint Dooley stated that the assault occurred on East Second street Saturday night. Kelley was fined $10, which was paid.

NEITHER WAS SLOW.

Remarkable Pistol Duel of Two Bad Men of Colorado.

Both Quick on the Trigger, But Bratton Was the Better Marksman—Escaped with One Hand and Still Plays the Fiddle.

"The most affectionate looking two-handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms to a Washington Post reporter, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a .45 or twisted a Bowie. Gannon was the proprietor of the 'Gilt Edge' honkatonk in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded—he had been cleaning it and had forgotten to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise, as a matter of course.

That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gunbarrel himself, and he walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"'This,' said Bratton, 'is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort o' show your appreciations of me by walking around town linked arms with me for awhile.'

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun-arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"ONE—TWO—THREE!"

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other, and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"'George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun-suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin' to count three, and when I say 'three,' it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose arm, but I ain't no hog. One, two, three!'

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was about seven years ago in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was workin'. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"'Jim,' said I, 'it's too bad you should have lost that right hand. If the fellow that plugged you had only gotten the left hand, why—'

"'Oh, I don't know,' said Bratton, philosophically. 'If I'd ha' lost my left I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more.'

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"'I couldn't have done no fingerin' if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know,' he said, simply, when he put the old fiddle away."

Wonderful British Dogs.

A delightful story is told of a sportsman who was boasting of the intelligence of his dog. "Would you believe it?" he said. "When I was walking into the city he suddenly stopped and pointed at a man by a bookstall, and nothing I could do would induce the dog to move. So I went up to the man and said: 'Would you oblige me with your name?' 'Certainly,' said the stranger, 'my name is Partridge.'" Another dog's "tail:" A suburban gentleman, who was in the habit of giving his dog some small delicacy on leaving for the city each morning, forgot to do so on one occasion. As he was going out of his house the dog caught his master's coat tails in his teeth, and, leading him into the garden, stopped at a flower bed. The flowers growing there were "forget-me-nots."—London Globe.

A Puzzling Hole in Pennsylvania.

Near Coudersport, Potter county, Pa., is a hole in the mountain from which flows freezing cold air. A man was sinking a well for mineral wealth. At the depth of 20 feet he was compelled to quit or freeze. About May ice begins to form in it, and continues to freeze until October. There is no ice in the hole in winter. The warmer the day, the more ice there is in the mine. The air becomes more frigid the closer one goes to the cavern. There is no water in the bottom of the shaft, but the water dripping down from its sides freezes. The ice begins to form less than a foot from the top and coats the sides of the shaft several inches thick. What causes the intense cold and where the air comes from are questions that have not been satisfactorily answered. —Philadelphia Press.

Testing Will Power of Athletes.

Prof. Walter D. Scott, of the psychological department of Northwestern university, is making interesting tests of the will power of the 'varsity athletes. With apparatus he tests their enduring power, motive power, strength of different muscles, susceptibility to pain, and agility. He intends to test athletes of other universities in the same way, and hopes to get some valuable information as to the will power of athletes compared with that of other people. He may also learn why it is that one man becomes a first-class athlete while another who has had exactly the same training is a failure.—Little Chronicle.

LARGE CONGREGATION HEARD DR. CHAPMAN

Eminent Divine Addressed First Union Meeting in the Evangelistic Campaign.

IN FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

GAVE AN EARNEST DISCOURSE ON SUBJECT OF PRAYER.

Announced That Union Meetings Will Begin February 24, Under Charge of Rev. Mr. Henderson—Wm. Phillips Hall Will Conduct Week Following.

Much interest is felt in Plainfield in the evangelistic campaign soon to begin, and the first of the preparatory meetings, which was held last night in the First Methodist Episcopal church, was well attended, and a spirit of deep interest and earnestness was present.

After the opening song service the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, of the Congregational church, and prayers were offered by Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Arthur E. Main, of the Seventh Day Baptist church.

Rev. Dr. W. O. Snodgrass, pastor of the church in which the meeting was held, then made an announcement concerning the coming union evangelistic meetings. He stated that though the meetings to be conducted by William Phillips Hall, of New York, would not begin until March 3, union meetings would be begun a week preceding that date, under the direction of Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Brooklyn. Dr. Snodgrass then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, of New York. After a brief, earnest prayer, Dr. Chapman announced as his text Psalm 55: 17; "Evening and morning and at noon will I pray and cry aloud, and He shall hear my voice." He said that it was evident that the Psalmist believed in praying frequently. He would propose to his hearers three times for praying: morning, the time for blessing; noon, the time for meeting difficulties, and evening, the time for the squaring of accounts.

"Every day that you begin with Christ," said Dr. Chapman," is a day of blessing. The fishers on the Sea of Galilee, that morning after the resurrection, had no success while working alone, but marvellous success when Christ was with them. I am afraid many Christian workers are fishing in their own strength. If you get into the way of meeting Christ every morning, He will put his finger on the thing that made you fail yesterday, as He pointed out Peter's failure that morning, and will forgive your sin as He forgave his. Not till the Christian church is ready to sit at the feet of Christ and work in His strength can the great spiritual awakening come. Let the Holy Spirit come into your heart and take possession of your life.

"One hot noon the Saviour, being wearied, sat on the curb of a well in a Samaritan town, when along the road came a woman, with whom He entered into conversation. He began by asking her to give Him a drink. We usually think of His giving something to us, but He asks us to give to Him also. He asks you to give Him your heart. And the church needs to be one in heart, if God's work is to be done. Get close to Him. Every business man needs to be alone with God at least five minutes at the noontide hour.

"One evening the disciples were alone in the upper room, with the doors closed for fear of the Jews, and Jesus came to them. Perhaps there is a closed door in your heart. Is there some work in which you used to succeed, in which you now fail? Perhaps you have closed some corner of your heart against the Saviour. He could go through the closed door in the house in Jerusalem, but He cannot enter your closed heart-door without your permission. Let us make bare our hearts to Him tonight. What is it that has robbed you of your old peace, that has taken away the song from your lips? Sin. Open your heart to Christ, and let Him in to make it clean.

"'As the Father hath sent Me, so send I you,' said Jesus in that evening hour. He breathed on them. Wasn't He near? And He is near to us. Take a deep breath of Him. Breathe in what He breathes out. That is the secret of power."

Dr. Chapman's talk was both inter-

TO VOTE ON CITY QUESTION

WESTFIELD CITIZENS WILL DECIDE IT BY BALLOT.

Whether to Form a City Government or Continue Present Township Rule.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Feb. 13.—The town rooms on North avenue will be the scene of an election Saturday, at which time the people of Westfield will, by their ballots, decide as to whether or not a bill will be introduced in the present Legislature asking that Westfield township be made a city.

For some time the Citizen's League, formerly the Sound Money Club, has been endeavoring to have the people see, as they do, the necessity for a change in the present form of government and at a meeting of the township committee held Friday evening the members of that board passed a resolution stating they, the said board, was in favor of a city form of government.

Backed by such strong allies the Citizen's League at once made arrangements to hold an election to have the people themselves decide. The polls will be opened Saturday from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening so that all may have a chance to cast their ballots.

Should the people vote in favor of a city a bill will at once be presented by Assemblyman Smith so that the coming spring election the proper officrs will be elected. This, however, will not be the end for under the present law it will be necessary to first incorporate unner the laws of 1897, which are not desirable, and then at the first election, which will be the coming one, vote for an act allowing incorporation under the laws of 1899.

Those back of the movement to incorporate are J. Alston Dennis, Martin Welles, W. W. Connoly, J. B. Wilson, James O. Clark, Hon. Charles N. Codding, Harry E. Knight, W. S. Welsh, Paul Q Oliver, H. P. Condit and a great many commuters. The town merchants are said to be against it.

There is a story about that it is a move on the part of the New York business men to get control of the the town. The commuters are already in the field with a candidate for mayor in the person of James B. Wilson, a New York printer, who lives on Park street.

CLEANING SIDEWALKS.

Property Owners Will Have to Pay for Work Now Being Done by City Employes.

A large force of Street Commissioner Gavett's men have been at work every day since the snowfall of last Tuesday clearing the sidewalks in front of the premises of negligent property owners. For the past few days they have confined their operations to West End streets, although residents in every part of the city will have cause to remember their visit on the receipt of their next tax bill. It is the intention of Mr. Gavett to continue the work as long as he deems it necessary in order to protect pedestrians from slippery pavements.

NO SPEEDWAY MEETING.

On Account of the Holiday the Meeting Was Postponed a Week.

Owing to the wish of a number of the most interested horsemen to properly observe Lincoln's Birthday in a fitting manner, the regular meeting of the Plainfield Speedway Association was not held last evening. The next meeting will be held in Reed & Coddington's law office next Tuesday evening. All members and those desirous of joining are requested to be present, as the several committees appointed a few weeks ago will submit reports as to progress.

Musicale at Bethel Chapel.

There will be a musicale at Bethel chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, consisting of organ and piano solos and select readings by Miss Voorhees. There will be violin and piano trios and duets by other well-known talent. An oyster supper will be served after the exercises and a handsome valentine will be given every one present. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the chapel.

Court Adjourned for Holiday.

The trial of John H. Stevens, which was to have been held in the city court yesterday morning, was postponed until Thursday on account of the holiday. He is charged by his wife with using profane language and threatening to do her personal violence.

Will Give a Dance.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs George Pnelps Melick will give a dance at their residence on LaGrande avenue in honor of Miss Schuyler, of this city, and Miss Hartley, of New York.

One of the delightful social functions of yesterday was the dinner given in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Van Emburgh at their home on East Second street, to the members of the bridal party who took part in their wedding. The affair was arranged to harmonize with the occasion—Lincoln's Birthday—and especially attractive were the decorations, all of a patriotic character.

Tables were set in the dining and setting rooms, and the decorations of each were unique. The colors, red, white and blue, predominated. The candelabra contained candles of the patriotic colors, while roses of varied colors gave an additional brilliancy. At each plate there was a menu card, attached to which were two tiny black dolls. Here and there about the tables were placed small log cabins and other symbols of the days of Lincoln. There were additional decorations about the rooms, consisting of large American flags suspended from the ceilings, serving as a pleasing and attractive background. A profusion of red, white and blue ribbons added much to the general effect of beauty.

Dinner was served at 7 o'clock by Stephenson, the caterer, and the menu was all to be desired. Following the dinner the merry party enjoyed a social time. Those present to enjoy the hospitality of the host and hostess included Mr. and Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, parents of the bride and groom, Miss Ella Buell, of Bayonne; Miss Kathryn Karr, Miss Delia VanSickle and William Kline, of Elizabeth; Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss Olive Newell, John G. McLaughlin, Harry H. Coward, William Slape, Henry L. Maxson.

Another feature of the celebration was the picture taken during the afternoon of the bridal party by Langhorne. Each member will receive a copy as a pleasant reminder of the happy event.

Later in the evening the party went to the Camera Club rooms, where the members, together with a number of others, were guests of Harry H. Coward. Unique invitations, bearing a fine picture of Lincoln, were issued for the dance, which was the feature of the evening. Westervelt's Orchestra furnished the music, and the whole affair was complete in every detail. The guests danced until the small hours. At midnight refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

In addition to the members of the bridal party the other guests included the following: Miss Nichols, Charles Patterson, Samuel Hollingsworth, of Fanwood; Miss Lillian Glen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, Miss Ernestine Smith, Miss Littell Miss Ella Titeworth, Miss Mary Buckle, Miss Crane, and Fred Van Eps, D. Stuart Pope, William Mosher and Nathan R Titsworth.

AFTER THOSE WHO DON'T PAY.

CITY COLLECTOR SMITH STARTED AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

Departing Family Didn't Propose to Pay Taxes But Collector Secured Them Finally.

A few days ago Collector Frank H. Smith heard that a certain family in the city, owing taxes, was about to leave Plainfield suddenly and rather than let the delinquents get away without giving them an opportunity to settle, he made a hurry-up call at their residence. He met the man of the house, but received a cool reply that his wife owned everything and he did not propose to pay a cent of tax. Mr. Smith hurriedly sought the wife, only to receive the word that she did not propose to settle. She did not consider it her place to pay any tax, and furthermore, absolutely refused to pay.

Mr. Smith felt somewhat discouraged, but declared that if it was a possible thing he would have a warrant issued and catch the delinquents before they got out of town. After some discussion the husband finally said he would call at the collector's office and settle the claim the following day. Mr. Smith consented to wait. The next day the man appeared and paid the tax. This is the first instance on record where a city collector has left his office to head off runaways.

FORMALLY ASK FOR COMPANY

PETITION PRESENTED TO COL. COLLINS AT MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Will Secure a Hall for Mustering In of Company in the Near Future—Applicants Before Committee.

Another meeting of the Plainfield young men interested in the formation of the new military company, was held in the parlors of the Hotel Kenton, last evening. Colonel Collins was in charge.

Before the regular meeting four new applicants appeared before the committee of five and were examined. Two were accepted and the other two will be reported upon at a later meeting.

Dr. W. K. Browning, chairman of the committee of five, which was appointed to draw up the formal petition required by law, made his report to Colonel Collins. He presented the petition signed by sixty-five applicants, all of whom are excellent men for the purpose. In accepting the document Colonel Collins made a few remarks complimenting the applicants on the good showing made and the enthusiasm manifested thus far. Charles A. Peterson was appointed a committee of one to secure a suitable hall for mustering which will take place, if possible within one or two weeks. It has always been the custom when companies have been formed, for the city in which it is stationed, to furnish an armory free of cost.

After an informal discussion on various matters concerning the new company, the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

WEDDED QUIETLY.

Miss Elizabeth Hoffman Married to Robert York Yesterday at Bride's Home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoffman, of West Front street, was the scene of a quiet wedding yesterday afternoon when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hoffman, was made the wife of Robert York, of Great Bend, Pa., who until a short time ago resided in this city. The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and was performed by Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel. The couple were unattended.

Miss Hoffman looked very pretty in a gray traveling suit and carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests partook of a collation, after which the young couple took their departure for a brief visit with relatives throughout Hunterdon county. They will take up their residence at Great Bend where the groom is an employe of the Chapot Brothers, of this city, who recently established a factory at that place.

RUTGERS GLEE CLUB STALLED BY DRIFTS.

While Expectant Crowd in Y. M. C. A. Patiently Awaited Their Arrival.

WERE AN HOUR LATE.

BUT THE CONCERT WAS A GOOD ONE WHEN FINALLY STARTED.

College Boys Had to Get Out of Trolley Car Near Lincoln and Clear the Track of Snow—Exciting Times.

While an audience of over four hundred people waited patiently in Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, the members of the Rutgers College Glee Club fought their way through snow drifts in an attempt to reach this city by trolley. According to announcement, the glee club was to appear in Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening under auspices of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association. A large audience assembled but the entertainers did not appear at the appointed hour.

The Rutgers boys left New Brunswick by trolley at 6 o'clock. They had trouble in reaching Bound Brook after a ride of an hour and a half. They just missed a train at Bound Brook and decided to come the rest of the way by trolley. Just west of Lincoln the high winds had blown the snow over the track to the depth of nearly two feet. At the foot of a grade the car could make no progress. The wheels turned round but the car stood still. The college boys helped to clean away the snow in front of the car and then pushed it part way up the grade. A similar experience was enjoyed between Lincoln and Dunellen.

A few words from H. M. Maxson kept the audience in a good humor until the club finally arrived shortly after 9 o'clock. The college boys were a little nervous at first but their work improved as the programme progressed and the second part was enthusiastic ly received. There were frequent encores. The club sang in good time and with unity under the leadership of Mr. Wilmot. Mr. Fisher's recitations were very satisfactory. The association will net a good sum as a result of the entertainment.

TO ALLOW VISITORS.

Owing to Great Demand For Tickets For "Private Secretary" Admission Will be Charged for Dress Rehearsal.

Music Hall will undoubtedly be crowded Saturday evening on the occasion of the production of "The Private Secretary" by local amateurs. Arrangements have been made with Chief Doane, of the fire department, and Chief Kiely, of the police department, to have a corps of men at the hall for the protection of the audience in the event of any possible trouble.

On account of the demand for seats for Saturday evening's performance, which has been exceptionally great, and to accommodate those who will be unable to be present Saturday evening, it has been decided to admit persons to the dress rehearsal Friday evening at Music Hall. Fifty cents will be charged at the door and no seats will be reserved.

As the dress rehearsal is conducted with scenery and costumes and is very like the performance on the following night, this gives a chance to see this laughable play and will tend to compensate the management for the great expense incurred.

Funeral of John Leggett.

MISS STRONG'S COTILLION.

YOUNGER SOCIETY SET WERE PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED LAST NIGHT.

James M. Middledith Led the Cotillion—Unique Favors—Some of Those Present.

A very enjoyable society event of last evening was the cotillion given by Miss Edna Strong, of Central avenue, to a number of her friends. The affair was attended by many prominent society folk of the younger set. It was, indeed, a jolly party that entered heartily into the festivities of the occasion.

James M. Middledith, assisted by Thomas Van Boskerck, led the cotillion, and the figures were exceedingly unique. It was started in the large spacious hallway and the merry dancers made use of the adjoining rooms in carrying out the plan for the dance. The favors consisted of baskets of candy and trumpets for the women, while the men received boutonniers and drums. Mr. and Mrs E H Ladd, Jr., presided at the favor table and distributed them to the guests.

The decorations throughout the rooms were very attractive, the prevailing color being pink, and especially noteworthy were the table decorations in the dining room. At midnight supper was served. The affair lasted until about 1:30 o'clock.

Among those present were Miss Ruskin, Miss Merrill, of New York; the Misses Waring, Van Boskerck, Haddock, Bushnell, May Evans, Edith Tracy, Ida Stewart, Ethel Bowen, and O. G. Waring, Charles Murray, Howard Huntington, H. Reeve Stockton, Fred W. Goddard, Morris J. Dumont, J. B Dumont, Jr., Henry E Lowe, of Plainfield; Wm. Ray and Mr. Anderson, of New York.

LINCOLN DINNER.

Elizabeth, February 13—The annual dinner of the Lincoln Association of Union county was held at Jacobs' Theatre, this city, last evening. There were a hundred and twenty five of the leading men of both parties who sat down to the repast. The only prominent Republican of note who was absent was Congressman C. N. Fowler, who sent a letter expressing his regret at not being able to be present.

The dinner was an excellent one and was followed by some fine speeches. Former Governor Black, of New York, was particularly good. An audience of several hundred people listened to the speeches from the gallery.

There were fourteen Plainfielders who subscribed and of that number ten were present. They were Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Ernest B. Ackerman, George J. Tobin, Director J. Frank Hubbard, Former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, Former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, Robert Rushmore, George D. Patten and Frank W. Runyon.

There were songs by Scarlatti, Massenet, Schubert, Schumann, Aren and Bach, and the artists were warmly received with repeated encores. REED'S TAX BILL PASSED BY SENATE.

Senator Martin Made Bitter Fight Against Bill Aimed at Tax-Shirkers.

OTHER BILLS WERE PASSED.

SEVERAL CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS WERE INTRODUCED.

Senate Met on Lincoln's Birthday, but Assembly Did Not Meet Again Until Today—Several of Senator Reed's Bills Considered.

Trenton, Feb. 13.—Dispute the fact that yesterday was Lincoln's Birthday and a legal holiday in this State, the Senate met in regular session. Considerable business was transacted including the passage of Senator Reed's bill which eliminated the exemption from taxation of notes in banks. The Assembly did not meet yesterday but resumed its sessions this morning.

Soon after business was commenced in the Senate yesterday an attempt was made by President Pitney to secure the passage in the Senate of the concurrent resolution incorporating the constitional amendment providing for the reorganization of the judiciary as approved and urged by the State Bar Association.

After considerable discussion in which Senator Pitney took part, Senator Reed pointed out that the resolution did not provide for the present vice-chancellors holding offices until their successors were appointed. At his suggestion the amendments were laid over for amendment.

Biennial sessions of the Legislature and the extension of the term of office of the governor to four years, with a second consecutive term prohibited, are provided for in a concurrent resolution proposing constitutional amendments to that effect introduced yesterday morning by Senator Johnson, of Camden.

The proposed amendments must be approved by two consecutive Legislatures and then adopted by a popular vote at a general State election before becoming effective.

Senator Hutchinson's bill for a Trenton armory to cost $150,000 was passed by the Senate with only two opposing votes, Senators Martin and Gebhardt.

Another school bill was added to the list before the Legislature by Senator Stokes. The bill "creates the manual training and industrial school for colored youths."

Senator McKee introduced a bill placing trust companies upon the same basis as banks in the matter of taxation.

The Senate passed Mr. Reed's bill enabling individuals to prosecute in the Supreme Court on the bonds of public officials charged with malpractice or misconduct in office instead of waiting for the action of the Attorney-General.

Mr. Reed's bill, requiring corporations which do not pay a franchise tax to make annual returns on or before the first Tuesday in May, was passed, as was Senator Hutchinson's bill allowing the Pennsylvania Railroad to build a new bridge across the Delaware River at Trenton. Mr. Reed's bill, enabling savings institutions to increase the board of managers to thirteen members, was also passed.

A spirited debate took place between Mr. Reed and Mr. Martin over the passage of the Somerset Senator's bill repealing the Martin tax law of 1898, and reinstating the Ketcham act of 1895, which was repealed by the 1898 act. Mr. Reed's bill is aimed at tax shirkers, and is intended to repeal the law permitting taxpayers to swear off from their taxes the amount owed by them to a State or national bank or trust company, which is at present allowed on condition that the debt to the bank has been incurred at least three months previous to the date on which taxes are assessed.

Senator Martin attacked the Reed bill as unfair and vicious, declaring that it worked an injustice to farmers who borrowed from banks on notes, renewing the obligations frequently. The fact that some shirkers took advantage of the law to swear off their taxes should not prevent honest debtors securing exemption for debts incurred in good faith.

Mr Reed declared that the Martin act was taken advantage of by many wealthy men to escape taxation. They were able to secure alleged loans from banks for three months at a discount of one and a half per cent. and by swearing off this amount from their real estate valuations, saved a large

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"The Eleventh Hour," Lincoln J. Carter's latest success, will be the attraction at Music Hall tonight. Mr. Carter has written many plays that have been popular with the public but in "The Eleventh Hour" he has surpassed previous efforts. It is replete with comedy and pathos, blended in a manner that will suit all. The scene of the play being Chicago, the home of exciting events, one can easily imagine the result. Mr. Carter introduces for the first time on any stage a complete "block tower" as used on all railroads to check the running of trains, thus insuring the safety of thousands each day; the scene shows the complete working of the system and how much depends upon it.

The last act is said to be the handsomest and most expensive stage setting ever produced outside of large cities, showing the beautiful drawing room of one of Chicago's rich men. It is in this scene that the hand to hand struggle for life occurs; the two men in their fierce hate, hurl each other against the elegant furniture, vases and bric-a-brac are smashed, and it appears as though a tornado has passed through. It will be presented by an excellent company, carrying special scenery. The production will be worthy of Mr. Carter's reputation in that respect.

"The Dairy Farm," the latest, and by many claimed to be the best, of the successful rural dramas presented of late years in New York, has been secured by Manager Maze Edwards after long correspondence and negociation, and will be seen at Music Hall early next month. The play had a run of 169 nights at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, last season, and from there went to Chicago and played the balance of the season.

The new province will include the districts of Peshawar, Kohat, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan, Dir, Swat, Chitral, Khyber and Waziristan, equaling one-fourteenth of the area of the Punjab and including one-eighteenth of its population. The head of the new province will be assisted by revenue and judicial commissioners and officers under the political department. The administrative details will be settled in a few months.

Poole, editor of the Long Branch Press, was released from the county jail at Freehold after having served a 30 days' sentence imposed upon him for libel on Mayor Benjamin P. Morris of Long Branch, whom the editor accused of being responsible for the existence of gambling places and other questionable resorts in Long Branch. MONEY FOR THE ARMY Appropriation Bill Passed by the House.

SENATE TAKES UP AGRICULTURE.

Supply Bill For That Department Unfinished—Committee Recommends Half a Million Increase to Postal Budget.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The house yesterday passed the army appropriation bill and entered upon consideration of the sundry civil bill, the last but one of the big money bills. The debate on the army bill was confined largely to a discussion of the question of passing bills to remove the charge of desertion against soldiers and was made notable by a statement of Mr. McClellan of New York comparing the cost of the soldier in European armies with the cost in the United States. According to his figures, including the cost of pensions, etc., each United States soldier involved an expense of $2,828, while a German soldier costs $229 and a French soldier $232. Previous to the consideration of the appropriation bills the letter reflecting upon Mr. Perry S. Heath which Mr. Sulzer introduced into the proceedings yesterday was expunged from the record. During the debate upon the motion to expunge Mr. Sulzer renewed his attack upon Mr. Heath, reiterating his statement of Monday that he was willing to father the statements in the letter and declaring that if action was brought against him he would not plead his constitutional immunity.

At the close of the day the house adopted the usual resolutions of regret on the death of General A. D. Shaw of New York and adjourned out of respect to his memory. Owing to the tangle in which the house found itself just before adjournment (being without a quorum) the announcement of General Shaw's death could not be made.

During the entire session of the senate the agricultural appropriation bill was under consideration. After six hours of consideration the bill was little more than half completed. The debate upon the measure dealt almost entirely with administrative details of the department of agriculture, many commendations of the work of the department being made by senators on both sides of the chamber.

The increase of postal appropriations recommended by the senate committee amount to $525,000 making the grand total of the bill $124,308,088, or $7,675,046 in excess of the estimated postal revenues for the year. In addition to the appropriation for the pneumatic tube system there is a small appropriation for free delivery of mail in towns and small cities and another small appropriation for experimenting with return postage envelopes and postal cards. The bill probably will be taken up for consideration next Monday.

Police Disperse Paris Strikers.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—The striking tailors and dressmakers had another meeting yesterday afternoon. About 600 were present. It was announced that many of the big houses refused to release the girls at lunch hour to prevent their taking part in the meeting. The strikers thereupon decided to march in procession through the Rue de la Paix and call on the work people to leave the workshops in spite of their employers. The strikers on emerging into the street singing the "Marseillaise" were met by the police, who dispersed them after several conflicts, during which a number of workgirls were roughly handled. Several tailors who interposed were bruised and arrested. The police superintendent had to severely reprimand his men.

Plague Breaks Out In Siberia.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Daily Mail publishes the following from its St. Petersburg correspondent: "Serious reports are in circulation here regarding the outbreak of what was first called 'hunger typhus,' but is now officially admitted to be bubonic plague in the Khirghis steppes of western Siberia. Many thousands have died in the districts between Semipalatinsk and Orenburg. The government is sending large quantities of wheat to be distributed to the starving population and is organizing traveling medical services to localize the outbreak."

A Checkered Career Ended.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Count Sergey de Smolianioff, formerly of St. Petersburg, has just died in this city after a brief illness in hospital, aged 39 years. Count Smolianioff had a brilliant but checkered career. He invented several high explosives, took part in a polar expedition at the age of 20 and made and lost several fortunes. He was married here 12 years ago, but his wife secured a divorce. He had a large entailed estate in Russia.

New York Steamer Ashore.

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 13.—The Prince line steamer Spartan Prince, Captain Miller, from New York bound for Naples, Genoa, etc., is ashore off Alcazar point. She is in a dangerous position. All her holds are full of water, and her cargo is greatly damaged. The passengers, including ten Americans, in the first cabin, were saved with considerable difficulty and landed at Gibraltar.

Brooke to Deliver Address.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—At the request of the secretary of war Major General Brooke, commanding the department of the east, will represent the war department at the graduating exercises at the Military academy next Monday. General Brooke will address the graduating class and deliver the diplomas to the graduates.

May Become Blind.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 13.—It is feared that Alonzo Brizee of this place will become totally blind. One of his eyes has been removed, and sympathetic inflammation has affected the other. The original cause of the trouble was a blow from the hand of a saloon keeper, the ring on the hand lacerating one of the eyeballs.

An Aged Man Hangs Himself.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Darius Gifford, 60 years old, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn at Ira, near here. Gifford had called his nephews together to dispose of his property, and they found him dead.

Snowstorm Raging.

GENEVA, N. Y., Feb. 13.—A severe snowstorm is raging here. All incoming trains are late, and the electric road from this city to Seneca Falls is tied up.

PUNISHMENT PLANS.

Emperor Has Sent Choice of Methods to Condemned Men.

GENERAL TUNG FU HSIANG MAY OBJECT

It Is Feared He Will Not Agree to Commit Suicide—The Chinese Army Under His Control.

PEKING, Feb. 13.—Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have received a long dispatch from the court which they have not disclosed to the foreign envoys. It is understood to contain, in addition to the recent celebrated reform decree, an account of how Emperor Kwang Su has sent a choice of methods of suicide to all those named for punishment by the envoys, closing with the inquiry whether Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang think the envoys will be satisfied.

It is understood that the Chinese plenipotentiaries in their reply to the court said the foreign envoys could not object strongly to an accomplished fact, but that they would probably insist upon the sentence of execution being published throughout the empire and possibly upon the heads of those condemned being exhibited at various points.

It is very seriously doubted in Chinese circles here that General Tung Fu Hsiang will agree to commit suicide. The army worships him. He has absolute control of the Mohammedans and is believed to be one himself. He refused to allow the disbandment of 5,000 men, and the emperor ordered him far from the court. To attempt his execution, it is thought in Chinese circles, might mean civil war.

This morning the foreign envoys met and considered the question of quarters for the legation guards. The matter of indemnities was also mentioned, especially as bearing upon the damage done to the personal property of farmers.

The reply of the court protesting against what the Chinese describe as the "inconsistency of the death penalties required by the powers" was also discussed. The envoys resolved to ignore the protest and decided that it was desirable to proceed immediately to the delimitation and organization of the diplomatic quarter.

In the course of the afternoon Li Hung Chang called officially upon M. de Giers.

Acceptance Only a Blind.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—According to The North China Daily News, the Chinese say that the acceptance of the conditions of the powers by the Chinese peace plenipotentiaries was merely a blind and that a large force of Chinese is proceeding to Tai-yuen-fu to oppose an expected allied expedition.

Will Change Chinese Methods.

TIEN-TSIN, Feb. 13.—The Chinese minister to Korea, who is on his way to Peking as an additional peace commissioner, said in the course of an interview here that he believed the outcome of the present crisis would probably be a modernization of Chinese methods of government.

New Jersey Tax Legislation.

TRENTON, Feb. 13.—The senate after an hour's discussion passed Senator Reed's bill providing that no deduction should be allowed on the assessed valuation of real estate for any indebtedness to any bank or trust company. Senator Martin opposed the bill in a long speech, in which he said it would work an injustice to honest debtors. Senator Reed said the bill simply restored the law as it existed previous to 1898 and that its purpose was to put an end to tax shirking by persons who borrow money from banks just before the assessors come around and then swear off the amount from their property valuations. The bill passed, with only Senator Martin voting in the negative. The senate then adjourned for a week.

President Hill Yields to Unions.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 13.—At the Great Northern general offices it is learned that President J. J. Hill has acceded to the demands of labor unions in the northwest states and will dispense with Japanese labor in the shops and on the road. There were about 2,000 orientals thus employed, and of these about 1,500 have been displaced by white men. It is said that Mr. Hill did not employ these men from choice, but because it was impossible to find white labor. The Japanese performed less work in a day than their white companions, but they received less pay, and there was no objection on this point, but the "little brown men," as Mr. Hill calls them, were poor workmen and great destroyers of raw material.

Bank Bills Stolen.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13.—Five $1,000 bills have been stolen mysteriously from a Kansas City bank, and banks in all parts of the country have been notified to be on the outlook for them. The name of the robbed bank and the manner of the theft are being kept quiet. It is said, however, that detectives have traced the bills to a former Kansas City woman who is said to have tried to pass one of them at a Chicago department store. After the bill had been examined and found genuine she is said to have substituted for it a counterfeit $1,000 bill in payment for a bill of goods and to have received $700 in change. The bills are believed to have fallen into the hands of some clever counterfeiter.

The Steel Deal.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 13.—The negotiations for the purchase of Andrew Carnegie's stock in the Carnegie Steel company by J. Pierpont Morgan continue to be the absorbing topic in iron and steel circles here. It is stated by one of the minority stockholders that the deal has much greater significance than has even been reported, but he refused to specify what he meant, explaining that he is bound by a promise not to disclose certain facts that came to his knowledge through company channels. From another source it was asserted that when the purchase has been made a number of the companies will be consolidated in a manner similar to the present organization of the Carnegie company.

Will Accept Philippine Judgeship.

MRS. NATION IN CHICAGO.

Made Speeches En Route—Arrival Causes Little Excitement.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Carrie Nation arrived in Chicago at 8:40 last night, coming over the Rock Island road, and within 15 minutes after reaching the city she was facing a somewhat diminutive audience gathered under the auspices of local members of the W. C. T. U. in Willard hall. On her trip toward Chicago she delivered a number of short addresses from the rear end of the car, speaking at nearly every station where a stop was made. Her coming was marked by no special incident contrary to the expectation of the ladies who had invited her to visit Chicago.

She entered her carriage at once and was driven rapidly to Willard hall, five blocks distant. Here a small crowd had been awaiting her arrival since 7:40, it having been announced that Mrs. Nation would speak at 8 o'clock.

An impression existed with many that the lecture was to be free, instead of which an admission fee of 50 cents was charged. This balked a good many, and at the time of Mrs. Nation's arrival there were as many in the hallway who had refused to pay the admission price and stood around waiting to see her enter as there were in the hall waiting to hear her speak.

Before entering the hall Mrs. Nation declared that it was her intention to get the saloon keepers of Chicago together and talk to them. She was determined to do this.

Preparing For Neely Trial.

HAVANA, Feb. 13.—The testimony already submitted on behalf of the government in the case against C. F. W. Neely, the alleged postoffice embezzler, covers more than 2,000 typewritten pages. This represents, however, only a portion of the whole evidence to be presented, and witnesses are being examined daily. Architects are drawing up plans of the postoffice vault, fireroom and electrozone plant, which are expected to have an important bearing on the stamp burning incident. Neely was asked to accompany some witnesses to the postoffice, but on the advice of his counsel he declined to do so. The fiscal who is preparing the testimony says that the examination of witnesses and the translating of their testimony will take considerable time and that he is unable to predict when the work will be completed. The National Bank of Cuba has been incorporated, with a capital of $1,000,000. The officers are residents of Havana, and all the directors are connected with the North American Trust company.

Fight Preparations Go On.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.—The preparations for the contests between Jeffries and Ruhlin and between Martin and Childs are proceeding here the same as usual, and the promoters expect the events to take place on time next Friday night. Over $1,000 was taken in for tickets yesterday, making an aggregate of over $45,000 to date. If the application for an injunction is refused on Thursday morning, the promoters expect orders to be numerous that day and on Friday. While there has been much talk about postponing the contest no action has been taken in that direction, and none will be taken before Thursday afternoon. There are various reports about meetings of the Sangerfest Athletic club directors for the purpose of postponing the contest.

Woman Kills Herself.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Alvina Miller of West Hoboken, N. J., who lived on the top floor of a three story apartment house, jumped from her rooms yesterday morning and killed herself. She was a widow and supported five children by washing. Recently her health commenced to fail, and she suffered from melancholia. Death was caused by a fractured skull. Her youngest child, Oscar, aged 5 years, says that he had a dream during the night in which his mother kissed him. It is supposed that the little fellow was partially awake at the time and that she really kissed him and the other children before making the fatal plunge from the window.

Vanderbilt Tax Refunded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The treasury department yesterday refunded to the executors of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt $102,722, being the amount of legacy tax collected on the estate and which was recently declared illegal by the supreme court of the United States. The warrant was issued in favor of Chauncey M. Depew, W. K. Vanderbilt, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Alice C. Underhill and E. V. Rossiter, executors of the estate under the will.

Cousin of Daniel Boone Dead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Elizabeth Ward Boone, widow of the late Colonel James D. Van Hoevenberg, is dead at her home here in her one hundredth year. She was born in England and was the youngest of 17 children. She came to America in 1823 and married in 1838. She lived in Michigan many years and later in Brooklyn. She was a cousin of Daniel Boone, the famous explorer and founder of Kentucky.

A Friend of Lincoln Dead.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 13.—Judge Jacob B. Blair, surveyor general of Utah, an intimate friend of Abraham Lincoln and a man widely known in public life, died suddenly yesterday, aged 80 years. Judge Blair represented West Virginia in congress for two terms, was minister to Costa Rica, a member of the Wyoming supreme court for 12 years and for a number of years occupied a similar position in Utah.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, according to Truth, will leave England during March to visit Dowager Empress Frederick. As already cabled, they will also visit the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Hesse, and they will spend the Easter holiday at Copenhagen. Truth asserts that a member of the cabinet, probably Lord James of Hereford, will accompany the king.

The Austrian Budget.

VIENNA, Feb. 13.—The Austrian budget for 1901, submitted to the reichsrath, estimates the total expenditure at 1,641,163,344 crowns and the revenues at 1,641,997,585 crowns. The minister of finance, Dr. Bohm von Bawerk, said the revenues had increased 15,000,000 crowns.

COMMISSION WELCOMED.

Music and Cheers Greet Americans In Luzon.

SAN FERNANDO, Province of Pampanga, Island of Luzon, Feb. 13.—Bacolor and all the towns adjacent to the railroad whose names are historic on account of the fierce battles of the earlier periods of the American occupation turned out to welcome the United States Philippine commission as it proceeded northward on its first trip to organize provincial governments. At every station, including the hamlets where the train did not stop, there were bursts of music from the native bands and cheers for the Americanos-Filipinos commission and the partido Federale.

The crowd at Malolos, the former seat of the insurgent government, was smaller in proportion to the population than in the case of the villages. At all the stops addresses were made by natives, and responses were made by Judge Taft, the president of the commission; Professor Worcester, General Flores, Chief Justice Arellano and Dr. Tavera, president of the Federal party. The natives repeatedly declared the people were beginning to understand the purposes of the Americans, adding that the commission's acts showed their promises will be kept.

Taft For Governor of Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The president will appoint Judge William H. Taft to be governor of the Philippine Islands as soon as the army appropriation bill, carrying the Spooner amendment, becomes a law, and the military rule in the Philippines will be supplanted by civilian administration as completely as it is now established in Porto Rico and as quickly as transfers of offices can be made to men already chosen and for the most part on the ground prepared to assume responsibility.

DISTURBANCES IN SPAIN.

Situation Grows More Menacing, and Madrid Is Alarmed.

MADRID, Feb. 13.—Yesterday afternoon about 800 students, led by a woman and bearing French and Spanish flags, assembled in the Puerta del Sol and started cries for the army and against the Jesuits and the Count of Casserta. They were quickly dispersed, but continued reassembling in various parts of the city.

The afternoon was one of continual manifestations, though without serious incident, owing to the vigilance of the police. In fact throughout the entire day civil guards, mounted and on foot, were everywhere visible, dispersing crowds wherever found. These assemblages were largely composed of youths and street idlers, but behind them are agitators and the sentiment of the people.

Last evening 200 mounted civil guards paraded Puerta del Sol with drawn swords, preventing any collection of people. All the avenues centering on the square are closely guarded.

There can be no doubt that the feeling of the populace is deep rooted, needing only a successful leader to encourage the people to menacing deeds.

Owing to their attitude the torchlight procession scheduled for last evening was abandoned, the authorities fearing that the slightest opportunity for a clash might lead to serious results.

Fight With an Eagle.

VINELAND, N. J., Feb. 13.—John Barracliff, a butcher of Vineland, had a battle with a baldheaded eagle in a piece of woods a few miles south of this city. Upon hearing loud screams and the flapping of wings he jumped from his wagon, hurried into the woods and beheld two large baldheaded eagles in combat on the top limbs of a big oak tree. They fought for about ten minutes, when one of them, apparently attempting to escape, swooped downward, and one of his wings caught in the thick brush. Barracliff seized a club and rushed at the eagle, which returned the attack pluckily and finally managed to loosen its wing. The huge bird struck Barracliff on the head and face with its beak and tore his clothes with its talons, but he finally knocked the eagle senseless. Though suffering from bloody wounds in his face and arms, Barracliff managed to tie the eagle with a rope from his wagon. He brought it home alive with him.

Worst Blizzard In Years.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 13.—Northern and central New York are feet deep in the worst blizzard of the winter and in some respects in recent years. Over a territory extending from Rochester to Utica and from Watertown to Ithaca the wind is blowing a gale, and while it is not exceedingly cold the fine snow driven by the wind makes travel dangerous. In the cities snowplows and shovel gangs are keeping the street car tracks in semipassable condition, but in the country districts the roads are drifted to such debts that travel is practically impossible. Specials to The Post-Standard from outlying towns say that worse conditions have never been known. In some cases communication with other villages except by wire is entirely cut off. In Cortland county drifts ten feet high are reported in the main roads, and travel is impossible. In the northern counties the same story is told.

The Kentucky at Hongkong.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The battleship Kentucky has arrived at Hongkong and reported to Admiral Remey. The Mayflower has arrived at Santa Lucia. The Bancroft has sailed from Colon for Key West. The collier Cæsar sailed yesterday from Bermuda for Hampton Roads on the last stage of her return trip from the Asiatic station.

Move to Release Carter.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 13.—A motion was filed in the United States circuit court for the release of Oberlin M. Carter, former captain of engineers, from the federal prison pending the appeal of his habeas corpus proceeding case in the supreme court of the United States. The court set Friday next as the time for hearing the arguments.

Arsenic In Beer.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Dr. Campbell Brown, the city analyst, testifying at a beer poisoning inquest at Liverpool, estimated from samples examined that the average weekly consumption of beer in Liverpool in summer time would contain 800 pounds of arsenic, enough to kill 1,000,000 people if administered in equal doses and at one time.

Island Sale Approved.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—"With only one dissenting voice," says the Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail, "the financial committee of the landsthing has approved the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States."

ODELL STANDS FIRM.

Suggested Tax Measures Were Carefully Considered.

THE TRUST COMPANIES MUST PAY.

New York's Governor Tells Pleading Representatives That They Have Not Been Bearing Their Share of the Burden.

ALBANY, Feb. 13.—"I did not suggest these tax measures after a couple of weeks' consideration or even a month. I have been studying the matter for four years, and I know what I am talking about."

Ex-Secretary of the United States Treasury Charles S. Fairchild, Julian T. Davies of New York and the president of a number of trust companies in the state were rather phased when Governor Odell yesterday very sharply and decidedly enunciated this proposition.

Mr. Davies and Mr. Fairchild had suggested to the governor some changes in the bill relating to taxation of trusts, and the governor, after replying as above, said further:

"You can talk all day about what you people resolve, but I tell you it is not a question of what you resolve or what you think. The people do not believe, and you do not, that you pay anything like your proper proportion of taxation. Why, a trust company in Newburg does not pay as much in on its large capitalization as I pay on my house. It is a question not between you gentlemen, but between your companies and the people who are paying real estate taxation. You can't convince the people that the present system is equitable."

Julian T. Davies said to the governor:

"On the train coming up we discussed this matter, and while we agreed that trust companies ought to be taxed the standard set in this bill is not equitable. What we propose, governor, is that you amend the bill so as to better equalize the tax. Under its present provisions the bill will impose a tax of 2½ per cent on some companies and 30 per cent on others. We believe the proper method would be to tax us 1½ per cent either on our gross receipts or on our earnings instead of income. In that way you would raise about $330,000 or three times as much as you do from us at present."

Governor Odell's answer was sharp, quick and decisive: "If the legislature sends me any such proposition, I shall veto it in two minutes. It would not be equitable with present real estate taxation, and you take too narrow a view of the situation."

These statements of the governor and the later attitude of the joint committee of the assembly and senate toward the speakers who appeared to argue against the trust bill rather took interest out of the hearing. It is perfectly evident that the governor and the committee are of one mind, that the bill taxing trust companies 1 per cent on their capital, surplus and undivided profits should be made a law without amendment.

There was a four hours' hearing, at which Mr. Fairchild, Mr. Davies and others spoke.

War on Kansas Saloons.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Feb. 13.—The W. C. T. U. of Kansas will attack the saloon element at the opening made by Mrs. Nation. Mrs. E. P. Hutchinson, the state president, and other state officers have drafted a manifesto to be sent to W. C. T. U. bodies all over the state urging a general uprising against the saloons. Mass meetings are urged to adopt resolutions calling upon Governor Stanley to enforce the prohibition law and to "stir up the people." The manifesto, coming after that adopted by the Kansas state temperance union at Topeka, will, it is believed, result in a revival in Kansas of the enthusiastic crusade that led to the election of John P. St. John, the Prohibition governor.

The Hamilton Trial.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 13.—The prosecution in the Hamilton murder case rested after introducing the sensational evidence of Officer Thomas J. Rooney, who testified that Hamilton said to him when he was arrested: "Officer, I will go with you. I am prepared to take the consequences. Let the law take its course. I killed him, but I did it in self defense." This testimony was not a surprise, as it was known to be forthcoming. Hamilton listened to the statement with a perfectly impassive face. Rooney's evidence related to the conversation with Hamilton on the way from the West hotel to the police station, much of it of an unprintable character.

A Strike Averted.

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—The threatened strike of book and job printers in Boston has been averted, the 125 or more employing printers voting to sign the scale granting male and female compositors equal wages of $16 per week for one year and $16.50 per week for two years following. The typographical union had threatened to order a strike at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Burglar Held For Trial.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 13.—John Martin of New York, who was captured by Officer Van Dusen late Monday night while breaking into the store of Friedman Bros. after a struggle, in which both men were badly cut up, was held for the grand jury. He is believed to be a well known crook, and the New York police have been communicated with.

Fifteenth Application For Divorce.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 13.—Herman Cordes, a wealthy German farmer and brickmaker, and his wife are in the courts again for the fifteenth time seeking a divorce. The couple were married in 1870, and in the past ten years there have been 14 applications for the court to untie the knot, 12 coming from the wife and two from the husband.

A Healthy Temperature.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Telegraphic advices have been received at the war department from Fort Egbert, Eagle City, Alaska, and Fort St. Michael, Alaska, to the effect that the officers and men at those garrisons are well and comfortable. The temperature at Fort Egbert is reported at 68 degrees below zero.

Fox Hunters Flocking to Deer Park.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Eager to secure the bounty offered by the board of supervisors for foxes, hunters are flocking to the town of Deer Park, this county, where these animals are said to abound. A large number has been secured there during the past year.

House Numbers.

While the Common Council considers the plan to provide the city with proper street signs, it would be eminently proper for them also to provide for the proper numbering of houses in this city. There are many residences here which either have no number at all or else have placed the figures in such a place that it is very difficult to distinguish them particularly at night.

When the Council changed the system of numbering in this city and adopted what is known as the "Philadelphia" system, every resident was requested to place the new number in some conspicuous place. Most of them did so. In a few cases the old numbers were left. In many cases, however, the house number has since been relegated to a location where it is difficult to find. A few of the numbers have been broken or removed and never replaced.

With the aid of a map, it is possible to eventually find the streets even if signs are not placed telling their names, but to find a house without a number is a very difficult problem, indeed. On several of the streets in the eastern end of the city two systems of numbers prevail, and the passerby is bewildered by seeing numbers in the two hundreds and in the eight hundreds on the same block.

Such a state of affairs should be remedied and at once. If the street department can see to it that the house numbers are properly displayed, then by all means let the street department act without waiting for action by the Council. If it is necessary for the Council to move in the matter, then it is the duty of the street committee to bring the subject before that body without delay.

One of the best known shoe manufacturers in the United States, tells the Philadelphia Record, who started into business with a small capital and whose yearly sales now amount to over $3,000,000, says "the main thing in the line of success is to keep yourself and your goods constantly before the public. That is best done by means of advertising in general, and particularly by newspaper advertising." As advertising has enabled this man to keep a great factory in constant operation and to conduct seventy-two retail stores, what he says on the subject of publicity is entitled to some consideration.

Mayor Smalley's effort to relieve the borough of North Plainfield from its present financial embarassment, caused by many property owners taking unfair advantage of the provision of the laws which allows exemption from taxation of notes in banks, appears to be meeting with success. Through the efforts of Senator Reed, it was passed through the Senate yesterday. Now it will come before the Assembly for consideration. Mayor Smalley is hoping that it will not be held up there.

Boulevards seem to be the order of the day. Plainfield, with her proposed Woodland boulevard and speedway, seems to have set the pace. Now the Ocean boulevard is on. A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to carry out the project. The feeling is practically unanimous, the only objector being the Ocean Grove Association. They fear too great an influx of the worldly element on their camping ground.

The Board of Trade is going to discuss municipal ownership at its public meeting Monday evening. It is a wide subject and there will be plenty which may be said on the subject. Meanwhile there are no street signs in Plainfield and the banks of Green brook are sadly in need of proper attention while the brook itself would look far better if some of the tin cans and other refuse were removed.

While the plan of redistricting the State proposed by Franklin Murphy may suit the Republican leaders of the State, it is not popular with the public in general so far as it effects Union county. The proposed combination of Union, Somerset and Morris counties to form the Fifth Congressional district would seem far more logical and proper.

Westfield is going to decide by ballot whether or not its citizens desire to advance and become a city or remain as a township. The subject has been hotly argued in Westfield and there are some very diverse opinions regarding the proposition. The people will definitely decide the question however.

The members of the street committee of the Common Council reported last December the immediate need of proper street signs for Plainfield and yet they have not brought the subject before the Council. They will have another chance next week to propose the subject for consideration.

The story of a college glee club stalled in a trolley car by snow drifts and compelled to assist in digging a way through, sounds quite thrilling for this part of New Jersey. It might be expected out west but it is a new experience for Jersey college boys.

The Newark News has announced that beginning Sunday, February 24, a Sunday edition of that newspaper will be regularly published. The News will attempt to compete with the Sunday editions of the big New York dailies.

Assemblyman Foote has finally introduced a bill in the Legislature. It gives juries the right to recommend imprisonment for life rather than hanging when bringing in a verdict for murder in the first degree.

The New Jersey Senate transacted considerable business yesterday despite the fact that it was a legal holiday in New Jersey.

The Daily Press is indebted to Senator Charles A. Reed for a copy of the Legislative Manual for 1901.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

William F. Ford, formerly connected with the local department of the True American, has purchased and assumed control of the State Centre, a Democratic weekly newspaper, located at Bound Brook. The paper is well established, and Mr. Ford has the journalistic ability and push to make it the great success—which all will wish him.

Senator Charley Reed, of Somerset, says he does not want to be the Republican candidate for Governor. It was generally understood that the Senator's boomlet was launched as a sort of trial divisor, his friends being under the impression of that the removal of Senator Pitney from the field created a favorable opportunity. Not meeting with the anticipated enthusiasm, it is taken out of the wet.—New York Herald.

The report was given out Monday in New Brunswick and said to be intended for home consumption only until a later date, that Governor Voorhees within a day or two would send to the Senate the nominations of Woodbridge Strong and John S Voorhees to be their own successors. Mr. Strong is just completing his first term as county judge, and Mr. Voorhees is doing the same as prosecutor, for Middlesex county. Judge Strong, according to report, is something more than seventy years of age, but is said to be as vigorous mentally as he is reliable as a Republican.—New York Tribune.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Feb. 13—Lincoln's Birthday was observed in a fitting manner throughout the borough yesterday. The majority of the New York commuters remained at home while a number of the local stores closed their doors at noon. The postoffice closed at 10:30 and re-opened at 4:30. In the way of amusement the borough residents had to depend on nearby places as there was practically no skating or sleighing but on the whole those who observed the day managed to enjoy themselves somehow.

The Lincoln Birthday social given in the Methodist church last evening was very well attended and the committee in charge are greatly pleased with the result. A patriotic programme was rendered consisting of appropriate songs and recitations which was very much enjoyed by the audience. The serving of refreshments brought the affair to a close.

About twenty-five of the borough's young people enjoyed a sleighride to Westfield last evening under the leadership of William Giles and Abner Coriell, Jr. While the sleighing was not of the best the party enjoyed themselves thoroughly in going and coming.

A young son is now the center of attraction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wearren, of Rock avenue. The little fellow arrived Monday night.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Feb. 13—One of the pleasantest pages in the history of Fanwood Council, R. A. was supplied last evening when the Council entertained a number of the members of the Grand Council and delegations from Greenbrook Council, of Plainfield; Fireside, of Westfield, and Roselle Council. The regular order of business was rushed until duty 17 when the Council room was turned over to Orator Allen, who was ready with a pleasing programme. While the members lingered over their cigars interesting addresses were made by Deputy Drummond and Grand Secretary Albert, both of the Grand Council, and by members of the several delegations. At the close of this part of the evening's pleasure refreshments consisting of coffee, cake and sandwiches were served by the refreshment committee and no guest was allowed to depart until the inner man had been well taken care of. During the evening Regent T. B Collins was presented with a handsome gold Past Regent's jewel, Wm. B. Noble making the presentation speech Regent Collins responded with a neat little speech of thanks to the Council for their handsome gift. About 11:30 the guests began to depart for their several homes but not until they had given three cheers for Fanwood and expressed their appreciation of the hospitable way in which they had been treated by its members.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A very remarkable fact regarding Dr. Jenkins, Plainfield's mayor, is that during his twenty-four years practice he has never been laid up a single day by sickness. Day and night constantly he has answered the calls of the sick, and he has always succeeded in keeping well himself.

* * * * * * *

The funny misunderstandings of deaf people will never cease, and while we pity their infirmity their blunders must excite laughter.

After one of our elections, two neighbors met and one asked of the other, who was deaf, "What ticket did you vote?"

The deaf man answered, "I didn't hear you."

The neighbor repeated his question, "What ticket did you vote?"

"I don't understand you," replied the deaf man.

The questioner raised his voice as he shouted, "What ticket did you vote?"

A puzzled look came on the deaf man's face as he inquired wonderingly, "Did you ask me what tickled me most?"

It is needless to say the subject of the man's vote was dropped.

part of their taxes. Not only did such men shirk their own taxes, said Mr. Reed, but by swearing off these debts they reduced the assessable valuations in municipalities and compelled honest taxpayers to bear an additional burden.

"Of course the banks don't want this bill passed," declared the Somerset man. "Why, only the other day a bank official asked me why I was pushing such a bill and told me they would lend me $50 000 on my own note for three months and that by making the loan I could save half my taxes."

"Where is that bank?" asked Senator Hudepeth, of Hudson.

"In Jersey City. Would you like to know the gentleman's name who made me the offer?" queried Mr. Reed in return.

"No, never mind that," replied Mr. Hudepeth.

"Well, I didn't think you would," retorted the Somerset Senator.

The bill was passed with Mr. Martin alone against it.

PARTIES IN CHINA.

Emperor's Alliance with Liberals—Good Results Already Accomplished by Kwang Hsu.

"There are just two parties in China, the liberal and the conservative," says I. T. Headland in Ainslee's. "The latter is the outgrowth of centuries of dominion over eastern Asia. It is the party that is selfish and self-sufficient, the party totally ignorant of the world outside of China. The word China in the original Chung Kuo means to the Chinese what Mediterranean once meant to the western world—the center of the plane surface of the earth.

"The liberal party is the offspring of the present generation, and the official head of this party is the young Emperor Kwang Hsu. He is a man that has been judged of less than average ability. Despite this, he is, in fact, one of the most remarkable potentates, William of Germany not excepted, on the stage of the world to-day.

"Outside the walls that confined Kwang Hsu the reform movement was begun by the founding of the Reform club at Peking. Not long after the club had been put on a running basis, one of its energetic members called on me to learn the names and addresses of the leading magazines and newspapers published in the United States. I gave him the required list. Soon I ascertained that other members had likewise secured lists of English, German, French and Russian publications. This reading matter was subscribed for by the club that members might keep in touch with the outer world. Hardly had the proselyting influence of the Reform club begun to spread when the cautious conservative party caused it to be suppressed because it was a menace to the government. But although the doors of their club were shut, the doors to the minds of these young men had been opened for always to the light of new knowledge.

"During the summer of 1898 I was engaged with Han Lin, a noted literary graduate, in the task of translating a book on mental philosophy into Chinese. One day we heard that the emperor had issued an edict to abolish the literary essay as part of the great examinations.

"'What will be the result of this edict?' I asked Han Lin.

"'Some will like it, and some will not,' he answered, discreetly.

"A few days later the emperor issued another edict, allowing all officials to memorialize him in sealed memorials on the provisions of the first edict.

"Again I asked the opinion of Han Lin.

"'Some will approve of it, and some will not,' was all I could draw from him.

"Then one after another those wonderful edicts came forth from the palace in such rapid succession as to take our breath away. Indeed, they almost took the emperor's breath away definitely. In a few weeks when the empress dowager returned from the summer palace, Kwang Hsu was put in that confinement from which he has not yet been liberated.

"It must not be supposed, however, that these spasmodic efforts at reform had no results. The consequences were apparent. The emperor had succeeded in establishing in a few weeks a university which still stands, and which is under the influence of Dr. W. A. P. Martin, one of the best educators that has ever been in China.

"The principal departments of the university are for the study of the languages of the allied powers. In addition, are the departments of law and of medicine. Also there is the gymnasium, which was a revelation to the students. The gymnasium was directed by a Frenchman, a very accomplished athlete. While most of the apparatus was imported from Europe, many things were turned out by Chinese mechanics. All the bicycles that could be bought were procured, and a bicycle club was organized by the students. It was not long before I heard of a broken arm or two among the new wheel enthusiasts.

"In addition, there is a university at Tientsin, which is on a very firm basis. Still another is at Nanking. There is a college in Shanghai and other institutions of less note in various parts of the country. Thus, although the conservative party is still in power and has almost destroyed the empire by anti-foreign principles and conduct, these young reformers are continuing to prepare themselves to carry out the reform they know will come in the near future."

Leap Years in This Century.

Some curiosities concerning the new century have been collated by Rev. Prebendary W. A. Whitworth, the well-known vicar of All Saints' Margaret street, London. It will have, for instance, 36,525 days, which is one day more than the departing century could show, a difference due to the fact that 1900 is not a leap year, but 2000 will be so regarded. With regard to leap years it will be remembered that every year of only 365 days is too short by nearly six hours, but by having a leap year with its extra day every four years we should make every four years more than 11 minutes too long. Some years, therefore, have to be left out, and the present calendar provides for only 97 leap years to occur in four centuries, which reduces the average length of the year to 365 days five hours and 45 minutes 12 seconds, which, being only 22½ seconds too long, may be considered, for all ordinary purposes, as correct. This explains why in the seven years 1897-1903 there is no leap year. As to the error of about 22½ seconds in the average year, Mr. Whitworth remarks that it would take 700,000 years to bring midsummer to December.—London Globe.

Fairy in Disguise.

The waiter girl was undeniably pretty, and she did not seem to know it.

Modest, ladylike in demeanor, mindful only of her duties, she moved swiftly to and fro through the crowded restaurant, heedless of the admiring glances darted at her by susceptible young men, filling the orders of exacting guests with exemplary patience and good nature, and tactfully repelling all attempts to engage her in airy bandinage or in any conversation not pertaining to the business of feeding hungry men.

"What is your order?" she asked the grave, silent man who had just taken a seat at one of the tables.

"Bring me," he said, "a Swiss cheese sandwich with rye bread, a couple of doughnuts and some coffee."

"Slab o' Switzerlan' on rye!" she piped, shrilly. "Sinkers! Draw one in Java!"—Chicago Tribune.

Swedish Games.

A very original idea in Sweden is to gather from near and far at the commencement of the new century all Swedes, Norwegians and foreigners interested in sport and folklore, and to offer them an opportunity of studying the Scandinavian names and exercises, which, like those of the ancient Greeks, largely contribute to the strength, hardiness and agility of the people. They can at the same time take cognizance of the national music and dances, which help to keep the Swedes and Norwegians cheerful and contented during their long winters. The first gathering will take place in Stockholm from the 9th to the 17th of February.—St. Louis Republic.

Only the Wings.

A group of little children found a wounded bird with its tail feathers shot away or plucked out in some manner, and disputed among themselves as to what should be done with the poor little thing. Some of them wanted to take it home and put it in a cage. Others were for releasing it and letting it fly away. "It can't fly," said one; "it has no tail." "You don't have to have a tail to fly." "Yes, you do." "No, you don't. Angels have no tails, and they can fly." A little girl who had taken no part in the controversy looked up in surprise and said: "Johnny, aren't you ashamed to talk about God's servants in that way?"—Troy Times.

Destruction by Trains.

A signalman with a turn for natural history has shown once again the extent of the destruction wrought by trains. He has kept a list, which, though necessarily not exhaustive, is immensely long, of the victims along a stretch of line about three miles. The list includes cats, foxes, dogs, hundreds of rats, rabbits, a cow, a sheep, an adder, a long-eared bat, a hedgehog and thousands of frogs. Among the birds are a kingfisher, a kestral hawk, rooks and nightjays, to say nothing of the more familiar species.—Chicago Chronicle.

Few Big Cities in Germany.

With a population not far from 60,000,000 crowded within an area smaller than that of the single American state of Texas, Germany yet has only 33 cities of 100,000 or more inhabitants, while the United States, with its 76,000,000, scattered over a vastly larger area, has 38 such cities.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Built on Honor.

I take great pleasure in anouncing to my friends and the general public that I have had the good fortune to secure the sole agency for the world-renowned McPhail Pianos, of Boston, Mass. Built on honor and sold on merit for the past 63 years. A Piano excelled by none and equaled by few. I shall in the future carry a full line of these superb instruments, together with the celebrated Kimball, which I have so successfully handled in the past. Thanking you all for past patronage and wishing a continuance of the same, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

No. 1265

There is probably no disease that more requires, in the process of cure, the healthy action of every organ, than dyspepsia. Again, there is no disease with such a pronounced morbid systemic influence. Abernethy made the axiom, "To cure a gastric disorder, every organ must be exercising its functions." The Father of Medicine gave the science the equally notable proverb: "The stomach hath its wholesome or its debasing effect on the body. • • • A good stomach signifies health; an evil one, disease."

The Iamatological Bureau has, in the interests of medicine, conducted a series of researches on Ripans Tabules, a domestic remedy of large and growing favor, and, in pronouncing a therapeutical estimate, cannot be more emphatic than to use these two familiar good words as texts. Depending upon the chemical and physiological agreement of tests, and confirming the same by repeated clinical proof, we determine this remedy of value, because:

1. It acts to cure functional disorders of the stomach by primarily acting upon that organ and at the same time carrying a like consistent action to the other organs of the economy.
2. By curing gastric disorders it is contributory to the health of the entire system.

In demonstrating this determination, we are led to attribute them because of certain physiological actions, which may be specified and described as follows, viz.:

1. It converts albumen into peptone.
2. It stimulates the gastric glands, so that the flow of gastric juice is increased. This flow is normal and physiological.
3. It has an antiseptic action, by virtue of which it prevents the decomposition and fermentation of the contents of the stomach.
4. It has a like antiseptic action in the intestines.
5. It dissolves any and all unhealthy mucus that may sheathe the walls of the stomach and intestines. It is to be noted, however, that in the action of dissolution, it may cause a detachment of the mucus, which may pass out of the stomach and intestines before before being acted upon.
6. It relieves gastric and intestinal pain.
   a. When caused by irritating ingesta.
   b. When due to local neuralgia.
7. It is operative at either high or low temperatures.
8. It has a tonic effect on the mucous membrane, especially on the mucous membrane of the intestines.
9. It acts equally as well in the presence of a constant amount of acid and in its absence.
10. It relieves vomiting, except, of course, where there is a condition of actual ineneration.
11. It acts at once, and it continues acting as long as the food remains in the digestive tract.
12. Its action has no relation to the concentration of the food, or to the presence of liquid in the stomach and intestines.
13. It accelerates metabolism, both of organic and inorganic matter.
14. It diminishes the amount of uric acid relatively.
15. It influences sufficiency of hepatic action.
16. It is restrictive of tissue waste. One of our French consultants describes it as an ailment d'epargne.
17. It has a tonic effect on the unstriped muscles of the stomach.
18. Immediately after its exhibition there is an acceleration of the pulse rate, showing that in some considerable measure the dynamic power of the heart is increased.

No condition of disease of the stomach arrests or impedes its action, excepting where there is destruction of continuity of structure, as in ulceration, etc.

RISE OF THOMAS KEARNS.

A Decade Ago He Was a Poor Miner, Now He Is United States Senator from Utah.

Thomas Kearns, who has been elected United States senator by the legislature of Utah, is one of the richest men in the west. Like most others of the same description, he began his career in the most humble circumstances. A dozen years ago Mr. Kearns was a miner in the big Ontario at Park City. Although he was a common workman by occupation, he was endowed with keen business foresight, ambition to rise above his surroundings, and spurred by the hope of owning a mine for himself and having other men in his employ.

He saved a considerable sum from his wages, and in looking about for a profitable investment came to the conclusion that the Silver King, an obscure mining property, had great possibilities. He worked eight hours a day in the Ontario, and then devoted another eight hours to work on the Silver King. The timbers he used in sinking the shaft of the Silver King he dragged to the mine with his own hands. His labor was rewarded with success beyond his dreams. He discovered that the obscure mine was rich in ore, and to-day that property is one of the greatest silver producers in the world. Mr. Kearns' interest in it, which is about one-fourth, is worth about $5,000,000.

THOMAS KEARNS.
(United States Senator from the State of Utah.)

Mr. Kearns has earned the reputation of being one of the most eccentric of the wealthy men of the west—and this section of the country is noted for producing millionaires with odd characters. His sudden rise to enormous wealth is the cause of his apparent incongruities. His solecisms of speech will, it is claimed by his friends, disappear in time and with association with men of education. His deportment is hardly of a character to make him a brilliant drawing-room ornament, but that fault has little to do with his sound sense and his ability to manage cleverly vast possessions. The new senator is building a marble palace in Salt Lake City, which, when completed, will be the most stately private residence in Utah. To his housewarming Mr. Kearns has declared that he will invite many of his old friends of former days in the mines. He has also bidden to the feast the haughtiest and most exclusive men and women in the community, and it is expected that no one who has been invited will stay away.

Senator-elect Kearns is a native of Ontario, and is only 39 years old. He came to Utah in 1883. He has several paying interests other than the Silver King, and is a director of the company recently organized by Senator Clark, of Montana, to build a railroad from Salt Lake to Los Angeles.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE.

Honored by the King of Great Britain Who Has Just Made Him a Knight of the Garter.

Prince Frederick William, of Germany, upon whom King Edward has just conferred the order of the garter, is the heir apparent to the German imperial throne and the eldest son of the emperor. He will be 20 years old on March 6, and is a manly youth, with brusque soldierly ways and a sturdy frame. He is already taller than his father and is the idol of the German regiment in which he is an officer. Military honors of many kinds have been showered upon him, but he bears them all modestly. When he was only 14 the Austrian emperor appointed him a lieutenant in the Seventh Austrian Hussars, and he has received honors from other sovereigns. The prince has a fine education. He is well tutored in history, political and economic science and in the political history of his own country.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE
(Heir Apparent to the Thrones of Germany and Prussia.)

Boycotters Were Fooled.

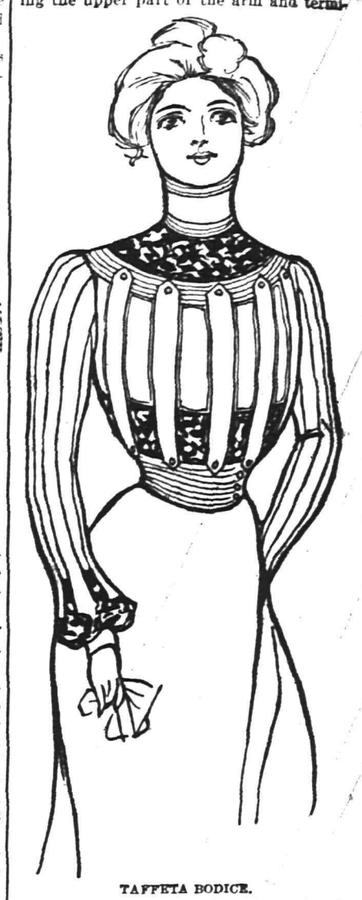
Boycotters displayed a Kansas City tailor's name on big posters, with the result that several men saw the name, and nothing else, and went in and ordered.

EVENING BODICES.

Low Cut Bodices With Sleeves of Various Sorts.

The fashion of extremely low cut evening bodices is reviving, perhaps in consequence of the return of empire styles.

The form of the decolletage varies. It is square, heart shaped, round, deeply pointed and passing across the top of the shoulder or almost straight, leaving the upper part of the arm uncovered. Sleeves are sometimes dispensed with altogether, a simple band serving to hold the bodice up and a bow or knot of flowers being placed at one shoulder. The Louis Quinze sleeve is seen in various forms, usually draped, shirred or plaited, closely following the upper part of the arm and terminating two or three inches above the elbow. Long transparent sleeves also continue to be used with low cut bodices.



TAFFETA BODICE.

There are many pretty bodices for demi-toilet, to be worn with a different skirt. The cut illustrates one of these, which is of sky blue silk with a yoke of printed panne. The lower part of the bodice is also of printed panne. The yoke is formed in a band of gold galloon, and the wide belt is of gold tissue, fastened by three gold buttons. The belt and the gold border of the yoke are connected by straps of stitched taffeta, held by gold buttons. The collar of taffeta has two gold bands. The sleeves are covered by lengthwise straps of stitched taffeta, which fasten upon the wrist puff or printed panne by means of gold buttons. Narrow cuffs of gold tissue complete the sleeves.

FASHION NOTES.

Changes In Hairdressing—Materials For Evening Wear.

The coil of the hair is worn less high than formerly, being arranged nearer the back of the head than the top, and the puffy fullness in front surrounding the face is less ample and not so much raised from the head.

For ball gowns all transparent, soft, floating effects are sought, and mousseline de soie, crepe de chine, lace, net, tulle and liberty gauzes are in great request. These delicate fabrics are sprinkled and embroidered with jewels and metals—steel, silver, gold, jet, pearl, tinted spangles, rhinestones, crystals and cabochons of all sorts.

The illustration given today shows a costume for a young girl. It is of periwinkle blue cloth, and the skirt has a plain tablier and is laid in stitched plaits at the sides and back. The bodice has a tight back and a short basque, which is elongated in two points in front, and the edge is finished with a satin cord. The collar and revers are of blue panne, with an application of luxeuil lace, and a band of panne with lace applications passes down the outside of the tight sleeves. The vest of cream surah is plaited and has a buttoned corselet and two bands of blue panne, the buttons being gold. The collar is also of blue panne. The hat is covered with a drapery of blue panne and is trimmed with Christmas roses and holly leaves and berries.

In China the Pig Fares Quite as Well as His Owner.

Primitive Methods of Milling Produce Flour Unfit for Consumption—Sweet Potatoes Are in Great Demand.

[Special Hinghua (China) Letter.]

WHEAT is grown in North China as a summer crop; and there it is the great staple food of the people. In the great Yangste valley rice takes its place almost entirely. In South China, that is from the Fuhkien province down, wheat is grown as a winter crop. It is sown in November and harvested in April. I write upon a boat being poled and floated down a shallow river; on its banks are fields of ripening wheat. It is a curious sight to the western traveler to see a wheat harvest early in April. This region is in the latitude of America's new possessions in the semi-tropics, and there is every reason to think that it would make a winter crop in Porto Rico and Cuba. The Chinese gather from 12 to 18 bushels per acre. And this is off of fields that produce two other crops during the year.

The first thing that strikes the foreigner in looking at a lot of Chinese wheat is the astonishing amount of dirt in it. It reminds me of the "rakings" off of my grandfather's Ohio farm in the Little Miami valley, that we had tramped out upon the barn floor and winnowed with a hand mill. Clods of earth, pieces of brick, sticks, stones and sand are mixed with the grain in quantities greater or less, dependent upon the skill or honesty, or both, of the farmer, and the dealers who have handled it. The vicious custom of deliberately mixing dirt with grain to increase its weight is a characteristic of oriental business economy.

The milling of this dirty wheat is as primitive as everything else in the line of Chinese manufacturing. Wherever possible water power is employed. The stones are of ordinary gray granite three or four feet in diameter. The lower stone is stationary; the upper one slowly revolves with wooden cogs, the two faces of the rough stones grinding the grain and each other into flour. To clean the wheat it is washed in a tub by being pushed around in the water by hand and dipped out in a perforated dipper. The mud dissolves, and the heavy stones and pieces of tile sink to the bottom; part of the sand also sinks, but a good deal of it is ground up with the flour, which, with the grinding off of the mill stones, makes the ordinary Chinese flour fit only for pig feed.

After washing the wheat is only partially dried. It must be damp in order to grind with such crude methods. Consequently the flour must be used within ten days or it will be fit for nothing but to make paste. The disadvantage of this to dealers and consumers is manifest. It can only be ground for immediate use, and must be sold, even at a loss, as soon as milled.

When water power is not available a cow is substituted. No gearing is used. The cow is hitched to a sweep, and the stone turns as fast as the cow walks. The cows are used alternately, and one man will grind about five bushels in a day of 12 hours. The grinding is done nine or ten times; and after each grinding it is bolted through a flat silk bolting cloth, worked from side to side by a treadle.

The grinding and bolting is continued until the bran weighs only 20 per cent. of the original grain. Of course by this time all the shorts and middlings are ground up in the flour, along with some two or three per cent. of stone and sand; and with four or five per cent. of water the Chinese miller turns out a mess that is not fit for man to eat. He eats it, though. He cannot help himself. A country so densely populated must consume all it can produce, whether it is palatable and healthful or not.

However, the flour is not made into bread. A small per cent. of it is made into small sweet cakes and sold to travelers on thoroughfares. But probably at least 90 per cent. of Chinese flour in South China is made into vermicelli. This is made simply of flour with mixed water and a little salt, and drawn out into long strings. It is cooked by putting into water already boiling, and boiling it for five minutes. To the uninitiated foreigner it is by no means palatable or digestible. It has this advantage: It can be eaten by swallowing almost without chewing. This avoids the unpleasant sensation of grit that is experienced in eating bread or cakes, if the flour is not clean. It is probable that ever-increasing importation of American flour from the Pacific coast will in time make a marked change in the flour of China, and in the manner of consumption. American flour is now being brought to China by the shipload, and with the clean white article available the people will soon learn to despise their native product.

It will be used more for cakes and bread of various kinds, and the supply will create a demand for a good quality of flour. With the opening of the country that is certain within the next few years it is altogether probable that these crude and wasteful methods of making flour will be gradually done away with, and the ways of preparing it for food will likely be modified to more healthful and palatable forms.

Barley is used in South China in large quantities, but mostly for pig food. Very poor people grind their barley by hand, roughly bolt with a sieve, and make a mush of it. It is simply hot paste of a very coarse quality. How anyone can satisfy hunger with such a mess it is difficult to understand. I suspect they do not—they only keep from dying.

Beans are a great staple food in China. They are grown in great variety and quantity. At least eight different varieties are grown here in this one county. But with all these we must still order our Boston beans from San Francisco or Chicago. I was once a guest at a feast where there were a number of vegetarians, and out of courtesy to them our host had prepared only vegetable dishes. At least one-half of the 18 courses were beans of various kinds and in various styles of serving. But even here the classic dish of New England, that graces every dinner table of the genuine Yankee 52 Sundays in the year, was not among them, nor any substitute half so good. I left that feast hungry.

Peas not much different from the American article, are grown in quantities. I passed scores of houses to-day where the peas were being dried in the sun upon the threshing floors. They are too expensive for a regular diet, but they are one of the necessary luxuries of even the poor villagers for holidays, guests and feasts.

But the great staple food of the poorest people of South China is none of the cereals. What the Irish potato is to the peasantry of the land of the Shamrock, the sweet potato is to the Chinese peasant.

"Do the people of this region eat rice?" I asked to-day of an intelligent man, with whom I was crossing in a rickety old ferry boat from a small island to the main land.

"No, not one in a thousand, unless he is sick. These people cannot afford such luxury. Sweet potatoes cost half or less, and the people here who have been brought up to eat them prefer them to rice."

As we passed along the foot of the granite hills, with little patches of terraced fields clinging to their sides wherever possible to make them, and the earth carried to them by these patient children of poverty and toil, I could easily see why the people along this coast could not afford to eat rice. They must eat what their fields can produce.

Their sweet potatoes are more watery and stringy than our American tubers, but they are by no means a poor substitute. But they cannot be kept more than four months without drying them, so that nearly all of the crop is cut up into thin slices at once upon digging, and dried first for about two days upon the field from which it is dug, then for three or four days spread thickly upon the threshing floors. Taste for this diet must be cultivated long and steadily, and I note that it is easily lost by those who move to a region where rice is the common diet, or when they eat at another's expense.

The people feed their pigs upon the poorest of these potatoes. But often there is little if any difference between the food of the family and that of the family pig. It is all cooked in the same pot, and dished up at the same time. You never find a Chinese farmer so shiftless, so ignorant, or so unscientific as to feed his pig raw food. He knows what the American farmer has been very slow to learn, that it pays to cook food for animals as well as man.

THE SOCIAL SEASON.

Washington Society Deplores Mr. McKinley's Indisposition.

It Was Responsible for the Postponement of Many State Functions—A Chat About Diplomats and Their Ways.

[Special Washington Letter.]

SOCIETY is becalmed, lethargic and unhappy. There seems to be no breeze rippling the social horizon. All of the buds and butterflies of fashion are simply miserable, because there is nothing doing in a big, dazzling way.

The social season always begins here with the New Year's reception at the white house; but this year, very soon after that function, President McKinley became ill. Instead of recovering quickly he grew worse and was finally obliged to take to his bed and give up all business. Society didn't care for the health of the great man in the white house, but it did care, and does care, for the fact that all of the great social functions ceased on account of his illness.

The state dinners, the receptions to the supreme court, to the senate and house of representatives, to the members of the cabinet, to the army and navy, to the general public, all these and many others were set aside for an indefinite period, greatly to the annoyance of those who are always anxious to be on the go, to see and be seen. The young people do not suffer that intense agony of regret which animates the hearts of the mothers whose daughters are growing one year older every 365 days, without increasing prospects of a good match. Even old age is not respected in the hunt for men; and some old fellows are soon to be married to young girls who ought to be in school several years longer.

Young Mr. Vanderbilt is said to have given his bride a dowry of upwards of $3,000,000. That is the American way of doing things. The foreigners give their American brides titles, some of them shopworn, and expect the brides to give them plenty of money. Hence it happens that the members of the diplomatic corps here are regarded as good catches by many rich mothers. The foreigners will not pay any attention to girls who have not handsome dowries. The diplomatic corps is composed of diplomats, statesmen, gentlemen and snobs, the latter being in the palpable majority.

This diplomatic corps is often spoken of in the newspapers, but the people generally do not know much about it. Human ideals are frequently erroneous, and popular impressions concerning the diplomatic corps are wrong. The general supposition of writers outside of this city seems to be that the members of the diplomatic corps form a sort of military community in civil life. As a matter of fact they seldom are seen together, as a body. Occasionally there is some public function at the capitol which causes all of these officials to assemble in the galleries set apart for them. On New Year's day they assemble in the department of state and attend the reception at the white house. On each inauguration day they sit together on the floor of the senate and witness the inaugural ceremonies. But, generally speaking, this corps is scattered and has no homogeneity. Very few people resident in the national capital ever see these diplomats thus assembled, because very few have the good fortune to gain admittance to the state department, white house or senate chamber.

Nobody can have an adequate or comprehensive idea concerning any person or thing with which he cannot come into contact, visual or tangible. Therefore it is that few writers treat public men conservatively and wisely. Editorial writers who do not know presidents and presidential candidates, senators and senatorial candidates, personally and heart to heart, are likely to have distorted ideas of the individuals of whom they write. Consequently they unconsciously and unintentionally often do injustice in their work. Few people who write about William McKinley, William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt and Adlai E. Stevenson know those men well enough to properly portray them in print.

So it is concerning the diplomatic corps. There are many divergent ideals entertained about this aggregation of individuals who represent the nations of the civilized world here; and those ideals are almost as diverse and numerous as the individuals who give the subject thought or consideration.

There is, and should be, no clamor nor glitter surrounding the diplomatic corps in this city. It is composed of eminent gentlemen from the different nations of the civilized world, but these gentlemen are not always on dress parade. Excepting the Chinese and Corean ministers and their attendants, the members of the diplomatic corps dress as other gentlemen do, and no stranger could tell a diplomat on the street from an ordinary citizen.

The residences of the members of the diplomatic corps are scattered about the city, so that there is no residential homogeneity of the corps; and it is only on rare state occasions that they assemble in a body, wearing the uniforms and decorations.

British Ambassador Pauncefote is a typical British gentleman; large, strongly proportioned, of grave mien, strong face and genial courtesy to officials and friends.

French Ambassador M. Jules Cambon is a typical French gentleman; scrupulously careful concerning his attire, voluble in conversation, polite, suave and given to flattery.

To describe each one would fill a volume, for each has characteristics of his race and country, although they are not obtrusive of those characteristics.

The appointment of ambassadors and ministers to represent the countries of the world at this capital, and the appointment of ambassadors and ministers to represent this republic at the capitals of the various nations, is regarded as one of the necessities of modern civilization.

But, like everything else in national governmental affairs, it is overdone. The friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States could be easily maintained without having the people of Great Britain annually taxed $50,000 for an ambassador to this country. The friendly relations between this country and Mexico might easily be maintained without the people of this country being taxed $17,500 to maintain a minister there.

Not only are these ambassadors and ministers high salaried gentlemen, but they are expensive luxuries to the nations of the world, because they maintain costly residences, with secretaries, assistant secretaries, military and naval attaches, and hosts of servants. It has long since been apparent to me that the cost of our diplomatic and consular service is shamefully high, rascally high. But the other nations of the earth maintain these great expenditures by taxing their people; and, unless we make as good a show as they do, we might as well stay at home and keep out of diplomacy. Lady readers will understand this principle of diplomacy better than others, when they are reminded that it is better to stay away from church a whole year than to go to church with a last season's hat, or with holes in the stockings. They must dress well and keep up appearances, if their husbands work their fingers off.

That is not intended to be an ungallant or an undiplomatic remark, but a statement of fact for illustration.

The principal duties of the members of the diplomatic corps and their attaches are to entertain and be entertaining: that is to say, to eat, drink and be merry. The ambassadors and ministers give costly, garish banquets when the congress is in session and our entire governmental machinery is at work in this city; and their understrappers spend their time and their money in wining, dining and theater-going with their friends in the corps, and with the friends they have made in this city.

Practically (when they are practical), some of these secretaries make it a business to charm and capture the handsomest daughters of our wealthiest men and marry them; for there are more fool girls to the square inch in this city than anywhere else in America.

That may seem a little harsh, but it is frank. Maybe if these diplomatic corps fellows were as prevalent as they might develop as many silly girls, for it is true of women as it is of the stronger sex, of whom the poet wrote:

"Men are only boys grown tall, Hearts don't change much, after all."

Human nature is substantially the same everywhere, and our butterflies and buds here may not deserve unkind characterization; but it is certainly unworthy of our national pride and international development that our girls and their match-making mothers should bow and scrape, as they do, to these foreigners who assemble in our capital city. But we will not get up any Boxer movement to correct the evils which we see and deprecate. Nor should this story be concluded without saying that some of these foreigners are splendid examples of manhood as well as superior representatives of their governments and their peoples.

MANY AT THE TRAPS.

Holiday Shoot at Campbell's Club House on Park Avenue Yesterday Afternoon.

One or the largest crowds of sports men seen at a shoot in this vicinity in some time, gathered at Campbell's club house on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon.

The event of the afternoon and the one responsible for the assemblage was the match shoot for twenty-five birds between Edward Campbell, of Avon Park, and Peter Fellows, of Metuchen. Neither marksman was in his usual form. Campbell won out by securing thirteen to his opponents eight.

Sweepstake shooting followed the match and a large number participated. Devotees of the sport were greatly suprised at the showing made by Dennis Gavin, of the borough, who is rapidly coming to the front as one of the finest marksman in this vicinity. In the latter shooting he easily outclassed a number of the best cracks who took part.

LEAL'S BOYS WON.

Defeated High School Team By a Score of Three Goals To None.

After another hard fought game the High School hockey team was again defeated in their match with the Leal team on Holly's pond yesterday morning. The former team showed great improvement in their team work but in this they were clearly outclassed by the Leal men who in this respect are excellent players.

The High School boys played hard in the first half but despite their efforts the opposing team secured three goals. In the second half the High School boys braced up, the score remaining the same which was 3 to 0. The line-up was as follows:

TO BE SENTENCED NEXT WEEK

KING AND NEWMAN ENTERED PLEAS IN PERSON THIS MORNING.

Richard Roach Held in $500 Bail For Trial—Said to Have Shot John King.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Feb. 13—John King and John Newman, who are charged with assaulting William Dodd, and who, through their counsel entered a plea of non vult one week ago, appeared before Judge Vail this morning. They were accompanied by counsel. The prisoners consented to the plea, after which Judge Vail remanded them for one week, when they will be sentenced.

Richard Roach, of New Brunswick, whom it will be remembered, is charged with shooting John King in a West Third street saloon last fall, appeared with his counsel before Judge Vail, and he was held on $500 bail for his appearance at the May term of court for trial. Roach is believed by the police to be one of the pickpockets who operated in Plainfield upon the occasion of W. J. Bryan's visit.

George Lippert, a well-known sneak thief, who claims New York as his residence and who was charged with thievery in Elizabeth, was sentenced this morning to one year in State Prison.

Henry Scott, colored, who is said to have been operating in Rahway, where he is accused of entering several houses, was arraigned and afterward remanded for one week for sentence. In the meantime another charge is likely to be preferred.

OVERTURNED WAGON.

Smashed Carriage And South Plainfielders Had to Return Home on Foot.

A sudden lunge on the part of a horse driven by Miss Edith Arrowsmith, of South Plainfield, resulted in the overturning of the wagon at the corner of South Second street and Grant avenue shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. Seated in the vehicle with Miss Arrowsmith were here brother, Firman Arrowsmith, and Bert and Frank Soper, who were returning from work at the Pond Tool Works. All five were thrown out but fortuately escaped serious injury.

The horse immediately took fright and ran down South Second street with the front wheels of the wagon dangling at its heels. It was captured at the corner of Plainfield avenue and Seventh street and was later taken to Cole's stable by the police.

The occupants of the wagon were forced to continue their journey to South Plainfield on foot as the rig was rendered useless.

SOMETHING ABOUT "ELIJAH" SOLOISTS.

Talented Artists are to Take Solo Parts at the Concert Next Tuesday Evening.

VARIOUS PRESS COMMENTS.

MANY PLEASANT THINGS HAVE BEEN SAID ABOUT THEM.

The Tenor, John Young, Has Already Been Heard in Plainfield—Joseph Baernstein is the Leading "Elijah"—The Others are Well-Known.

The closing rehearsals for the oratorio of "Elijah" to be given Tuesday evening, February 19, at Music Hall, gives promise of a most excellent performance.

Miss Sara Anderson, the soprano soloist, is the daughter of Mrs. Sara Barron Anderson, the well-known contralto, herself a great favorite in Plainfield. Miss Anderson achieved great fame at the Worcester festival in 1898. She was also the leading star at the Cincinnati festival last summer. She has recently returned from Europe, where she scored a great success. While there she met Frau Wagner, who engaged her to sing at the Bayreuth festival this coming summer.

Miss Corrine Welsh, the contralto, is a new singer from Ohio, who has had a splendid reception in New York. The New York Herald, in speaking of her singing with the Minerva Club at the Hotel Majestic, said: "Miss Corrine Welsh, a contralto from Ohio, who possesses a rich contralto voice of great range, sang Grieg's "Autumnal Gale" most artistically and won not only an encore, but a rising vote of thanks from the club." The Columbus, (Ohio), News says: "The singing of Miss Corrinne Welsh as Micah in the oratorio of "Sampson" was a revelation. Contralto voices of such purity are seldom found."

The Columbus (Ohio) Press says: "From beginning to the end of the oratorio, Miss Welsh's declamatory work in its phrasing and clearness of enunciation was exceptional." All look forward with pleasant anticipation to her rendering of the magnificent aria, "O, Rest in the Lord."

The tenor soloist, John Young, has already appeared in Plainfield this winter, having sung at one of the Casino concerts, where he gave great pleasure. The New York Musical Courier says of him: "Mr. Young possesses a voice of true lyric quality and pure tenor calibre." The Providence, R. I., Bulletin says: "Mr. Young, the tenor, is superb. His voice is of the most attractive quality."

The title role in the oratorio is a work which calls for splendid equipment of voice and artistic perception and today the leading "Elijah" is Joseph Baernstein, of New York. This young singer has carried his audiences by storm wherever he has sung. In a recent tour he aroused the greatest enthusiasm and severely taxed the vocabulary of musical critics in finding superlatives enough to express their delight at his singing.

The Toledo Blade says: "Baernstein owned Toledo when he retired from the stage last evening. It is seldom that a Toledo audience ever warms up to the work of a soloist as they did to Baernstein last evening. It was a genuine ovation." The Indianapolis Journal said of him: "Mr. Baernstein possesses a bass voice of range, clearness, purity and power, such as are rarely combined in one singer.

Above all he has that quality of personal magnetism technically known as artistic temperament. The Press (Indianapolis, Ind.,) speaks of him as having "a voice of depth, power and musical quality and the happy faculty of placing the audience enrapport with him at once." Mr. Baernstein sings "Elijah" in Baltimore last week. The committee are be congratulated in securing such an artist for Plainfield.

Of Prof. E. J. Fitzhugh's work as a conductor, Plainfield music lovers have sincere admiration. The Philharmonic Society artists, who compose the orchestra, are also well known to Plainfield, and a rare treat is in store for those fortunate enough to have tickets.

Illustrated Talk on "Hearts."

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a consecration service tomorrow evening. Joseph Schultheis will also give an illustrated talk on "Hearts."

Literary and Musical Programme.

Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I O. L., will hold a literary and musical entertainment in Sons of Temperance Hall Monday evening, February 25.

PREPARING TO ACT.

New Developments in Big Damage Suit Brought By E. J. Weston Against Joseph Faulkner.

Lawyers Bruce & Runyon are preparing to make a move in the case of Edmund J. Weston against Joseph Faulkner, in which the plaintiff asks the defendant $50,000 for alienating his wife's affections. The above firm represents the plaintiff.

The defendant is the proprietor of the Burr Printing House in New York and is well known. The details of the case were recently published in The Daily Press, which are in substance that while Weston and his wife were caring for Mr. Faulkner's place at Dunellen, the latter was writing letters to Mrs. Weston and making appointments to meet her in New York. These things are alleged by the plaintiff.

He also claims that he found a bundle of letters written to his wife by Mr. Faulkner and which Mrs. Weston confessed she had received from her husband's employer.

AN OLD FIRM DISSOLVED.

ANDREW VANDERBEEK DECIDES TO RETIRE FROM ACTIVE BUSINESS.

Joseph Sattels Will Continue Piano Business at the Old Stand—Mr. Vanderbeek's Career.

On account of ill health and a desire to spend the remainder of his years in quietude and rest, Andrew Vanderbeek has dissolved partnership with Joseph Sattels. A notice in the advertising columns of today's Daily Press tells of the dissolution of the firm doing business at 221 Park avenue. Mr. Sattels will continue the business at the same place and he asks for a share of the public patronage.

The retirement of Mr. Vanderbeek from business recalls many interesting things during a business career in Plainfield of fifty years. He was born on the old farm at New Germantown seventy-one years ago, and remained there during the early years of his life. When a young man he went to Somerville and learned the trade of marble cutting. He remained there six years, coming to Plainfield in April, 1851. He established a marble business on Park avenue, where Moraller & Son are now located. Later he sold out to L. L. Manning, who still continues the business.

When Mr. Vanderbeek came to Plainfield he had just $50 capital, which was considered a great deal in those days. After selling out his first business he engaged in the music business and the sale of sporting goods at the same stand. This he continued until twelve years ago, when he disposed of his stock and formed a partnership with Joseph Sattels in the sale of pianos. The firm took rooms in the Vanderbeek building on the second floor and there they remained until this day.

A few years ago Mr. Vanderbeek had a serious illness which compelled him to retire temporarily from the business. He recovered, however, and despite his years he re-engaged in business with his old time fervor. Now he believes the time has arrived when he should take things easy if he is ever going to do so.

During his fifty years in Plainfield he has always held the very highest respect of everyone and he always conducted his business on sound, sterling principles. He retires with the best wishes of his many friends who hope that he may live to enjoy many years.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Subject Will be Discussed at Public Meeting of Board of Trade Monday Night.

The Board of Trade is about to take on a new lease of life. Next Monday evening a public meeting will be held, at which time speeches will be made by Lawyers George H. Bruce, S. S. Swackhamer and the "Farmer Orator," James E Martine. The subject to be discussed and talked about will be "Municipal Ownership," and there is sure to be an interesting time, inasmuch as the question is agitating the minds of many prominent persons.

In the borough the Mayor and Council are discussing the question seriously and they will soon introduce a new system of lighting for the streets, by the way of an experiment, that may open the eyes of the people.

There is no limit to the many kinds of municipal ownership desired and at the meeting there will, no doubt, be many kinds talked about. Following the business and talks, refreshments will be served and a social time enjoyed.

Harry Barton, of West Fourth street, has gone to New York for a brief visit with friends.

CHARGES AGAINST MR. WIGHTMAN DISMISSED

Hearing in Justice Smalley's Court on Charge of Assaulting Young Taub.

MR. WIGHTMAN'S STORY.

CLAIMED THAT HE MERELY SHOOK THE LAD.

Taub Refused to Obey His Commands, Mr. Wightman Said, But Shaking Could Not Cause Alleged Injuries—Boy Claimed He Was Kicked.

The case of Samuel Taub against H J. Wightman, superintendent of the North Plainfield Public Schools for assault on his son, was tried in Justice Smalley's court yesterday afternoon. Mr. Taub claimed that his son, Israel Taub, came home from school last Thursday night with his clothes torn and that he was considerably bruised about the body. Young Taub told his parents that he had been thrown down stairs by Mr. Wightman, and that he had also been kicked by the superintendent. Mr Taub at once swore out a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Wightman, charging him with assault.

Dr. Pittis was the first witness on the stand and testified to treating young Taub for bruises, but was unable to tell how they were received. He thought that they might have come from a fall.

The boy was next called to testify and he stated that Mr. Wightman had shaken him and then thrown him down the cellar steps, which he said had caused his injuries.

Jesse Brown, colored, and Orville Smith were also brought to the stand. They both said that Mr. Wightman had shaken young Taub, but not hard enough to injure him. What was done inside the school they were unable to say. This concluded the evidence for the plaintiff.

Superintendent H. J. Wightman was then called, and he stated in a straightforward way that the boy was disobeying the rules of the school by standing near the entrance to the building when he ought to have been in the rear of the school. He further stated that the boy was pounding on the door with a stick, and was liable to injure some of the other pupils who were passing out at that time. He told how he had knocked on the window and told the boy to go away. There were a number of other boys there at the time, but they immediately went to the rear of the building. Young Taub did not follow them, but kept on rapping at the door. He then went down-stairs and told the lad again to go away from the door.

The boy refused to go and he, Mr. Wightman, then took hold of Taub and gently shook him to impress it on him that he was to be obeyed. This did not have the desired effect so the superintendent took him inside the building and told him again that he must do as the rest of the pupils had done and go in the back of the school. But as for striking the boy and throwing him down stairs, Mr. Wightman stoutly denied doing anything of the kind.

A. V. D. Honeyman represented Mr. Wightman, and made a strong plea in behalf of his client. He said that the principal of a school, where there were over nine hundred pupils, had to be strict, and that he thought Mr. Wightman had done perfectly right. He could not see where there was any cause for action and wanted the case dismissed.

Lawyer William Newcorn, who represented the plaintiff, thought Mr. Wightman had done wrong and that as soon as he laid his hands on the boy he committed an assault. He wanted the case to go further and stated that he thought the defendant ought to be held for the Grand Jury.

Justice Smalley, after hearing all the evidence from both sides, decided that there was no cause for action and dismissed the complaint.

Attended State Convention.

Several of the letter carriers of this city left Tuesday for Paterson, where they attended the convention of the State Letter Carriers' Association. They returned home late that evening, all agreeing that they had had a good time.

A Nuisance.

A large pile of lumber left near the Washington avenue bridge is somewhat of a nuisance, especially at night. It was placed there to be used in repairing the bridge, but the cold weather prevented the work at present.

CALLED ON HIS WIFE AND TROUBLE ENSUED.

John Stevens Haled to Court Charged With Abusing His Helpmate.

DOESN'T LIVE WITH HER.

LONG SERIES OF FAMILY DIFFERENCES ENDED IN LIVELY WORDS.

There Were Threats of Personal Injury, It is Said—Husband and Wife Differed as to Who Was to Blame.

A long series of family differences between Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, of Watchung avenue, came to a climax when the husband appeared in the City Court this morning in answer to a charge of using profane and indecent language and threatening the life of the plaintiff, Mrs. Stevens. The defendant was represented by Walter L Hetfield, while Mrs Stevens relied on her own testimony and that of her daughter, Mrs T. M. Gallagher, to secure a conviction.

In her testimony, Mrs. Stevens declared that her life had been made miserable by her husband's actions, who as a rule, she said, came home in an intoxicated condition and threatened her with all sorts of violence. Finally when patience had ceased to be a virtue, she ordered him from the house altogether and requested her daughter to live with her, as the latter's husband is kept from home a great part of the time by business.

Mr Stevens took up his abode in a small room over his blacksmith shop but continued to make frequent visits to the house in deference to the wishes of the occupants. It was during one of these visits on January 14, that the offences, named in the complaint, were alleged to have been committed. Both Mrs. Stevens and her daughter denied using profane language toward the defendant or having threatened to strike him.

In his own behalf, Mr. Stevens declared that the complainant was to blame and that his daughter had acted in an unfilial manner, threatening him and using the same language for which he was on trial. He had also been driven from his home and was refused admittance at any time. While his testimony made a favorable impression on the court, it also convicted him of using the profane language and for that reason he was found guilty, but with a suspended sentence.

FUNERAL OF MR LUCKEY.

Services Held From the House on Sandford Avenue Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Robert Luckey was held from the home on Sandford avenue, yesterday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. Charles E Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which the departed was a member. Appropriate Scripture selections were read by Pastor Herring after which he talked briefly concerning the life and character of Mr. Luckey.

RESCUED FROM FLAMES AT THE RISK OF LIFE

A Woman and Two Children Narrowly Escaped Death in Fire at Westfield.

RESCUE WAS THRILLING.

THREE-STORY BRICK BUILDING GUTTED BY FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Five Firemen Overcome by Smoke—Intense Cold Greatly Hindered Their Efforts—Origin of Fire a Mystery—Loss Over $6,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, 14.—When Miss Garretta Woodruff, daughter of B H Woodruff the butcher, returned to her home on Broad street, last night about 11 o'clock she detected the smell of smoke and at once awakened her father. Policeman Knapp was found and he called out the fire department.

In the meantime a fire was discovered in a three-story brick building adjoining the Woodruff home, which is owned by Thomas Love. John O'Biennis has a shoe store on the first floor, Clarence Love and wife occupy the second floor and Carl Sells, wife and two children live on the third floor.

The firemen were quick to arrive and it was with the greatest difficulty that they fought the fire as it was intensely cold. Mr and Mrs. Clarence Love were among the first to discover the fire and they made a hasty exit. They lost all of their belongings and they carried no insurance.

While the fire was raging and the building was filled with smoke, some one discovered Mrs. Sells and her two children penned in on the top floor. They were at the front window, calling for help. Patsy Connors, of the bucket and engine company, placed a ladder against the building, ascended to the top and rescued the two children at great risk to his life. While he was doing this brave act, Patrolman Wilcox displayed similar bravery by entering the building and going to the top floor, where he found Mrs. Sells almost overcome with suffocation from smoke. He picked her up and carried her to the street, where she was properly taken care of and soon revived.

During the progress of the fire five firemen were overcome with smoke and had to be carried away from the building. They all recovered in a short time. The fire started in a small closet in the rear of the second floor, but what caused it cannot be ascertained. Clarence Love's loss is about $200. He carried insurance. John O Biennis' loss will be about $800, insured. The building was gutted and the loss on it will reach $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

TO REMOVE TREES.

First Steps Toward Widening Somerset Street Will Be Taken Next Week.

The widening of Somerset street is now an assured fact. Early next week a gang of men will commence the work of cutting down the trees along that thoroughfare between the brook and Jackson avenue. It is not believed that the work will require a great deal of time and besides there is an advantage in removing the trees at this time as there is no mass of foliage to hinder the workmen.

This is the first step toward the widening and it is proposed to commence the work on the street just as soon as the weather will permit. Mayor Smalley is just as enthusiastic as ever for the widening and he is backed up by most of the Councilmen who want to see the improvement made. If there is no interference the work should be accomplished early in the spring so that when summer arrives people will have all the advantages of the great improvement.

TOLD OF LINCOLN'S LIFE.

INTERESTING ADDRESS AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

John M. Whiton Told of The Great Example Set by The War President of The Country.

There was an attentive audience present at the Lincoln Memorial service in the Congregational church last evening. John M. Whiton was the speaker and he gave an interesting address on the life of Lincoln.

He said that there were two great men that had taken part in the history of this country, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. But the difference in the two was that Washington had wealth and distinction, while Lincoln had nothing whatever to start life with. He had no way to get an education, but by giving all his spare moments to study he soon learned to think for himself and study without the help of others. Mr. Whiton thought all might profit by the example.

Lincoln was a true Christian, he said, and never started out on a dangerous mission without first going to God in prayer, wherein he thought was the success of all his undertakings. Such was the life of one of America's greatest men.

Every one should make the most of his opportunities, he said, and by doing so be of help to others. He thought that all should take the inspiration from Lincoln and have self reverence, self knowledge and self control.

There was a number of patriotic songs sung during the evening and the audience seemed to be inspired with patriotism and all joined in heartily. At the close of the service each one expressed themselves as being well repaid for braving the cold and coming out to hear such an excellent address.

BACK TO JAIL.

Timothy Leahy's Former Experiences Did Not Seem to Have the Desired Effect.

Timothy Leahy, who was released from the Somerville jail but yesterday after serving a twenty days sentence for drunkeness, was arrested by Chief Kiely on Park avenue yesterday afternoon for the same cause and also for acting in a disorderly manner.

In the city court this morning the police credited him with having an unenviable record and by his own testimony he admitted to serving numerous terms in various jails. His previous experiences not seeming to have proved beneficial, he received a sentence of $10 or forty days. As he was financially embarrassed he took the latter.

In company with Leahy at the time he was arrested was John Walk, of New Brunswick, who told a hard luck story of being out of employment. He explained his presence in this city by seeking work in the local factories In his case sentence was suspended with a reprimand.

Gone to Salt Lake City.

Wm. M. McCutchen, of Myrtle avenue, left Saturday evening for Salt Lake City, in the interests of the Ingersoll Sargeant Drill Company. Mr. McCutchen's rise with that company has been extremely rapid. He was first located at the company's shops at Easton. He was shortly promoted to a position in the New York office of the company He has now been chosen to fill a mission of special importance.

MEEKER HAD SURPRISE FOR THE LEGISLATURE

Introduced Anti-Spring Election Bill Without Conference With Party Leaders.

WASN'T EXPECTED THEN

SCHOOL LAW STRAIGHTENED OUT BY ASSEMBLYMAN BOYD'S BILL.

Assemblyman Foote Introduced Another Bill—Passed Meeker's Concurrent Resolution Providing For a Lieutenant-Governor.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 14.—Assemblyman Meeker, of Union county, caused a genuine sensation in the Assembly yesterday by introducing the much talked of anti-spring election bill. It was supposed that the advisibility of introducing it at the present session be further consided and that it would be first introduced in the Senate.

Inquiry developed the fact that Mr. Meeker had acted without consulting the leaders, and because the abolition of spring elections was desired by a majority of his constituents in Union county.

The bill provides that the municipal officers of all cities shall be elected at the general elections in the fall, when the State and county officers are chosen. The terms of all city officers are extended until January 1 next following the date at which their terms would otherwise expire. The bill makes provision for extending the terms of both the elective and appointive officers, including constables and justices of the peace, as well as the higher officials.

While the ultimate fate of the measure is a matter of speculation, a number of the best informed leaders are of the opinion that the measure will pass the House, where it probably will have the almost unanimous support of the Hudson and Essex members, but will fail to pass the Senate, where opposition is anticipated from the rural counties.

Of the bills passed during yesterday's session of the Assembly, one of particular interest to Plainfield was the amendment of Mr. Boyd, of Montclair, to the Stokes School act of last year concerning the creation of a board of estimate. Under the amendment it is expressly provided that it is not mandatory for any city to create a board of school estimate unless it adopts the provision of the Stokes act for a new Board of Education of nine members, either appointive or elective.

Since the Stokes act went into effect, there has been much diversity of opinion concerning the meaning of this part of the law. The Plainfield Board of Education has been uncertain whether it applied to Plainfield and has been considerably handicapped by it in its efforts to secure a new High School.

The House passed the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the creation of Lieutenant Governor.

Among the other measures passed were the following: Providing for the payment of temporary loan bonds issued for street improvement by the city of Newark; reimbursing New Jersey volunteer soldiers for uniforms purchased while in service during the Spanish-American War; requiring corporations to make annual returns to the State Board of Assessors on or before May 1; permitting Princeton University to increase the number of its trustees by the election of five members to be chosen by the alumni; extending for two years the time for completing the Penn Haven Railroad; authorizing a husband and wife to convey property to one another without the intervention of a third party; authorizing the purchase of additional land for the Soldiers' Home at Kearny.

Among the bills introduced in the House were the following:

By Mr. Foote—Permitting Boards of Directors to fix by resolution the time when they will pay dividends.

By Mr. Roe—Permiting winter fishing with hook and line.

By Mr. Gill—Fixing the punishment for kidnapping children under fourteen years of age, at sixty years' imprisonment and a fine of $10 000.

By Mr. Gill—Giving Boards of Freeholders power to pass ordinances regulating the use of highways by automobiles or carriages.

By Mr. Bachelor—Amending the Building Loan act relative to withdrawal values.

The House adjourned for the week.

William Pearson, of Flushing, L. I., but formerly of this city, is spending a few days with friends in town.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

All the musical numbers that are introduced in "The Governor's Son," the new three act farce wherein the Four Cohans are now starring, and which will be seen at Music Hall Monday night, were written and composed by the versatile young author of the piece, George M. Cohan. Among them are "The Weeping Widow," "The Governor of the State," "The Story of the Wedding March," "Too Many Miles From Broadway," "I'm a Regular William Gillette," "The Governor's Son," "The Bloomingdale Two-step," "Oh, Mr. Moon," "Never Breathe a Word of This to Mother," "The Governor's Guards" and a new coon song. There is a diversity in the music of these numbers but in every instance it has the catchy quality which leads the auditors to hum or whistle the airs as they leave the theatre. What is especially noteworthy is the fact that the compositions are not mere interpolations but are consistently introduced and fit in the text of the play just as appropriately as the situations and bits of business.

A FIGHT IMPROBABLE.

Judge Hollister's Decision Anxiously Awaited at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 14. Present indications are that the Jeffries-Ruhlin boxing contest will not take place at Sangerfest hall tomorrow night. There is now as much doubt about the time and place as about the decision of Judge Hollister. Sporting editors from all over the country arrived yesterday and besieged the offices and quarters of Managers Brady, Madden, Cooke and others, who told them that they could not advise them as to anything until this afternoon. As soon as Judge Hollister shall render his decision the managers will hold a conference with the directors of the Sangerfest Athletic association and decide upon their plans for the future. They promise to make a statement for the public as soon as possible.

The members of the Sangerfest Athletic association as well as the managers of the contestants insist that they will not attempt to proceed if a permanent injunction is issued against them, and the general opinion is that such will be the rendering of the court. The promoters would then make no further effort to conduct the fight until after they had applied to the circuit and supreme courts, and if they are defeated in the court of last resort they state positively that they will declare the fight off. Meantime the prosecuting attorney and sheriff are vigilant, and the former still has Jeffries and Ruhlin under bond under charge of training for a prizefight. These cases will be called at once if the injunction is not issued.

Nash to Send Troops.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14.—General William V. McMaken of Toledo, commander of the First brigade of the Ohio national guard, with Lieutenant Colonel Moulton Houk, chief quartermaster of the division; Adjutant General G. R. Gyger and Assistant Adjutant General Adams, held a long conference with Governor Nash yesterday in his private office on the prizefight situation. It transpired later that Governor Nash will take no chances on the possibilities of a riot, and sufficient force will be called out to prevent trouble.

THREE OBJECT TO SUICIDE.

Emperor Kwang Su Accordingly Withdraws His Request.

PEKING, Feb. 14.—At least three of the Chinese to whom Emperor Kwang Su sent a choice of methods of suicide in pursuance of the demand of the powers for their punishment with death have declined to comply, and the emperor has withdrawn his request that they should destroy themselves.

His majesty now telegraphs Prince Ching that when he agreed to the terms of the joint note the latter only required that the punishment fit the crime, and he argues that if the worst of the guilty deserve death the others should be banished.

The foreign envoys, on the contrary, say that even those who are least guilty deserve death and as there is no worse punishment all must suffer the same penalty, although, if China should desire to make distinctions regarding the crimes, she can sentence the worst either to quartering or to some other form of Chinese execution.

Unless the court changes its views no immediate settlement is possible.

Aid Wanted For Starving People.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.—The governor of the province of Shensi is appealing for aid in behalf of 4,000,000 inhabitants of the famine stricken districts.

Colored Men as Land Owners.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Professor W. E. B. Dubois of the Atlanta university gave the industrial commission his views of the condition of the colored race in Dougherty county, Ga. He said that the colored people now own about 15,000 acres of land there, which is more than they have ever held before.

Imports and Exports.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The monthly statement issued by the bureau of statistics for January shows that the imports of merchandise amounted to $69,100,194, of which $27,373,454 was free of duty. This was a decrease from January, 1900, of $5,700,000.

Mother and Child Cremated.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Feb. 14.—In Freeman, Steuben county, last night, the house in which Mrs. Cora Fish resided with her three children was destroyed by fire, and Mrs. Fish and her daughter Annie, aged 4 years, perished in the flames.

Names For New Warships.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Connecticut, Louisiana, Tennessee and Washington have been selected as the names of the four warships authorized by the house and the bill for the construction of which is now pending in the senate.

REFORMING CHICAGO.

Mrs. Nation's Antisaloon Crusade Cut Short.

MUST APPEAR IN TOPEKA TODAY.

The Kansas Woman Calls on Mayor Harrison, Takes a Turkish Bath, Has Her Hair Dressed and Visits Several "Joints."

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Carrie Nation has left Chicago for Topeka. She is under bonds to appear in the Kansas capital today for trial in connection with her operations in that city. Before leaving Chicago she announced that as soon as she had "cleaned up things" at home she would come back here and if things were not properly taken care of by the authorities she and her friends would take matters into their own hands and, to use her own expression, "we will make souvenirs."

Her meeting with the saloon keepers which she announced that she would carry out did not materialize, and in default of having them for an audience she went once more to the saloon at 290 State street, which she visited Tuesday night and in which her grandson is manager, and delivered a talk to the people she found there. It was a motley throng, embracing all classes. Mrs. Nation mounted a table and for 15 minutes talked with great energy, urging her hearers to abandon both the use and sale of liquor and denouncing in the most unmeasured terms all those who permitted its sale anywhere in the city. As she left the place she went up to a woman who possessed a rich black eye and remarked:

"My, my, what a pity! Who gave that to you?"

"You better ask your grandson who gave it to me," was the quick retort. "He knows as much about the giving of it as I do."

Her meeting at Willard hall which preceded her visits to the saloons was attended by about 300 people, nearly all of them temperance people, who applauded everything that she said. Her talk was not long, and in closing she declared that she did not want any hatchets used and that she believed in peaceable means of closing the saloons as far as possible. All means of that kind, she said, should be exhausted before more violent methods were employed.

Mrs. Nation paid a visit to Mayor Harrison early in the day, after which she was driven to a Turkish bath parlor. "I am awfully tired," she said. "I think I can rest here better than in my room." She remained nearly two hours in the bath parlor and then returned to her hotel. Mrs. Nation declared her unequivocal approval of the Turkish bath as an institution. "It's the first one of the things I ever had," she said, "and I like it. I feel like new and am ready to start over again for a day's hard work."

Mrs. Nation then departed for a hairdresser's on State street to have her hair "done up." She selected an institution on the second floor with windows fronting on the street and went through the "doing up" process in full sight of hundreds of people who blockaded the sidewalks to get a glimpse of the Kansas woman. Leaving the hairdresser's, she made a plunge into the saloon of Harry McCall, opposite the Windsor hotel, to see how he had respected her orders regarding the draping of a partially nude figure which stands in the window. Earlier in the day she had sent word to McCall that she wanted the figure properly clothed. McCall wound a lot of pink netting around it and hung around the neck a card bearing the inscription. "Draped by request of Mrs. Carrie Nation of Kansas."

Mrs. Nation glared at the pink swaddled figure, gave an indignant ejaculation and then burst into the saloon.

"Where's the man I told about fixing up that image?" she demanded.

"Here I am," said McCall, coming forward.

"Well, that pink stuff won't do," declared Mrs. Nation vigorously. "Anybody can see right through it."

"How do you want it dressed?" asked McCall.

"I want it dressed the way you would have your sister dressed," was the reply.

"I'll put a Mother Hubbard and a sunbonnet on it," said the saloon keeper. "Will that do?"

"Well, I guess so," said Mrs. Nation in dubious tones. "Yes; that'll do, but put 'em on quick."

"I will," said McCall, and he did.

After issuing her orders to McCall Mrs. Nation went back to her hotel to rest until the time for her evening lecture.

Vice In Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—A spirited hearing was had yesterday before the committee on metropolitan affairs at the statehouse on the bill abolishing the Boston board of police. William H. Baker of Newton made a sensational attack on the board and also on a number of the hotels in Boston. He claimed that the board had given one hotel near the South station a monopoly of the liquor traffic in that vicinity and that liquor is sold in a prominent hotel in violation of the law. He charged that liquor licenses in Boston were hawked about the city by politicians.

Plague Raging In Bombay.

BOMBAY, Feb. 14. Another epidemic of the plague is raging. Of 2,000 deaths last week 922 were due to this disease.

RIOTING IN MADRID.

Many Persons Injured and Numerous Arrests.

A FUNERAL SERIOUSLY DISTURBED.

Students Raise the Cry of "Liberty" and Attack a Convent—Showers of Stones Greet the Gendarmes.

MADRID, Feb. 14.—With nightfall every approach to the Puerta del Sol was jammed with the idle populace. Insulting remarks were hurled at the police and the civil guard. A trumpeter sounded a charge, which was made with swords drawn. Heads were not spared, many persons were injured, and there were numerous arrests.

The scattering crowds sought the shops and hotels. All the front doors of the Hotel de Paris were smashed in, a great crowd assembling there. The police and guards charged into the streets leading to the Puerta del Sol, but the dispersed throngs quickly reassembled.

In some quarters considerable anxiety was felt as to the outcome of last evening, for reports had been circulated that the agitators had selected that time for the beginning of an organized outbreak.

As was anticipated, the funeral of Don Ramon de Campoamor was attended with serious disturbances. The weather was beautiful, and enormous crowds gathered along the route taken by the funeral cortege, which included the members of the academy and the ministers of justice and public instruction. Gendarmes and mounted guards were stationed at strategic points.

There was no very formidable outbreak until the end of the city was reached. At that point, however, the demonstrators, who included many students, raised the cry "Long live liberty!" and, having broken up into small parties, proceeded to various parts of Madrid to renew the demonstration. One band of students began to stone a convent on Torija street, and the police were compelled to charge them.

In the evening fresh riots took place at several points. The gendarmes charged with drawn swords, and a number were wounded or bruised. These were carried into the pharmacies and cafes. The demonstrators replied to the charges of the gendarmes with showers of stones.

Altogether some 30 arrests were made during the day, including a military officer, whose arrest resulted in a protest by his brother officer, the matter being referred to the captain general.

Coin Testers at Work.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—The commission appointed by the president to examine the weight and fineness of the coins in the mints has begun its work here. The commission met in executive session for the purpose of organization. Horatio C. Burchard of Freeport, Ills., an ex-director of the mint, was selected to act as chairman. The labor of examining the coins in the pix box was then taken up. The pix contains thousands of coins of various denominations which were collected systematically during the year. Coins are taken at random from the box and subjected to the most rigid examination. The metal in them is tested for its fineness, the piece is itself weighed and a note made of the general finish. A careful record of the examinations is made by a clerk, so that an accurate report can be made.

Death of Mrs. T. C. Platt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Platt, wife of Senator T. C. Platt, who died yesterday at the Fifth Avenue hotel, was a sufferer from a nervous affection of the heart and had been an invalid for over a year. It was only because of strong stimulants that she lived as long as she did, and her death was expected at any moment. The senator was almost constantly at her bedside for the last few weeks, and when her condition grew so serious her sons, Frank H. Platt and Edward T. Platt, and their wives were called. They remained with her to the end. Mrs. Platt was born at Nichols, near Owego, Feb. 25, 1835. She was married to Senator Platt in 1852.

Army Plans.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—According to the present plans of the war department the army is to be recruited to its full authorized strength of 100,000 men. The regular army now consists of about 67,000 men, including the troops in the Philippines, so that the new enlistments are limited to about 33,000 men. It is realized by the officials that it will take a long time to secure so many men, but the full machinery of the army is being exerted in that direction, with gratifying results. Over 400 recruits were obtained last week, and it is expected that much better progress will be made when all the recruiting agencies are in full operation.

Rioting In Budapest.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 14.—There was serious street fighting here yesterday between men out of work and the police. About 1,200 of the former attacked the labor bureau, smashed the windows and attacked the police, who attempted to disperse them. The police charged them with drawn swords and arrested 30 persons. The rioters attempted to rescue them and were only scattered by the arrival of a force of cavalry.

Keller's Condition Not Alarming.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—It is stated that Keller is physically in no worse condition than he has been at any time since he was shot. Yesterday there was considerable alarm owing to the bulletin issued by the physicians, but later in the day the doctors explained that the seriousness of the bulletin was meant by them to refer to the eyes and not to the general condition of their patient.

Cold Ride to a Fire.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 14.—Stephen Van Vranken, change driver of one of the hook and ladder trucks in the local fire department, drove to a fire clad only in his undergarments. He was dressing when the alarm was turned in and leaped to his station, driving about half a mile through the streets, with the thermometer registering 4 degrees below zero.

An Extraordinary Session.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14.—Governor John Walter Smith has issued a proclamation from his office in this city calling the Maryland general assembly in extraordinary session in the statehouse, Annapolis, on March 6. By virtue of the limitation provided in the constitution the session must adjourn within 30 days after that date.

ELECTORAL VOTE COUNTED.

Congress Does Little Else of Importance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—When the senate convened yesterday, the blind chaplain made a beautiful and touching reference to the death of Mrs. Thomas C. Platt, wife of the senator from New York.

During the greater part of the day the senate was engaged in executive session and in the counting of the electoral vote for the president and vice president of the United States. Late in the afternoon consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill was resumed, but little progress was made.

At a night session, beginning at 8 o'clock, the District of Columbia code bill was read.

The house devoted the day, excepting an hour and a half consumed in counting the electoral vote and promulgating the result of the presidential election, to the sundry civil appropriation bill. General debate upon this measure was completed, and the bill was read for amendment.

THIRTY LIVES LOST.

Wreck on Newfoundland Coast Believed to Have Been Identified.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 14.—It is almost certain that the Lucerne was the victim of the disaster near Bacalieu. A message from the agent to the owners says:

"Unidentified wreckage, the same as Lucerne's fittings, found at Lead cove."

The agent would certainly know the vessel's bridge deck, which was what drifted ashore, but he would not care to admit for the sake of the relatives of the crew. The owners and mariners conversant with the whole affair agree that the ship has gone. Her loss involves 30 lives, 23 of her own crew and 7 others, shipwrecked seamen and passengers. The supposition is that she either burst her boilers and went to pieces or struck the cliffs and foundered. The only fact beyond dispute is that a steamer and crew have perished. As all the Lucerne's crew resided here the disaster has appalled the whole community, being the worst known since the Greenland disaster three years ago.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Disastrous floods were reported from La Paz, Bolivia.

Moscow students rebelled as a protest against the Kiev sentences.

Forty-two Russians were killed in a fight with Chinese at Kiao-Chau.

Several New York ferry lines suspended traffic owing to ice in the river.

Several Mexican ranchers have been killed by Yaqui Indians near Hermosillo.

The New York Glucose company, with a capital of $4,000,000, was incorporated at Trenton.

Pan-American Rates.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Rates for the Pan-American exposition were partly settled yesterday in this city by the Chicago east bound railroads. The officials in attendance at the meeting of the Central Passenger association agreed to grant a rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip from this city to Buffalo, the tickets having a limit of 15 days; one fare plus $1 with a limit of five days and 1 cent a mile on coach excursions with a limit of three days. These rates will be applied from all points in the territory of the association, and they are practically the same as those recently authorized by the eastern trunk lines.

The Dressmakers' Strike.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—The strike of the seamstresses in support of the tailors was not a success. Only 1,000 girls left work. All the work people of two big houses and a portion of those of four others struck. In several cases the employers took the precaution of refusing to allow their employees to take luncheon outside. Free meals were provided within. Bands of tailors and seamstresses paraded the Rue de la Paix all day long, but a strong force of police kept the strikers moving.

Transport Wright Storm Bound.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The little army transport Wright is storm bound at Bermuda, but is expected to resume her voyage to the Philippines via the Mediterranean in a few days. She was badly knocked about in the run from New York and has been lightened considerably for the still longer stretch she has to make across the Atlantic.

Cost of Repairing Damaged Ships.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—During the recent investigation at Bremerhaven into the origin and incidents of the Hoboken fire of June 30, 1900, Herr Christian Leist, managing director of the Hamburg-American line, informed the naval board that the cost of repairing the Saale was 1,500,000 marks, the Bremen 1,700,000 and the Main 2,700,000.

Bloodshed In Saloon Raid.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 14.—In a saloon raid at Winfield, a small town 40 miles south of here, yesterday one woman was seriously shot in the mouth and will probably die, another woman received wounds in the face, and one man, a bartender named Schmidt, was cut in the head with a hatchet.

Chinamen to Be Deported.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 14.—The United States marshal has been ordered to deport the six Chinamen now in Portland jail for trying to evade the immigration laws. He will send them to New York, from which port they will probably be sent on their way to China.

Convicted of Murder.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Feb. 14.—Joel C. Rundle was convicted yesterday afternoon of murder in the second degree. The jury was out ten minutes. He killed Arthur Morgan of the town of Glenville last July. The jury in the first trial of the case disagreed.

Died Thirty-five Years After Injury.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 14.—William Rose, who 35 years ago received an injury to his leg while playing at school, has just died in the town of Hamptonburg from blood poisoning in the injured member.

Another Cargo of Horses.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—The British steamer American, Captain Howell, under charter of the British government, cleared from this port for Cape Town with 1,100 horses for the British military service.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy; rising temperature; brisk to high northwesterly winds, diminishing.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood.

Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in purifying the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are clogged and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

STATE ELECTRICAL SCHOOL

Plan to Establish One at Schenectady.

ALBANY, Feb. 14.—The establishment of a great state electrical school at Schenectady and the establishment of official standards for electrical measuring instruments and apparatus and to secure independent and authoritative information on questions of electrical science is the purport of a bill to be introduced today by Senator Brackett and Assemblyman McMillan. The amount asked for the establishment of the school is $150,000 and the annual amount for maintenance $25,000. The school is to be a part of Union college and in return the university is to give 100 free scholarships and the land upon which to erect the building, while the General Electric works is to give the use of its works for observation and instruction. The precedent for such action by the state is found in the various agricultural colleges, veterinary college, school of plastic art and schools of forestry.

The idea of locating at Schenectady is because the works of the General Electric company, the largest in existence, makes Schenectady the natural center for the study and development of electrical science and with Union college in close proximity offers exceptional advantages.

Forest Commissioner Decided Upon.

ALBANY, Feb. 14.—Senator Elon Brown of Watertown has won his fight on the forestry matter. The present fish, game and forest commissioner from Brown's district, De Witt C. The position is worth $5,000 a year, and the appointment is for four years.

THE PEACE MOVEMENT.

Piet De Wet Says Botha Will Surrender if Steyn and De Wet Will.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 14.—Piet De Wet, who arrived in Cape Town Tuesday to engage the Africanders in the peace movement, has an appointment for Friday or Saturday with Mr. Theron, president of the Africander bund, who is coming here for the special purpose of discussing peace possibilities.

Mr. De Wet, on behalf of the Boer peace committee, desires the Africander bund to announce clearly that the invaders can expect no aid from the Cape Dutch and then to send a deputation to Mr. Steyn and General De Wet to endeavor to prevail upon them to surrender.

He says he is confident Commandant General Louis Botha will surrender if Steyn and De Wet would do so, and the surrender will be practically without conditions.

Another death from bubonic plague occurred today, and two fresh cases are officially reported.

Severe Gale In Rockland County.

NYACK, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The most severe gale ever known here swept through Rockland county yesterday afternoon, doing much damage. The entire roof and the chimneys were torn from Parker Smith's three story building in Spring Valley and carried many feet. A large furniture van which was being driven through Spring Valley and another at Nannet were turned over and over by the wind. The drivers narrowly escaped. A horse and wagon belonging to S. H. Smith of Spring Valley were turned upside down and rolled some distance. In the western part of this county large trees were blown down, and several small buildings were demolished.

Two Men Killed by Train.

ROME, N. Y., Feb. 14.—A double railroad fatality occurred three-quarters of a mile east of Rome station yesterday. Martin Butler of Vernon and John Streeter of Rome were the victims. They were employed at Fort Stanwix farm drawing hay and attempted to drive over the Central tracks at a private crossing. They were struck by a west bound passenger train which was 12 hours late. Butler was instantly killed, and Streeter died on reaching the hospital.

Constitution Finished.

HAVANA, Feb. 14.—The finishing touches have been given to the constitution by the editing committee, which will report the corrections to the constitutional convention today, when it will undoubtedly be adopted. At the last moment the reference to "pernicious foreigners" was struck out, and a clause was inserted providing for two sessions of congress, beginning in April and November, instead of one.

Schwab For Steel President.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 14.—The Pittsburg Leader says that a Pittsburger closely identified with the Morgan-Carnegie deal received a telegram from a gentleman participating in the conference at New York to the effect that Charles M. Schwab will undoubtedly be named president of the new combine. The telegram states that Mr. Schwab's selection was definitely agreed to.

A BOSTON SENSATION

Broker Dickinson Arrested In Peabody Bank Case.

CASHIER FOSTER STILL WITHOUT BAIL

Prosecution Asserts That These Two Men Made Away With Between $100,000 and $200,000 of the Bank's Funds.

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—John W. Dickinson of Newtonville, a note broker, was arrested late yesterday by a deputy United States marshal at his office on Milk street for alleged complicity in the wrecking of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hale, pleaded not guilty and in default of $25,000 bail was committed to the Charles street jail. He will be given a hearing today.

The arrest of Mr. Dickinson caused considerable of a sensation. In the complaint he is accused of aiding and abetting Cashier George M. Foster in the alleged misapplication of $21,000. The complaint against him brings to light another case against Mr. Foster, who was recently arrested, charged with embezzling $3,600 of the bank's money. Mr. Foster has been unable to secure his $10,000 bail. If he should succeed now, he will be immediately arrested in connection with this new case. The authorities allege that Cashier Foster criminally misapplied the $21,000 in giving Mr. Dickinson the sums of $5,000 and $16,000 respectively on the strength of certain notes. In accepting the same Mr. Dickinson is charged with aiding and abetting the cashier in carrying out the alleged fraudulent transaction.

Notwithstanding the public intimations that he was likely to be arrested Mr. Dickinson was taken greatly by surprise. Owing to the absence from town of his lawyer Mr. Dickinson was alone when arraigned, and the proceeding was attended only by the newspaper men. He smiled several times, but his face was flushed and his hand trembled when he wrote a hurried note to a friend later on. Assistant United States District Attorney Casey, who appeared for the government, requested that bail be fixed at $25,000, asserting that it was the contention of the prosecution that Foster and Dickinson had misapplied between $100,000 and $200,000 of the bank's funds and that large bonds were necessary. The commissioner accordingly fixed the bail at the above figure.

Mr. Dickinson is well known in Boston business circles. He is married, but has no children. His wife is abroad at present studying music. He went to Europe with her nearly a year ago and left her there to complete her education.

Money For Mosby's Guerrillas.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—John White and Robert Lee France of Edgewater expect to get a share of the $2,000,000 left to members of Mosby's guerrillas by Baron Robert von Massow of the German army. Mr. White is a salesman in Jevne's Madison street store and lives near his old comrade in arms in Edgewater. Baron von Massow served through the war with Colonel Mosby's men and afterward fought in the Austrian and Franco-Prussian wars. He was a man of wealth and always had an affection for the Confederate raiders with whom he fought in the sixties. Colonel Mosby estimates the number of men in his old command now living at 100. Mr. White thinks 400 is closer to the truth. This would mean that each of the 400 would get $5,000 apiece.

Two Points For Kennedy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The defense in the trial of Dr. Kennedy, accused of the murder of Dollie Reynolds, scored two important points yesterday. Chemist Lederle, a witness for the state, admitted on cross examination that the lead pipe and iron rod alleged to have been found in Kennedy's cellar did not match the lead pipe and rod composing the bludgeon with which the girl was murdered. At the first trial at which Kennedy was convicted the impression was left with the jury that these pipes were the same, even to the ends fitting together perfectly. The other point was a promised disagreement of bank men as to handwriting.

May Break Nebraska Deadlock.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 14.—Sixty-three of the 72 Republican members of the legislature met in caucus again last night. One member was ill and eight of the nine who walked out Tuesday night remained away. They assert that their position is irrevocable and that they will not re-enter the caucus until Thompson's name is withdrawn. Six ballots had been taken in caucus at 10 o'clock, the net result being a gain of three votes for Thompson, whose total has now reached 36. Two of the members present refused to vote on any ballot. Indications point to an attempt to name Thompson and Meiklejohn.

Cadets Presented Bibles.

WEST POINT, Feb. 14.—In accordance with the usual custom members of the Ladies' Union Mission School association presented the first class of cadets with Bibles. The presentation speeches were made by the Rev. John Fox of New York city and the Rev. George Shearer, secretary of the American Tract and Bible society, under whose auspices the presentation took place. The first class will be graduated on Monday next. There are 74 members.

Change In Senatorial Vote.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 14.—There was a slight change in the voting for United States senators yesterday. Levi C. Bird has been receiving one vote for the long term, but nine of the Republicans who have been voting for Charles F. Richards for the short term cast their ballots for Mr. Bird, and he thus made his first appearance as a short term candidate.

Superintendent Vandeusen Dead.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 14.—B. B. Vandeusen, superintendent of the Remington Typewriter works at Ilion, died very suddenly at his home there last evening from heart failure. He came to Ilion from Utah eight years ago, where he had been interested in mining and where he had lost an arm. He was president of the Ilion board of trade.

Fire Causes Heavy Loss.

The Poll Tax.

Senator Reed has attracted much interest by the bill which he has introduced in the Upper House of the New Jersey Legislature. The bill provides for the abolishment of the poll tax. Public sentiment does not appear united on the subject. Opinions differ as to the advisability of doing away with it altogether or again putting in force some of the more stringent provisions which were formerly observed in this State.

This question of the poll tax is evidently a debatable one. As long, however, as the present law is in force and the tax remains, it ought to be collected. There are at present on the books of the City Tax Collector several thousand poll taxes which have not been paid. Many of the delinquents are prominent citizens who would be horrified at the slightest suggestion of failure to meet their obligations. And yet they simply ignore the bills of the Tax Collector.

Such a situation is not desirable. These taxes should be collected as long as the law, which makes the poll tax legal, remains in force. The law provides means whereby these taxes may be collected. The city should take such action as is necessary to collect them. If, however, there are those who consider the poll tax an obnoxious tax, then let them use their influence to secure the passage of Senator Reed's bill, which, if it becomes a law, will do away with the tax in question.

A traveling man who recently happened in Plainfield remarked that of all the cities he had visited he had never seen one where there was such an utter absence of street signs as there was in Plainfield. He spent several days here and never saw a single street sign. That is only one case of a hundred similar ones. These men relate this story when they go to other cities. Such advertising is not desirable. It injures the reputation of the city. There is no reason why the city should be without street signs. It is time for immediate action on the part of the Common Council.

"It is not necessary that the advertisement should be 'fine writing,'" says an advertising authority quoted by Printers' Ink. "It need not be an essay. It requires more time and acumen to condense your words—make them strong—than to expand." The simplest and most pointed "ad" is always the most effective, says the Philadelphia Record. Four fifths of the people who read newspaper advertisements are busy six days in the week, and they must have their store news in easily digestible form. Stilted "ads" give them mental dyspepsia.

The remarkable demand for seats for the rendition of the oratorio, "Elijah" in this city next week, shows that the labors of some of the good folk of this city have not been in vain. They attempted to educate many of the people of Plainfield to an appreciation of really good music by rendering such famous productions as the "Messiah" so that all might attend. The subscribers to the concert this year are not only those who are well-known in musical circles but include many from all walks of life.

Theatricals by local amateurs are evidently very popular in Plainfield judging from the great demand for seats for "The Private Secretary" Saturday night. It is strange that Plainfield has not yet attempted an opera as several of the other cities of the State have given. There is an unusually large circle of musically inclined young people in the city who would doubtless be very glad to take part.

It does seem that if the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company can carry passengers from Bound Brook to Dunellen for a five cent fare, they could also carry passengers from Somerville to Bound Brook, which is not as far, for the same rate. But traction companies are peculiar things sometimes.

The attention of both city and borough officials is respectfully called to the present condition of Green brook as viewed from the new bridge which connects Madison avenue and Duer street. There is a choice collection of tin cans, waste paper and other rubbish there.

The incorporation of Westfield as a city is a step in advance for that community. A city government brings with it many advantages but it also has its troubles. The people of Westfield are to have a chance to decide for themselves Saturday.

When the new school law is amended so that there is no doubt as to the meaning of its provisions, the Plainfield Board of Education will probably renew the movement to secure a new High School for this city.

Senator Cross, from Union county, is frequently called upon to preside over the Upper House of the State Legislature when the President of the Senate, Senator Pitney, wants to take the floor.

The prominence which Senator Reed has attained already in the Legislature makes him one of the best known Republicans in the state.

Why doesn't Plainfield have street signs?

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Reed's proposition to abolish the poll tax in New Jersey will prove a popular measure. This tax has always been regarded as a penalty for exercising the right of franchise. Enlightened statesmanship, it is urged, should aim to make voting easy instead of difficult.—New York Herald.

* * * * *

Assemblyman Meeker has introduced in the Legislature at least five bills that are of great importance. Among them are (1) the bill turning the State corporation taxes in the school fund and thus eliminating State school taxes, (2) the bill preventing usury, (3) the lieutenant governor bill, (4) the savings banks unclaimed accounts bill, and (5) the provident fund bill.—Elizabeth Journal.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A remarkable case of misunderstanding is reported concerning a coachman who is employed by a local physician. The hired man was given several letters to mail a few days ago, and among them was a check for a local merchant. The man was told to mail the letters and give the check to the merchant. The explanation was plain enough, but after leaving his employer he became confused and consequently caused much trouble. He noticed that on the check was a two cent stamp, and of course, he thought the check should be mailed with the letters. This he did, and when he returned home the physician asked him concerning the business he had transacted. The man said he mailed the letters all right. He was then asked for a receipt in recognition of the payment of the check. He said he didn't have it, and then explained that he had mailed the check with the letters. This he was led to do on account of a stamp being on it. The employer was then obliged to go to the postoffice, rescue his check and pay it in the regular way.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Business Advancement For Harry S. Potter, of Duer Street, With M. A. Lawton and Company.

The current issue of "Modern Machinery," an electrial and machine trade journal of Chicago, gives the following pleasant notice to Harry S. Potter, of Duer street, a well-known citizen of the borough:

"At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the well-known electrical supply house of M. A. Lawton & Co., whose headquarters are in the Bowling Green building at 11 Broadway, New York, Harry S. Potter was unanimously elected president and treasurer of the concern. Mr. Potter is well-known in New York electrical circles and had a large number of business friends throughout New York, New Jersey and New England, in which territory he has repreeented, for several years, the company of which he is now the head. M. A. Lawton & Co. are the eastern representatives of the Jandus and Buckeye electric companies of Cleveland, whose arc and incandescent lamps, specialties and fixtures are well and favorably known throughout the country.

"Although Mr. Potter will be obliged to spend much more of his time than formerly at the New York office, he proposes to keep in close touch with his friends and customers in the surrounding territory and to this end will make numerous flying trips to adjacent cities. The prominent position which the specialties handled by M. A. Lawton & Co. hold in the East are in no small degree due to the persistent and forceful business methods adopted and carried forward by Mr. Potter, and it is only just to predict that their popularity will be increased rather than diminished in the future under his able management."

WIDOW OF FREMONT.

Still Retains a Lively Interest in the Active World.

Lives Happily in a Dainty Cottage in Los Angeles—Memories of the Days When She Was a Social Leader.

One of the points of interest in Los Angeles, southern California, is the Fremont cottage, given by the women of California to Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, widow of Gen. John C. Fremont, known as the Pathfinder because of the important part he took in the acquisition and development of California.

The cottage is surrounded by beautiful grounds, and the interior is charming with fine old furniture, souvenirs of foreign travel and relics belonging to Gen. Fremont. Mrs. Fremont's life has been exceptionally full of incident, much of it being of historical interest, as she is over 70, and has been until late years associated with the best political and social circles of Washington and Europe, her father having been United States senator for 30 years.

As Miss Benton her first appearance into the really fashionable world occurred when, at 14, she was chosen one of the eight bridesmaids for the wedding of the elderly Russian ambassador, Count Bodisco. Count Bodisco's bride, a girl of 16, was, with Jessie Benton, being educated at the Georgetown seminary.

At this wedding Henry Clay gave the bride away, and the guests included President Martin Van Buren; the English minister, Henry Fox; James Buchanan, then senator; Chevalier de Martini, from The Hague; Farragut, then young, and a long list of cabinet officers, all the diplomatic corps and army and navy officers, with their wives and daughters. Among others of Mrs. Fremont's early memories are those of the grand balls and dinners given to the prince de Joinville, the son of the "King of the French," who visited Washington in 1841, when Tyler was president and Webster secretary of state; also, the functions given in honor of Lord and Lady Bulwer (the latter, it may be remembered, was niece of the duke of Wellington), who came over direct from England in a man-of-war with a whole legation, only dropping anchor in the Potomac. Attached to this legation was the young author of "Lucile," afterward known as viceroy of India.

While in Europe in 1852 and 1853 Mrs. Fremont's life was full of interest, from her first evening out in London at the town house of the duke of Northumberland, through a long list of brilliant functions. In Paris she witnessed the entrance of Louis Napoleon as emperor, for, although her parents had opposed her marriage to a "poor lieutenant," John C. Fremont early acquired distinction.

The culminating point in Fremont's life was his candidacy for the presidency in 1856. He was the first republican candidate for president, and Mrs. Fremont was a prominent factor in the campaign. When the war came and Fremont distinguished himself by freeing his slaves, Mrs. Fremont was in sympathy with his action; when he refused to serve under Pope she upheld him; when their life was beset with poverty and suffering she shared adversity with patience.

In her old age, says the New York Tribune, Mrs. Fremont still retains her interest in the active world, and the many persons of distinction who visit Los Angeles seldom fail to pay their respects to her.

PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

Traveling salesmen must take their meals whenever and wherever they can get them. They bolt their food one minute and hustle to catch a train the next. Hasty meals and continual jolting in railroad trains bring on indigestion and dyspepsia. A druggist at Bridgeport, Conn., says he has long had quite a trade for Ripans Tabules among traveling men and it is becoming a practice with them to carry a supply in the grip. One of these men takes two a day and declares they have helped him a good deal. After an evening session with jack pots, tobacco and whiskey, nothing clears the head in the morning so quickly or so thoroughly as a Ripans Tabule taken just before going to bed, no matter how late the retiring hour may happen to be.

Write a letter to the Ripans Chemical Co., New York, telling them what you think of RIPANS Tabules. They want both good and bad letters, and will be mailed to you a receipt for a present for the Ripans Chemical Co., New York.

GIVING UP.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Plainfield.

Around all day with an aching back,
Can't rest at night.
Enough to make anyone "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache.
Cure every kidney ill.
Here is Plainfield proof that this is so.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years; I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Suggestions For Attractive Costumes for Demitoilet.

The medici collar is an attractive addition to a half low evening bodice. Very high and flaring at the back, it gradually lessens toward the front and passes down in a point at each side. Such collars are embroidered or covered with ruches and puffings of lace or gauze.

Separate bodices for demitoilet are of every conceivable variety, and, as they require only a small amount of material, it is often possible to secure remnants of fine goods at a bargain and so have a rich appearing corsage at comparatively small cost.

Embroidered gauzes are marvelously beautiful, and there are new transparent crapes and veilings which are worn over tinted satins and adorned with insertion and wide ribbons.

A picture is given of a costume of white mousseline de soie with large dots. The skirt is edged with a fine ruche of plain white mousseline de soie and has three puffings of the plain mousseline. The blouse bodice is mounted on a guipure yoke with a high guipure collar and is trimmed with narrow puffings, which disappear under the fullness in front. The sleeves have three narrow puffings encircling the arm and cuffs of guipure. A white satin belt is worn, with loops and long, fringed ends at the back.

AFTERNOON RECEPTIONS.

Attire Suitable to Be Worn Upon Such Occasions.

The costumes worn for afternoon receptions are, of course, less rich and striking than those intended for evening occasions, but are nevertheless often very elaborate. It is possible, however, for a woman of moderate means to make the same gown answer for both day and evening if she has an underwaist with a high yoke and sleeves of puffed gauze, satin, embroidery or some other fabric which may properly accompany and fill out her sleeveless, low cut evening bodice.

The bodice is [illegible] slight, plain blouse and is open [illegible] over a vest of finely plaited [illegible] chine. Matilda Ainsworth's Valentine

By Paul Y. Harris.

MATILDA AINSWORTH moaned piteously. Early in the sixties her one fear had been that there never would be a love part in her life's drama. In the seventies things took a different turn. Love assumed a role. The bane of it was, love was unrequited.

While Norman Rogers proved capable of exciting the passion there was apparently nothing within him to respond. In the latter years when he was beginning to confess to himself that there was a Cupid, he suffered financial reverses and pride forthwith became an obstacle.

Matilda moaned as she scrutinized a valentine, a picturesque accusation of conceit; to her it was the world's verdict, and the world's mocking, maddening laughter seemed ringing in her ears.

"Conceit, can there really be such a thing as conceit?" soliloquized Matilda. "I wonder if there ever was a person, let him be ever so ostentatious, not really disgusted with himself?" True enough, the manner of egoism often appears—she remembered how she had on several occasions carried herself with unwarranted dignity just to let Norman Rogers see how great a lady he had lost; but after all it was not in every case as in hers, the vain assumption of poor, weak mortal, who, thoroughly cognizant of his own limitations, boomed his own stock lest it become entirely unmarketable. If no man can be a hero to his own valet, how much less probable is it that anyone, knowing as he must, every pettish thought, every bad impulse of his nature, can really have an undue appreciation of himself.

But who could have sent the valentine? The mischievous schoolchildren had never honored her with their notice. Decrepit Judge Morris, whom she had denied an extension of a mortgage, had no vindictiveness in his soul and had taken her answer meekly and as a final decree susceptible only of appeal to the great White Throne; but Norman was certainly having periods of childishness. He had but recently astounded the respectable element of the neighborhood when, in pursuit of a youngster who had called him "Mossback," he vaulted the Widow Turner's picket fence.

The ancient maiden pondered, her brows knit and every faculty summoned to the task. Plot and counterplot passed in lightning review. It was well along in the small hours when her tense expression gave way to a smile of infinite satisfaction. It was probably Norman. She would put him through torture by accusing his very good friend the judge. Norman was an honorable man; if guilty, he would confess. The plan was doubly good, as it gave her an excuse to call on Norman, and perhaps, perhaps—

Norman was sitting in his little grocery the next day when there came to him an apparition. He had almost dozed away when he seemed to see a pair of laughing eyes and a round, girlish face that he has seen before somewhere. He opened his eyes slowly, carefully, as if fearful of dispelling the vision, but it seemed to remain, though the laughing eyes had become stern and sad and the rounded face had become pinched.

The old maid began: "Norman, I have a favor to ask. I trust we are not too far apart to speak of favors."

"No, ma'am, Matilda; I mean Miss Matilda," murmured Norman.

"I am the recipient of a valentine which my remaining bit of vanity tells me is not flattering. There is no mystery about the matter. As you know, last week I had to refuse Judge Morris an extension on his mortgage. You can see how excellent an opportunity St. Valentine's day offered for revenge. Of course I must now foreclose at once. My favor is this; please give the judge to understand that the foreclosure would never have taken place had it not been for the valentine."

"Well, now, Matilda, are you sure—you know everything is uncertain in this world—can you be sure that he sent you the valentine, or if he did, that it was from unkind motives? Might it not have been for your own good, Matilda?"

"Norman, do you think it very probable that anyone cares enough about me to—to—" Matilda broke down and the hot tears fell as they had never fallen since one June day in the seventies.

"I wouldn't be prepared to say that there isn't, Matilda; in fact, there is."

"And don't you believe Judge Morris sent the valentine?"

Norman shook his head positively.

"Then, Norman, who do you think that there is on earth who would care enough about me to send—"

"I would, Matilda, dear. I did send it," said Norman, as he drew her to him and kissed the scalding tears away.

"Oh, Norman, dearest, I knew it. Didn't you suppose I would know it? We women are too cunning for old simpletons like you. Why, that's why I came to you."

"Yes, I trusted that you would come to me; but, Goosie, dear, don't you suppose I knew you would know it? That's why I sent you the valentine."

Why George Was Not First.

The short-cut reasoning of children is well illustrated in the following: The scene is laid in an American schoolroom:

Teacher asked: "Who was the first man?"

Little Boy (at rear of class)—George Washington.

"Why do you think George Washington was the first man?"

"Because he was first in war and peace and in the hearts of his countrymen."

Another boy raised his hand.

"Well, Johnnie, who do you think was the first man?"

"Don't know his name, but it wasn't Washington."

"Why are you so positive?"

"Well, my history says he married a widow, and there must have been some one ahead of him."—Household.

He Wanted Her Fare.

A conductor on the Park line had an experience the other day that is quite certain to cause him many uncomfortable minutes in the future. His car stopped at Spruce street to let a middle-aged lady on, and as she took her seat the conductor gave the motorman two bells and the car shot ahead. When the conductor entered the car the woman in question was looking out of the window and did not see his outstretched hand.

"Fare, please!" remarked the conductor.

The woman evidently did not hear him, for she did not turn her head. Neither did she hold out the necessary coin.

"Fare, please!" said the conductor, in a louder tone.

But the woman paid no heed. Then the conductor touched her on the shoulder, and in a tone of voice that rang through the car, exclaimed:

"Your fare, please, lady!"

Then the woman turned hastily around and looked at the conductor. The knight of the bell cord gave one gasp and fled to the back platform.

The woman was his mother-in-law. —Omaha World-Herald.

A Close Shave.

A Sand Hog in a red shirt and grimy trousers sat down by me one afternoon on a heap of boards midway between the Sand Hog's house and the "hospital." This pressure worker, whose knees showed traces of "the bends," evidently had a story to tell. "It was only the other day," he said. "I seen it, and how the man ever happened to live I dunno. It was one o' these little caissons here we're putting this big building on. He was one of the superintendents, a young college feller that knows his job. Well, he went down with us. There wuz four in the gang, and one o' them, Tim—that Harp yer might see drinkin' coffee now. They wuz a rock there, and the foreman told Tim to have a go at it. He got his pick and swung it for a good crack. There was a tearin' an' a rippin' an' Tim dropped his pick. As he swung it the young feller had stepped out, and the pick had ripped off every button from the blue jumper he had on without even scratchin' him."—Cromwell Childe, in Leslie's Popular Monthly.

Tramps in Mexico.

The tramp question is becoming a serious one, even in New Mexico. Tramps are learning that New Mexico has an ideal climate, and they are drawn hither, especially in winter time, for they share with other people the idea that New Mexico is as warm as Florida in winter. When they arrive here they find that it is a mighty hard matter to make a living doing nothing, and they resort to petty theft in order to get along. As tramps have an antipathy to work, this fact seems to suggest a remedy. All tramps in the territory should be corralled and be compelled to build good roads, such as New Mexico stands in need of very much.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

LOOTERS IN HOTELS.

They Take Anything from a Silver Spoon to a Towel.

Women Particularly Active in Taking Tableware for Souvenirs—Wine Cups Are Very Popular with the Young Swells.

One need not go to China to study the ethics of loot and the psychology of the looter. The managers and stewards of the hotels of New York could give full information upon these subjects; but the urbanity of their craft would perhaps lead them to speak of souvenirs and souvenir collectors instead of loot and looters. It costs one Fifth avenue hotel $10,000 a year to replace the various small articles its patrons carry off. Silver spoons, knives and forks, wine glasses, ash trays, match safes, table linen, even coffee pots and tea pitchers are taken.

"Oh, they're not particular about the size of a thing," explained one steward to a New York Sun reporter; "anything that isn't nailed down will do. The last run has been on a fancy line of cream jugs we've just put in. But our orange spoons and fruit knives have always been deservedly popular."

This tendency on the part of guests is met in one Fifth avenue hotel and in another on Broadway in a novel fashion. Stewards make a note of the little things which may be admired, and send them to their guests in boxes kept on hand for the purpose. And such farewell offerings are doubtless often enough very good investments. Other hotels, again, which are less fond of making entries in their profit and loss columns, allow their guests to purchase articles that have pleased their fancy.

"This is a delicate matter, however," said one informant, "and it calls for some fine discriminating. The black sheep of a prominent family might purloin a great deal during a short stay with us, and we would not speak of it, but a cheeky unknown from nowhere, if he took only a quarter as much, would have his account sent in in short order. Everything is taken. We used at one time handsome brass cuspidors which cost $40 a dozen, but so many men packed them away in their valises when they left that we were obliged to substitute porcelain ones. One hotel lost heavily from souvenir fiends till the landlord put away all his good silver and substituted thinly-plated ware. Then he marked several hundred large spoons 'Take one,' and the result was what he expected—they were all left on his hands."

Proprietors and stewards agree that women are the greatest purloiners. Much of the silver and China lost vanishes when meals are served them in their rooms. It is the souvenir value and not the money value of the thing taken which has depleted the majority of hotel sideboards. The name of the house—provided, of course, that it be a famous one—only makes an article the more valuable. Some time ago a young New Yorker of distinctly original genius set out to furnish the small silver for the table of a prospective bride. He collected a spoon here, a knife there, and a fork from some place else. He was able to present the bride with a dozen knives, forks and teaspoons and four tablespoons; they were marked with the names of 30 or more hotels and restaurants.

The wine cup seems to have great power to increase the ardor of the souvenir collector. The other night three youths had a dinner in the cafe of a prominent hotel. On the table was a heavy brass matchsafe, marked with the name of the house. This one of the happiest of the youths appropriated. The party went from the hotel to two other cafes. At both places the young man exhibited his booty with much triumph. A waiter in a down-town lunchroom was recently struck dumb by the cool impudence of a new patron.

"Just as the young gent was leaving," he said, "he turns to me and hands me a big silver spoon off the table. 'Go and wash it and bring it back,' says he. I done it, and that fellow put it in his pocket, buttoned up his coat and walked out. I was so stunned that I couldn't say a word. One place up-town, where I used to work, they'd take cream jugs at five dollars apiece; and silver mugs at $45 a dozen was nothing at all. At another old place of mine we had one man searched, and he had seven napkins on him. I know a place a little further down, where they got a gross of salt shakers with sterling tops last year, and in two months they had gone. Eight dozen was swiped the first week."

SERIOUS FALL.

Mrs. Agnes Pangborn Slipped on the Ice and Dislocated Her Thigh Last Evening.

An unfortunate accident happened to Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, of Jackson avenue, last evening. Mrs. Pangborn, who is over eighty years of age, had been spending the day at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Morse, who the same street. Early in the evening she started for her home, which she makes with Mrs. Fred M. Slater, who is also a daughter.

When at the corner of Watchung and Jackson avenues she slipped on some ice on the sidewalk and fell. She found that she could not rise, but with the aid of friends who were near, she was placed in the U. S. Express wagon, driven by William Hartpence, and taken home where she was carried to her room.

Drs. J. H. Carman and J. Hervey Buchanan were hurriedly summoned and on examination they learned that the thigh joint had been dislocated. The joint was soon put in place and although today the patient is very weak and suffers much pain no serious results are looked for.

SUGGESTS DETECTIVES.

C. Thinks That City Should Act in Matter for Protection Against Burglars.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—It cannot be denied that the great number of burglaries which have happened in Plainfield is producing a feeling of great uneasiness.

Some eight or ten houses have been entered and ransacked, and more or less property stolen, and the police seem powerless to run down the thieves. I do not mean to imply that the police have been negligent; very likely they have done all they can. The fact remains that the thieves are continuing their operations and increasing in boldness, and there is no reason to suppose that we have reached the end. It is time the authorities took hold of the matter seriously. If the police are powerless, then let them try some other plan. They might employ some special detectives, or offer a reward so large that it would either scare the thieves away or induce some of them to sell out.

The present situation is intolerable and is not creditable to the authorities.

Surprise Party.

James Hinkle, of Watchung avenue, was given a pleasant surprise party by twenty-five of his young friends at his home last evening. The usual games and phonograph selections by John Kelley made the hours pass quickly and the affair terminated with dancing the music for which was furnished by Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra. The party was arranged by Lenden Jennings and John Kelley.

Everything Being Done to Make a Success of "The Private Secretary" Saturday Night.

The dreaded grip has not yet attacked any members of the cast for "The Private Secretary," which will be given at Music Hall Saturday evening by local amateur talent, and there is every prospect that the performance will pass off without a hitch. When so much sickness prevailed in town, it was feared that the management might be placed in an unpleasant predicament by the illness of some important member of the cast.

Tonight a rehearsal will be held at Music Hall and the local actors and actresses will have an opportunity to get used to the stage before the final dress rehearsal tomorrow evening. Owing to the great demand for tickets for Saturday evening's performance, it has been decided to admit visitors to the dress rehearsal and charge admission. The price will be 50 cents and no seats will be reserved.

Everything has been done to make Saturday evening's performance one of the most successful of its kind ever given in Plainfield. The hall will be thoroughly cleaned and a full force of firemen and policemen will be on hand ready in case of emergency. With the exception of a few seats which have been turned in by purchasers who find that they are unable to attend, the seating capicity of the house has been sold. Of these seats, there are a few good ones which will be doubtless taken as soon as it is known that they are on sale again.

FANWOOD EASILY WON FROM SOLDIER BOYS.

Defeated Basket Ball Team of Company M, of Somerville, by Score of 32 to 15.

AT FANWOOD CLUB HOUSE.

THINGS WARMED UP DURING SECOND HALF AND PLAY WAS ROUGH.

Fanwood Team Outclassed The Somerville Crowd And Showed Much Improvement in Team Play—Kieb is Doing Well—The Line Up.

The basket ball team of Company M, N. J. N. G., of Somerville, proved an easy mark for the boys of the Fanwood Athletic Club last evening. The game was played in the Fanwood clubhouse and was won by the home team by a score of 32 to 15. George P. Smith did not play at all while Waler L. Long had to avoid the scrimmages, neither having recovered from the injuries received in the game with Flushing last week. Even thus handicapped, the home team plainly outclassed their opponents.

At the very beginning of the first half, it was evident that Fanwood had the better team. After a half minute of play, Long scored on a clean throw. He followed with another pretty one two minutes later while Hall, who was left unguarded for the moment, scored during the next minute. For a time it looked as if the Somerville boys were not going to score at all but Dudeck finally dropped the ball in the goal toward the last of the half. The visitors had a number of chances but their aim was very inaccurate. The half ended with the score 13 to 3 in favor of Fanwood.

Things warmed up at the start of the second half. Dudeck scored at once and Hoffman followed with a second one for Somerville. Another goal by Hoffman roused the Fanwoodites to a realization that the visitors were catching up. The play began to grow fast at once. Long and Bonney both scored and then Kieb made a clever throw. The visitors showed an improvement, however, and the second half was much more even than the first.

The Fanwood boys had their team play in much better working order than at previous games. The improvement in Kieb's play was particularly marked. He played with the more experienced members of the team and took his share in the team play. Hall also showed improvement.

There were slight tendencies toward roughness on the part of the visitors and the game was not entirely free from rough play. The Somerville team occasionally displayed some first-class team work, but their game was largely on the defensive.

The teams were:

FANWOOD A. C.		COMPANY M.
Hall	right forward	Hoffman
Moraller-Kieb	centre	Layton-Chambers
Long	right guard	Chambers-Galpin
Kieb-Moraller	left guard	Houston

Score—Fanwood A. C., 32; Company M, 15. Goals from the field—Bonney (4,) Hall (3,) Moraller, Long (5,) Kieb (2,) Hoffman (3,) Dudeck (2,) Houston (2.) Goals on fouls—Bonney, Long, Houston. Fouls—Fanwood, 5; Company M, 6. Referee—George Proctor Smith, of Plainfield. Umpire—Charles B. Morse, of Plainfield. Timekeeper—Edwin Fancher, of Fanwood.

FAVOR AYERS NOW.

Rumored That His Appointment Will Be Confirmed at Meeting of Council Monday Night.

The Common Council will meet Monday evening and take action regarding the applications for saloon and hotel licenses that were presented at the last regular meeting. It is also expected that some action will be taken concerning the appointment of an overseer of the poor.

There seems to be good reasons to believe that Alexander Ayers, who was appointed at the regular February meeting will be confirmed by the Council. Several members have been investigating the matter, and many are reported as being favorable to Mr. Ayers. There has been a decided change of opinion regarding this appointment during the past few days, and some of the Councilmen, who were opposed to Mr. Ayers, now favor him and are willing to vote for confirmation.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Gertrude Izzard, of Mays Landing, and Augustus Brunson, of this city. Miss Izzard is a niece of Dr. Endicott, of Park avenue.

THE TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

ARE BEING SATISFACTORILY USED IN MANY COUNTIES.

Legislature Provides For Furnishing Small Towns and Country Districts With Such Libraries.

With the ending of the first year that the New Jersey traveling libraries have been in operation, half a dozen of the towns have for various reasons discontinued their use. In some cases public school libraries have been started; in others there was a lack of interest, or inability to secure any one willing to act as librarian. The libraries have been in use in all the counties excepting Hudson, Middlesex, Ocean and Union. Cape May and Somerset each has five of them. About fifty of the libraries have been made up, and others will be procured when there is a demand.

It may not be generally known throughout the State that provision has been made by the Legislature for furnishing books to the small towns and country districts, or the demand for the traveling libraries would be greater. Each library contains fifty volumes, of which one-half is fiction, the remainder being made up of history, biography, travel, science and other subjects.

A fee of five dollars is required, which pays the transportation charges both ways on as many libraries as a town can use in a year, and the cost of printed catalogues, members' cards, book slips and all other supplies. The libraries are furnished on formal application being made by twenty resident taxpayers, who choose a trustee and a librarian. The necessary blanks and circulars giving full information may be had by addressing the State Librarian, Trenton, N. J.

TO CHANGE REPRESENTATION.

BITTER FIGHT EXPECTED OVER AMENDMENT THIS EVENING.

Exciting Session of Union County Republican Executive Committee Will Be Held.

The Union County Republican executive committee will meet this evening in the Dix building, Elizabeth, and as several matters of considerable importance will come up a very interesting session is looked for. A proposed amendment introduced by Wm. Newcorn, of this city, is to be acted upon, and its adoption will decrease the membership of the committee, and strong opposition is looked for.

The amendment provides for one representative from each election district, who must reside in the district from which he is elected. At present there are seventy-two members of the committee, and if the change proposed is made it will reduce the membership to fifty-seven, as there are that many election districts in the county.

It is charged that the change will work a hardship in the townships and boroughs by decreasing their representation in the executive committee. The districts cover a large territory and it is said that one man cannot cover it; besides there is no central committee, such as is organized in cities, which would place all the responsibility on the one representative in the district.

Plainfield's delegation would remain the same, while Elizabeth would lose only one member. Rahway, with a representation of ten members, would suffer the most, as the number would be cut in half, making it five. Summit would lose two members, while Clark, Cranford, Fanwood, Linden, Roselle borough, Springfield and New Providence would each lose one representative.

It is expected that the meeting will be largely attended. Much depends upon the attitude of the membership from Elizabeth. The out-of-town committemen who are most affected are doing a great deal of missionary work in order to defeat the measure.

Went To See A Drill.

Dr. W. Kempton Browning, of East Fifth street, went to Newark last evening to witness a drill of the battalion of the National Guard. Dr Browning is preminently mentioned as a candidate for the position of captain of Plainfield's new company of militia. He has had considerable experience in military matters and would be a suitable person to be at the head of a company.

Borough Council Meeting.

Mayor Smalley and the Borough Council will meet this evening in adjourned session, when the annual reports will be presented and the year's business concluded prior to the spring election, which will take place early next month.

DANGEROUS MEDICINE.

It Cured the Illness But Landed Poor Patrick McClamont in the Lockup.

Feeling somewhat ill yesterday afternoon, Patrick McClamont, of the borough, sought to save a physician's charges by prescribing for himself. He thought gin would fill the bill, but one dose proved so beneficial that it was immediately followed by two more. The result was a complete recovery from his illness and a total forgetfulness of his surroundings.

Sometime afterward Mr. McClamont found himself in the city jail where he had been escorted by Patrolman McCarthy, who found him lying in a doorway on West Front street. As it was his first appearance before City Judge Runyon, the latter suspended sentence on him this morning, but advised the self appointed physician to prescribe something else beside gin the next time he became ill.

On being released Mr. McClamont began searching about the station and inquiries on the part of the court officers revealed the fact that he was hunting for a dog which answered to the name of "Teddy Roosevelt."

He appeared greatly relieved when Chief Kiely told him "Teddy" had been taken home by a sympathetic officer.

THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN.

INTERESTING LECTURE GIVEN BY MISS GERALDINE O'GRADY.

Took Place at Randolph-Cooley School Last Evening—Talked on Kindergartens and Instructors of Children.

Miss Geraldine O'Grady, of the Faculty of the Teachers' College, of New York, gave a delightful talk on "The Early Elementary Training and Its Relation to the Child's Later School Life," before a select audience at the Randolph Cooley Collegiate School, 303 LaGrande avenue, last evening. The speaker's remarks covered a great deal in the way of theory and practice in the training of child life.

Miss O'Grady's opinion was that a child, if well developed and healthy, should enter a kindergarten at the age of four years. She then recited the routine life in a kindergarten for a child, which is divided about one-fifth of the time for mental work and four-fifths for physical exercise.

The speaker expressed a firm belief in the need of plenty of physical exercise in connection with the mental work, and thus gradually build up the body and strengthen it so that the mind may become stronger and better able to receive mental instruction. Proper care at the start she held to be of incalcuable value in the training and the means of saving much time later on in the higher studies. She did not believe that a child should be allowed to read at too early an age and be deprived of association with other children. If this was allowed it would not be long before the child would be too mature for children of its age and would have no desire to associate with them.

After Miss O'Grady talk an informal discussion followed during which she was asked many questions. Following the discussion the guests adjourned to the parlors, where refreshments were served and they had an opportunity of personally meeting Miss O'Grady.

Gave Dramatic Sketch.

An audience of fully two hundred and fifty people gathered in Reform Hall last evening. In addition to the usual excellent temperance addresses there was a laughable rural sketch "The Village Postmaster," acted by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammill, of this city, and Mr. Hammill's brother, of New York. The sketch was greatly enjoyed as were also several vocal and instrumental selections by local talent. The officers of the club are preparing for an unusually good programme to be given February 28

Seized With Fit at Station.

Dunlap MacAdam, aged sixteen, en route from Australia to his home in Tampa, Fla., alighted from the 2:08 train at the North Avenue station this morning, his funds having given out. He had just reached the platform when he was seized with a fit, and, despite the efforts of the station attendants, could not be quieted. Dr. Fritts was called, and, after administering treatment, advised his removal to the hospital. He will be detained at that institution for a few days.

PROMISED SURPRISE WAS THEIR WEDDING.

Young Couple Asked Plainfield Relatives to Be on Hand Yesterday.

HAD A LITTLE SURPRISE.

THEN THE YOUNG COUPEE WERE QUIETLY MARRIED.

Miss Clickner, of Point Pleasant, and John Laug, of Red Bank, Married by Rev. Dr. Schenck—Family Didn't Know It Until Afterwards.

An interesting wedding took place last evening at the home of Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., West End Park, when he united in marriage Miss Lillian Clickner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clickner, of Point Pleasant, and John Laug, of Red Bank. Both bride and groom are well known in Plainfield, having many relatives here.

The couple planned to be married in this city quietly without the knowledge of their relatives. Yesterday they went to New York, where Mr. Laug had some business to attend to. They wrote a letter in the meantime to Charles VanMiddlesworth, the bride's cousin, who lives in the borough, and asked him to have the relatives at his home as they would give them a surprise. When the couple reached Plainfield they met Mr. and Mrs. VanMiddlesworth, Miss Lillie Zelez and Wm. Trembath. The party then went to the home of Dr. Schenck, where the marriage took place.

Following the ceremony they returned to Mr. Van Middlesworth's home on Chatham street. Previously many of the relatives gathered and were awaiting a surprise. They surely had it when Mr. and Mrs. Laug walked in and announced their marriage. Their relatives gave them a good time and showered them with congratulations. Supper was served during the evening.

The bride and groom went to the Plainfield Hotel, where they remained last night. This morning they will return home. They anticipate a reception there for they previously sent word home telling of the marriage.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Middlesworth, of Elmwood place, and her father is one of the popular conductors on the Jersey Central railroad. The groom is a well-known candy manufacturer at Red Bank.

OYSTER SUPPER.

Held at Bethel Chapel Last Evening In Honor of St. Valentine's Day.

There was a large attendance at the St. Valentine's Day oyster supper given under the auspices of the Circle of Earnest Workers in Bethel chapel last evening. The first part of the evening was given up to a programme of music and recitations.

The programme included a piano solo by Miss Voorhees, violin trio by Messrs. Mitchell, Blair and Kingslow, a recitation, "Little Rocket's Christmas," by Miss Voorhees; an organ solo by J. W. Lerman and a number of other selections by the same talent.

After the musical programme a supper was served, which had been prepared by a committee from the Circle of Earnest Workers, composed of Mrs Mary A. Walley, Miss Euphemia Dorsey, Mrs. Abram Brown, assisted by Mrs George Van Blake, Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Mrs. Emily Smith, Mrs. Alonzo Hill, Mrs. Hester A. Barrett, Miss Laura Ware, William Smith, Abram Brown and Theophilus James.

As the guests entered the door each was presented with a valentine in the shape of a heart, on which verses were printed, for a souvenir.

On a variety table could be found aprons, soaps, tooth powders and numerous other articles for sale. Ice cream and cake were for sale at another table. The committee has worked hard to make the affair a success and no doubt will realize a neat sum.

Boehm's Clerks Entertained.

T. A. B. hall was filled with young people last evening on the occasion of the second invitation dance under the auspices of the clerks employed at Boehm's store. Prof. O'Reilly and his full orchestra were present and furnished music for the dancing which was kept up until an early hour this morning. A pleasant feature of the evening was the serving of a bountiful supper at midnight.

AS HE SAW IT.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass Delivered Lecture on His Impressions of England.

A very interesting illustrated lecture, entitled 'Impressions of England," was given in Monroe Avenue M. E. church last evening by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass.

Dr. Snodgrass began his lecture by telling of the things that impressed him most when he first landed in England. He said that the cloudiness of the place was the first thing that he noticed. Everywhere that he went seemed to have the same cloudy atmosphere, especially in London.

He also spoke of the change in England in the last four hundred years. He said that in the ruling power was one of the greatest changes that they had ever made, the barbarous method of many years ago had been entirely done away with, and England was ruled with a just law.

He spoke of the age of churches as another instance of their slow movement in architecture. People of this country think that it is a very old church that has stood for 150 years, but in England there are churches that have stood for over 600 years. All through the lecture pictures were shown of the different places mentioned.

VALENTINE SOCIAL GIVEN AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Series of Tableaux in Black and White Proved Popular—Comic Valentines Were Sold and Delivered.

St. Valentine's Day was appropriately observed last evening at the First Presbyterian church, when a social and entertainment was given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society and the Ladies' Auxiliary. The Endeavor Society arranged the entertainment which consisted of silhouettes. These pictures were given by the young people with the aid of a large sheet and a single light.

The first representation was entitled a baloon ascension, and Charles Line, a little lad, was the sole performer. He made the ascension in safety, and eventually descended by the aid of a parachute. The next picture showed the expectant fisherman, who was using frog for bait. With great difficulty he tried to land a fish. He was finally over-balanced and tumbled into the water.

Next came the barber who, in a mysterious manner, cut a man's hair and at the same time produced a luxuriant growth. Then was shown a Chinaman eating with guests a meal of rats. A dentist extracting a very large tooth was the next picture, and his antics produced much laughter. A photographer attempting to take a woman's picture while a pesky misquito insisted in tickling her nose was given in realistic fashion. All of the pictures were a source of merriment and hearty applause was given the performers who were Mrs. G. P. Hinman, G. P. Hinman, Charles M. Hummer, Edward Burroughs and Russell Bond.

After the entertainment the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary served refreshments, during which a social time was had. A feature of the affair was the sale of comic valentines for a penny each. They were selected to suit the taste of every one present and the exchange the comparison of them served no end of amusement for all.

VALENTINE SOCIAL.

Guests Choose Partners for Evening From Silhouettes Shown on a Screen—The Committee.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church, several hours were passed by a large number of young people last evening at a pleasing Valentine social. While strictly speaking, it was not a social appropriate to the day, it secured its name from the fact that the young people choose partners for the evening by guessing the identity of silhouettes displayed upon a transparency. After partners were secured, the rest of the evening was passed in playing games of a humorous nature.

The refreshments, with which the festivities terminated, consisted of fruits, nuts, coffee and raisins, the change from those ordinarily served being greatly enjoyed.

The committee having the affair in charge consisted of Aaron Thompson, chairman, Miss Helen Cuming, Miss Lizzie VanWinkle, Miss Anna Wyckoff and Miss Adelaide Runyon.

Guest at Banquet.

John V. E. Vanderhoef, deputy supreme archon of the Improved Order Heptasophs, was the guest of Unity Conclave, No. 189, at its sixth annual banquet at Newark last night.

HEARTS WERE TRUMPS THERE

NOVEL KIND OF SOCIABLE GIVEN AT ALL SOULS CHURCH.

Hearts Played an Important Part in the Decoration of the Rooms and the Entertainment of the Guests.

It needed but a glance on the part of the visitors at All Souls Unitarian church last evening to discern that hearts were trumps, for on all sides of the pretty little edifice, hearts were to be seen gracing the walls, making a unique decoration. Then on the backs of all in attendance, there was pinned a litte heart of white pasteboard. More hearts reposed on a horizontal board to be shot at, not by Cupid's dart, but by a bow and arrow in the hands of the young people composing the gathering.

The reason for this unusual display of the vital organ was a "heart social" given under the auspices of the young people connected with the church. It was quite out of the ordinary affairs of this kind and proved very entertaining. The paper heart pinned on each person's back bore the name of some notable person, the object being for the wearer to guess the name from remarks passed by the others on reading it. After this a shooting contest was held, the lucky contestant first striking the centre heart of a large number of them being declared the winner.

There was also an informal programme of vocal and instrumental selections rendered, after which refreshments were served, bringing the affair to a close.

Those who were in charge of the social and who assisted in making it a complete success were Edward Conde, of the entertainment committee, Alfred Clement, of the decorating committee, and Miss Emily Haff, of the refreshment committee.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."

PUBLIC PERFORMANCE TAKES PLACE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Dress Rehearsal This Evening—Public Will Be Admitted—Mr. Saunders Has Been Very Busy.

The public performance of "The Private Secretary" is now only one night away. Tomorrow evening there will be a great assemblage of the society folk of city and borough at Music Hall to witness the performance which is to be given entirely by local talent. All arrangements for the play are complete and it will be undoubtedly the most successful of any kind given by local amateur talent.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders has been in charge of the business end of the performance and has planned well. He has been a very busy man of late, however, for in addition to running the management of the affair, he is to fill one of the leading parts, that of the "private secretary," which was originally filled by the well known actor, William Gillette. Those who have been favored with a glimpse at the rehearsals, say that Mr. Saunders' work in the part is excellent and that the play is going to make a greater hit than has any other comedy which has been yet attempted by local players.

Several other members of the cast are well known on the local stage. Mrs. W. L. Saunders has an excellent part and may be counted on to fill it well. W. R. Cock is also included and is indomitable in his part. There are several faces, new to Plainfield, which will make their debut on the local stage and whose appearance will be watched with interest.

Give Talk on Syria.

Mrs. Kiahaliah, of Syria, is at the home of Mrs. C. Frank French, 25 Washington avenue, this afternoon, where she will exhibit her beautiful work and give a talk on her country. Those who have heard this woman are greatly interested in her and her work.

Arranging for New Choir.

In all probability Robert M. Clark and Joseph C. Martin will be the new tenor and bass in the choir of Trinity Reformed church, the change to take effect March 1. Elmer C. Cutting and A. J. Moore will resign on that date.

Lots Of Ice And Snow.

Street Commissioner Gavett's attention is called to a few places on West Front street in the neighborhood of New street, where the sidewalks are still covered with ice and snow, making walking very dangerous.

Station May be Ready March 1.

It is now believed that the new railroad station will be ready for use by March 1. The work of preparing the station for use is now progessing and the finishing touches are now being made.

FINE MUSICAL TREAT BY TALENTED ARTISTS.

Programme Given by Artists From This City and Elizabeth Last Evening.

FOR THE AID OF CITY NURSE

AFFAIR WAS ARRANGED BY WHATSOEVER CIRCLE OF KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Held at the Home of Miss Lillian A. Force, of Duer Street—House Was Crowded—Programme Much Enjoyed—Will Clear About $40.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by those who attended the musicale given last night by the Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters, at the home of Miss Lillian A Force, of Duer street. A large number of guests were present, filling the house to overflowing, and a very entertaining programme was presented. Those who had a part in the programme were the Misses Hooker, Miss Zella Frost, Miss Caroline Karr and Mr. Schnepel, of Elizabeth; and Miss Griffin, P Ludwig Conde, William Holmes, George Smith, Morris C. Van Aradale and F. C. Cutter, of this city.

There was only one number for piano alone, a dramatic duet rendered by the Misses Hooker, who played with taste, spirit and unanimity. Miss Zella Frost, a young girl violinist, played a spirited solo from memory and with grace and precision. She also played the leading part in a duet in which Mr. Conde was the second violin. Mr. Conde played several numbers alone with his usual brilliancy and spirit. His selections were varied in style.

The vocal soloists were Miss Griffin, Mr. Schnepel and Mr. Holmes. Miss Griffin, who has a sweet soprano voice of good range, sang several dainty and difficult songs, one of which, Gounod's "Serenade," was in French. The interest in the solos rendered by Mr. Schnepel was enhanced by the fact that the singer was blind, and sang entirely from memory. He had, however, a well-trained and very sympathetic voice, and his pronunciation was unusually distinct. William Holmes, the other soloist, who is well-known to Plainfield audiences, gave especial pleasure in the humorous songs he sang, though his first number, a dianty song of Schubert's, was also much enjoyed. In addition to the solo singing, there were three numbers rendered by a quartette composed of George Smith, William Holmes, Morris C. VanAradale and Fred S. Cutter, who sang unaccompanied, and with spirit, expressiveness and harmony. Their last number, a coster song of Albert Chevalier's was especially enjoyed.

The programme also included a reading by Miss Caroline Karr. It was entitled "The Engineer's Story," and told of the saving of a little child's life by a heroic engineer, when the locomotive was almost upon her. Miss Karr told the story with much naturalness and sympathy. She also gave as an encore a short piece called "A Child's Soliloquy."

Miss Lillian A. Force acted as accompanist for the soloists throughout the evening, with the exception of the numbers played by Mr. Conde, who was accompanied by V. F. Sokol. Miss Force showed herself to be a capable and sympathetic accompanist.

The guests were received by the members of the Whatsoever Circle, and at the close of the programme lemonade was served in the dining room. Here, also, a sale of cake and candy was held, resulting very successfully. The dining room was decorated in red and green.

The receipts amounted to between $45 and $50, and the Circle hopes to clear in the neighborhood of $10, which will go to assist in supporting a city nurse next summer.

Refreshments were served to those who took part before they returned home.

Bargains For Plainfielders.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care Ito Witness.

The too prevalent fashion of the press agent of the present day to refer to anything and everything as "mammouth," "massive," "huge" and "superb," has naturally enough had a tendency to cause the average reader of preliminary notices to look with suspicion upon all these glittering promises. In the case of the Four Cohans, who in conjunction with a large and selected company of players in the twentieth century production entitled, "The Governor's Son," which will be seen at Music Hall next Monday night, the superlative use of adjectives would seem to be justified by the unanimity of the press through the entire county. The theatre goers may safely look forward to a startler in "The Governor's Son." The company includes such well known artists as George M. Cohan, Jerry Cohan, Will H. Sloan, James H Manning, William Keough, M J Sullivan, Hugh Mack, Peter F. Randall, Charles L Gebest, W. Martin Byles, Willie Cameron, A. Henry Scott, Helen F Cohan, Josephine Cohan, Ethel Levey, Jeannette Kirkwood, Helene Bronner, Alice Kellar, Ruby Raymond, Cecile Early and a chorus of twenty well trained voices.

MANY TO SING.

Monster Chorus Choir Being Organized For the Evangelistic Services.

Arrangements are being made by the committee in charge of the music at the coming series of evangelistic meetings to have a monster chorus choir to assist in the music. A meeting of the music committee will be held this evening when further details for the chorus will be arranged.

It has been decided to ask the members of the Choral Society to assist in the work. Then lists of those who are assumed to sing will be prepared by representatives from each of the churches and given to the committee. To all return postals will soon be sent inviting them to assist in the work. It is hoped that there will be fully two hundred who will respond. While it will, of course, be impossible to have all the members of such a large chorus sing at the same church at the same time, while there will be many who will be able to sing only on certain nights, so the total number available for each evening will be considerly reduced. Then, if overflow meetings are held, it will be necessary, the chorus will have to be divided.

Charles W. McCutchen is chairman of the music committee and Stacy Reynolds, secretary. Both are prominent workers in the Choral Society, and it is expected that they will get the support of most of the members of that musical organization.

—Millions of people are familiar with DeWitt's Little Early Risers and those who use them find them to be famous little liver pills. Never gripe. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Francis Whiteley, of Steiner place, who has been detained at home by illness, is greatly improved.

It's an unrivaled life saver in Consumption, Pneumonia LaGrippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1 00. NO FIGHT TONIGHT.

Judge Hollister Issues a Permanent Injunction at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—The conference of promoters of the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest closed shortly before 6 o'clock last night. It was announced that there would be no contest tonight and that another conference will be held this afternoon for more definite action. The fact that the event was not postponed to any date is considered by some to mean that the forfeit is under consideration.

Judge Hollister has issued a permanent injunction against the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest scheduled for Sangerfest hall in this city. The decree of the court permanently restrains the managers of the contestants and the Sangerfest Athletic association and all connected with the proposed event from proceeding at Sangerfest hall on any date.

The court held that the proposed prize-fight was the worst sort of public nuisance that could be named. While he was confident that he was right in this holding, as well as in having jurisdiction in the premises, he ordered a permanent injunction to issue forthwith against the defendants in their intentions for the proposed contest at Sangerfest hall between Jeffries and Ruhlin.

Judge Peck at once gave notice of appeal and took exceptions to the findings of the court, both in law and in fact.

KENNEDY SCORES AGAIN.

Judge Shuts Out Handwriting Expert at New Trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A vital blow was dealt the prosecution yesterday at the trial of Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy for the murder of Dolly Reynolds when Justice Fursman refused to admit the testimony of William J. Kinsley, an expert in handwriting.

The basis of the refusal was that Mr. Kinsley was not familiar with the handwriting of the defendant and was not competent to compare the disputed writing of the defendant with that conceded to be his.

The justice held that the testimony of handwriting experts could be admitted only when the writing exhibited was the actual subject of dispute. The writings exhibited in this case, he said, were merely pieces of evidence.

The justice's decision, which has caused a sensation in legal circles, was taken to have an important bearing on the Molineux case, in which expert testimony greatly contributed to the conviction.

Besides Mr. Kinsley three other experts were called to testify as to handwriting, but the court's ruling barred them out.

Mrs. Platt's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The funeral of Mrs. Thomas C. Platt was held at 11 o'clock this morning in the Fifth Avenue hotel. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church, which Senator Platt attends. The pallbearers were Governor Odell, Admiral Crowninshield, Colonel John J. McCook, Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, ex-Judge Stevenson Burke, Albert B. Boardman, Chauncey H. Crosby and Lispenard Stewart. Many prominent politicians from all parts of the state sent letters and telegrams of condolence. The flowers sent were many and beautiful. The temporary burial was at Woodlawn.

A Gift to Pennsylvania University.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—Provost C. C. Harrison of the University of Pennsylvania announces that Burnham, Williams & Co., owners of the Baldwin Locomotive works, this city, have subscribed $25,000 to the new engineering building of the University of Pennsylvania. The trustees of the university have decided to materially strengthen the engineering department and to erect an engineering building of the first class, with ample laboratory and shop equipment. It is estimated that the cost of this undertaking will not be less than $500,000. Provision has been made in the working plans for 500 students in mechanical, civil and electrical engineering.

Heiress to Go on the Stage.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Miss Edith Wilbur, daughter of former Congressman D. F. Wilbur, who has fallen heir to an estate valued at $300,000 and who is well known in New York and Washington society, will go on the stage. By a recent decision of the court of appeals Miss Wilbur is to receive some 6,000 acres of land from the estate of her grandfather, the late Hon. David Wilbur. The land lies in Otsego, Schoharie and Delaware counties and is all highly improved, including a number of hop farms and a large amount of valuable fancy stock. Crumhorn, which is a summer resort in Otsego county, will belong to her.

Heavy Snow In Western New York.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 15.—The heavy snowstorm continued throughout yesterday almost unceasingly. Constant work on the part of the railroad men is necessary to keep the tracks clear of snow, and all lines entering Rochester, although in operation, are running trains several hours behind schedule time. The Falls branch of the Central was blocked completely during the night, but trains were getting through yesterday. Suburban towns report all transportation tied up and business almost at a standstill.

Quarrel Over East African Throne.

THE ROYAL WEDDING UNDISTURBED.

Mounted Troops Guarded Every Strategic Point and Prevented the Threatened Outbreak—Bride and Groom Depart.

MADRID, Feb. 15.—In the chapel of the royal palace in the presence of the royal family and all the aristocracy and officialdom of Spain Doña Marie de las Mercedes de Bourbon y Hapsburg, princess of the Asturias, was yesterday wedded to Prince Charles of Bourbon.

The authorities, disturbed by the serious conflicts of the previous night, decided no longer to permit the populace to have free rein. When Madrid awoke, it found itself under military rule. A proclamation was posted announcing the enforcement of martial law in consequence of the inability of the civil authorities to cope with the disturbances.

Mounted troops patrolled the city and occupied every strategic point, and a demonstration toward the palace on account of the wedding was thus nipped in the bud.

Immense crowds surrounded the palace during the ceremony, but not a word of disrespect was overheard. The public did not participate in the wedding in any way. There was no public fete of any character connected with it. After the ceremony the mayor issued an appeal to the populace, asking for calmness and confiding in the "good sense and courtesy" of the inhabitants of Madrid to allow nothing further to occur that would compel the rigorous employment of martial law.

General Weyler now holds the safety of the city in his hands. He has issued a proclamation prohibiting persons gathering in groups. Any one found insulting or injuring the troops by word or deed will be tried by court martial. Parents and guardians permitting children to roam in the streets will be fined 125 pesetas. Military subjects on furlough who take part in disturbances will be court martialed. Persons injuring railways or other means of transportation and persons interfering with or inciting workmen will also be court martialed.

As a result of the strong position taken up by General Weyler and the knowledge of the populace that he will carry out his proclamation the city has been without disturbance all day.

It is rumored that the cabinet will meet to consider the situation.

The Count and Countess of Caserta left Madrid last night.

Altogether there were about 100 arrests Wednesday night. In several streets the rioters fired revolvers.

El Liberal says the rioters stoned the carriage of the Brazilian minister under the belief that it contained a member of the government.

Other papers assert that several ladies were injured in Wednesday's disorders. Most of the Jesuits residing in Madrid have retired to San Martin.

It is said that the dowry of the Princess of the Asturias will be 20,000,000 francs.

A File Trust.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 15.—The Nicholson File company of this city is shortly to acquire two of the largest file and rasp manufactories in America outside of its own control, but owing to the fact that the negotiations have not been fully carried out their names are withheld for the present. The Nicholson File company previously had acquired the American works at Pawtucket, the Great Western works at Beaver Falls, Pa.; the Eagle works at Middletown, N. Y.; the McClellan works at Saginaw, Mich., and some smaller properties. These additions give the Nicholson File company a united capacity of about 9,500 dozen files and rasps per day and gives employment to between 2,200 and 2,300 hands and makes it the dominant company in the file trade of the world.

Fast Fish Skinning.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 15.—A new world's record for skinning 540 pounds of whole fish was established by Freeman H. Brown, who performed the required work in 43 minutes 50 seconds, against George E. Critchett, a noted skinner. The men were required to skin, properly cut, weigh and pack the fish in ten 40 pound boxes. Critchett's time was 48 minutes 5 seconds. The best previous record was about one hour.

Mrs. Nation Going Home.

TOPEKA, Feb. 15.—After an absence of a week on a lecture tour Mrs. Carrie Nation has returned to Kansas from Chicago. A delegation of the Home Defenders met her at the station. Mrs. Nation appeared greatly fatigued and expressed the intention of going to her home at Medicine Lodge on Monday for a brief rest. She expressed much gratification over the closing of the Topeka "joints."

Nantucket Icebound.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Feb. 15.—The weather conditions here remain unchanged. For six days now this port has been shut off from the outside world, except by the telegraph, and the inhabitants are longing for the sight of a newspaper to learn what is going on. The farmers are obliged to butcher much of their live stock to supply the demand for fresh meat. The supply of kerosene is running low.

Fight Postponed.

DALLAS, Feb. 15.—The fight scheduled for tonight before the Olympic Athletic club of Dallas between Dan Creedon of New York and Harry Covert of Chicago for a purse of $1,000 has been postponed to Feb. 22. Creedon requested the postponement in a telegram from New York Wednesday night. He says he is not sufficiently recovered from his recent attack of grip.

REWARDS FOR NAVY.

President Sends Santiago List to Senate Again.

SAMPSON FIRST, SCHLEY SECOND.

Senators Hale and Lodge Warn Their Colleagues Against the Danger of Making Enormous Appropriations—Heated House Debate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The president yesterday sent to the senate the nominations of naval officers to be advanced in numbers which were held up and defeated in confirmation in the last congress by the friends of Admiral Schley who objected to his taking rank below Admiral Sampson.

The list is headed by Rear Admiral Sampson, who is advanced five numbers, to take rank next after Rear Admiral Howell, and Rear Admiral Schley, who is advanced three numbers, to take rank next after Sampson. All the promotions are to date from Feb. 14, 1901.

The list is practically the same as that originally sent in, the exceptions being some changes in numbers due to retirements and the transfers to the line of the engineer officers under the operations of the naval personnel act.

The senate devoted practically the entire day to the agricultural appropriation bill. The measure was not completed. During the discussion of the bill Mr. Hale of Maine and Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts sounded notes of warning against the enormous appropriations being made by the present congress. Mr. Hale declared the people of the country would become alarmed soon, and then those responsible for the immense expenditures would seek the rocks and mountains to hide from the wrath of the people. Mr. Lodge declared that the expenditures of the government as shown by the appropriations were approaching rapidly the billion dollar mark, and he believed it was time now to draw the line.

The events in connection with the sale of the old New York custom house to the National City bank, which heretofore has been the subject of much comment, occupied the center of the stage during the debate on the sundry civil appropriation bill in the house.

Much excitement attended the debate. Mr. McRae, an Arkansas Democrat, raised the issue with a motion to strike out the appropriation of $371,047 for rent of the custom house, and with this motion as a basis Mr. Jones of Virginia launched a fierce attack upon the manner and circumstances of the sale and the vast profits which he claimed the bank made out of the transaction. Secretary Gage was sharply criticised, and several references were made to the letter written by Mr. Hepburn to Secretary Gage apropos of the political claims of the bank.

Mr. Cannon and Mr. Hopkins of Illinois both defended the custom house transaction, and the latter turned the tables on the Democrats by springing upon them a series of letters written by prominent Democrats, including Senator Jones of Arkansas, to the secretary of the treasury under the Cleveland administration asking the deposit of government funds in banks with Democratic proclivities.

Pennsylvania Roads Suffer.

TOWANDA, Pa., Feb. 15.—The Lehigh Valley railroad has suffered severely from drifting snow in this section, the Montrose branch being closed up and the Ithaca branch trains running from 1 to 11 hours late. The Elmira and Cortland divisions are impeded by heavy snow north and east of Cortland and near Elmira, while the Middlesex Valley and the Willard branch were completely tied up Wednesday. The main line has been kept in fairly good shape, trains not using the branch lines, being not over one hour late. The road has now practically recovered from the effects of the storm, although there is still much work to be done in some places. A passenger train on the Montrose branch took 55 hours to make the round trip from Tunkhannock, 55 miles in all, but as the train could not get over half a mile away from a farmhouse at any time none of the passengers suffered.

Wireless Messages In Eight Months.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Shortly after New Year's day Nikola Tesla announced that, having spent many of the later years of the nineteenth century in electrical experiments and investigations, he purposed giving to the world in the early years of the twentieth century some of the results in practical and commercial form of these experiments and investigations. Two weeks ago he brought out his "sanitary light," as he calls it. Yesterday he announced that the wireless telegraph—his system of the wireless telegraph—would be at the world's service in about eight months. By this system messages are to be transmitted to any distance on the earth's surface. Some of the machinery is now being constructed, and for the rest of it contracts will soon be awarded.

The Carnegie-Morgan Deal.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 15.—The Pittsburg Leader says: "Each day is bringing to light some new features of the Carnegie-Morgan deal. It has become positively known that the extent of the proposed consolidation by means of the omnibus company that is to be formed is greater even than has been talked about. In addition to the steel companies it will combine the vast lake and ore interests of John D. Rockefeller. The ore properties of the latter are worth a sum that is practically inestimable."

Central New York Snow Bound.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 15.—Syracuse and vicinity are snow bound. The blizzard which begun Tuesday has abated somewhat, but snow is falling in large quantities, and the railroads entering the city are badly paralyzed. The Auburn branch of the Central is the worst sufferer. A Cortland dispatch says all the country roads are blockaded with snow to the depth of nearly 15 feet and as yet have not been opened, although it is understood that the farmers have been shoveling many hours.

His Own Invention Killed Him.

EASTWOOD, N. J., Feb. 15.—August Weikie, 18 years old, died here last night as a result of an accident. He had invented a new burglar alarm with a gun attachment to kill chicken thieves. On Monday night he was explaining the new weapon to friends when the gun was discharged, and August was shot in the head. The wound was not serious of itself, but lockjaw set in, and the death of the young inventor resulted.

LOCAL OPTION BILLS.

Hearings at Albany on Liquor and Tax Measures.

ALBANY, Feb. 15.—The committees on taxation gave a hearing yesterday on the bill amending the Raines liquor tax law providing for local option by districts in cities and incorporated villages.

Rev. J. I. A. Henry, president of the New York State Antisaloon league of New York city, spoke in favor of the bill amending the state liquor law providing for local option in districts in municipalities and incorporated villages. He said he represented a constituency of 500,000 persons and certainly 50,000 voters who favored the passage of this amendment. He presented a large petition from voters in New York, Buffalo, Albany, Rochester, Utica, Syracuse and other places in the state. He also had autograph letters from Bishop Potter of New York, President Raymond of Union university, Mrs. Goold, state president of the W. C. T. U., and others favoring the idea of local option in districts in cities. Mr. Henry argued that it gave the people of every locality and section an opportunity to say whether there should be a "gin mill" next door to their homes, their schools or their churches.

The joint committee on taxation of the senate and assembly gave a hearing on the Elsberg bill for the apportionment of state taxes and local option in taxation. Counties are to form the taxation districts, and the supervisors are to impose taxes in whatsoever manner they please. They may raise all taxes on real estate or on personal property or both.

There was a large attendance at the hearing, a big delegation from New York being headed by Julien T. Davis, representing the New York Tax Reform association, and George F. Seward of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Davis said the principle of local option had received the indorsement of the late David E. Wells, a noted economist, who advocated the idea after a profound study of the subject. Local option in taxation has received the indorsement of a score of New York associations, 40 farmers' granges and 31 county committees affiliated with the New York State Tax Reform association.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Feb. 14:

"Our troops are now engaged with Christian De Wet's force north of Philipstown, which we hold, De Wet having crossed the Orange river at Zand drift, apparently moving west.

"French, reporting from a point 25 miles southeast of Ermelo, states that a large force of the enemy is being driven on to Piet Retief, their efforts to break back having so far been frustrated.

"The Inniskillings charged the enemy, who left five killed and six wounded on the ground. Ten Boers were captured, and there was a large capture of wagons, carts and cattle. Our casualties were one killed and five wounded."

Withdraws From Massachusetts.

HARTFORD, Feb. 15.—At the office of the Hartford Insurance company an official had this to say in reference to the withdrawal of his company from business in Massachusetts: "Our policies are all written as preliminary one year term contracts. They are so valued by our home department, and that valuation is accepted everywhere except in Massachusetts. Massachusetts insists on valuing our policies contrary to the contracts, and we refuse to handicap ourselves by accepting any such condition. That is the reason of our withdrawal."

Wants to Observe Noah's Dying Day.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 15.—At the Maine Historical society session yesterday Hon. George F. Talbot ridiculed the idea of celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the death of King Alfred, a movement which recently started at Philadelphia. Among other keen shafts of satire he made an eloquent plea for the celebration of the death of Noah, a man who was of much more interest to people in Maine by reason of his eminence as a shipbuilder and successful shipmaster. On a vote the committee having the matter in charge was continued by a narrow margin.

CHICAGO HOTELS FIRED.

Incendiary Work In Three Down Town Hosteiries.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A pyromaniac made unsuccessful attempts to destroy several of the large down town hotels last evening, and but for the fact that the structures singled out were fireproof disastrous conflagrations might have resulted.

Four fires were started in the Palmer House at 6 o'clock. On the second and third floors the fires were started in the tall baskets used as receptacles for linen. On the fifth floor it was started in a toilet room.

Two attempts were made to burn the Great Northern hotel. At 5:30 o'clock a bell boy discovered a folding bed on the eighth floor in flames. He extinguished the fire. An hour later a fierce blaze was discovered on the fourth floor of the hotel.

An attempt was made to burn the Grace hotel on Jackson Boulevard and Clark street at about the same time that the Great Northern was attacked. Some paper was put in the bottom of the linen chute, but it was found a short time later and the flames put out.

Two fires are said to have been started in the Sherman House, and these also were extinguished. The fires in the Palmer House were discovered in three different ways at once.

SOME CHANGE IN CREED.

Presbyterian Committee Submits Two Reports.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Presbyterian committee which has been considering the revision of the Westminster confession of faith has completed its recommendations to the general assembly. The committee has unanimously agreed that some change in the credal statement is necessary, but is divided as to the character of this change, and majority and minority reports will be presented to the general assembly.

There were 13 of the 16 members present, and a majority agreed to recommend that a change should be made by a supplemental explanatory statement to cover certain points in the confession of faith and also to include statements as to the doctrines of the holy spirit, missions and the love of God for all men.

The report of the minority will recommend a supplementary statement of doctrine without being restricted to specific and limited points in the confession, but in entire harmony with the system of doctrine contained in the creed.

The committee has adjourned sine die, and no further meetings are anticipated before the session of the general assembly next May, when it probably will be dissolved.

DELAY AT PEKING.

Negotiations Make No Progress—Chinese Seem to Be Hedging.

PEKING, Feb. 15.—No official communication has yet been made to the foreign envoys by the Chinese plenipotentiaries on behalf of the court, but it is known that during the last three days four dispatches from the court have been received.

At present the negotiations are no further advanced than they were at the meeting when the Chinese plenipotentiaries agreed to the death of Prince Chuang and Prince Yu Hsien.

Private dispatches from Sian-fu say that a strong opposition has developed among the officials to an agreement by the court in the demands of the powers as well as an opposition to the reform edict. Several memorials have been presented to Emperor Kwang Su urging him to refuse further negotiations and to promote those whom the foreigners desire executed. On the other hand, it appears that Chang Chi Tung, the viceroy of Hankow, urges the commencement of reforms immediately.

Steamer on Fire at Sea.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 15.—Twelve hours after the Clyde steamer Comanche left New York and when she was off Fenwick island at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning smoke was discovered issuing from the skylight of the engine room and speedily burst into flames. The alarm was sounded, and after two hours' hard work the fire was controlled, but not until after eight or ten persons had been slightly bruised and burned. The damage to the ship consisted in the destruction of the engine room, where the fire mysteriously originated, and a part of the woodwork of contiguous staterooms. During the excitement the passengers, of whom there were 181, 121 of them first class, were panic stricken. Passengers and crew behaved with great bravery. The Comanche sailed hence for Jacksonville at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Annual Dinner of Correspondents.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Correspondents' club of New York, an organization consisting of correspondents of the leading out of town newspapers, at their annual dinner inaugurated an original idea. A symposium contributed to by many prominent men of the country on the question, "How can the influence of the press be increased?" was read. Among the contributors were Governor Odell, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Potter, Wu Ting Fang, Andrew Carnegie and Thomas A. Edison. Truthfulness, accuracy, more careful editing and less sensationalism were the predominating opinions among the contributions.

Fatal Mine Accidents.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 15.—Two fatal mine accidents occurred here yesterday. A premature explosion of dynamite at Cameron colliery fatally injured Alfred Forred. Ambrose Sholls was severely burned, and it is feared he will lose his eyesight. John Davis was seriously burned about the head and face. At Royal Oak colliery an explosion of gas fatally burned John Schicashvish and seriously injured Joseph Pulikski.

OPENED BY THE KING

Parliament Convenes With Old Time Pomp and Ceremony.

EDWARD VII TAKES "NO POPERY" OATH

Ancient State Chariot In Use For the First Time In Forty Years—Warm Greetings For the King Save From Irish Members.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The king did not wear the crown when he opened parliament.

Prior to the reading of the speech the king took the oath. The assemblage stood while the speech was read.

The oath King Edward took was the "no popery oath," imposed by the bill of rights and act of settlement of the time of Charles II. It is as follows:

"I, Edward, do solemnly and sincerely and in the presence of God profess, testify and declare that I do believe that in the sacrament of our Lord's supper there is not any transubstantiation of the elements of bread and wine into the body and blood of Christ at or after the consecration thereof by any person whatsoever and that the invocation or adoration of the Virgin Mary or any other saint and the sacrifice of mass as they are now used in the church of Rome are superstitious and idolatrous, and I do solemnly, in the presence of God, profess, testify and declare that I do make this declaration and every part thereof in the plain and ordinary sense of the words read unto me as they are commonly understood by English Protestants without any evasion, equivocation or mental reservation whatsoever and without any dispensation already granted me for this purpose by the pope or any other authority or person whatsoever and without any hope of any such dispensation from any person whatsoever and without thinking that I am or can be acquitted before God or man of any part thereof, although the pope or any other person or persons or power whatsoever should dispense with or annul the same or declare that it was null and void from the beginning."

The king repeated the oath after the lord chancellor and kissed the scarlet bound Bible.

The last state ceremony of the opening occurred in 1861, when Queen Victoria opened parliament, accompanied by the prince consort, and since the death of the latter nothing equal to yesterday's pomp has been witnessed in London in connection with the opening of the legislature. Not since the wedding of the then Prince of Wales and Princess Alexandra has the gorgeous state coach used yesterday been seen in the streets of the capital. In this conch yesterday the king and queen and Princess Victoria rode from Buckingham palace to the palace of Westminster.

Five carriages of state containing uniformed officials and ladies of the household, each drawn by six horses, with postilions and outriders, led the procession. Next came the massive state chariot, the occupants of which could be plainly seen through the plate glass windows, the king, who was in full uniform, saluting constantly and the queen bowing on all sides.

The procession speedily traversed the short route to an accompaniment of roars and shouts and reached the royal entrance to the palace of Westminster, beneath the Victoria tower, at 3 minutes to 2 o'clock.

The arrival of their majesties was greeted with an uproar of cheers, the ringing of church bells and the firing of a royal salute in St. James' park.

The Duke of Cornwall and York was not present in the house of lords.

The king wore a field marshal's chapeau when he read his speech. His voice was clear and firm. After the reading of the speech the procession was reformed, the king proceeded to the robing room, unrobed and left Westminster in the state carriage in the same order as the procession entered.

Mr. John Redmond, in the course of an interview in the lobby of the house of commons last evening, said:

"While the peers and commoners were jostling each other in vulgar haste to pay obeisance to Edward VII every Irish member deliberately abstained from any participation in the pageant, which was only a mockery to our people, poverty stricken and oppressed as they are. At the meeting of the Irish National party it was unanimously decided that in consideration of Ireland's present condition, deprived of constitutional freedom and overtaxed by English rule, against which we must ever protest, the Irish members would take no part in the ceremonies inaugurating the new reign. The resolution was unanimous.

"So intense is this feeling among us that, for the first time in ten years, 80 Irish members met in a united party in Westminster. They determined on a vigorous campaign against the new king. They intend not only to discuss Irish questions, but to interfere in every British question which may arise."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—President and Mrs. McKinley gave a dinner at the White House last night in honor of the members of the diplomatic corps. It was the first social function given by the president since his convalescence from the attack of the grip. To accommodate the large number of guests the table was set in the long corridor. Its centerpiece was of orchids, while scattered over the table were a number of smaller mounds, mainly in primroses of the color of orchids. An orchestra from the Marine band furnished the music.

A Bridge or a Tunnel.

When the Jersey commuter starts out in the morning with considerable doubt as to the chances of ever reaching his office in New York that day, it recalls to mind with much force the great need of some other means than a line of ferryboats to enable the great army of Jerseymen to cross the North river and reach the great metropolis.

The unusually long spell of cold weather has filled New York Harbor and both North and East rivers with ice so that the career of the ferryboat and all other smaller craft, which have ventured out into the ice, is woefully uncertain. Several ferryboats, particularly those which ply to and from the Battery have been stalled in the ice or else compelled to give up their regular trips. The boats of the Jersey Central Railroad and other railroads which cross the North river are still running but on no regular schedule. Sometimes, they are forced to wander about the river several hours in their efforts to gain the proper slip.

It is not comforting to the man who has a business engagement or anyone else for that matter to wander up and down a river full of ice while the pilot makes vain attempts to steer the boat through the great cakes of ice which surge about on every side.

A foggy day the situation is similar only that whereas now the shore is plainly visible but cannot be reached, it then becomes invisible although there is no particular object in the way.

It is experiences like these which call to mind the imperative need of a bridge or tunnel to enable the residents of New Jersey to reach the greatest city of the land with assured regularity. There have been numerous plans suggested. A tunnel was even started and an excavation made half way under the river but work was abandoned for lack of funds.

If the old methods were not successful, then it rests with the inventors of the new century to discover some new and successful means either to tunnel under the river or else build a monstrous bridge which will not impede navigation. The twentieth century should not be allowed to grow very old before New Jersey and New York are connected in some way. And when they are, it will bring still greater prosperity to Plainfield and all the other suburban cities of New Jersey.

The citizens of city and borough who were personally acquainted with H. J. Wightman, superintendent of the North Plainfield public schools, all felt that there must be some mistake when a charge of cruelty to one of the boys under his charge was made. It was with general satisfaction that they learned that he had been exonerated in a court of law. Mr. Wightman has served the borough of North Plainfield well and has made a very efficient superintendent of schools. His kind and considerate treatment of all is well known and it required quite a stretch of imagination to believe that he would deliberately kick a child down stairs as he was charged.

"Most people like their reading matter undiluted," says The New England Grocer. "If they fancy philosophy they know where to find it. When they turn to the advertising columns of their daily or weekly paper it is to find where they can supply their wants at the most reasonable rates." This being true, reasons the Philadelphia Record, it follows as a logical conclusion that the business man whose name does not appear in the advertising columns will not figure in the distribution of the prospective purchasers' money. By neglecting to keep himself in evidence he virtually admits that he is not a competitor for the favor of the public.

Many newspapers in and about New York have started exchange columns wherein the public is invited to advertise any articles which they desire to "swap" with their neighbors. While the Daily Press has made no particular feature of advertisements of such transfers of property, the "Wants and Offers" column has long been open to advertisements of just such a nature. If there are any people in Plainfield who possess any kind of property which they desire to exchange for something of a different nature, the best way to accomplish it will be to insert an ad in the "Wants and Offers" column of The Daily Press.

Union county is said to be in favor of the anti-spring election bill which Assemblyman Meeker has introduced into the Lower House of the New Jersey Legislature. There has been, as yet no expression of opinion on the subject in Plainfield. This city does not have any spring election, but the municipal election takes place in December, a month after the general election. If the bill is found to affect Plainfield, something will probably be heard from the local politicians before long.

If there is no good reason why a proper system of street signs should not be placed on the city streets, why does not the street committee bring the subject to the attention of the Common Council without delay? There is an adjourned meeting of the Council Monday evening. Some action should be taken at that time. If the street committee fails to introduce the subject, it is the duty of the other members of the Council to bring it up.

Although a Board of Estimate has been organized in this city, the Plainfield Board of Education has not been sure that t was required. Assemblyman Boyd's bill, which has just passed the Assembly, makes the subject perfectly clear and its fate at the hands of the members of the Upper House will be watched by Plainfielders with much interest.

Many of the owners of fast horses in this section are, since the experiences of last week, not inclined to look with great favor on the city of Plainfield. So it is natural that the project of building the proposed speedway in a municipality where the officials are known to be more liberal rapidly finds favor with the local horsemen.

One of the few arguments against the widening of Somerset street was that it would be necessary to cut down the beautiful trees which border that thoroughfare. It is too bad that they have to go but Somerset street as it is does not answer the requirements and the wider street will be a wonderful improvement to the borough.

The Elizabeth Journal wonders if Plainfield has begun to advertise its advantages. What is the use of advertising the city and bringing people here when they cannot find a street after they do reach here. When the Council provides street signs it will be time to talk about advertising the city.

Memory has to go back quite a term of years to find such a long spell of real winter weather as has just visited this region.

The new century will undoubtedly see an evangelistic campaign in Plainfield which has never been equalled.

St. Valentine was just as popular as ever yesterday.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

People flippantly talk of billion combinations and the million dollar kings, of Morgan, the great financial head of giant combines, etc. But few citizens of this city realize that one of their most modest townsmen, Charles King, of Watchung avenue, is the private secretary and confidential clerk of J. Pierrpont Morgan, yet such is the fact.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason hat it is solid grain.

MUSIC HALL ALWAYS CLEAN.

MANAGER EDWARDS OBJECTS TO IDEA THAT IT IS NOT SO.

Says Proper Police and Fire Protection Is Assured at all Times and Hall is Well Heated.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In your notice yesterday of the performance of "The Private Secretary" by the amateurs tomorrow night, you say among other things: "The hall will be thoroughly cleaned and a full force of firemen and policemen will be on hand ready in case of emergency." Now unless some extra preparations unknown to me have been made, and I think I ought to known about it if any one does, I am not aware of any extra efforts advanced for the "cleaning" of my house for this occasion. I think the general public will admit that since my assumption of the lease and management, I have had a pretty clean house at all times and in the belief that "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" I have always endeavored to have a clean resort whether it be for a 10, 20, 30-cent show, or a high class dramatic or operatic performance and the rule holds good for this amateur performance.

As to the force of firemen and police there is at all times competent representatives of these two important callings. William Chamberlain, one of Fire Chief Doane's most trustworthy lieutenants, is present at every performance, whether the attendance be large or small, and he is a host in himself. As for police there is always a uniformed man in attendance, and it is very seldom he is called upon to quell disturbances. True, there are at times some unruly demonstrations on the part of some of the gallery patrons, but take it all in all the gallery clientle are fairly well behaved, and surely the expected attendance tomorrow night will be on their "good behavior," so I fail to see where the extra services of this branch of peace preservers will be required. But it may be that it is feared some suspicious characters will try to break up the harmony of the gathering. In such a case it is well that provision be made, for I want nothing of that kind to occur. To sum up all, the public may be assured I will always do my best to have a clean house, comfortably heated in winter, well protected and properly conducted at all times.

Maze Edwards, Manager.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It seems to be about settled that Senator E. O. Stokes, of Cumberland, will succeed Lewis A. Thompson as the Clerk of the Court of Chancery. If the Senator obtains the appointment his income will be larger than that of the governor, for he now holds a $4,500 berth as president of the Mechanics' Bank, of Trenton, and the additional $6,000 will come in handily for personal investment. Mr. Thompson has been a model official, and many will regret sincerely his enforced retirement.—New Brunswick Home News.

Placing Mercer, Hunterdon and Somerset counties in one Congressional district will bring a big crowd of aspiring politicians of both parties into closer and more strenuous rivalries. Hunterdon will bring in George H. Large and Richard B. Reading, Republicans, and Richard S. Kuhl and Moses K. Everett, Democrats, while Samerset will bring against the Mercer politicians Senator Reed and Clerk in Chancery Thompson, Republicans, and Alvah A. Clark and William J. Keyes, Democrats. The Mercer men, having the longest poles, will generally get the persimmons.—New York Herald.

* * * * * *

Senator Reed's bill abolishing the poll tax may not become a law, but it is a just and fair measure, nevertheless. As matters now stand, practically only those who also pay a property tax are compelled to pay a poll tax. Men who possess no taxable property calmly ignore their poll tax bills, and seldom is their any attempt made to collect them. Now and then an ultraenergetic collector enforces the penalty of imprisonment for non payment of poll tax, but such procedure is obnoxious to public sentiment, and inevitably calls forth a storm of protest. Since there is no pretence of uniformity in the collection of poll taxes, fairness and regard for the spirit of the Constitution demand their abolition.—Newark News.

Built on Honor.

I take great pleasure in anouncing to my friends and the general public that I have had the good fortune to secure the sole agency for the world-renowned McPhail Pianos, of Boston, Mass. Built on honor and sold on merit for the past 63 years. A Piano excelled by none and equaled by few. I shall in the future carry a full line of these superb instruments, together with the celebrated Kimball, which I have so successfully handled in the past. Thanking you all for past patronage and wishing a continuance of the same, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

The treasurer of a Brooklyn (N. Y.) Safe Deposit Co. was a sufferer for fifteen years with nervous dyspepsia, and, like many other victims of this dread disorder, tried everything suggested by physicians and friends to attain relief and was always extremely gratified for even a temporary cessation of pain. He finally commenced with Ripans Tabules and, after taking them a few weeks, found himself entirely cured. "I smoke to my heart's content," said he, "and eat any and everything, and I have not had to take even a Ripans for the last three or four months." His attention was first called to the Tabules by seeing them advertised in the cars of the Brooklyn Elevated R.R. He has been the means of selling hundreds of boxes of Ripans Tabules on the strength of his cure, even going so far as to get his own physician to use them in his general practice for he "had given my case up as hopeless."

THE LOUIS QUINZE BODICE.

A Pleasing Revival of an Attractive Historic Style.

Among the old styles again brought forward is the Louis Quinze bodice, which is seen in some new models of evening gowns. It is tight and low cut and has a deep point at the back and front, being very short at the hips. The fastening is in the middle of the back and is usually a silk lacing passing through eyelets. The sleeves terminate a little above the elbow.

The illustration today shows a house gown of copper tinted panne. The skirt has a train and is double, the upper skirt being slightly lifted in front and faced with a broche satin having a copper design on a mandarin yellow ground. The bodice has a large shawl collar of the broche satin which separates over a vest of mandarin silk striped with copper. The panne sleeves are tight from shoulder to elbow and open from elbow to wrist, showing a full undersleeve of silk like the vest gathered into a close band. The belt is of copper velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

EVENING DRESS.

Ornaments For the Neck and Arrangements of the Low Cut Bodice.

Close necklets of jewels are much worn with low cut gowns, and a new idea is to have in addition a similar necklet placed across the top of each shoulder, like an epaulet. It is an ingenious method of utilizing the contents of a well stocked jewel box.

Neckbands of velvet are also worn, fastened with a brooch. This band may be plain or ornamented with jeweled embroidery.

The decolletage continues to be surrounded by ruches, plaitings, puffings, ruffles and berthas of all descriptions. These fluffy trimmings are very becoming to slender women. For stouter ones there are flat collars of tulle embroidered with pearls and spangles. A pretty idea for the slight decolletage of a young girl is to have a string of pearls sewed around the edge next the neck. A little ruche of tulle with flowers intermingled is also pleasing. The flowers used for evening dress decorations are orchids, camellias, gardenias, violets and heath.

The illustration depicts an evening gown of pale blue taffeta. The skirt is very close fitting, and around the foot are nine ruffles of tulle with a silver border. The bodice forms a blouse and is held in at the waist by a belt of silver ribbon. The decolletage is round and is framed in a slight, narrow drapery of tulle, beyond which are three ruffles of tulle edged with silver. These pass over the shoulder, supplying the place of a sleeve. Gloves of cream suede are worn reaching to the shoulder, and a fan of white ostrich feathers accompanies the gown.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

MAN of the masses, rugged, girt with power
To lead his people in their trial hour,
Born of the soil he trod with weary feet,
His purpose one which never knew retreat,
Out of life's murk and mud, its dearth and dole,
Blossomed the fragrance of this matchless soul,
Its name prismatic now on glory's roll.

UNLETTERED, not unlearned, his earlier ways
Led through privations rarely rimmed with praise;
A man of sorrows and acquaint with grief,
His life rough, rude, without rest or relief,
He linked that life to Heaven and all its stars,
And saw his country's wrong, blood-red with scars,
Shriveled to ashes in the flames of Mars.

FOR this he wrought through weary, dreary years,
Hope's view oft blinded by the blur of tears,
While wrong entrenched grew like a giant strong,
And mid poor slaves the sigh outmatched the song;
But he gazed forward---though ruled by its rod---
With fearless feet the paths of duty trod,
A seer who pierced the darkness, seeing God.

GENTLEST and strongest of a mighty race,
Thy words revered, well loved thy rugged face,
Thy fame hath mounted on our eagle's wings
And soars above mere monarchies and kings;
Prophet and priest who made a people free,
Hero of countless millions yet to be,
In Heaven or earth none higher rank than thee.

I. EDGAR JONES.

PICTURE OF LINCOLN.

Drawn by Harvey B. Hurd, One of His Chicago Friends.

People Were Attracted to the Great Emancipator Because He Was a Genuine Champion of American Liberty.

AMONG the numerous reminiscences of the great war president, the anniversary of whose birth occurs February 12, none have proved more interesting than those of Harvey B. Hurd, of Chicago, for many years one of Abraham Lincoln's truest and most useful friends.

My acquaintance with Mr. Lincoln, says Mr. Hurd, began about ten years before he was nominated for the presidency, when he began coming to Chicago to attend the sessions of the United States court, first held in Chicago about that time. Before that Illinois constituted one federal judicial district, and the court was held at Springfield. When the state was divided into two districts, Chicago being the place of holding court for the northern district, many of the leading lawyers of that day came here, notably Archibald Williams, O. H. Browning, Benjamin Edwards, H. M. Wead and Mr. Lincoln. At first the court was held in what was known as the "Saloon building," at the southeast corner of Clark and Lake streets. The courtroom and offices of the clerk, marshal and district attorney were on the same floor. The offices opening into each other, and their occupants being genial good fellows, they became the favorite resort of the lawyers attending the court, especially of those from out of town. Here they talked over the knotty points in their cases and exchanged stories. I had lately been admitted to the bar, and had little business demanding my attendance upon that court, but it was an attractive place for a young lawyer wishing to see and hear the "legal lights" of the state. The two men out of the number I have named to whom it gave me the greatest pleasure to listen were Archibald Williams, then district attorney, and Mr. Lincoln.

They were wholly different in their style. Mr. Williams was more nearly that of the ... court lawyer, but Mr. Lincoln was his superior before the jury. Mr. Williams, while speaking, stood like a statue, hardly moving his body and making but one gesture. Mr. Lincoln moved about in a familiar way, suiting his movements and gestures to what he was saying. He was easy and natural, making no effort at oratory. I do not think he ever prepared any passages to be got ten off in his argument to the jury or to the court. His logic was lucid and easily grasped. Whatever preparation he made was in familiarizing himself with the facts as they were brought out in the evidence. He was not rapid; never rushed ahead, "carrying the jury by storm," but moved along at an easy jog, most comforting and satisfying to his hearers.

I do not believe that Mr. Lincoln could have been successful in a bad case. He was too loyal to the logic of his facts and too fair in stating them for that. He took the jury into his confidence and it was not in him to deceive them. While I do not remember ever to have discovered in his appeals to the jury any attempt to play upon their sympathies, if there was any pathos in the facts it was not lost by his honest recital of them; I really believe that sometimes the juryman thought it was himself and not Mr Lincoln that discovered the pathos and only wished Mr. Lincoln might make much of it.

Mr. Lincoln was a member of the national Kansas committee, of which I was secretary, and which conducted the Kansas fight on the part of the north in 1856-'57, but did not take much part in the proceedings. Gen. W. F. M. Avery generally acted as his proxy. I have often heard persons say upon first seeing him: "What a homely face!" But one soon lost that feeling on becoming acquainted with him. His kindly nature lighted up and beautified those rough lines. There was something there that was especially atractive to me. He thought little of dress or personal appearance, and his tall, lank, angular figure quite accentuated the neglect. I was never more impressed with this than during a short conversation I had with him a few days after his debate with Mr. Douglas at Freeport, in the latter part of August, 1885. Meeting him on the street he related to me some of the humorous incidents of that great occasion. He was dressed in a farmer satin coat, and, as everybody knows, farmer satin is remarkable for slipping and crawling about. As he put one of his long arms about a telegraph pole against which he was leaning the coat which, at best fitted him loosely, was so drawn up as to expose the other arm to the elbow. It was not easy to tell whether the coat was on the telegraph pole or on Mr. Lincoln. Even the passers-by halted to wonder who that awkward, bronzed old farmer was, for he looked like a farmer rather than the great debater and champion of liberty he was.

While Mr. Lincoln had a broad streak of humor in him, he was not a "funny man;" he was never trivial. There was always too much of seriousness in his nature to allow of that. There was that friendly interest in his face and manner which said more assuringly than words could do: "How are you, my friend?" and no one hesitated to admit him to that relationship.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 17, "Confessing Christ"—Text, Math. x, 32-40.

"Whosoever shall confess before men, him will I confess also before My Father which is in heaven."

Jesus was sending the twelve to preach and heal the sick. He gave them special power over evil spirits and diseases and directed them as to their preaching and conduct in general. He warned them of opposition, danger and persecution, but assured them of God's interest in them and attention to protect them in trouble, but gave no hint of delivering them from being troubled. Sparrows fell, but never without God. So they were ever under God's eye. The very hairs of their head were numbered. They were not to expect that their preaching would bring peace nor their healing power produce praise from men and harmony. He came not to send peace, but strife, war, and to set households in discord, so that a man's foes should be from his own family, who ought naturally to be his dearest friends and defenders.

All this is most startling and strange until you get the clew to the mystery. The gospel is no rosewater lotion, no lavender scented message of sympathy with corruption, but a cleansing, a trumpet call to heroic endeavor and worthy achievement. Evil is strong, deadly and uncompromising. It can be overcome only by good. Suffering is inevitable. The Christ will not shrink from the cross. His followers must likewise suffer. He will overcome. So shall they.

All of nobility lies here. Love is necessary, but not love of ease or fame or earthly appreciation. The common attractions of life must be refused. The ordinary gain must be given up, the old, low life of sense and self be lost and the new, high and holy and happy life of soul be found. This is the task set for every disciple of the Redeemer. In accomplishing it they find salvation, redemption made actual. Sonship of God is made a reality in their nature. They become in all things a confession of Christ. This is more than speech or act; it is being. In them the world sees the power and beauty of Christ.

The Forward Movement.

The twentieth century offering which the Methodist Episcopal church is raising of $20,000,000 for special work in education, debt paying and missions has its complement in the forward movement for the conversion of 2,000,000 souls. The proposal to pledge 100,000 persons to win ten persons each to Christ before Dec. 31, 1901, is essentially Methodistic. Some people dislike that mode of working. What of it? Others like it and have the right to adopt it. Let them do so. The general conference appointed a commission to have charge of this spiritual part of the work. A representative from each general conference district is on the commission. Willis W. Cooper, identified with the Epworth League from its organization, is the corresponding secretary. The headquarters are at 57 Washington street, Chicago, in close contact with League and Book Concern. Literature is sent from there all over the church and the united effort promises much for revival of dull Christians and enlistment of new converts.

Some have never consciously influenced a soul to accept Jesus as Saviour. Indeed some who call themselves by His name have never attempted in any direct manner to call attention to His claims. Are they really saved? And have they no care for the salvation of others? How can you explain this indifference? Do others not need the Saviour? What is the cause of this apathy? Whatever its cause, the outcome is spiritual death and must be overcome. It is high time to awake from this sleep. Will you join the forward movement for the salvation of the unsaved? If so, write Brother Crofel for suggestions and get at work at once in your own community.

Write a Book.

Some folks would be slow to acknowledge it, but it is a fact nevertheless that nearly every one at some time has the wish to write a book. Most of us begin diaries and then neglect them. Really there is not much chance to keep up interest in a diary. All write poetry, at least verses, at some time, earlier in life or later. Some try a novel woven of incidents from experience.

We don't mean any of these. But why not compile a book of gems. We are constantly reading striking sentences we would like to remember and think over, but they slip from memory all too soon. Better keep a blank book and write down those beyond the reach of scissors; also keep a handy book in which clippings can be quickly pasted. A tube of prepared paste can be always kept on the desk or table close at hand, and a moment is enough to rescue a paragraph worth preserving from a dozen columns of weary waste in a newspaper or magazine. Few books you can buy will be as valuable as these homemade books of choice extracts. They will long preserve the aroma and flavor of your best reading and furnish a fund of value in preparation for many public occasions.

Triumph.

Not he who rides through conquered city's gate,
At head of blazoned hosts and to the sound
Of victor's trumpets in full pomp and state
Of war, the utmost pitch has dreamed or found
To which the thrill of triumph can be wound.

Nor he who by a nation's vast acclaim
Is sudden sought and singled out alone,
And while the people madly shout his name,
Without a conscious purpose of his own,
Is swung and lifted to the nation's throne.

But he who has all single handed stood
With foes invisible on every side,
And, unsuspected of the multitude,
The force of fate itself has dared, defied
And conquered silently.
Ah, that soul knows
In what white heat the blood of triumph glows!
—Helen Hunt.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 17—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Confessing Christ.—Math. x, 32-39.

These words were spoken by Christ to the twelve apostles as He was about to send them forth upon a prolonged missionary tour. They were going out into the world to confess Him before men and to influence others, if possible, also to confess Him. They would meet with difficulties, obstacles and dangers. They went "forth as sheep in the midst of wolves." They were "to be hated of all men." Persecuted in one city, they were to flee to another. They were to risk their lives by going among those who were able to destroy the body. With such a prospect before them they had great need of encouragement, and Christ did encourage them, and not the least of these encouragements is to be found in the promise that confession of Him here meant confession by Him in heaven. They would also be stimulated by the warning that denial of Him here would result in His denial of them before His Father's throne.

CONFESSING CHRIST.

"Whosoever, therefore, shall confess Me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven." Confession of Christ presupposes faith in Christ. To confess and not to believe avails nothing. This is the danger of our day. Christianity is popular today in our land. There is little danger of persecution in the confession of Christ. The danger is that we may confess Him and not be His. But if His, if we do believe in Him, if we have consecrated our lives to Him, then nothing should interfere with our confession of this fact before the world. No fear, no timidity, no idea of unfitness, should stand in the way of our confessing Christ. We should let the world know where we stand. We should take our place among the people of God and use our influence to lead others to accept and to confess Him. Then before His Father's throne in heaven He will confess that we are His.

DENYING CHRIST.

"Whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before My Father which is in heaven." This warning was not out of place to Christ's apostles. They were in the midst of great dangers. They were surrounded by furious enemies. The temptations to deny Him would be many, and they needed to know the results of denying Him as well as the results of confessing Him. If denial on account of fear produced such undesirable results, how much more certain would denial because of unbelief produce the same and even more serious results. It is unbelief today, and not fear, that leads men to deny Christ and to neglect Christ. But unbelief will not excuse us. We should believe. God has given us infallible proofs of Christ's character and work, and woe to us if we do not believe and do not confess. Christ will deny us before His Father and eternal separation from God will result.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have an evangelistic meeting, giving an opportunity to confess Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Math. xvi, 13-20; Luke ix, 18-22; xii, 8, 9; John i, 29-34; vi, 66-69; xi, 20-27; xx, 26-29; Rom. i, 14-17; x, 9, 10; Rev. iii, 5.

The Valley Walk.

The walk is not in the valley, but through the valley. Ah, then it must be a straight and plain path and one that leads somewhere! It must be a direct journey to a distant destination. Yes, I am assured that it is and that the destination is nothing less delightful than heaven itself. How, then, can I fear when once by faith I have connected the valley with the heaven to which it leads? This going must be like the flight of a bird through some dark cloud and then out into the full light of the sun. It must be like some traveler journeying through a deep shadowed canyon between the mountains and then coming out into the broad and smiling country, where the sun is shining in its glory and where every green herb and beautiful flower is springing up to bless. Surely if it is only a quiet walk through the sheltered valley and the valley itself opens out full and broad into the shining fields of heaven, why, indeed, should I fear?—G. B. F. Hallock, D. D.

The Punishment of the Wicked.

No one can contemplate the awful misery of those who live and die in sin without a sense of horror.

God's law, if obeyed, fixes a penalty such as forever closes the door of mercy. Continuance in sin is a willful transgression of the divine law and invokes the divine displeasure. Yet men sin on, regardless of the inevitable consequences that must follow their persistent opposition in the face of offered pardon. They will not repent and turn to God with full purpose of heart, which is their only hope of escape.—Philadelphia Methodist.

Take Heart.

Though fearful storms have swept in wrath
About thy toilsome, rugged path,
And thou hast ofttimes been cast down
And sore dismayed by fortune's frown,
Faint not, but bravely bear thy part;
Oh, fellow man, once more take heart!

The storm is followed by the calm
And winter gales by airs of balm.
Dark night gives place to sunbright day,
Let hope still cheer thee on thy way.
Beyond the cloud still shines the sun;
Press on until thy work is done.

Perchance thou many times hast failed,
Some weakness over thee prevailed,
And thou hast faltered in the strife
And sadly rued thy blighted life;
Though great thy grief and keen thy pain,
Oh, weary one, take heart again!

Dwell not upon thy mournful past;
Arise and for thy right stand fast.
Be strong and brave; fold not thy hands;
For thee still flows life's golden sands.
To better things sweet voices call,
But God in love rules over all.

DOES A GREAT WORK HERE.

C. K. NEWELL WRITES OF NEEDS OF RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

Something About the Work It Does For Plainfield's Poor And How It May Be Helped.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I am surprised to learn that there are residents of Plainfield who are not familiar with the purposes and needs of the Relief Association, 544 West Front street.

Among the many excellent features of the association work, these four may be mentioned in particular:

1.—The woman's work room, a large room where unskilled labor is given an opportunity to earn a small daily wage. Here, wives deserted by husbands, the wives of drunken husbands, and women in want through sickness of other wage earners in the family, are enabled to earn a meagre living.

2.—Women who cannot leave their homes are given work that they can do at home.

3.—The wood yard. Here, men out of employment have opportunity of earning a few dollars each week. This work is not intended for tramps, but for the Plainfield men who need it.

4—The weekly sale of partly-worn garments at very low prices. This is a great boon to scores of Plainfield's families.

The wood yard is self-supporting, but if more sales of wood were made the work could be enlarged. Men are allowed to work but two or three days a week because the sales are limited, and therefore the amount of work to be done is limited. If the sales were doubled, the man who is granted $2 worth of work per week would be enabled to earn $4 per week—not a large sum for the support of a family.

The workroom is not self-supporting, and, from the experience of such rooms in other cities, it is doubtful whether the work can be made self-supporting. Its best feature is this—that it gives every self-respecting woman in Plainfield an opportunity to do what she can toward her own support.

In this winter weather, food, fuel and clothing are in great demand. Just now the appeals of the Relief Association are many and pitiful. It is sad to learn that the association is much hampered in its work through lack of funds. Money is needed. This need is imperative. Cast-off clothing is needed. Such material can be used in the sewing, instead of going to the expense of buying new material. More orders for fire-place wood and for kindling wood are desired. This is not an appeal from the Relief Association. I have no connection with the association, save that I am brought into contact with it almost daily, and that daily I am grateful for its existence.

Its beneficient purposes and wise administration commend the association to Plainfield's citizens for their heartiest support.

FIGHTING WILL.

Claimed That Mrs. Talmage Was of Unsound Mind When She Made the Will.

In the Union County Orphans' Court at Elizabeth, last Thursday, the contest against probating the will of the late Mrs. Laura Talmage, who died in Plainfield last June, was commenced. Her estate is valued at $90,000. Mrs. Laura Worthington, of New York, a sister of the deceased, claims that Mrs. Talmage was of unsound mind when she made her will in favor of Mrs. Emma F. Ege, another sister, and that undue influence was exercised.

It is known that Mrs. Talmage was ill for some time prior to her death, but those who support the will and in whose favor it was made, claim that she was of sound mind; that the reason why she did not remember Mrs. Worthington was because the latter engaged in a family quarrel and left the house, where all three women lived prior to Mrs. Talmage's death. For this reason, it is said, Mrs. Worthington was left out of the will.

Mrs. Talmage had an interest in the old rice brokerage firm of Dan. Talmage Sons, of New York, which is now conducted by the sons. Judge Vail made an order for testimony to be taken in the contest before Surrogate Parrot.

ASSESSMENT CHANGES.

Two Plans Were Discussed at Meeting of Central Lodge, A. O. U. W.

An important meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., was held last evening, there being about 125 members present. Four candidates were initiated and the members discussed two important amendments to be acted upon at the next Grand Lodge meeting. They refer to the assessment plan. One plan is to adopt a classified assessment, which would be a great inducement to young men who anticipate joining, as they would pay about half the assessment levied on the older members.

The other plan is to maintain the present level assessment and at the same time provide for a reserve fund that will keep the assessments at the present rate for years to come by establishing a surplus fund. Opinion was divided last evening, both plans having supporters. It is expected that there will be a great discussion over the amendments at the Grand Lodge session.

SHERIFF WILL ASSIST.

Attempt Being Made to Dispossess Mrs. Mary A. Caldwell.

Counsellor W. R. Codington, of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, has been granted a writ of assistance by the Court of Chancery, in which Sheriff Barclay, of Middlesex county, has been instructed to dispossess Mrs. Mary A. Caldwell, who has occupied the Runyon Walker estate, located between New Market and Stelton. The property was owned by Richard Morrosco, but was recently foreclosed and sold. The executors of the estate who are the mortgagees, now want possession of the property. Mrs. Caldwell has occupied the property since last June. She has no special claim other than that she wants to stay there.

PRAISED FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Former Resident Thinks Plainfield Best Equipped Department in the State.

Robert Manning, of New York, was a visitor at fire department headquarters yesterday. Nineteen years ago Mr. Manning was a member of No. 2 Engine Company, in this city, and is now a member of No. 13 Truck, New York city. It has been eight years since Mr. Manning was in Plainfield, and he was greatly surprised at the growth of the city, and especially in the growth of the fire department. He thinks that it is the best equipped in the State, and thinks that the city ought to be proud of the department.

The Wonders of Peat.

Herr Zschorner, of Vienna, has been experimenting with peat for 12 years and has shown very conclusively that it has many astonishing qualities. In Ireland, in particular, this intelligence should be welcomed. A building has been exhibited in which everything from the carpets on the floor to the curtains on the windows and the paper on the walls, was made from peat. The fibers of the remains of the reeds and grasses of which peat is composed have, of course, their original physical and chemical characters changed, but the fibrous structure remains intact, and the fibers themselves are very durable, elastic and nonconductors of heat. Fabrics woven from them are found to have the toughness of linen with the warmth of wool. There is no textile fabric that cannot be woven from these fibers. Blankets and other coverings used for horses and cattle have been found in use to excel in warmth and cleanliness. Paper of several qualities has been made, and the uses to which peat fiber has already been applied indicate possibilities that may render the peat bogs of Ireland a valuable addition to the resources of that country.—London Leisure Hours.

SUCCESSFUL SUPPER.

Held at Home of Mrs. Schwenck, of Park Avenue, for Benefit of Marconnier Chapel.

The supper given at the home of Mrs. Schwenck, on Park avenue, last evening, was a decided success. There were about sixty-five persons in attendance and several hours were spent in a delightful manner. In addition to many pleasing games devised by Mrs. Schwenck, those present enjoyed the rendition of a fine musical programme.

In an up-to-date game on the plan of the "Donkey" game, the first prize was secured by William Morrison and the booby prize by Miss Mamie Morrison. After a bountiful supper had been served all the remaining articles such as cakes etc. were disposed of at auction by Manville Teeple.

The affair netted about $31 for the chapel, which is most gratifying for the members and workers of that branch of Trinity Reformed church. Those who assisted Mrs. Schwenck in entertaining were Mrs. Harry Marshall, Mrs. VanCourt, Miss VanCourt, Miss Mundy and others.

DRAMATIC STORY OF ORATORIO, "ELIJAH."

Musical Setting of The Principal Events in Life of The Hebrew Prophet.

DIVIDED IN TWO PARTS.

MASTERFUL CLIMAX ENDS A WONDERFUL MUSICAL STORY.

Story of The Oratorio Which Will be Given in Music Hall Tuesday Evening by the Local Choral Society.

An oratorio may be said to be a musical setting, more or less dramatic in style, of a sacred story. Mendelssohn's "Elijah," which is to be rendered in Music Hall Tuesday evening by the Choral Society of this city, is a highly dramatic musical setting of the principal events in the life of the Hebrew prophet, Elijah, as told in the Old Testament.

The scene opens at the time when the country is overrun with Baal worship and general idolatry, the sins of the people bringing down on them the wrath of God and swift and terrible punishment. The prophet, untouched by the idolatry of the day, and fearless of the consequences to himself, upbraids the nation and prophesies the coming of severe drought and famine as a visitation for sin.

The doom falls, and the bewailings and prayers of the stricken people rise to heaven. The prophet Obadiah tells them to forsake their idols and turn to God in sincerity, for He is merciful and gracious. Elijah is directed by angels to go to Cherith, where he drinks of the brook and is brought food by ravens. When the brook dries up he is sent to Zarephath, where he abides with a poor widow, whose stock of provisions is miraculously sustained. Her son dies and the prophet restores him to life.

After the three years of famine, Elijah is sent to reprove the idolatrous king, Ahab, and a lively scene ensues, in the dramatic contest between the priests of Baal and the prophet. The Baal worshippers attempt to call down fire from heaven to consume their sacrifices, and grow more and more frantic after every failure and every sarcastic comment from Elijah. Then the prophet of the living God raises his voice in earnest prayer, and at once the fire descends and consumes the sacrifice.

Popular opinion is at once with Elijah, the people promise to serve Jehovah only, and the idolatrous priests are executed. Then the prophet prays for rain to relieve the famine stricken land, and while he yet prays the clouds gather and the waters descend, the people breaking into shouts of thanksgiving. This closes the first part of the oratorio.

The second part opens with divine promises of help and strength, which are soon to be tested, for Queen Jezebel's wrath has been kindled against Elijah for compassing the death of the priests of Baal, and she threatens his life. Word is brought to the prophet, and in discouragement of heart he flees to Beersheba, where, weary of the struggle of life, and feeling himself alone in his zeal for the Lord, he prays that he may die.

While he sleeps, words of comfort are brought to him by angels, and he is directed to go to Mount Horeb, where after the passing by of the tempest, the earthquake, and the fire, the divine presence is revealed to him in the "still, small voice." There is no more discouragement, no more longing for death, for the prophet; clothed with "the might of the Lord" he goes on his way, to uproot evil, to overthrow kings, to work for his God.

Then comes the reward; the chariot of fire descends from heaven and on a whirlwind he is borne away to be with Him he has so valiantly served. A tribute to the greatness of the prophet's work, a prophecy of the coming of a greater than he, an invitation to take the water of salvation and a grand outburst of praise to God to close the oratorio.

With its dramatic situations, vivid contrasts in the portrayal of character and final climax, "Elijah" may well be called a sacred opera. Placed upon the stage with effective scenery and costuming, it would make a powerful impression. Its musical effects alone, however, are sufficient to make it one of the most impressive musical productions ever written. It was a marvellous success at its first rendition, in 1846, and still remains a favorite among oratorios. It is of considerable length and in singing it some numbers are usually omitted.

YOUNG SOCIETY SET DANCED.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE PHELPS MELLICK ENTERTAINED LAST EVENING.

Affair Was in Honor of Miss Schuyler, of This City, and Miss Hartley, of New York.

The younger society set of Plainfield, together with a number of young people from out of town, gathered at the home of Councilman and Mrs. George Phelps Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, last evening, to attend a dance given in honor of Miss Schuyler, of this city, and Miss Hartley, of New York, a sister of the hostess. There were a hundred present. Previous to the dance, Mrs. Mellick entertained twenty-five of the out-of-town guests at dinner.

Furniture and rugs were removed from the large parlors and dining room as the rooms were thrown together to form one large ball room. The floor was in fine condition for dancing and the place was an ideal one for a house dance. An orchestra, furnished by Elliott, of New York, occupied the reception hall. The decorations were quite elaborate and gave a charming appearance to the rooms. Pink roses were used in profusion.

Miss Schuyler has a large acquaintance among the younger society folk while Miss Hartley, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mellick on a number of previous occasions, is well-known in that set. The evening passed off very delightfully and the affair proved one of the most successful of the dances given this winter. There was just room enough to accommodate all while Mr. and Mrs. Mellick proved a true host and hostess. At midnight, supper was served by Delmonico, of New York.

WILLARD MEMORIAL DAY.

W. C. T. U. Will Conduct Special Service in Their Rooms Tomorrow Afternoon.

There will be a special meeting in the room of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock as it is the anniversary of Miss Frances E. Willard's entrance into the life beyond. The day will be observed in every Union in the United States when her friends will speak of her consecrated and self sacrificing life for the cause of temperance.

Offerings will be taken for the Memorial Organizing Fund; the raising of which will be made one of the leading features of twentieth century effort by the National W. C. T. U. Friends of Miss Willard may desire to contribute to this fund and such offerings will be gladly received by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, 212 LaGrande avenue, during the following week. A fine programme has been prepared for Sunday afternoon and all will be welcome.

PRISONER WASN'T THERE.

But the Trial of Chas. Barry Went on all the Same.

Charles Barry, the hackman, who was to have been tried in the city court this morning on a charge of beating Henry Kerniskey with a whip, failed to make his appearance. The complainant and two witnesses were present and their side of the case was heard. Both of the latter testified that Barry had beaten the boy without any provication. After hearing their evidence City Judge Runyon instructed the police to arrest the delinquent hackman on sight and hold him for trial Monday.

Will Give no Ball.

A rumor has been in circulation during the past few days that the U. S. Grant Glee Club, of the borough, intends giving a ball in the near future. This is wrong, and although there has been talk of such a thing, there is absolutely no truth in it. The club expects to go to Washington next month to attend the inauguration.

DRESS REHEARSAL WAS DECIDEDLY A SUCCESS

Large Audience Was Pleased With Early Peep At "The Private Secretary."

PERFORMANCE TONIGHT.

WASN'T A HITCH AT LAST NIGHT'S DRESS REHEARSAL.

Three Hundred and Fifty People Were Present and all Were Well Pleased —All is Now Ready for This Evening.

This evening will see the long expected production of "The Private Secretary" by local amateur talent at the Stillman Music Hall. All the seats have been sold but a limited number of admissions will be placed on sale tonight. The dress rehearsal was held at Music Hall last evening and demonstrated very clearly that the play is going to achieve a remarkable success.

To accommodate those who were unable to secure seats for the regular performance, the public was admitted to the dress rehearsal, an admission fee of fifty cents being charged. Those who had an idea that the rehearsal would be a rather unfinished rendering of the play were pleasantly disappointed. It passed off smoothly and without a single hitch. The parts were played with spirit while the scenery and costumes were those which will be used this evening.

Those who attended the rehearsal were of one mind. The audience which will assemble in Music Hall this evening is going to see a bright comedy cleverly presented. The appearance of last evening before an audience will tend to set the less experienced members of the corps at their ease and tonight's production should prove even better than that of last night.

But for the absence of programmes, the dress rehearsal might have been taken for the regular performance. It proved to be rehearsal only in name and everything passed off greatly to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The audience of last evening numbered 350, and the net proceeds will amount to nearly $40, after all expenses have been met. It will also result in increasing the net proceeds of this evening's performance as the cost of the dress rehearsal will not have to be deducted from the receipts of the regular performance.

DONKEY PARTY.

Was Pleasant Feature of Social Given by Ladies Aid Society of Hope Chapel.

The last of a series of sociables, given for the purpose of securing the funds necessary for a Martha Washington supper, was held at the residence of Mrs. Robert Hangliter, of Monroe avenue, last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society, of Hope chapel. The attendance was the largest of the previous affairs given and the usual good time was had in playing games and in other ways.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a "donkey" party which caused much merriment. Mrs. George Radford secured first prize and Mrs. William Firstbrook was awarded the booby prize. The serving of refreshments brought the evening's enjoyment to a close. Those who assisted Mrs. Hangliter in entertaining were Miss Annie Hangliter and Miss Belle Slorah.

BENEFIT DANCE.

Successful Affair Given For Andrew Wahl at T. A. B. Hall Last Evening.

Over one hundred young people attended a dance in T. A. B. Hall last evening, given for the benefit of Andrew Wahl, a popular young man, who for the past four months has been confined in Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. Prof. O'Reilly and his orchestra were present and dancing was kept up until after midnight. The attendance was very gratifying to the young men who arranged the preliminaries, and as a result they will have the satisfaction of handing over a neat sum to their unfortunate friend. The committee in charge consisted of Thomas Flynn, Daniel Mack, Edward Connors and Wm. Shannon.

CONSECRATED BAKKER TO MISSION FIELD.

Impressive Service Held at Seventh Day Baptist Church This Morning.

GOES TO CENTRAL AFRICA.

MANY SPOKE WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT TO YOUNG MAN.

He Sails Wednesday on the American Liner St. Louis and Will Go to Industrial Mission Field, British Central Africa.

A service consecrating to work on the Industrial Mission field in British Central Africa, Jacob Bakker, of this city, was held this morning in the Seventh Day Baptist church. A very large congregation was in attendance, overflowing from the main auditorium into the lecture room. Representatives were present from Seventh Day Baptist churches in New Market and New York.

Mr. Bakker has been a resident of Plainfield about ten years. He was born in Holland. He was educated at Alfred University. He enters upon mission work under the auspices of the Sabbath Evangelizing and Industrial Association, and will sail Wednesday by the steamer St. Louis, of the American Line.

On the platform, in company with Rev. Arthur E. Main, pastor of the church, and Mr. Bakker, were Rev. A. H. Lewis, Rev. L. E Livermore, pastor of the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church, Rev. Dr. O. U. Whitford, of Westerly, R. I., corresponding secretary of the Seventh Day Baptist Missonary Society, and Henry M. Maxson, assistant superintendent of the Sabbath school of the church.

The first part of the service was much the same as the usual morning service. In place of a sermon there were a number of brief talks. The first, a word for world wide missions, was by Rev. Mr. Livermore. Dr. Whitford followed with a word from the Seventh-Day Baptist Missionary Society. He then gave Mr. Bakker the hand of fellowship in the name of the society, and bade him Godspeed.

A word from the American Sabbath Tract Society was brought by Dr. Lewis, who told in an interesting way of the connection the Tract Society had had with the work in Africa.

Miss Ida L Spicer followed, with a word from the Christian Endeavor Society of the church, of which she is the president. She spoke of the faithful work done in the society by Mr. Bakker, who holds the office of vice-president.

Henry M. Maxson brought a word from the Sabbath-school. Mr. Bakker has been a member of Mr. Maxson's class, and it was with the deepest feeling that the teacher expressed the interest felt in the young worker by the school, and gave him best wishes for success.

Mr. Bakker's own church was represented by its pastor, Rev. Mr. Main. Mr. Main's word was one of deep appreciation of the greatness of the missionary's work and the consecration and courage it required.

He gave the young worker, from the church, a certificate of his membership and high character there. Mr. Main then offered the prayer of consecration, Mr. Bakker kneeling, and Mr. Main and Dr. Lewis, formerly his pastor, placing each a hand upon his head.

David E. Titsworth, president of the Sabbath Evangelizing and Industrial Association, under whose auspices Mr. Bakker is sent out, represented that society, and gave him words of helpful encouragement and strengthening.

This was followed by Mr. Bakker's response, very simple and earnest, telling of his reasons for entering upon missionary service, and his desire to be given wisdom from Heaven for his great undertaking.

After the singing of the farewell song, "God be With You Till We Meet Again," the service was closed by prayer and benediction by Dr. Lewis.

NO CHANGES MADE IN REPRESENTATION.

Wm. Newcorn Withdrew Amendment Before it Came Up For Consideration.

R. F. MURRAY HAS PLAN.

SESSION OF REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE WASN'T EXCITING.

Unanimously Endorsed Candidacy of Robert A. Meeker for Position of United States Road Expert—McCardell Elected a Member.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Feb. 16. — The Union County Republican executive committee met last evening at headquarters in the Dix building, this city. There was almost a full representation present. Those from Plainfield included Wm. Newcorn, Frank H. Smith, Andrew McCardell and Roger F. Murray.

Contrary to expectations Mr. Newcorn withdrew his amendment, which provided for a re adjustment of the representation in the committee. There was strong opposition to the proposed change. The matter was discussed and most of the members thought Roger Murray's plan the best. This provides that each member shall represent a certain number of votes. This it is believed would give a perfectly equal representation, with no chance for a kick. However, nothing definite was done in the matter.

Andrew McCardell was elected a Plainfield member of the executive committee by the unanimous vote of the committee. The whole committee gave Robert A. Meeker, of Plainfield, its endorsement for the position of United States Road Expert, for which position he is a candidate. The man who held this position died a few weeks ago. The office is one of consultation with other officials who have to do with the building of roads east of the Mississippi river. It is understood that Mr. Meeker's chances for securing the place are excellent. He now holds the office of State supervisor of highways.

After the business session the new chairman, Hamilton F. Kean, invited the committee to Nat. Astfalk's place where a bountiful spread was enjoyed.

PAID POLL TAX.

One Citizen Settled What He Owed the City Eight Years Back.

Tax Collector Frank H. Smith is much pleased with the way people are settling up their back poll taxes as well as other taxes. Yesterday an aged man walked into the collector's office and fairly startled the genial collector by telling him that he wanted to pay his back poll tax which covers a period of eight years. The interest on the amount was $1 52. Other similar cases are now noted, although as a rule the amounts are not so large as the one mentioned.

It must be remembered that the Marter Act is still in force in this city and the Mayor and Common Council intend to keep it operative by selling at the time specified by the act. In this way the city taxes will all be paid and thus the books of the collector will be kept up-to-date.

Salvation Army in Charge.

By special invitation, the Salvation Army visited the Mount Olive Baptist church last evening and held a meeting of much interest. In addition to the regulation army service, Rev. E. E. Jackson made a few remarks in which he complimented the officers on the good work done by this religious organization which a great many unknowingly regard as an insignificant body of noise makers.

Farmer Jim Invited.

The Democratic speakers in the last campaign will give a complimentary banquet to Hon. Robert Davis this evening at Jersey City. Hon. Allan McDermott is the chairman of the committee. J. E. Martine, of this city, has been invited to be present and speak.

DREW PICTURES OF SONGS.

NOVEL KIND OF SOCIAL HELD IN VINCENT CHAPEL LAST EVENING.

First Pictured Songs on Blackboard and Then Pronounced Long and Tongue Twisting Words.

A very unique social was given in Vincent chapel last evening under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church. After the audience had all assembled it was announced that the first thing would be illustrated songs.

Each one was given a slip of paper on which was printed a number and the name of a song, and also a memorandum book. There were twenty-two numbers and titles of songs given out. E. A. Edgar, who had charge of the affair, then called for number one and the person holding the slip corresponding to that number went to the blackboard and drew a picture to represent the name of the song printed on the slip. The rest of the audience then wrote in the books the name of the song that they thought the picture represented.

This was continued until the twenty-two slips were called in. "After the Ball" was represented by the picture of a dog chasing a ball. "The Star Spangled Banner" was represented by a bar of music with the first few notes of that song. Similar illustrations were made until the whole list was completed. The proper names of the songs were then read by Mr. Edgar, but it was found that no one had succeeded in guessing them all.

A pronunciation match immediately followed the illustrated songs. The audience assembled on one side of the room, and various words were written on the board. Each one was then asked to pronounce them. If they failed to pronounce the word correctly they were counted out and went across to the other side of the room. Miss Derby succeeded in pronouncing the most words. The social committee, consisting of E. A. Edgar, chairman; Mrs. E. A. Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. A. B Meredith, Miss Susie Davies and Miss Elizabeth Stackhouse, then took charge and served refreshments.

DEAD IN BED.

E. W. Goodwin, Proprietor of the Ye Terryle Inn, Died Very Suddenly In a New York Hotel.

E. W. Goodwin, proprietor of Ye Terryle Inn, at Fanwood, George Thatcher's old place, was found dead in bed at Blenderman's Hotel, on West street, New York, early this morning. Mr. Goodwin went to New York yesterday morning on the 9:20 train to attend to some business. The supposition is that he was kept busy during the day and decided to remain in New York over night. Undertaker George Cole received work this morning to go to New York and get the body.

Mr. Goodwin came from New York to Fanwood about three years ago and a few months ago he took Ye Terryle Inn. He was a large man weighing about 250 pounds. He was also a cripple. He leaves a wife and child who lived at Fanwood. Up to the present time Mr. Goodwin and his family had not taken up permanent residence at the Inn. The cause of Mr. Goodwin's death is yet unknown.

EXPECT NO INCREASE IN BOROUGH ACCOUNTS

Annual Reports Received and Appropriations For New Year Estimated.

AT THE COUNCIL MEETING.

LAST MEETING OF BOROUGH COUNCIL BEFORE END OF FISCAL YEAR.

Interesting Facts Regarding Street Sprinkling—Only Two Prisoners Sent to Jail—Other Interesting Reports.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council was held last evening at which time all the annual reports were presented and the business for the fiscal year closed up. As the business of the evening had to do mostly with facts and figures it was necessarily an uninteresting session in many ways. Of course, the reports showed that the borough is in excellent condition and that the last administration has been an economical one.

In the report of the borough's general finances it appeared that there have been expended for salaries, $2 887 50; for rent of Council chamber, $325; election expenses, $141 59; printing, etc., $620 11; repairs, $98 93; fees, etc., $427 35; Watchung avenue bond and interest, fire department bond and interest on current loans, $2,579.10. The general borough expense account showed a total of $8,347.47. In connection with this, the report of the borough collector and treasurer showed the total receipts to be $84,563 66 and the expenditures, $83,919 34. The total assets were $20 824 32 and the liabilities, $14,265.70, leaving a surplus of $6 558.62.

The next report of interest was that of the street committee of which Robert Clark, Jr., is the chairman. The receipts from June 1 to January 4 were as follows: Street railway, cleaning snow, $5.15; sale of dirt, $13.95; subscriptions to Duer street improvement, $482; macadamizing, $123; street railway, stone, $115 28, making a total of $738.38. The expenditures in the street department between March 2 and February 1, including pay roll, repairs, etc., amounted to $4,635 59. In the street sprinkling account it showed that this work cost the borough $1,267 89 between May 4 and Jan. 4, and of this amount $550 was spent for the two sprinkling wagons. The appropriation for the department was $4,500, and there is now a credit of about $600.

The report of Mayor Smalley, as borough recorder, showed that there were 88 arrests during the year, and in 20 cases sentence was suspended. There were four cases dismissed, two sent to jail and $207 was received in fines. The report of Clerk Frank Rowley showed that $1,349.78 had been collected from all sources.

Overseer of the Poor Julius J. Stahl reported a balance on hand from last report of $118 43. He received from the Council $1,618.43. There is on deposit $287 35 in the bank.

George T. Rogers, as chairman of the fire and light committee, submitted his report showing that $370 had been expended for salaries in the fire department, and $121.50 for hauling the apparatus to fires. The sum of $310.52 was expended for supplies and $292.14 for cleaning hose, repairs, etc., making a total of $1,094 16. The water rents amounted to $1,269.75, making a total of $2,363.91. This is an excellent showing, when the appropriation of $3,000 is considered.

Chairman Charles A. Lee, of the committee on marshals, reported that $2,296 86 was expended during the year for salaries, and $169.56 for special marshals including Messrs. Baglin, Whiteley, Block and Kiernan. The sum of $78.62 was expended for meals for prisoners, etc., and $209 33 for clothing, repairs, etc., making a total of $2,754 37. This is $1,300 less than during the last year of the government under the former administration.

Mr. Valiant, as chairman of the auditing committee, submitted a report of Expert Accountant E. L. Suffern, showing that every account had been examined and checked, and that the books of the borough and the accounts of the collector and treasurer are just as reported. On Mr. Valiant's motion a vote of thanks was given to Mr. Suffern, and the clerk was instructed to communicate the same to the accountant for his excellent work.

NEW JERSEY'S GOOD ROADS.

EXPLANATION OF PROVISIONS OF THE STATE AID LAW.

How the Work of Building Good Roads is Paid For in State of New Jersey.

With so much agitation, at present, over proposed changes in the State aid law, there are comparatively few who know the exact provisions of the existing law. An article on "Good Roads," which recently appeared in the L. A. W. Magazine, gives a good description of the workings of the New Jersey law regarding good roads

A portion of the article is as follows:

"New Jersey was the first State to take any radical step toward the improvement of her public highways. Her State aid law was passed in 1891. It provides that on petition of the owners of two-thirds of the lands bordering any public road, not less than a mile in length, asking that the road be improved, and agreeing to pay ten per cent. of the cost, the county officials shall improve the road, one-third of the expenses to be borne by the State, if the road is brought to the standard fixed by the State commissioner of public roads, and the balance (66 2 3 per cent.) by the county.

"The State's expenditures for such improvements in any one year are limited to $150,000, while the county is limited to one-fourth of 1 per cent. of its assessed valuation. At this rate the law makes it possible for the expenditure of $450,000 a year, and at $3 000 per mile this builds 150 miles of road. Ten miles of road were built in 1892, 25 miles in 1893, 60 miles in 1894, and since 1895 the applications for new roads have been far in excess of the limit prescribed by law.

"Under this law about 450 miles of improved road have already been built in New Jersey, the State's portion of the expense being about $715,800. The counties and towns have built out of their own treasuries 450 more miles, which brings the total mileage of improved roads for the State up to 900. These roads cost at first about $6,000 per mile, but on account of this reduction in the price of materials and the increase of labor-saving machinery the cost has been reduced to about half this amount.

"The farmers, who at first strongly opposed the law, are now equally enthusiastic for it, and more roads are being petitioned for than can possibly be built in many years out of the limited State appropriation. The system seems to be popular with all classes, and it is being carefully considered by the Legislatures of other States. Its principles have been adopted by Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York and California.

"These laws, of which State aid are the principal feature, are regarded by the active advocates of road reform, as affording a sasisfactory solution of the problem."

—A powerful engine cannot be run with a weak boiler, and we can't keep up the strain of an active life with a weak stomach; neither can we stop the human machine to make repairs. If the stomach cannot digests enough food to keep the body strong, such a preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure should be used. It digests what you eat and it simply can't help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

In Nearly All Lines There Is a Brisk Demand For Goods.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business continues of good volume in nearly all parts of the country. Heavy orders come from agents on the road. There is no important change in prices in any department of manufactured goods, and some staples rise, while others decline. But the longer the situation remains as at present the surer the business world feels about a rise in prices in the future, for the demand for merchandise for prompt consumption does not decrease.

Purchasers find difficulty in securing even approximate dates for delivery of goods in many products, and mills are so far behind orders as a rule that no new contracts are sought. Structural material and railway supplies are in greatest request, numerous heavy orders being accepted this week at full prices.

There is no inclination to shade quotations of finished forms, and pig iron at Pittsburg again advanced. Recent reports of resumption at many idle furnaces had given reason to expect an increase in the output of pig iron, so there was no surprise over The Iron Age's statement which showed 271 furnaces in blast on Feb. 1, with a weekly capacity of 278,258 tons. These are the largest figures since July.

Cotton fabrics continue quiet, and domestic mills are not fully occupied. Liverpool cables have given no support, while Manchester is securing raw cotton from India in unusually large quantities.

Wheat was advanced this week by reports of receipts at the mills unfit for grinding. Flour output at Minneapolis is much smaller than a year ago, and a further decrease is expected. Atlantic exports of wheat, including flour, for the week were 2,478,521 bushels, against 1,529,533 last year.

Official returns of foreign commerce for January show an excess of merchandise exports over imports of $67,217,160, and including net exports of gold and silver there was an increase in foreign indebtedness for the month of $72,898,512. Exports were $136,317,354, an amount exceeded only in four other months, of which three were those immediately preceding. Exports for the week from the port of New York were $845,465 larger than the same week last year, while imports were $1,795,310 smaller.

Failures for the week numbered 257 in the United States against 218 last year and in Canada 40 against 42 last year.

Bloodshed Feared In Winfield.

WINFIELD, Kan., Feb. 16.—Everything is quiet in Winfield, but there is a feeling that the trouble has just begun. Saloon men are not talking, but they are preparing for action. The temperance element has bought at least 500 shotguns and revolvers, and so great has been the demand for firearms that local hardware firms have sent for new supplies. The Rev. Mr. Hendershot, pastor of the wrecked United Brethren church, and H. L. Kunce are leading the temperance crusade. Neither of them is on the street after dark. All saloons are closed, and if they reopen, which is quite likely, bloodshed will follow.

Saloon Fixtures Shipped Away.

PECK, Kan., Feb. 16.—About 100 men, women and children raided two "joints" here yesterday. There was no attempt, however, to destroy any property. The raiders waited on the proprietors of the places and ordered them to move out at once. They owned the building and refused to budge, however. Then the crowd entered, removed the fixtures and all the goods to the street and demanded that the property be taken from town. The proprietors again refused to comply, and the crowd carried it to the station, where it was shipped uninjured to Wichita.

Greek Letter Men Meet.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 16.—The fifty-fifth annual convention of the Zeta Psi Fraternity of North America has opened here under the auspices of Lambda chapter of Bowdoin college and will continue two days. Over 100 Zetas came as delegates from distant chapters, and the morning and afternoon were given up to exchanges of greetings and courtesies and the assembling for an outline of the business programme.

Hobart College Dinner.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Members of the Hobart College Alumni association to the number of 75 held an informal dinner last night at the University club. Frank E. Blackwell, president of the association, presided. President Robert Ellis Jones of Hobart college, accompanied by Professors William P. Durfee and Hamilton L. Smith of Geneva, were present.

Merchant Missing.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Much anxiety is felt concerning the whereabouts of J. L. Gregory, a prominent merchant of Unionville, who mysteriously disappeared four weeks ago. Continued search has failed to reveal any trace of the missing man, and now it is believed that financial misfortunes unsettled his mind.

TARLAC NOT READY.

May Not Be Given a Provincial Government Yet.

A LARGE GATHERING AT DAGUPAN.

Judge Taft Explains to the Filipino Delegates the Nature of the Proposed Government For the Province.

DAGUPAN, Luzon, Feb. 16.—It is not likely that provincial government will be established in Tarlac at present, although Tarlac is the third in the programme of the commission. Colonel Smith, commander of the district of which the province of Tarlac is a part, and General Grant, commanding the district adjoining, both replied to the commissioners that while they recommended the organization of provincial government in Pangasinan and Pampanga, north and south of Tarlac, the province itself was not prepared for the innovation, many of the men being still in the mountains and the people being to a large extent insurgent sympathizers.

Judge Taft and his associates will proceed to Tarlac according to their programme, but after a public meeting at which provincial government will be promised as soon as the province is ready for it the commissioners will probably announce that the work of organization is deferred.

The octagonal bamboo theater of Dagupan was the scene of the public consideration of the bill applying provincial government to the province of Pangasinan. The structure was decorated with nipa and flags. Delegations from each of the 30 pueblos of Pangasinan and a few from the border pueblos of the province of Nueva Ecija occupied the ground portion, the spectators being confined to raised seats on the side and to the standing space in the rear.

Judge Taft explained at length the general nature of the provincial government bill and the purposes of the authorities, emphasizing the land tax feature, which is new to the Filipinos. He quoted from President McKinley's message as evidence of the intention of the Washington administration to establish by degrees self sustaining government in the Philippines, making it clear that the new municipal governments would be wholly autonomous and the provincial governments partly so.

The delegates listened with the closest attention to the words of the interpreter.

Five insurgents were hanged in this province yesterday for killing Filipinos who had become avowedly friendly to the Americans.

SOME FIGHTING YET.

Two Bodies of Insurgents Beaten. Gold Discoveries.

MANILA, Feb. 16.—Colonel Marcu. D. Cronin and 80 men of the Thirty-third regiment have routed 100 insurgents at Candon, South Ilocos.

Captain Green, with 50 men, met a force of the enemy at Santa Maria. The insurgents, who were commanded by Tinio, had two cannon and were strongly intrenched behind a stone wall on a steep mountain side. There was hard fighting for three hours. When their ammunition was exhausted, the Americans retired a short distance. Then Tinio abandoned his position and retreated southward.

Gold discoveries of some importance have been made in the province of Lepanto. Two miners made $3,000 in two weeks. The mining prospects in the provinces of Benguet and Bontoc, adjoining Lepanto, are encouraging, but it is impossible to obtain a title to mining claims at present.

Trolley Accident at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 16.—Car 25 on the Hamilton avenue division of the Consolidated Traction company jumped the track last night at the corner of Fifth and Hamilton avenues and toppled over against the curb, completely wrecking the car and injuring 20 or more passengers, four of them seriously. The seriously injured are: Alice Paul, scalp, face and back wounds; E. L. Ludwig, leg fractured and hurt internally; Robert E. Egan, scalp wound and badly bruised; W. H. Seager, motorman, crushed. The car coming down the Hamilton avenue grade just at the junction of Fifth avenue became unmanageable on account of slippery rails and literally skated down to the turn, where it jumped the track and crashed into the curb. It toppled over and crushed, throwing the passengers into an indescribable heap of screaming and groaning humanity. The wonder is that many were not killed outright.

Torpedo Boat Winslow Damaged.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The United States torpedo boat Winslow was to have left this city for Philadelphia, but her departure will be necessarily delayed for some time owing to an accident which befell her yesterday. The navy yard tug Narkeeta was towing her out into midstream from the yard, when they were caught in the ice jam, which threw the Narkeeta back into the Winslow, the tug striking her in the bow, breaking and bending several of her plates. The disabled vessel was towed back to the yard for repairs. The Winslow was in command of Lieutenant Commander Phelps.

Delaware River Blockade Raised.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—The moderation of the weather and the good work of city iceboats resulted yesterday in the raising of the ice blockade in the Delaware river. That big waterway had been icebound for almost a week, and only the stanch ocean liners were able to get up and down the river. The greatest difficulty was experienced at the Horseshoe bend, six miles down the river, where the ice was badly jammed from shore to shore. There were 39 vessels of all descriptions imprisoned in the ice at that point.

Whole Family Suffocated.

CANTON, O., Feb. 16.—Edward Grimm, local manager of the Cleveland Provision company, is dead, and his wife, two children and his wife's sister are in a precarious condition from suffocation. Grimm and his wife had been ill. When the physicians called, they found the whole household prostrated. It is supposed natural gas escaped from a leak and filled the house. Grimm came here from Youngstown, O.

Serious Railway Accident.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 16.—A passenger train bound from Sydney to Hurstville was derailed near Sydenham and rolled over an embankment. Seven persons were killed and 26 injured.

SIXTY MINERS LOST.

Terrible Explosion In a Dominion Colliery.

A RELIEF FORCE LEAVES SEATTLE.

The Disaster Wrecked the Shaft and Fired the Mine—Rescue Party Is Forced Back by the Fierce Flames.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 16.—What is feared will prove to be one of the most horrible mine accidents in the history not only of the province, but of the Dominion, took place yesterday at the Union mines in Victoria, owned by the Welling Colliery company, of which James Dunsmuir, the premier of the province, is the principal shareholder. The telegraphic advices received so far give no complete story of the accident, but newspaper correspondents are now hurrying by steamers and tugboats to the scene, and the full facts will soon be obtainable. As near as can be gathered the explosion took place at about 11 o'clock in the forenoon in No. 6 shaft. This particular shaft is situated in the village of Cumberland. There were 60 men in it when the explosion took place, and not one of them escaped. The explosion ignited the mine, wrecking the shaft from midway down to the bottom and filling it with a solid mass of rocks, earth and timbers. The first explosion was followed by several more, while a dense volume of smoke pouring from the ventholes indicated that fire as well as gas was doing destructive work below.

As soon as possible after the accident the men of the morning shift in No. 5 shaft organized a rescue party. No. 5 is situated about a mile from No. 6, but the two workings are connected by a tunnel, and through this channel an attempt was made to help the unfortunate fellows in the wrecked shaft.

They had not cut their way many yards through the debris when they encountered fire, which rendered the place untenable and obliged the party to desist. The message came back by telephone to the surface conveying the heartbreaking news to the relatives of the imprisoned men, whose urging was not necessary to induce the relief party to return to their apparently hopeless task. Overcome at last by gas and smoke they reluctantly withdrew from No. 5 and commenced work on a long cut from No. 4, the only other means of reaching the men. Work on this was prosecuted with the greatest vigor until abatement of the fire in No. 5 enabled them to once more return there.

Even should the rescuing party reach the interior of the wrecked workings at once there is little hope for any of the men locked up in the shaft. John Bryner, ex-member of parliament, brother-in-law of the premier and ex-manager of a portion of the Dunsmuir mining business, said that scarcely any hope could be held out for the men.

Death of Maurice Thompson.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 16.—Maurice Thompson, author of "Alice of Old Vincennes," which will be dramatized for next season, whose death was announced yesterday, was one of the best known literary characters of the country. Mr. Thompson was born in Fairfield, Ind., Sept. 9, 1844, but spent his early life in the Georgia mountains half way between Chattanooga and Atlanta, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the Confederate army in 1862 and did hard scout duty. After the war he became chief engineer of the L. C. and S. W. railroad, and while engaged in this work met Alice Lee of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He lived with the Lees at their home, beginning the practice of law. In 1867 he explored Lake Okechobee, Florida, listing its birds, animals and plants. From his Crawfordsville home Mr. Thompson sent forth literary work which was to win him distinction, first a book of poems, "Hoosier Mosaics," then "Sylvan Secrets," followed by "Bird Notes" and many others no less noted.

Miss Anthony's Eighty-first Birthday

ROCHESTER, Feb. 16.—Susan B. Anthony's eighty-first birthday passed very differently from last year's anniversary at Washington, with its crowds and elaborate functions. A quiet dinner at noon to a few old and intimate friends, among them S. E. Gross of Chicago and Mrs. Rachael Foster Avery of Philadelphia, and receiving informally those who called were all that Miss Anthony's strength was equal to after her illness. Telegrams and letters of congratulation came all day from every part of the country. The homestead on Madison street was fragrant with flowers and fruit, and books figured prominently in the array of gifts.

More Fires In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Four small fires, all of which are believed to have been of incendiary origin, were discovered yesterday at different times on as many different floors of the Hotel Majestic, which adjoins the Great Northern hotel, on Quincy street, between Dearborn and State streets, and which is under process of renovation. Following the evident attempts at incendiarism the previous night in three prominent hostelries, these fires created considerable excitement and resulted in the police and detective forces around the big hotels being trebled.

Tammany Evidence Not Ready.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—District Attorney Philbin announced that he would not submit any vice evidence to the present grand jury. He said he had all the evidence collected by the Tammany committee of five and had gone through it. He considered it quite satisfactory, but would not have it in shape to submit to the present grand jury.

Died at 124.

GHENT, Ky., Feb. 16.—Aunt Peggy Jones, aged 124, the oldest person in the state, died here last night. Her oldest living child is Charlotte Jones, just a century old. Charlotte it as active as a person of half her years and cared for her mother during her last illness. Aunt Peggy lived to see five generations of her descendants.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

COLQUITT, Ga., Feb. 16.—A 100 horsepower boiler in the sawmill of Cherer, near here, exploded. A twin boiler was hurled 500 feet. William Green and James Garsi, mill hands, were instantly killed. W. G. Atler, the engineer, and three others were badly hurt. The boiler house was demolished.

SPANISH DISTURBANCES.

Martial Law Will Continue For Some Time Yet.

MADRID, Feb. 16.—The minister of the interior, Senor Ugarte, in the course of an interview asserts that calm reigns in all the provinces and that if the same pacific behavior of the people continues until after the carnival next week martial law will be discontinued in Madrid and throughout Spain, except in Catalonia.

General Weyler says that for the present rigorous martial law will be maintained, but that if the same tranquillity continues as has characterized the last two days the military supervision may be relaxed somewhat.

The civil guards suppressed three attempts at hostile demonstrations at Valencia Thursday. The military was called out, but there was no trouble, as the crowds contented themselves with cheering the army.

On Thursday mobs at Saragossa and Barcelona were dispersed before they assumed threatening proportions.

There was a riot at Granada, in which the people resisted the gendarmes and took refuge behind a stone wall. The gendarmes fired a volley into the mob which then broke up.

Captain General Weyler summoned the newspaper directors and instructed them as to the manner in which they should conduct their journals during the state of siege. He prohibited the use of blank spaces to show where paragraphs had been suppressed. The Heraldo has advertisements interpolated in its news columns.

The censorship is so rigorous that the papers are not allowed to publish even the official news supplied by the minister of the interior.

The Epocha, the ministerial organ, appears with several mutilated paragraphs.

The manuscript of all plays must be submitted to the military censor before they can be produced.

GUILTY MUST DIE.

Chinese Court So Informed—No Reply Received.

PEKING, Feb. 16.—The Chinese peace plenipotentiaries have replied to the latest telegram from the imperial court that the decision of the foreign envoys with respect to the punishment of the guilty is irrevocable, although the sentence upon General Tung Fu Hsiang can be suspended "until such time as it comes within the power of the court to place him in restraint, when his death will be demanded."

Although there have been no official communications on the subject between the envoys and the Chinese plenipotentiaries, there have been long unofficial consultations between the latter and M. de Giers and Sir Ernest Satow, the Russian and British ministers.

A definite reply from the court is not expected before the end of the New Year celebrations, at least ten days off, but the envoys believe that the court must yield.

Count von Waldersee has issued a formal denial of the published statement that the German troops are leaving China. He says he could not move one without instructions from Berlin and that these have not been received.

The Deadlock at Peking.

TIEN-TSIN, Feb. 16.—It is asserted here that the real reason for the deadlock in Peking is a difference of opinion between the foreign envoys and the military authorities, the former favoring a withdrawal of the troops to Tien-tsin and the latter urging a forward movement. It is regarded as possible that a certain power may advance independently should the deadlock continue.

Brewer on Citizenship.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 16.—Hon. David J. Brewer, associate justice of the United States supreme court, delivered the third lecture in the Dodge course on "The Responsibilities of Citizenship" yesterday. In the course of his remarks Justice Brewer lamented the evils of the present jury system, calling attention to the fact that in some states the jurymen are locked up at night, paid a laborer's wages and curtailed of their liberty in a way that makes men shrink from jury service and induces them by every means available to shirk it. Justice Brewer stated that he hoped the time would come when the juryman is paid a business man's wages and is treated like a gentleman. He also favors the conviction by a considerable majority of a jury of 12 men rather than a requirement of unanimity.

Killed In a Church Quarrel.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 16.—Difference of opinion concerning the location of a church resulted in the murder of one man and the serious injury of another at a hamlet near Pine Grove, Wetzel county, known as Lohman Farms. Jonathan Wellen, a rich farmer, and William Edgel, son of Henry Edgel, one of the county's wealthy farmers, got into a dispute about the church and plans for services. Edgel was shot dead and Wellen was shot through the arm and was nearly beaten to death. Sheriff Walker has placed Wellen under arrest and will bring him to the county jail here as soon as he can travel.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—A $10,000,000 syndicate has just been formed here to build and operate the largest sugar refinery on this continent. The refinery is to be operated as an independent concern and will own its own steamers. The property along the river front desired by the new corporation has been acquired, and the plans for the new plant have been completed.

KRUGER MAKES APPEAL.

A Judge Wanted to Right His Country's Wrongs.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Pall Mall Magazine will publish Feb. 18 an interview with Mr. Kruger in part as follows:

"Will no one arbitrate? Will no one give us a chance of defending ourselves? We may have done wrongly. We have our faults and our weaknesses. We declared war, but our hands were forced, and we can prove it. Get some one to judge between this, England and ourselves.

"But the Lord will help us in the end. We shall win. I do not know how or when, but we shall win at last."

Mr. Kruger says the Transvaal offered more reforms in one week than an older country would make in 40 years, giving in on all points almost to the uttermost, but that the uttermost was seized upon as a stumbling block.

Referring to his reception in Europe, which has bitterly disappointed him, Mr. Kruger says:

"I care nothing for flowers, nothing, nothing. The people who send them mean well, and I am grateful, but I care nothing for them. What I want is a fair hearing. If they will only give us a fair hearing and justice! I ask for justice. We are a little folk, but we have made great steps."

When asked why he came to Europe, he said to the interviewer:

"I could not go out with the commandos as Mr. Steyn can. I am too old, but I may be of some use here."

Regarding Mrs. Kruger he said:

"I am sorry for her too. I have a deep sorrow for her, but I have far more sorrow for my country. My wife has her children. Six are still with her. They were left with her in her home. Two of my sons have died on the battlefield. Two were captured. I believe two more are dead also, as I have not heard from them for two months, and I know they were in the thick of the fight.

"Thirty-one sons and grandsons I have in the field yet, but I could not go on commando. I have not heard from my wife for 16 days, but she has six children with her, and she is not to be pitied."

A Fight With De Wet.

COLESBERG, Cape Colony, Feb. 16.—Plumer's column engaged De Wet between Colesberg and Phillipstown Feb. 13 and gradually pushed back the Boers. The British had a battery of field artillery and the Boers one 50 pounder. The shrapnel burst splendidly. Ten of the British were wounded during many hours' fighting. An occasional dead Boer was found. The engagement is being continued. All the males at Grasfontein have been arrested. There is plenty of evidence that they were assisting the Boers.

RELATIONS WITH CUBA.

General Wood and a Committee Will Attempt to Define Them.

HAVANA, Feb. 16.—Governor General Wood has left Havana for a two days' rest at Batabano. With him went the special committee appointed by the Cuban constitutional convention to draw up a proposition defining the future relations between the United States and the republic of Cuba. The committee and General Wood will discuss the matter, and the former will probably return to Havana tonight. Judging from the personal opinions of the members of the committee, no objection will be raised on its part to establishing the most liberal relations.

The only hitch that is expected to arise between General Wood and the commission in discussing the question is as to the maintenance of naval stations in Cuba by the United States.

Fierce Storm In Mohawk Valley.

FORT PLAIN, Feb. 16.—For more than two weeks, without anything like a break, this section of central New York has been storm bound to an extent that takes away the breath of even the proverbial "oldest inhabitant." Fierce winds, extremely cold, and snow more or less all the time. As a result business in certain lines has been at a standstill for a fortnight. The stages that carry mails and passengers to and from here and Cherry Valley and Cooperstown, distant 12 and 20 miles respectively, have run with the regularity of a dollar watch out of order, and at times for two and three days there has been no communication between those villages, intermediate villages and hamlets and Fort Plain. With his bride, whose home is three miles from here, Professor Sargent, an optician, arrived in Fort Plain on a late train and prevailed upon a liveryman to get them to Mrs. Sargent's home. When about half way to their destination, the horses became stalled. After all hands had suffered greatly from exposure the driver managed to make himself heard at a farmhouse, help was obtained, and after hard work rescue was accomplished.

The Great Steel Company.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Arrangements for the organization of the steel company which will combine the leading steel-making concerns of the United States are now so far advanced that the incorporation papers are being drawn up. The capitalization of the company will be far in excess of any company ever before incorporated in this country. It will be fully $800,000,000, although the exact amount could not be positively learned yesterday. It is likely that the company will be called the United States Steel company. As a result of its formation Andrew Carnegie will be eliminated from the steel business entirely, selling his interest in it to the financiers who have projected the great transaction.

The Sampson-Schley Affair.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Senator McComas is making an effort to secure a compromise which will permit confirmation of the president's nominations advancing various officers of Admiral Sampson's fleet for meritorious conduct during the Spanish war. He suggests that all but Sampson and Schley be confirmed and that congress pass a resolution creating the grade of vice admiral, with the understanding that these two officers be given the position. Some opposition is made by supporters of Admiral Schley, who fear that he would not be given the senior position by the president.

Many Unemployed In Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—The Arbeitsmarkt asserts that there was a steady increase in the number of unemployed during January and that there are now 166 such persons to every 100 jobs.

SHIPPING BILL OUT.

Its Opponents Will Allow No Vote This Term.

TELLER DECLARES HIS PURPOSE.

Hanna Denounces the Opposition's Methods—Agricultural Appropriation Passed—House Wastes the Whole Day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—That the opposition to the shipping bill in the senate will not permit a vote to be taken on the measure at the present session was made clear during the closing hour of yesterday's session. For several days it has been evident that it would be difficult to gain unanimous consent to take a vote upon the measure, but not until then was the frank assertion made that a vote could not be had.

At the conclusion of several hours' consideration of the bill Mr. Teller of Colorado announced his purpose to prevent a vote at this session. In an impassioned speech he declared that he would not consent to any agreement to vote and that it must be evident to the advocates of the bill that no vote could be had.

The statement by the Colorado senator elicited a sharp response from Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island, who insisted that despite the declaration of Mr. Teller the business of the senate would be proceeded with in accordance with the wishes of the majority. Mr. Teller's statement also drew the fire of Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire, who asserted that the position of the opposition was preposterous. Mr. Hanna of Ohio replied to Mr. Teller in a forceful speech, in the course of which he became impassioned in his denunciation of the methods employed by the opposition to defeat the measure. The advocates of the bill, he said, were honestly endeavoring to advance the best interests of the country, and he resented the insinuations against their honesty of purpose.

Prior to these remarks Mr. Perkins (Rep.) of California delivered an eloquent and forceful speech upon the bill which attracted much attention. He supported the bill, particularly the idea of giving subsidies to American vessels, but pointed out what he believed to be defects in the pending measure. He attacked especially the provision for the admission of foreign built ships.

Earlier in the day the agricultural appropriation bill was passed after being under discussion for nearly four days.

Under the leadership of Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, a long filibuster consumed the time of the house. Mr. Cannon desired the house to proceed with the sundry civil appropriation bill, but was caught napping by the Democrats who desired to devote the day to the consideration of private claims. It was the last day under the rules which could be devoted to claims at this congress, and notices had been sent out asking the Democrats to be in their seats. As a result Mr. Cannon was outwitted, but he kept up the fight all day, forcing roll calls for three hours and later filibustering in committee of the whole and winding up by making the point of no quorum against two small bills favorably acted upon in committee. The net result was that the whole day was wasted.

A New Postal Plan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—An entirely new departure in postoffice buildings for centers of rural communities was presented to the house committee on public buildings and grounds yesterday and met with general approval. Westminster, Md., is a small town of about 3,000 population where the experiment of rural free delivery was first put in operation for the entire county. The town now distributes mail to 40,000 people scattered throughout the county. It is now proposed to build a $50,000 postoffice with facilities for this widespread rural distribution. At the meeting yesterday Chief Machen of the rural free delivery service and a large delegation from Westminster advocated the public building. If the bill receives favorable action, Chairman Mercer of the committee says it will be the first of the kind giving small towns postoffices based on the rural population they serve instead of on the local population of the town.

Governor Opens Charity Ball.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Governor and Mrs. Odell last night opened the charity ball given at the armory by the managers of St. Luke's hospital under the auspices of the Tenth and Fifth separate companies for the benefit of the institution. When the governor appeared, the guard turned out and presented arms, and the townspeople gave him an ovation. The governor was accompanied by several members of his staff, his military secretary, Major Bird, and his private secretary, James G. Graham.

Strike In Susquehanna Carshops.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., Feb. 16.—The helpers employed in the locomotive shops of the Erie Railroad company in this place have gone on strike. They refused to assist the nonunion men brought here by the company Sunday night from New York to fill the places of the striking union men. The new men are guarded by regular detectives and special officers, and they are fed and lodged in the shops. The entire shops will close down today. There has been no disorder since the beginning of the strike.

University of Vermont.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The ninth annual reunion and banquet of the New York association of the alumni of the University of Vermont was held last night at the Manhattan hotel. There were about 60 present. Among the absentees were Admiral Dewey, Senators Proctor and Dillingham and General Grout, one of Vermont's representatives in congress. Professor James R. Wheeler presided.

The Year's Work.

A mass of statistics is naturally rather dry reading but there are, nevertheless, some decidedly interesting facts contained in the annual reports of the various departments of the borough government which were presented at the meeting of the Borough Council last evening. It is the second year of Mayor Smalley's term of office and has been watched with special interest by many to see if Mayor Smalley and other officials would continue their course of the previous year and keep the borough government on particularly economical lines.

Mayor Smalley had several ideas about municipal government which were radically different from those of many other people. There were some who were inclined to look with distrust when the Mayor announced his intention of introducing them in the municipal machinery of North Plainfield. The plans were tried and the reports of this year show that the borough still continues to flourish and its residents are gaining new privileges each year while the amount of funds appropriated has not been increased as many predicted it would.

In the police affairs of the borough have Mayor Smalley's ideas been especially manifest. He practically did away with the office of borough magistrate with its accompanying salary by discharging the duties of that official himself. Then the reports show that only two prisoners were sent to jail during the year. Minor offenders were either fined or kept in the borough lockup. While it required some funds to feed the lodgers, it did not amount to as much as the customary bills for committing, transporting and then lodging the offenders at the county jail.

One of the experiments of the year has been the inauguration of street sprinkling under borough auspices. For that object, the borough paid out $1,267.89, but $550 went toward the purchase of two wagons which will be all ready for the coming year.

Remarkable economy was evident in the work of the fire and light committee and the total appropriation for that work was not exhausted and a fair balance still remained to the credit of the committee.

According to the estimates for the new year which were prepared last evening, the sum which will be raised by taxation in the borough during the coming year will be $20,100, exactly the same figure as was raised last year. This will include an additional $500 which will go to the street committee for street sprinkling. The $500 will be deducted from the appropriation for incidentals and sundries. If there is an increase in the assessed valuation of the borough, as there certainly should be after a year's growth, the tax rate should display a trifling reduction. If, however, the tax rate remains where it is, the present administration will undoubtedly be satisfied.

In framing the code of ethics as a basis for future disbarment proceedings, says the Philadelphia Record, the State Bar Association of Wisconsin has decided that attorneys may advertise in the newspapers without detracting from the dignity of their profession. This decision is in accordance with the spirit of the times. The surest way for any man—professional or layman—to get business is to seek it where he knows it is to be found. Why should a lawyer or a doctor be debarred from taking advantage of the certain and honorable means of building up his practice which the advertising columns of the newspapers afford?

With the spring, there is always a crowd of strangers who visit the city in search of a new place of residence. Before they arrive the city should be so equipped with street signs that this little army of strangers will be able to find some of the principal streets without being compelled to have recourse to a map everytime they desire to locate a street. The first step in that direction should be taken by the Common Council at the adjourned meeting Monday evening.

Referring to an editorial which recently appeared in The Daily Press regarding the trouble over the trolley car whistles in South Amboy, the New Brunswick Home News explains that the reason that the people of New Brunswick do not object to them is that these whistles are not used within the city limits there. Somerville and Bound Brook have not yet expressed themselves on the subject.

Councilman S. S. Swackhamer was present at the meeting of the Borough Council last evening. His face has not been a familiar one at the meetings of that body. He was elected by the Democrats, but has not attempted to take any active part in the government of the borough. It is not probable that Mr. Swackhamer will be renominated.

The drift of events seems to be going toward the confirming of the appointment of Alexander Ayers as overseer of the poor. It is now generally understood that an investigation of Mr. Ayers' record was satisfactory to the Councilmen, and they will approve his appointment at the meeting Monday evening.

There appears to be no doubt as to the success of the amateur theatrical performance at Music Hall this evening. The society set has stamped its approval of the play and a cast has been secured which will make the show an interesting one aside from its mere social importance.

Despite the fact that Senator Charles A. Reed says that he is in no sense a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Republican side, there are some people through the State who seem to still consider him a possibility for the place.

Assemblyman Meeker is the second representative of Union county who has of late years acquired particular prominence by some of the surprises which he has sprung on the legislators of the State.

The efforts of the firemen of North Plainfield in their recent fair were remarkably successful judging from the amount, over $1,000, which they cleared.

The new fiscal year in the borough begins with the first of March.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and its Citizens.

Senator Reed denies that he has gubernatorial aspirations, but there are a number of his friends in the Legislature who still think that he is more than a remote possibility. Sunday he received quite a boom in the New York Heard, where his picture appeared with an article expressive of his strength in Plainfield. Many good things have come to Somerset in recent years, and why not governor? The indications at present are, however, that Franklin Murphy will be the nominee, yet no can tell at this early day.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

There is a growing suspicion that Assemblyman Meeker, of Union, takes himself rather too seriously, and the idea may be strengthened by his introduction yesterday of an anti-spring election bill. It was sprung upon the Legislature as another Meeker surprise, the Republican leaders still having the matter under consideration. The bill is a weird piece of crudeness and will not pass. Mr. Meeker recently tried to steal Senator Stokes' thunder by introducing a bill doubling that statesman's pet scheme for the payment of the school fund. He has also startled the Legislature and the State with several other radical propositions.—New York Herald.

EXPECT NO INCREASE IN BOROUGH ACCOUNTS.

was offered and read for the first time. The object of the ordinance is to enlarge the second district a little. This is proposed by taking that part of territory extending from Greenbrook road and Somerset street to Grove street and thence toward the mountain as far as Prospect avenue, which includes all the territory within the lines mentioned. This will be added to the second district. This will mean an addition of about 100 votes to that district and the purpose is to do this instead of making a third district.

Mr. Valiant made a motion that the borough reports be placed in the hands of the clerk and that he be empowered to have the same published in pamphlet form as usual.

Mayor Smalley at this time introdued the subject of widening Somerset street by stating that any one desiring shade on that street had better get it during the next few days or they would not have it at all as it is proposed to the trees down within the next ten days. His Honor then called on Mr. Swackhamer for his opinion. It will be remembered that this Councilman has not attended the meetings regularly and was not at the meeting when it was decided to widen the street. He desired to give Mr. Swackhamer a chance to express himself.

Mr. Swacker stated that at first he favored the improvement, but later learned that it would increase the tax rate considerably and he had heard a great many persons in the borough declare their opposition to the improvement. He was now against the improvement, although he thought personally it would be a grand thing.

Mr. Valiant asked Mr. Swackhamer why he did not attend the last meeting and help the smallest member to fight the proposition. The absentee said in reply that while he was not present in person he was in spirit.

In view of the fact that Charles Stahl had been voted the most popular fireman at the recent firemen's fair, Mr. Rogers offered a resolution which provided that a fire tapper be placed in his house. Mr. Stahl is an active member of the department.

At this time the question of estimating the various appropriations for next year was taken up and decided upon. The total amount thought to be needed is the same as this year, $29,100. In making this estimate the fire department is given $1,800. New hose will be needed next year, as there has not been a purchase of hose during the past four years. The police department was given $3,000, and in combining the appropriation for the streets and street sprinkling $500 were added, making the total $5,900. The sum of $5,100 were given the light department and $1,300 to the water department, both amounts being the same as at present. This was also the case with the appropriation for the poor which was made $1,500. For incidentals, sundries, etc., the appropriation was decreased from $2,000 to $1,500 and $1,500 was estimated for the Watchung avenue bond. Mayor Smalley announced that the $1,000 Watchung avenue bond would be paid whether the taxes went up or down. As a result of the estimate only two changes were made and these make the total amount desired the same as this year's appropriation.

In regard to the widening of Somerset street it was announced that all but three of the affected property-owners had accepted the amount of damages granted, and one of these is likely to accept.

The Council then adjourned and went into executive session talk over matters "for the good of the borough."

Increasing Age.

While scientific testimony accords in the conclusion that the limit of human life is increasing, it also enforces the fact that the added years are assured only to those who guard against the infirmities that are sure to follow neglect; one of the greatest contributors to these infirmities is neglect of the sight, an error whose penalties you can escape by a call at Collier's, where examinations are free, and treatment, if necessary, sure to produce enduring benefit.

NEXT WEEK AT MUSIC HALL

SOME OF THE ATTRACTIONS TO COME AT LOCAL THEATRE.

Maze Edwards Has a Long List of Good Attractions to Come—What Some of Them Are.

Those who failed to witness the performance of "A Lion's Heart" at Music Hall Monday night, missed one of the best dramatic entertainments ever given in this city. Carl Haswin, the star, is most certainly a finished artist and his supporting company one of unusual excellence. The play was sumptiously mounted and accessories perfect in every detail. "The Eleventh Hour," Lincoln J. Carter's latest effusion, attracted a fair sized audience Wednesday night who seemingly were pleased at some of the novel effects introduced. As a literary effect however, the play is of the usual Carter order—"villians" and "bold bad men" who delight in doing unheard of things and finally get taken away by the strong arm of the law.

Tonight, local amateur talent will be seen in the very amusing comedy of "The Private Secretary." A crowded house will undoubtedly be chronicled.

Manager Maze Edwards deservedly takes pleasure in announcing the offerings of the coming week, first of all is the coming on Monday night, of the famous family of fun makers, the Four Cohans, who have abandoned vaudeville where they have been prime favorites, to star in their new musical farce, "The Governor's Son," which thus far has made great success.

Their new departure is the logical and inevitable sequence of their unequalled success in presenting short farces. It is made under the direction of L. O. Behman under whose management they have been for the past two seasons.

"The Governor's Son" is in three acts and is admitted to be the most hilarious product of the prolific Geo. M. Cohan. It is a continuous chain of complications revolving around the wheel of mistaken identity to an accompaniment of incessant laughter.

Unlike a number of so-called musical farces and farce comedies, it is not a hodge-podge of theatre odds and ends, but is a deftly constructed and cleverly written play with a consistent and sustained plot into which even the musical numbers properly fit.

In making the production, Manager Behman has acted upon his favorite axiom that "liberality is the best policy." The best of everything down to the smallest detail has been provided without regard to cost. The Four Cohans—Jerry, George, Helen and Josephine—have been given the aid of a company which includes a number of favorites.

The oratorio of "Elijah" will be given by the local Choral Society Tuesday night, assisted by a large orchestra and a quartette of noted soloists as previously announced.

Washington's Birthday, Friday, will be devoted to two fine performances of Wm. Gillette's best comedy, "All the Comforts of Home," by a specially selected cast of New York artists, and Saturday, "The Wolves of New York," a splendid play of metropolitan life by Leonard Grover, will be given at a matinee and night performance.

The Broadway Theatre Stock Company inaugurate a season of repertoire for a week commencing Monday, February 25.

During the month of March there will be some fine offerings, first of which will be "The Dairy Farm." Then will come "On Suwannee River," Herrmann, the magician, "Sporting Life," Primrose and Dockstader's famous ministrels, Marie Dressler and others.

Inter-Collegiate Regatta.

The managers of the Inter Collegiate Rowing Association have decided to hold the great races of 1901 at Ithaca on Cayuga Lake. The Lehigh Valley R. R. has tracks running along the lake shore at the point where the regatta will take place and this fact will prove a great convenience for spectators attending the races. An observation train will be run and it is expected that 50 observation cars will be required to carry the sightseers who will will wish to take advantage of the opportunity offered to follow the races from start to finish. Raised seats will be erected on the observation cars and the train run so that the passengers will be abreast of the competing crews, and in practically close proximity for the entire length of the course The Lehigh will also carry large crowds to the university town from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York City.

Mrs. William Alberts, of East Fourth street, is the guest of relatives on Long Island.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Eine strenge Prüfung der Gesuche um Ertheilung der Erlaubniß zum Betrieb einer Gastwirthschaft hat die Regierung der Pfalz angeordnet. Die Regierung hat festgestellt, daß in den Jahren 1895 bis 1899 eine ganz unverhältnißmäßig große Zahl von Wirthschaften in der Pfalz entstanden ist. Die Vermehrung betrug 756, gegen nur 92 in Niederbayern, 141 in der Oberpfalz und 112 in Schwaben. Unter Anderem soll hiefür nur solchen Leuten eine Konzession zum Wirthschaftsbetrieb ertheilt werden, die über ein mäßiges Betriebskapital verfügen.

Ludwigshafen. Die Errichtung einer elektrischen Straßenbahn im Anschluß an das Mannheimer Straßenbahnnetz, von der Rheinbrücke bis zum Bahnhof und von da nach der Anilinfabrik und Friesenheim in zweigeleisiger Ausführung, ferner die Linie Bahnhof-Friedhof wurde durch den Stadtrath beschlossen. Die Kosten sind auf 1,720,000 Mark veranschlagt.—Mit Rücksicht darauf, daß die neue Dreifaltigkeitskirche in Ludwigshafen speziell für das Arbeiterviertel bestimmt ist, in welchem die Aufbringung der Kosten mit besonderen Schwierigkeiten verknüpft ist, hat der Prinz-Regent für die Herstellung des Hochaltars der genannten Kirche 10,000 Mark gespendet.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Letzthin waren 50 Jahre verflossen, daß Archivdirektor Dr. v. Schloßberger in den württembergischen Archivdienst eintrat. Aus Anlaß dieses seltenen Jubiläums wurde ihm der Titel eines Staatsraths verliehen.

Güglingen. Der frühere Güterbeförderer Mahle wollte auf seiner Bühne mit Feuer Geister beschwören. Er ließ sich auch eine extra geformte Gabel machen, um damit nach den Geistern stupfen zu können. Der Beschwörer hantirte aber in solch' ungeschickter Weise mit dem Feuer, daß der Rauch zum Bühnenfenster herauskam. Wegen fahrlässiger Brandstiftung wurde der Hexenbanner deshalb dem Amtsgerichte eingeliefert.

Marbach. Die Frage der Erbauung eines Schiller-Museums in Marbach, dem Geburtsorte des Dichters, ist nunmehr entschieden. Vor Kurzem wurde vom schwäbischen Schillerverein die sofortige Inangriffnahme des Baues beschlossen, die Bausumme auf 212,000 Mark festgesetzt und die Bauleitung den Baurathen Eisenlohr und Weigle in Stuttgart, die bei dem Preisbewerb für ihren Entwurf den ersten Preis erhalten hatten, übertragen.

Markgröningen. Der Zigeuner Georg Gutenberger hatte seinen Stammesgenossen August Pfisterer erschossen. Als der Landjäger den Wagen, in dem Gutenberger sich verborgen hielt, durchsuchte, gab derselbe aus seinem Versteck einen Schuß auf ihn ab, welcher glücklicher Weise sein Ziel verfehlte. Einige Soldaten, die zufällig in der Nähe waren, halfen sodann den Mörder festnehmen.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Der Bahnbau-Inspektor und Vorstand des technischen Bureaus der Generaldirektion der Staatseisenbahnen, Baurath Rudolf Lorenz, ist gestorben.

Bruchsal. In einem hiesigen Hotel erschoß sich der für eine Speyerer Cigarrenfabrik reisende Chr. Burkart aus Asch.

Heidelberg. Im hiesigen Krematorium wurden im verflossenen Jahre 146 Feuerbestattungen vollzogen. Von den mit Feuer Bestatteten stammten aus Heidelberg 88, aus Stuttgart 19, aus Karlsruhe 12, aus Mannheim 11, aus Baden-Baden und Wiesbaden je 5, aus Heilbronn 4, Neustadt a. H. 3, Berlin, München, Ulm, Pirmasens, Frankfurt a. M., Freiburg, Lahr je 2. Die Uebrigen vertheilten sich auf 35 andere Orte. Die Zahl der Feuerbestattungen hat sich, gegenüber dem Vorjahre, um 6 vermindert, was auf die Inbetriebnahme des Offenbacher Krematoriums zurückzuführen ist.

Säckingen. In Kleinlaufenburg stürzte sich in einem Anfall von Schwermuth der praktische Arzt Dr. Bringolf aus seiner Wohnung gegen den Rhein zu auf die Felsen und war sofort todt.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Morchingen. Oberleutnant Rüger vom hier garnisonirenden Infanterie-Regiment Nr. 17 wurde verhaftet, weil er nächtlicherweile in die Wohnung des Hauptmanns Adams drang und den Hauptmann erschoß, weil dieser einen Bruder des Oberleutnants, den Oberstabsarzt Rüger, geohrfeigt hatte.

Pfirt. Zwei Grenzaufseher verhafteten neulich in der Nähe des Dorfes Liebsdorf den viel und lang gesuchten Todtschläger Grenouillet und verbrachten ihn in das hiesige Amtsgefängniß. Zweimal versuchte der gefährliche Mensch, den Grenzaufsehern unterwegs zu entspringen, konnte aber noch eingeholt werden.

CURE
SOUR STOMACH.

How often do we hear the remark: "I would give anything to be rid of this sour stomach." People afflicted in this way ought to use Ripans Tabules. Their experience would be as gratifying as that of a housewife living at Yates, Mich., who writes: "For about five or six years I have been troubled with sour and weak stomach and for weeks at a time it seemed as though there was vinegar in my stomach. It was sore and very sensitive, and every time I was pregnant I was sick to my stomach all the time. I had to wean my babies because my stomach was sour and it affected them. The smell of the food made me sick and doctors' medicine only relieved me for a short time. My stomach became so weak that I could not eat solid food. For three or four weeks I lived on egg-nogg and new milk. I read an advertisement of Ripans Tabules for stomach troubles and sent for a sample carton. At first, I thought they did not do me any good; my stomach was sour after a hearty meal just the same, but I did not give up, and when my carton was gone my stomach was a little better. I obtained more and have taken them ever since, and I am almost cured."

THE PRESENT MODE.

It Is All Embracing and Allows Great Scope For Choice.

No one need feel anxiety as to what to wear and whether such and such a thing is according to the accepted mode, because everything that is pretty and becoming is now permissible, fashion being more and more eclectic. What is to be studied is not the different gradations of style, but what is suitable to the occasion and favorable to the individual. The really well dressed woman knows what color and what shades of color best become her, what type of gown best sets off her face and figure, what materials are most advantageous to her.

Today's cut shows a costume of dark blue cloth. The skirt has two scant circular flounces edged with stitching. The short bolero is trimmed with breton embroidery and has sleeves of elbow length with embroidered cuffs. The high corselet belt is of moss green velvet. The yoke and plastron of blue silk are covered with bands of embroidery, and the long, full sleeves of blue silk are gathered into a band of embroidery at the wrist. The hat of dark blue felt is ornamented with narrow folds of moss green velvet and is trimmed with a bow of the green velvet, a jeweled ring and two black ostrich plumes.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

OUTER GARMENTS.

Old and New Styles of Differing Costliness.

Sleeves, in mantles as well as gowns, have experienced a complete change from former styles. Some are wide, full and gathered into a band at the wrist or laid in vertical, stitched plaits to form a cuff; others are laid in stitched plaits throughout their length; still others are pagoda shaped, very wide and open, with a point.

When there is question of very rich and elegant wraps, the long redingote of velvet or broche silk, fitted like a princess gown and trimmed with beautiful passementerie, is in the front rank. This is a not particularly novel type, but its costliness renders it exclusive. Among odd ideas, however, may be reckoned the loose sack of cloth, composed of five successive scant circular flounces. Each flounce is bordered with a cording of taffeta and lined with white liberty satin. The top flounce forms a sort of pelerine, from beneath which the sleeves emerge. They are wide and are gathered in at the wrist with a cording of taffeta.

REDINGOTE.

The picture shows a half length redingote of mastic cloth. It is close fitting at the back and sides and straight in front. It is double breasted, and at each side of the front are two plaits let in and secured at the top by arrowhead stitches. There are triple pelerines and double revers, and all the edges, including those of the collar and the cuffs of the close sleeves, are finished with stitched straps of cloth. The coat fastens with horn buttons and is lined with broche silk.

The Modern Style of Residence in New York

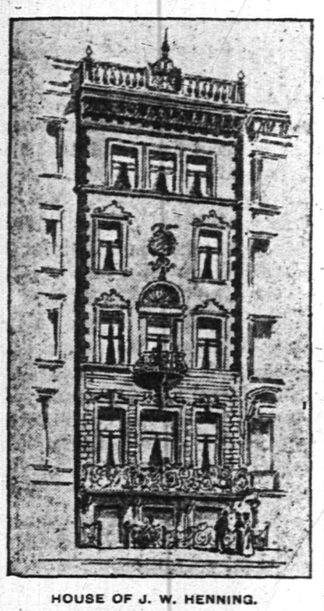
Rich Men Construct Veritable Palaces on Twenty-Five Foot Lots

REAL estate in the desirable residence portions of New York, or, for that matter, any portion of New York, has reached such high valuations that even the very rich of the city find it to their interest to economize in land.

This advance in the price of real estate has, within the last ten years, practically revolutionized house architecture, and has produced some remarkable homes along practical modern lines.

At the present time it is by no means uncommon for a wealthy New Yorker to put $500,000 or more into a home built upon a 25-foot front lot, which would cost upon Fifth avenue anywhere from $125,000 to $200,000. A 30-foot lot is considered generous.

But upon these narrow bits of ground here are now being built homes that compare favorably with the older ones twice as wide in spaciousness of effect and real room. So great has this craze for the modern style of



HOUSE OF J. W. HENNING.

In this example, in order to bring the main floor nearer the level of the street, the entrance is actually below the sidewalk, and one goes down a short flight of steps to reach it. The interior plan is the usual one—wide hall, stairs going up in easy, short flights, with landings, to the parlor floor above; parlor, 30 feet wide and nearly as deep.

home become that old houses are worked over so as to provide them with basement entrances near the street level, so that the rooms of ceremony above can occupy the full width of the house.

Of course building upon these narrow lots makes houses of several stories necessary, but this is no longer considered an inconvenience, as the universal use of passenger elevators in these palatial private residences makes it easy to run up to the fifth or sixth story for a sleeping room. As a rule all of the family rooms, excepting the dining-room, are three stories or more above the street.

To look at these modern homes of the rich from the outside one would imagine that they were but little, if any, better in point of room than the HOUSE OF J. PIERPONT MORGAN, JR.

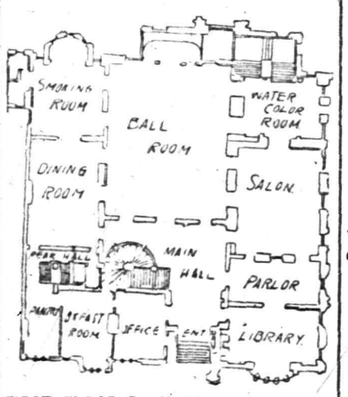
By a curious arrangement, the "outside steps of this house are inside." The visitor goes up three or four steps to the front door and there enters a vestibule. Beyond this, another short flight of steps rises to the hall proper. In other respects there are no novelties.

ordinary apartment building of the cheaper class, but once within such an idea is rapidly dispelled. The rooms are as spacious as could well be desired.

The first story, which is in reality but a half basement, is low, not over ten feet stud in some cases. The entrance to the noors above is through the basement, in some cases the entrance being on a level with the street, and in some cases even below the street level. Such is the effort made to economize on room.



FIRST FLOOR PLAN OF RESIDENCE OF THE LATE CORNELIUS VANDERBILT.

The house is 125 by 150 feet in area. The great ballroom is 65 by 50 feet and 35 feet high, rising, like the hall, dining-room and smoking-room, to the full height of two stories. The other rooms are 20 feet high. Mrs. Vanderbilt's rooms are over the parlor and library.

The next, or principal floor, which is reached either by a stairway or elevator from the half-basement, is usually not less than 15 feet and often 20 feet in height, while the ballroom, which as a rule is located upon this floor, often runs as high as 30 feet, being the height of two stories.

In these modern houses the stairways play an important part in the social functions of the time. They are broad, and usually winding, and the landings at the turns afford an excellent place for a hostess to receive her guests. This is worked in two ways. She either receives her guests as they ascend from the entrance, or they ascend to the upper floors by means of the elevator where they leave their wraps, and then pass the hostess as they descend by the stairway to the main floor.

HOUSE OF LEVI P. MORTON.

This extremely plain exterior conceals one of the most luxurious of the new houses. It is 75 feet in height, the principal story 18 feet. There is an elevator, of course. The main parlor occupies the whole front just above the entrance.

These stairways are being put to all manner of uses, the latest fad being to use them as vantage grounds for wedding ceremonies.

Among expensive homes that have been built along these lines within recent years may be mentioned those of Dr. C. A. Herter, at 819 Madison avenue; of William V. Brokaw, the parlor of which runs the full width of the house—25 feet—above the entrance, which is through a wide, low hall to the winding stairs in the middle. Another is the home of Mrs. C. Hernochan, on Fifth avenue. This has an entrance hall on the first floor which runs the full width of the house, and from which there is both an elevator and wide, winding stairs to the floors above. The parlors occupy all of the floor above, and are connected with wide doors.

One of the older houses that have the modern basement entrance is that of R. Fulton Cutting, at the corner of Sixty-seventh street and Madison avenue. It is 50 by 175 feet, and the great drawing-room over the entrance is 30 by 50 feet. The stairway is in the middle of the house.

The Vanderbilt house, of which a drawing is given of the main floor plan, is one of the older of the elaborate homes of New York, and is probably the most expensive private residence in America.

Shook Up the Cable.

The engineers of the cableship engaged in repairing the cable from Galveston to the Mexican coast found that the cable was destroyed by a submarine earthquake, and the catastrophe at Galveston may have been due to the same cause.

Austria's army grew from 220,000 in 1800 to 647,000 in 1866.

Americans Have Reason to Be Proud of Their Senators.

The Great Body Always Emerges from Every Ordeal with Genuine Honor to Itself and Glory to the Nation.

[Special Washington Letter.]

WHAT is the United States senate? You often read about it, sometimes think of it, and usually consider it an aggregation of great and dignified statesmen. But few people think of the individuals who compose and comprise that great deliberative body.

HON. H. E. BURNHAM.
(United States Senator-Elect from New Hampshire.)

Although each senator is elected for a term of six years, it is provided in our national constitution that one-third of the senators shall conclude their terms every two years. There are now 45 states in this republic, and each state has two senators, so that the senate is a body of 90 senators, and every two years 30 of them conclude their terms.

Usually it is fortunate for the entire republic that the senators of marked ability are elected to succeed themselves, but sometimes it is unfortuntae for the several states and for the country that senators are not reelected. Continuous service in the senate increases the ties of personal friendship, and increases the wisdom and acumen of good men. In a general sense it may be said that senators should serve at least two terms.

On the 4th day of March 30 senators will conclude their terms. Concerning those who will depart from the senate, and those who will be continued for another term, we will have a little chat to-day. Of course, only the most eminent senators can have space in one letter, because those who are not eminent are in the majority.

Chairmanships in the senate are awards of continuous service. Ordinarily, for example, Senator Mason, of Illinois, might not have been in the senate long enough to have become chairman of the great committee on post offices and post roads. But, by a concatenation of events, he will become chairman of that important committee on the 4th day of March.

Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, now chairman, will be succeeded by a democrat; Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, will be succeeded by a republican; Senator Carter, of Montana, will be succeeded by a democrat; Senator Gear, of Iowa, is deceased. The next man in rank on that committee is Senator Mason, of Illinois; and by reason of the seniority rule of the senate he will become chairman of the committee.

HON. MOSES E. CLAPP.
(United States Senator from Minnesota.)

In the biennial senate changes it seldom happens that a man who stands fifth on the majority side of a committee steps into the chairmanship. But the states of Colorado, New Hampshire and Montana having succeeded other men in place of the veteran Wolcott, the aged senator from Iowa having passed away, Senator Mason will be advanced. The writer has seen so many men come and go, and so many changes occur, that he cares little for individuals in making estimates of national affairs. And yet it is true to say that in sending new and inexperienced men in places of Wolcott, Chandler and Carter, the states sending them have weakened their own state influence in the senate, and have weakened the senate very materially. Time may show, however, that the incoming senators are well worthy their advancement to the dignity which has been conferred upon them.

While the senate will be weakened by losing such men, it is fortunately continued in strength and potency before the world by the reelection of Senators Elkins, of West Virginia; Frye, of Maine; Hoar, of Massachusetts; McMillan, of Michigan; Morgan, of Alabama; Nelson, of Minnesota; Sewell, of New Jersey; Warren, of Wyoming, and Wetmore, of Rhode Island. These able and experienced statesmen will prove to be a power in the land, because they will uphold the dignity and ability of our great deliberative body.

It is a great loss to the state of Idaho and to the senate that Senator Shoup, of that state, is to be retired. Nevertheless, in the selection of ex-Senator Dubois the state of Idaho is to be congratulated, because she sends not an inexperienced man, but one who has served with credit in the house of representatives and in the senate. He is well equipped for the work which he will easily take up. The political convictions of these men cut no figure in the mind of one who views them dispassionately. They come here not as politicians from the several states, but as members of the great national body of statesmen.

Without interfering any invidious distinctions, it may be said that the senate is particularly fortunate in the reelections of Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, republican, and Senator Morgan, of Alabama, democrat. These distinguished statesmen entered the senate on March 4, 1877, and have served continuously for 24 years. Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, was born in 1826, and is therefore 74 years old. If he lives until the conclusion of his next term he will be 80; and he bids fair to last that long, or longer. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, was born in 1824, and is therefore 76 years old, and will be 82 if he lives to conclude his next term. They are both old men, and they are both as vigorous mentally as they were in their earlier years.

Senator Morgan is a typical old southern "states' rights" man. Right here it may be shown what a loss the majority side of the senate sustains in the loss of Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, who is by all odds the wittiest and most sarcastic member of the senate. On one occasion, several years ago, Senator Morgan stood in his place, and began a speech by saying: "I stand here as an ambassador from the sovereign state of Alabama."

"What is that?" interjected Chandler. "Did I understand that the senator from Alabama has resigned his seat?"

HON. W. A. CLARKE.
(Reelected United States Senator from Montana.)

"Nothing of the kind," said Senator Morgan, severely. "What does the senator mean by such an interruption?"

"Well," said Chandler, "I don't see how I am to address the gentleman. He can't be an ambassador from a foreign country, and at the same time a senator of the United States. If he insists that he is an ambassador from some foreign state, I shall have to speak of him as 'the ambassador,' instead of as 'the senator from Alabama.'"

That was a rather keen body blow at the venerable and dignified senator's view of states' rights, but Senator Morgan retorted: "That is cheap politics from a cheap politician."

One of Senator Morgan's most striking utterances was aimed at the domineering influence of President Cleveland, who was successfully using patronage to compel the democratic senate to repeal the silver purchase bill, in October, 1893, when Senator Morgan said sneeringly to his democratic colleagues: "The clock strikes in the white house, and the cuckoos here about me sally forth to tell us the time of day."

Senator Hoar, who is a vigorous speaker, struck hard at President Cleveland, when Mr. Blount was sent to Hawaii with a letter to President Dole, calling him "My great and good brother;" when he was also commissioned to haul down the flag and reinstate Queen Liliuokalani. Senator Hoar said that it reminded him of the action of Joab, who "took Amasa by the beard and said, 'Art thou in health, my brother?' while he smote him under the fifth rib, so that he died."

There are pessimists who believe that the senate is not the strong body that it used to be; who say that it has deteriorated, and that we shall never again see such a magnificent aggregation of statesmen as were gathered together when Clay, Webster, Sumner, Benton, Douglass, Clayton and Buchanan were there. But that is simply nonsense. The race is not deteriorating, but developing. The lately deceased Senator Davis, of Minnesota, who gave his superior learning and wisdom and patriotism to the senate, was in no whit inferior to preceding statesmen; and those who remain in that august body are equal to the intellectual tests which are to be required of them.

Pennsylvania has returned Senator Quay; Illinois has returned Senator Cullom; Iowa retains Senator Allison; Ohio retains Senator Foraker; South Carolina retains Senator Tillman; Mississippi retains Senator Money; Arkansas retains Senator Berry, and Vermont retains Senator Proctor. With these intellectual giants in the senate from every section, all of them superior men for the exalted positions in which they are placed, the great senate is capable of dealing with national and international questions for the common weal.

DIDN'T LIKE THE METHOD.

"PATRIARCH" TELLS HIS EXPERIENCES BUYING "ELIJAH" TICKETS.

Objected Seriously to the Way in Which the Late Comers Secured Many of the Best Seats.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—On Monday, the tables of the Expectation of Life, American, fell into my hands. It gave me somewhat of a shock to find that I had only 15 89-100 years remaining in which to do good deeds for my fellow-men. The thought was a sobering one, although I do not wish it to be understood that I was "unco fosi," or even "fosi," at the time.

An entire change came over my spirit, however, on Tuesday, after spending one hour and thirty-five minutes in the "Elijah" line at Music Hall. The milk of human kindness has soured within me and I am now going around with blood in my eye and a good sized club in my hands. I don't exactly know whom to hit, and I appeal to you. I will only be satisfied, however, with a good many more heads than the Allies ask for in China.

My casus belli is this: At 8:35 A. M. I took my place in the line, which then numbered about forty persons. It grew rapidly and when I reached the ticket office it had propably increased to three hundred, many of whom were women. During all this time late comers would go up to friends in line and ask them to select tickets for them. By this "smart" but grossly unfair proceeding, I was probably made to be the eightieth or one hundredth man in line, instead of the fortieth, and those behind me were even more despoiled.

It is true that, so long as no more than ten tickets were given to any one person, all parties were within the strict letter of the law, but there is no comfort in that to those people whose weary waiting and standing time were increased and whose opportunities for selecting preferred seats were decreased.

But the crowning offense was to come—the man just ahead of me, after receiving tickets for all the orders he held, laid down a five dollar bill and was allowed to select more seats for a friend who entered the hall long after I did.

Now, when, several weeks ago, in response to a bright note from a prominent member of the Choral Society, asking, "Does not the Patriarch wish to hear the Prophet?" I subscribed for my seats. I supposed subscribers who made the production possible would take precedence over non-subscribers, and I believe all others thought so. But it seems we were mistaken; and the entire affair was a beautiful exemplification of how the early birds did not catch the worms, and of how the last are sometimes, first and the first are last.

As some of my best and dearest friends are in the Society, and as great praise is due to it for the unceasing practice and endless toil which have brought forth so many good things, it grieves me greatly to pour out so much gall, but there would seem to be room for improvement in the method for selling tickets and selecting seats.

The Bicycle Wheel in Astronomy.

At the Yale observatory an interesting use has been found for the bicycle wheel. By fitting such a wheel with a series of opaque screens placed at regular intervals and then rotating it with the aid of a small motor at the rate of from 30 to 50 turns in a minute in front of the cameras used to photograph meteors, Dr. Elkin has succeeded in measuring the velocity of the meteors' flight. The principle depends upon the intereruptions produced by the screen in the trails of light made upon the photographic plates by the flying meteors. The velocity of the wheel is known at every instant by means of a chronographic record, and the length of the interruptions indicates the speed of the meteors.—Youth's Companion.

MAGNIFICENT MUSIC AT "ELIJAH" CONCERT.

ABOUT THE FINE MUSIC.

SYNOPSIS OF THE MUSICAL COMPOSITION OF THE ORATORIO.

Music and Text Are in Absolute Harmony—One of Mendelssohn's Greatest Compositions—A Few Choruses Will Be Omitted.

In the composition of oratorio, no one, during the whole of the nineteenth century, eclipsed Felix Mendelssohn, whose well-known and always popular "Elijah" is to be given in Music Hall tomorrow evening by the Choral Society, of Plainfield, a quartette of soloists, and a full orchestra.

For portrayal of emotion and descriptive power "Elijah" has been surpassed by no other oratorio. The music and the text are absolutely in harmony, and the personality of the leading characters in the drama is drawn as clearly as with the unerring lines of photography.

Chiefly, of course, there stands out the figure of the Hebrew prophet whom Mendelssohn himself describes, in a letter to a friend, as "energetic and zealous, but also stern, wrathful and gloomy." It is his figure that appears at the opening of the oratorio, standing alone before the idolatrous people, and giving, in his brief but impressive recitative, a prophecy of coming drought. This is followed by the overture, somber and despair-laden, full of the woe of the nation as the doom falls upon them. The choruses which follow voice the appeal of the people in harmony of plaintive beauty. Obadiah's tenor aria follows, "If With all Your Hearts," one of the most exquisite numbers in the whole oratorio, and full of tenderness and comfort.

The numbers following, including the hopeless lamentations of the people, "Yet Doth the Lord," and the effective double quartette, "He Shall Give His Angels Charge Over Thee," are well contrasted, and each perfectly embodies the emotion it is intended to convey. A dramatic part of the oratorio ensues, telling the story of Elijah's sojourn at the home of the widow of Zarephath, and the passionate sorrow of the mother at the death of her only son and the calm strength of the prophet being effectively portrayed.

The challenge of the priests of Baal to the sacrifice on Mount Carmel gives opportunity for the most stirring scene of the oratorio. The cries of the heathen priests, rough and barbaric in style, are in strong contrast to the vigorous recitative and calm, dignified prayer of the prophet of God, and the simple but beautiful chorale, "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord."

Imitative music marks the descent of the fire upon Elijah's altar, and there is the fierceness of righteous indignation in the recitative with which the prophet pronounces doom upon the idolatrous priests. The bass aria following, in which Elijah sings, "Is Not His Word Like a Fire?" is a song of unusual difficulty, requiring great power and accuracy in the singer. It is followed by an arioso for contralto, "Woe Unto Them." Then, in a beautiful andante passage, the prophet prays for rain, and there follows a stirring dialogue between the prophet, the people and the youth whom Elijah bids look for the rising of the rain clouds, increasing in force and excitement to the climax, in which the crash of the storm is heard, and the people break into a passionate chorus of thanksgiving, "Thanks be to God."

A brilliant soprano solo, "Hear Ye, Israel," opens the second part of the oratorio, leading to a magnificent chorus voicing the great promises of God. Another dramatic scene ensues, the fierceness of Jezebel's wrath against the prophet, and the denunciations of him by the easily-moved multitude having an appropriate and impressive musical setting.

After the beautiful recitative in which Obadiah advises Elijah to flee for his life, comes the exquisite but unspeakably pathetic aria in which the latter prays for death. A tenor recitative tells the listener that the prophet sleeps, with angels encamped about him, and introduces the trio of angels, "Lift Thine Eyes," an unaccompanied trio of the purest beauty, which is followed by an exquisite chorus.

FANWOOD BOYS MET DEFEAT

WENT TO BROOKLYN SATURDAY NIGHT TO MEET EX-POLYS.

Former Members of Polytechnic School Won by Score of 16 to 9—The Lineup.

After playing a hard uphill game from the very start, the basket ball team of the Fanwood Athletic Club met defeat Saturday evening at the hands of the Ex Polytechnic School team of Brooklyn. The game was played in the gymnasium of the Polytechnic School, the home team winning by a score of 16 to 9.

Within the first minute of play, the Brooklyn team scored twice. After that, the Fanwood boys managed to get a goal but the lead remained with the home team While the visitors gave a fair exhibition of team work, their playing was a trifle listless. The first half ended with the score of 7 to 3 in favor of the Brooklyn organization.

In the second half the play was somewhat warmer, but free from unpleasant features. Smith scored twice from the field and twice on fouls. The Brooklyn team put up a splendid game, playing very well together. A crowd of thirty-five accompanied the Fanwod team and formed the major part of the audience. The teams were:

WILLARD MEMORIAL SERVICE.

HELD AT W. C. T. U. ROOMS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Willard Memorail Day Appropriately Observed by the Plainfield Union—Many Speakers.

"Willard Memorial Day" was appropriately observed yesterday afternoon by the members of the W. C. T. U. at their meeting in the rooms on Madison avenue. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county superintendent, was in charge of the meeting. There was a large attendance of members and friends of the Union.

The service opened with a song by members of the Loyal Temperance Legion, who were in charge of Mrs. Honeyman. Miss Elizabeth Allis presided at the piano. Quotations were then read from the writings of Miss Willard by several members of the Union. This was followed by a few personal remarks concerning Miss Willard by Miss Yates, after which she read extracts from a paper from prominent writers concerning the late leader of the white ribbon organization.

Mrs. Honeyman and Mrs. George Saums sang a duet, accompanied by Miss Allis on the piano. Another reading by Mrs. John H. French, concerning the life of Miss Willard, was followed by an article by Mrs. Rufus K. Case, in which she told something of the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion. She said that there are 90 Legions in New Jersey with a total membership of over 5,000. The contributions by the Plainfield members are devoted to the Willard Hospital.

Mrs. Tomlinson stated that there is a union in every State and in almost every place in the world. Money is now being raised to send to the National treasury to send organizers in neglected parts. Last year twelve States reported an increase of 500 each in membership. Another reading telling of Miss Willard's life and work was given, after which Rev. A. A. Phelps who knew Miss Willard, spoke eulogistic words about her.

In conclusion there was another duet by Mrs. Honeyman and Mrs. Saums, the selection being "How Beautiful to Be With God." These were Miss Willard's last words before she died three years ago yesterday. After the meeting several new members were secured for the Union.

BURGLARS AT WORK WHILE FAMILY DINED.

Jewels to the Value of $400 Stolen From Residence of Martin I. Cooley.

ON ROCKVIEW TERRACE.

SCALED PIAZZA POSTS AND ENTERED THROUGH A WINDOW.

Miss Cooley Found Her Door Locked and Alarmed Her Brother—Her Room and Guest Chamber Had Been Ransacked.

The handsome residence of Martin I. Cooley, of 2 Rockview terrace, was the scene of a daring burglary Saturday evening. Valuable jewels and other personal property of the several members of the household were carried away by the thieves and the police have very slim evidence to work on to ultimately effect any arrests. The burglars evidently carefully planned their work as circumstances connected with the affair show.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooley had invited a few intimate friends to a small dinner party to be given at their residence prior to the performance of "The Private Secretary" at Music Hall that evening. The party sat down to dinner at about 6:40 o'clock. While dining their attention was arrested occasionally by the loud barking of Miss Grace Cooley's pet dog which happened at that time to be in the hallway of the second floor. Being accustomed to the sound of the dog's barking, unfortunately no heed was paid to it at that time.

After the dinner had been served Miss Cooley, having occasion to go to her boudoir, discovered that during her absence the door to her room, which is on the second floor front, had been securely fastened. Recalling the dog's actions, she at once suspected that something was wrong and quickly summoned her brother, Gifford W. Cooley.

Mr. Cooley gained an entrance to the room by a side door which the burglars had neglected to fasten. Perceiving by the disorderly appearance of the room that burglars had been at work there he hurried to examine the other rooms in the hope of finding the intruders.

Passing through the hallway he found that the door leading into the guests' chamber, which adjoins his sister's room, was also securely locked. Being unable to force the door open the young man climbed out on the piazza roof and entered the room through a window. Here the same condition existed. The gas light had been turned off and everything was disarranged. Both rooms had been completely ransacked.

Exactly what all was taken is not as yet definitely known, but the loss is estimated at about $400.

When interviewed by a reporter of The Daily Press, the family were unable to give a complete list of the articles stolen but among the jewels missing are a valuable jeweled open-faced watch, a string of pearls, several stick pins set with small diamonds and pearls, and gold cuff buttons, all of which were the property of Miss Grace Cooley.

How the entrance was effected is somewhat of a mystery but it is believed that it was accomplished by scaling the front piazza posts and getting in one of the windows of Miss Cooley's room. On the front lawn footprints were plainly visible yesterday and the paint on one of the porch columns was considerably scratched whilst in the two front rooms were the muddy impressions of a pair of 7½ shoes. As all the impressions corresponded in size it is believed that the robbery was the work of but one man. Marshal Campbell was at once notified and the police force of the borough are at work but up to the present time the department has been unable to ferret out the perpetrator, and is without any clue to work on excepting that furnished by the family concerning the imprints on the carpet.

Much Snow Fell.

Loosened by the change in the temperature a huge volume of mingled snow and ice fell Saturday from the roof of the frame building on Park avenue owned and occupied by Sigmund Frucht. A number of pedestrians who were passing barely escaped serious injury, the deafening noise made by the mass as it slid on the roof warning them in time.

TOO FREE WITH HER TONGUE.

MRS. EGLINTON SENT TO JAIL FOR CALLING BAD NAMES.

Charged By Miss Hartpence With Causing Trouble Up in Tenament on South Second Street.

When Miss Cora Hartpence and a few of her friends were enjoying a quiet game of cards at Miss Hartpence's rooms in the Muhlenberg tenament house on South Second street, a few evenings ago, Mrs. Agnes Eglinton, another tenant of the same house, dropped in and called to the attention of the father of the hostess the need of repaying several little loans There being a present lack of cash, Mr. Hartpence suggested delay What happened then is not exactly agreed upon by the participants, but somebody began to hurl epithets about in right royal fashion.

Another encounter took place a few days later when Miss Hartpence claims that she was roundly abused by Mrs. Eglinton, who applied a great variety of uncomplimentary and even indecent terms to her. For this latter trouble and the alleged disturbances at the card party, Mrs. Eglinton was arrested and her hearing took place this morning.

The specific complaint was for using profane and indecent language on the days mentioned. The defence was that the language had been used but that it was Miss Hartpence and not the defendant who had been the agressor in the wordy warfare. The testimony, which was brought out before City Judge Runyon, this morning, was decidedly contradictory. It was evident, however, that there had been a quarrel of long standing.

Judge Runyon said that he felt a lesson was necessary and so he sentenced Mrs. Eglinton to go to jail for ten days, having decided that she was fully guilty of the offenses charged.

MUSICAL SERVICE.

Given at First M. E. Church Last Evening by C. L. Lewis and Chorus Choir.

A musical service, under the direction of Charles L. Lewis and the chorus choir, during which there were selections by the choir and a solo by Mr. Lewis, preceded a short sermon by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass at the First M. E. church last evening. There was a good-sized congregation present, and all joined most heartily in the musical part of the service.

The remarks of Dr. Snodgrass were based on the theme, "Sow in Righteousness and Reap Mercy." He dwelt on the importance of sowing at the right time, so that the harvest may be reaped in season. He cited instances where farmers had planted their seed late and had lost their entire crop. The keynote of the talk was to do things at the right time, especially in the matter of giving one's soul to Christ. Do not delay in this important step, was an important point made by the speaker.

At the close of the discourse, Mr. Lewis sang a beautiful solo, appealing to the unconverted to let the Saviour in their hearts.

WESTFIELD DECIDES AGAINST CITY PLAN.

Question Decided at Election Conducted by the Citizens' League Saturday.

NEARLY HAD A FIGHT.

BECAUSE ONE CITIZEN, NOT REGISTERED, COULD NOT VOTE.

The Vote Was 396 Against City and 103 For It—Commuters Were Solid For Making Westfield a City.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Feb. 18.—A free fight almost resulted as an outcome of the election held at the town rooms Saturday to determine as to whether or not the people of this town wished to have a bill introduced in the Legislature making Westfield a city.

The election was held by the Citizens' League in accordance with a resolution passed at a public meeting of the league held at the Westfield Club hall last month. The resolution said that all legal voters, who had voted or were registered last fall, would be allowed to vote.

The polls opened at 6 o'clock Saturday morning in charge of an election board consisting of Police Officer Thomas O'Neill, Howard Manning, John Goltra, George W. Peek, Jr., and R. M. Stickle.

Everything went along smoothly until the "gravel train," as the train bringing the largest number of commuters from New York is called, arrived at about 4 o'clock. Up to this time everything had been in favor of the anti-city faction but the New Yorkers were solidly for the new form of government and cast their ballots accordingly.

This seemed to arouse the anti-city element and a large crowd to ballot against the proposed city was soon organized. These came to the polling place in a body and among them was Patrick O'Connor, who gained considerable reputation last Wednesday by risking his life to save a child at the Broad street fire. Although Mr. O'Connor was born in Westfield and has always lived here, his name did not appear on the registry list and therefore Chairman O'Neil refused to take his vote. This caused the trouble. David J. Burke, a Democratic politician of some local fame, was sent for and upon his arrival denounced the election as a farce. The crowd by this time was making all kinds of threats and but for the appearance of several level headed men of both factions there would, undoubtedly, have been trouble.

The election resulted in a defeat of the proposition by a vote of 396 to 103. Out of a total of 1180 votes registered, 499 cast their ballots. Chairman Martin Welles, Township Committeeman J. Alston Dennis, Ira C. Lambert, Frank S. Smith, James B. Wilson and John H. Pencheon, who worked the hardest for the city form of government, say the matter will again be brought up next year, while James T. Pierson, Hiram L. Fink, Theo. McGarrah, Tax Collector A. N. Clark, Freeholder M. M. Scudder, Assessor John M. C. Marsh and the hotel keepers say they will work just as hard for its defeat.

Hon. Chester M. Smith, member of the State Assembly from this district, cast his ballot early in the day, but refused to say which way he voted. He did state, however, that should the people express themselves as in favor of a city form of government, he would be pleased to introduce a bill to that effect and could assure the people that the bill would be carried.

MELVIN LIKELY TO WIN.

LEADS POOL TOURNEY WITH EIGHT VICTORIES AND NO DEFEATS.

Finish of Tournament Is Near at Hand and Fight for Other Places Promises to Be Very Close.

With but a few more games on the part of each contestant remaining to be played, interest in the pool tourney at Krewson's has greatly increased during the past week on the part of both spectators and players. The latter are now using all their skill in order to be on the safe side at the finish which is but a short time off. With but one exception, none of the contestants can afford to feel safe as to gaining any one place as the leaders are fairly well bunched.

The exception is Melvin, whose name has been at the head of the list for the past two weeks with eight games to his credit and not a single defeat. In the eight games played were his most dangerous opponents and there is now no doubt that the ensuing games will end in his favor. For second place the chances are about equal between Ammons, McCann and Moore.

During the ensuing week but two games will be played each evening as arranged in the following schedule: Monday, Greader 75 against Pope 45; Dowd 75 against Beekman 60; Tuesday, Sutterlein 75 against Coombs 55; Moore 60 against McCann 45; Wednesday, Moore 60 against Walsh 6); Smith 60 against Stelle 45; Thursday, Dowd 75 against Moore 60; Ammons 55 against Kingston 45; Friday, McLaughlin 40 against Matthews 40; Moore 60 against Melvin 60.

STANLEY HUNTER IS DEAD.

DIED YESTERDAY MORNING AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

Was In His Twenty-fourth Year—Leaves Large Host of Friends and Acquaintances in This City.

Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hunter, of West Seventh street, yesterday morning and took their youngest son, Stanley Hunter. A simple cold contracted early last month developed rapidly into a complication of diseases which were kept from proving quickly fatal only by the patient's strong will power and good constitution.

The deceased was in his twenty fourth year and was a life long resident of this city where he leaves a host of acquaintances both young and old. Since early childhood he has been a member and regular attendant of the Crescent Avenue church, being strongly identified with many of its affairs, socially and otherwise. He was also interested in the work at Hope chapel where he will be remembered by many for his generous disposition and amiable characteristics.

Since his graduation from Leal's School a few years ago, he has been in the employ of the Jersey Central Railroad at the New York office where by close application to duties he had risen to a position of responsibility and trust.

In addition to his parents the deceased is survived by three sisters and one brother. The funeral services will be held from his late residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and will be private.

Patriotic Service.

A patriotic service will be held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church Friday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. It being Washington's Birthday, everyone is requested to wear the National colors or a small American flag. The subject of the meeting will be "Patriotism," and Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, an earnest, enthusiastic worker, will lead the meeting. Suitable music will be rendered, and an informal social with refreshments will follow.

Death of E. N. Saunders.

The death of Edward N. Saunders, aged 30 years, occurred at his home in Fanwood Saturday after an illness with rheumatism. He was for some time past a butler at "The Homestead." The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his brother, Patrolman James Saunders, 318 Berckman street, and at 2:30 o'clock from Mt. Olive Baptist church. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

Winners at Hearts.

Miss Elizabeth Reynolds, of Sandford avenue, entertained a few friends Saturday evening. At the game of hearts Miss Lena Middleton was the most expert player, thereby capturing the first prize. Walter Shotwell and Miss Reynolds, each having the same score, were tied for second place.

AMATEUR PLAY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

"The Private Secretary" Was Produced by Local Talent Before a Large Audience.

IT WAS VERY FUNNY.

PARTS WERE WELL TAKEN BY THE AMATEUR ACTORS.

Local Society Folk Turned Out Well to See Their Friends—Music Hall Was Filled—Something About The Play and The Cast

The thrilling adventures of one "Robert Spaulding, private secretary," as dramaticly pictured in the well-known comedy of "The Private Secretary," highly amused the large crowd of Plainfield society people which thronged the Stillman Music Hall Saturday evening. What gave the performance particular importance in the eyes of the Plainfield audience was the fact that the cast was composed entirely of local amateurs, all of whom are well known in local society circles. The affair was for charity and the proceeds will be divided among the prominent local benevolences.

While the play was very funny in itself, it required proper presentation in order to make it a success. For an amateur production it was highly creditable, while some of the scenes were carried off with an ease and smoothness which would have been considered very satisfactory even from professionals. It demonstrated the fact that there are some very clever actors in Plainfield and that the careful training of the coach, Alfred Young, had not been in vain.

From a social standpoint, the performance was also a complete success, for it has been some time since there has been an assemblage of so many prominent people of the city at any one gathering. The audience was ready to enjoy the play and bestowed plenty of applause on the work of all the members of the cast.

The cast was as follows:

Mr. Cattermole, a rich East Indian, ... William R. Cock
Douglass, his nephew ..... F. W. Goddard
Mr. Marsland, a country squire, ... W. T. Pelletier
Harry, his nephew ..... Laurens H. VanBuren
Gibson, a Bond street tailor ..... Harry M. Curtis
Robert Spaulding, Private Secretary to Mr. Marsland ..... W. L. Saunders
John, a butler ..... William A. Townsend
Knox, a bailiff ..... Frank W. Iredell
Thomas, a gardener ..... Frank Curtis
Edith, Marsland's daughter, ... Miss Saidee Mae Howell
Eva, her friend and companion, ... Miss Elsie Cochran Martin
Miss Ashford, a spinster and chaperone, ... Mrs. W. L. Saunders
Mrs. Stead, a landlady ..... Mrs. Frank W. Iredell

The play is one in which William Gillette achieved such a success a number of years ago. It is a farcical comedy in three acts, full of funny situations and with a number of very lively climaxs. The play deals with the attempts of young "Douglass Cattermole," to sow his wild oats, against his own inclinations but at the desire of his uncle who declares that he will cut the young man off without a cent if he does not. Young "Cattermole" accompanies his friend, "Harry Marsland," to the country seat of "Harry's" uncle, masquerading as the latter's new private secretary, while the real private secretary is left at "Cattermole's" chambers in London. The wealthy but peculiar uncle appears on the scene and having never seen his nephew, mistakes the lamblike "Mr. Spaulding." for him That is only the beginning of a series of general misunderstandings which follow at "Marsden's" county seat but which are properly cleared up in the last act when the true identity of some of the characters is finally discovered.

As the meek and docile private secretary, Former Mayor William L. Saunders achieved a complete and overwhelming success. Just to look at him was enough to start the laughter but his solemn bearing and apparent distress, as troubles gathered round him, brought forth great shouts of applause. But the voice. When he began with his customary "Do you know," the audience simply forgot itself. He played the part with remarkable cleverness and proved himself a comedian of much ability.

William R. Cock, as the wealthy East Indian uncle, undoubted made one of the greatest hits of the evening. He roared with delightful vigor at those on whom his wrath happened to fall while his pleasure was expressed in equally as forcible style. His every action was well suited to the part. The scenes between Mr. Cock and Mr. Saunders

THE VANCOUVER DISASTER.

No Hope For Entombed Miners—Sixty-one Lives Lost.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 18.—Additional details continue to come from the Union mines on Vancouver island, where the terrible fatality occurred Friday forenoon. The accident has thrown the towns of Cumberland and Nanaimo into a state of gloom. The Canadian Pacific Railway company's steamer Tartar arrived at Vancouver yesterday afternoon from the coaling station at Union, 12 miles from Cumberland. She brought two passengers, H. R. Raymond and George Bennett, both coal miners. Neither had any theory as to the cause of the explosion in No. 6 shaft, in which the accident occurred. They say the cause is not known and that it will never be known.

When the Tartar left Union at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the late news from No. 6 shaft was that the flooding process was still being continued. The fire was still burning, although not so fiercely as during the preceding 36 hours. The tremendous volume of water pouring into the mines from the continuous supply furnished by an eight inch main was gradually performing the desired service, and by today it is confidently expected the fire will be extinguished. It will be several days, Raymond says, before the bodies of the 61 entombed miners can be recovered, because after the fire has been put out it will be necessary to pump the water out of the mine before a rescuing party can hope to get at the corpses now lying at the bottom of the shaft.

Shortly before the Tartar sailed from Union the steamer Joan arrived, having on board Premier James Dunsmuir of the British Columbia government, who is one of the owners of the Cumberland mines. The families of the dead miners require financial assistance, which will be forthcoming from more than one source. The mayor of Vancouver has already taken steps to aid the bereaved families, and other cities are taking similar action. In the meantime Premier Dunsmuir has ordered the storekeepers at Cumberland to give the distressed families what supplies they may need.

THE ASPHALT WAR.

Diplomacy of Minister Loomis Said to Have Succeeded.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Feb. 18.—The asphalt controversy has been temporarily adjusted by the diplomacy of the United States minister to Venezuela, Mr. Francis B. Loomis, and the matter will doubtless go to the courts, as it is reported that the United States government desires a formal adjudication as to the rival interests involved. It is understood that Mr. Loomis has conveyed a request to this effect to the Venezuelan government.

Should the decision be against the New York and Bermudez company, then the question of intervention will be opened afresh. Trouble is feared at Pitch lake should an attempt to eject the New York and Bermudez company be made before a decision has been reached by the courts.

Freak of Nature.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Miss Ellen Leek, 65 years of age, died at Babylon, N. Y., yesterday of old age. Her case had attracted much attention in medical circles. She never heard a sound, never spoke a word, never walked a step, and the doctors believe she hardly knew any sensation of pain or pleasure. The doctors do not think she ever realized anything. The heart and other organs of the trunk always seemed normal, but there appeared to be a total absence of brain activity beyond what was absolutely essential to life. She was never able to feed herself and throughout her life had to be fed like an infant. The nearest approach to anything normal she is said to have ever attained was that when a child she learned to creep and for years moved about as does an ordinary infant of 8 to 12 months. For years she had not been out of bed except as she was lifted out.

New Railroad Project.

DETROIT, Feb. 18.—Articles of incorporation of the Alpena and Western railroad were filed at Lansing Friday night. The capital stock of the company is $1,000,000, all subscribed. Among the directors will be Robert Ray of Hillman, Mich.; G. M. Babcock of Atlanta, G. R. Lovejoy of Mount Clemens, Mich., James Goodell of Detroit, William C. Heath of Detroit, Thomas N. Goodburne of Detroit, William M. Marr of Muskegon, Mich., and Delbert C. Morris of Detroit. The line will extend from Alpena to Bellaire and Frankfort, Mich.

Early Y. P. S. C. E. Convention Plans.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 18.—Plans for the state Christian Endeavor convention to be held in this city Oct. 21 to 23 and which it is expected 3,000 delegates will attend are being rapidly perfected. The general subject of the convention will be "The New Century Awakening." Orange and white have been designated as the convention color and the daisy selected as the emblem. An order has been placed for 3,000 badges. They are to be in the form of a daisy with a ribbon attached.

One of the Swifts Dead.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Nathaniel Swift, brother of Gustavus F. Swift, the millionaire packer, is dead here after an illness of four days, the immediate cause of his death being congestion of the brain. Mr. Swift was born in Sagamore, Mass., 63 years ago. He was ordained a minister of the Methodist denomination and took his first pastorate at Eastham, Mass., when he was only 22 years old. In 1875 Mr. Swift gave up his ministerial duties to enter into the packing business with his brother.

Conference With the President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The president had Senators Hanna and Allison as his guests at dinner last evening. Later Senators Spooner, Aldrich and Platt of Connecticut called, all the visitors remaining with the president until a late hour. The occasion gave the president an opportunity to discuss with the senate leaders the existing status of the business of congress and the calling of an extra session.

Spanish Cabinet Crisis.

MADRID, Feb. 18.—At the cabinet council last Friday the ministry's resignation was drawn up, and it was handed to the queen regent Saturday. Nothing, however, has yet been settled, although the Madrid papers are suggesting the possible personnel of a Silvela cabinet.

Sir Francis Cook Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Sir Francis Cook, who in 1885 married Miss Tennessee Claflin of New York, died last evening.

PURSUIT OF DE WET.

Lord Kitchener Arrives at De Aar to Superintend.

BOER LEADER'S HORSES EXHAUSTED

Financial Adviser Sent at the British Commander's Request—Invaders Get but Few Recruits In Cape Colony.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The war office has made the following announcement:

"Lord Kitchener having expressed a desire for financial assistance in view of the heavy expenditure proceeding in South Africa, the secretary of state for war has appointed Mr. Guy Douglas Arthur Fleetwood Wilson, undersecretary of state for war, to proceed to South Africa and to act temporarily as financial adviser to Lord Kitchener. Mr. Wilson will leave Saturday."

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from De Aar, dated Feb. 16, confirms the report of the arrival there of Lord Kitchener and his staff to superintend the chase of General De Wet. The correspondent says:

"De Wet's force is now denuded of almost all transport vehicles and his horses are exhausted."

Other South African dispatches report that several columns are pursuing General De Wet, whose exact whereabouts, however, is not indicated.

The Times correspondent at De Aar confirms the report that De Wet's commando is "extremely exhausted" and "harassed on all sides." He adds:

"Unfortunately, the heavy rains have handicapped the movement of British troops from the north. The country is reduced to a swamp. The rise of the Orange river behind the Boers, which ought to have been an advantage, has only prevented the co-operation of General Bruce Hamilton's column on the enemy's rear.

"The invaders get sympathy, but few recruits, except mere youths. They are mainly armed with Lee-Metfords."

Dispatches from Pretoria announce that the Carolina commando has broken through General French's cordon westward.

Dr. Leyds' Valise Stolen.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 18.—Dr. Leyds, the Transvaal diplomatic agent, has returned here from The Hague. His baggage was placed for a moment in the vestibule of his residence, and shortly afterward it was ascertained that thieves had entered the house by false keys and stolen a valise containing diplomatic papers. The police are investigating the matter.

The Plague Spreading.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 18.—Another death from bubonic plague has occurred here, and two fresh cases are reported. The discharging of ships is at a standstill.

Terrible Fate of a Boy.

PATTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—The body of Charles Fetsco, the 7-year-old son of John Fetsco, a miner, who has been missing from his home for four days, has been found in a mine breach near Hastings. The boy had wandered from his home, and the supposition is that he accidentally fell into the hole. The discovery of his almost nude corpse in the big hole, which was seven feet deep, showed that he starved and froze to death after making a most desperate attempt to escape. His feet and fingers were worn through in an effort to pull himself out of his awful prison. He had taken off all his clothes but his undershirt and piled them up in an effort to raise himself high enough to catch the edge. The boy's body was found by his father, who had traced in the snow the footsteps of the little fellow to the mine hole.

Mayor Vetoes Police Bill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Mayor Van Wyck vetoed on Saturday the single head police commission bill and sent it back to the senate by registered mail in the evening. The mayor sent with the vetoed measure, which he had kept under consideration for nine days, a message in which he set forth his reasons for disapproving it. The mayor declares that the bill seeks to evade the state constitution in important particulars, is a dangerous attack upon the rights of the residents of the political subdivisions of the state to select their own local officers and is entirely wrong in principle.

Russia's New Tariff Rates Explained.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—Shrewd observers in St. Petersburg believe that the Russian minister of finance, M. de Witte, in imposing a discriminating duty on American manufactures of iron and steel was not only animated by a desire to protect Russian sugar producers, but was eager to seize an opportunity to mobilize Russia's industrial army with a view of proving its ability to stand the test of a tariff war. It is believed, moreover, that he desires to impress Germany even more than the United States.

Secretary Long In Florida.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 18.—Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, Mrs. Long, Chief Endicott of the bureau of yards and docks, Mrs. Endicott and Senator Mallory and others arrived from Washington on a special car yesterday. They were met at Flomaton by the reception committee from the city and Captain F. W. Reissinger and staff of the Pensacola navy yard in full uniform. They are guests of Captain Reissinger at the navy yard. Secretary Long will review the parade of marines and sailors today.

Mining Purchase Denied.

WHEELING, Feb. 18.—The story put on the wires Saturday that J. Pierpont Morgan and John D. Rockefeller had purchased all the mines in the Fairmont (W. Va.) district is declared to be false by officials of the companies alleged to be in the deal. The figures given were $14,000,000, and the officials point out the absurdity of the price by calling attention to the fact that the annual output of the district is $12,000,000.

Gundersen Gets the Cup.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 18. In the skating championship contests here the 500 meter race was won by Gundersen in 47 3-5 seconds and the 5,000 meter race by Wathens in 9 minutes 24 3-5 seconds. Gundersen will receive the royal cup, the gift of King Oscar.

TO COMPEL ACCEPTANCE OF TERMS.

Unsatisfactory Nature of Peace Negotiations Given as a Pretext For the Resumption of Military Operations.

PEKING, Feb. 18.—A few days ago Count von Waldersee wrote to the generals under his supervision notifying them to have all their available troops ready in two weeks for an expedition lasting 80 days. Yesterday General Chaffee and General Voyron, the French commander, received letters asking for their co-operation and expressing a desire to know what forces they can spare. In commencing his letter to General Chaffee, Count von Waldersee says:

"Owing to the unsatisfactory nature of the negotiations for peace and also to circumstances rendering such a course desirable, it will probably be necessary to resume military operations on a large scale, especially toward the west."

It is not thought likely that General Chaffee will agree to such a plan without instructions from Washington. The French commander, however, is expected to do so. Count von Waldersee's plans contemplate offering the command of the expedition in the first instance to Sir Alfred Gaselee, the British commander, but it is believed that, in view of his recent illness, General Gaselee will inform Count von Waldersee that he is unable to accept the command. In that event it will be offered to General Voyron, provided the French fall in with the arrangement, which Count von Waldersee believes will be the case. Such an offer to General Voyron would have the effect, it is thought, of overcoming the differences which have existed between the French and Germans, because it would be a demonstration of Count von Waldersee's confidence in the military ability of the French contingent.

Ere long an announcement is expected that the destination of the proposed expedition is Sian-fu. The foreign envoys believe its object is to be to compel the Chinese to accept the terms of the powers. It is thought that when it becomes known that the expedition has started that the imperial court will hasten to comply immediately with all the demands of the joint note.

The military are much elated at the prospect of active service. Many believe the Chinese army will strive to the uttermost to protect the province of Shensi against invasion.

Troops Ordered Afield.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Peking correspondent of The Times says: "A general order has been issued directing the forces under Count von Waldersee's command to prepare to take the field, the idea being an expedition in the spring to Tai-yuen-fu, province of Shansi, or farther. The position is full of difficulties. It requires firmness and patience and not an impetuous expedition to the interior, which is only likely to drive the court farther westward."

A Russo-Chinese Railway Project.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—It is reported from Nagasaki that an agreement has been concluded between China and the Russo-Chinese bank for the construction of a railway from Lake Baikal, Siberia, to Port Arthur. The bank in return for constructing the line gets the right to work it for 30 years. The informant asserts also that a line is projected from Kiakhta to Peking.

The Cranes Make Up Tax Deficit.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 18.—The treasurer of the town of Dalton has received a check of $3,306 from Governor Crane and a similar check from Zenas Crane, making a total of $6,612 given by the governor and his brother to make up a deficit in the town treasury caused by a falling off of the corporation tax returns this year. The corporation and bank tax refund in 1899 was $14,600. The selectmen of Dalton, believing that the tax would be the same this year, appropriated that amount for public schools. Owing to the disposal of stock by the Messrs. Crane the tax received by the town this year was $7,988, which left the deficit stated above. The gift to the town was an entire surprise to the officials at Dalton.

Keller Said to Be Out of Danger.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Marshall Van Winkle, counsel for Thomas G. Barker, who shot the Rev. John Keller in Arlington, N. J., says that he is informed that the physicians attending the Rev. Keller have assured the patient's friends that he is out of danger. Mr. Van Winkle says he can prove that this assurance was given last Thursday. If the physicians do not make an early report to the court on Mr. Keller's condition, Mr. Van Winkle will ask the court to send the county physician to see Mr. Keller and report on his condition to the court so that Mr. Barker may be admitted to bail when the clergyman is reasonably sure of recovery.

Three Boys Drowned.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Three boys were drowned yesterday while skating near the cofferdam on the Hudson river below Haverstraw after a fight for life in which splendid courage was displayed by 13-year-old William Hessian, one of the victims. Four times he went to the rescue of James and Patrick Cochlan, 15 and 17 years old, and was dragged into the river. Thrice he regained firm ice and could have saved himself. Instead, he returned unflinchingly to the task of succoring the brothers and was drowned with them.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—John T. McCutcheon, the well known Chicago artist and newspaper man, who spent two years in the Philippines and who for several weeks has been seriously ill with pneumonia, will be taken to Asheville, N. C., in a short time. Unfortunate symptoms developed during the past week, and his friends became alarmed at his condition.

Persian Prince to Learn Russian.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—Prince Mohammed Ali Mirza, the Persian heir apparent, recently requested the Russian government to send a Russo-Persian scholar to instruct him in the Russian language, and S. M. Shapshal, a graduate in oriental languages, has gone to Teheran with a three years' appointment.

RAMAPO LOOMS UP.

The New York Legislature Promises Some Sensations This Week.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—Anti-Ramapo measures are likely to occupy the front of the legislative stage during the coming week. They have temporarily displaced the tax bills in the attention of both senate and assembly, and before next Friday's adjournment something sensational connected with their progression in both houses is expected. The cities committee of the assembly and the judiciary committee of the senate have been wading through a mass of Ramapo company briefs for nearly two weeks. The members of both bodies have declared that they need time to consider and will take it regardless of popular clamor from New York or any other quarter. The moment either one of the so called Ramapo repeal bills is reported out a most lively debate is anticipated.

Many of the legislators who will participate in the debate have only just learned that they have been laboring under a misapprehension regarding the provisions of the "repeal" Ramapo bill. The bill does not repeal the charter of the company, but only the act of 1895, through which greater powers were conferred upon the company. It is said that this fact will have much to do with the ultimate action taken upon the bills.

Although temporarily switched, the tax proposition has by no means become obscured. The bills taxing insurance companies, trust companies and banks are expected to be perfected during the coming week. Then they will be pushed to a speedy conclusion. Governor Odell left no doubt as to where he stands in his interview with the trust company representatives.

There will be more debate upon the anti-Christian Science bill during the week, as it is expected that the measure will be reported out of committee "just to give it a chance on the floor." The debate promises to be both brisk and unique.

The week will begin, however, with a eulogy tonight in the senate on the late Senator Parsons.

Mrs. Anna Franz, alleged to be a professional beggar, was arrested in Wall street, New York city, where she exposed a child of 9 months to the rigors of the weather.

Columbus Came Very Late.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Schuye Sonoda, a Buddhist priest of Japan, has just returned here from Mexico with what he regards as convincing proof that his people discovered America 1,000 years before Columbus and carried their faith along the Pacific coast from Alaska to Mexico. Sonoda has been assisted by Senor Batres, archaeologist of the Mexican government. Sonoda followed the chronicles of Hoeir Shin, a Buddhist monk, who in 499 A. D., returned to his native land with an account of explorations that reached to a land he called Fu Sang, now identified by Sonoda with Mexico, because of the maguey plant.

Bursting Shell Did Little Injury.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 18.—The damage done to one of the 13 inch guns on the battleship Kearsarge while she was cruising recently off Key West in the gulf of Mexico as the result of a shell exploding is said by her officers to be of a trivial nature. No damage has been done to the gun except to the rifling. A premature discharge of one of the shells was the cause. No interference has been occasioned to the daily routine of the ship.

Young Musician's Sudden Death.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 18.—Ethelbert Nevin, musician and composer, died suddenly here yesterday of heart disease at his lodgings, 40 Trumbull street. He was 38 years old. Mr. Nevin came to New Haven about five weeks ago to be associated with Professor Parker of Yale university in his musical work. He was in perfect health until last Friday, when he complained of feeling unwell, although no serious trouble was anticipated.

May Not Sell Islands.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—"The Danish government," says the Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail, "has suddenly broken off all dealings with the United States regarding the sale of the Danish West Indies. This is due to a satisfactory offer made by the Danish East Asian Steamship company to assist and in the future to administer the islands. The American government has been notified as to this decision."

Disturbances Continue In Spain.

MADRID, Feb. 18.—The Valencia newspapers assert that anticlerical demonstrations occurred Thursday last at Sueca and Jativa. In the former town a mob marched through the streets to the Jesuit convent and tore down the name plates. Fifteen hundred demonstrators paraded in Jativa, bearing black flags and tricolors. They were dispersed by gendarmes.

ROOSEVELT'S OUTING.

Hair Raising Stories Denied—An Enjoyable Hunting Expedition.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Feb. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt is in Colorado Springs, the guest of P. B. Stewart, who was one of the members of the hunting party in Rio Blanco county during the first three weeks of the ex-governor's outing. The vice president elect is in most excellent health and spirits and will return to the east in perfect condition for the arduous duties upon which he is to enter so soon. His time until the inauguration will be taken up with attending to his correspondence, the accumulation of six weeks. A public reception will be tendered him in this city this afternoon at 5 o'clock. He expressed the desire that nothing in the nature of a banquet be held, and the reception will be simply a public informal hand shaking occasion, granted to the people of Colorado Springs by the vice president elect.

Ex-Governor Roosevelt is much annoyed over the hair raising stories that have been circulated concerning his hunting experiences. He gave out the following statement:

"No correspondent of any newspaper no man who wrote to or gave any information to any newspaper, was within 40 miles of where I was hunting at any time during the five weeks I was out. The sensational stories, such as those describing adventures with bears and wolves, were deliberate and willful fabrications and, I understand, were written by men who were not within hundreds of miles of where I was. We did not see a bear or wolf on the entire trip. Aside from lynx and smaller game, our hunting was confined to hunting the so called mountain lions or panthers. I got 12 of them. I never enjoyed a holiday more. I have never been out with a better hunter than John Goff. His hounds are, without exception, the best I have ever seen for the work. As I am obliged to go east in view of the nearness of the inauguration, I am, to my great regret, unable to address the Colorado legislature in accordance with their kind request. I cannot sufficiently express my appreciation of the generous courtesy and hospitality with which I have been treated in Colorado, and I shall eagerly hail the first chance to again come to the state."

PROOF AGAINST CARMAN.

American Contractor and Spanish Partner Dealt With Insurgents.

MANILA, Feb. 18.—Eighty men of the Fifth United States infantry and a detachments of scouts surprised the insurgent leaders Villamor and Alejandris near Paperia. Villamor was wounded.

There have been further incriminating developments in the charge against Mr. D. M. Carman, the American contractor who with his partner, Theodorio Carranza, a Spanish merchant, was arrested on Feb. 6 charged with furnishing supplies to aid the insurgents. Proof has been secured of his dealings with the rebels, showing that he supplied them with uniforms, provisions, money and some arms. The investigation will be continued.

Many insurgent officers are surrendering.

A Result of the Fight That Failed.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 18.—Mayor Julius Fleischmann and W. N. Hobart have resigned as directors of the Cincinnati May Festival association. The mayor was a liberal patron of the biennial musical events here. Hobart has been a director in this association for a quarter of a century and connected with it since its organization. He has been president of it for 18 years. These resignations are due to the opposition of others in the May Festival directory to the contest that was scheduled for last Friday night between Jeffries and Ruhlin. Hobart, who has been noted as a factor in public spirited enterprises, is one of the members of the old Sangerfest board and also a director in the Sangerfest Athletic association.

The Steel Trust In England.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Standard, in the course of a special article on the American steel trust, admits that "it is a serious menace to British industry," but thinks that "American users of steel goods will also be squeezed to the last cent short of damage to the trade." "It remains to be seen," continues The Standard, "whether the American people will much longer tolerate a fiscal policy which renders such a combination possible. If the trust indulges overmuch in squeezing, the revulsion may carry the nation much further than is dreamed of now in the direction of free trade."

Buffalo Pioneer Dead.

BUFFALO, Feb. 18.—Barton Atkins, 74 years old, a pioneer resident of Buffalo, is dead. In early life Mr. Barton was prominently identified with business interests on the great lakes, having spent several years in Minneapolis, Duluth and St. Paul in connection with steamboat and railroad interests. He was a warm personal friend of former President Cleveland and in 1885 went to Alaska with a commission to be United States marshal for the district of Alaska.

Detective Buggy Finds a Murderer.

BUFFALO, Feb. 18.—Detective Sergeant Buggy of Chicago has positively identified the negro "Sunny Dale," who is serving a 30 day sentence in the penitentiary here, as William Howard, wanted in Chicago for the alleged murder of an undertaker's daughter in State street several years ago. The detective sergeant will start for Chicago with his prisoner as soon as extradition papers are ready.

Bank Robbed In Texas.

DALLAS, Feb. 18.—The Bank of Omaha, in Morris county, Tex., about 150 miles northeast of Dallas, has been robbed. The vault was blown open by three explosions and $2,000 taken from it. The bank furniture is a complete wreck and the building injured.

Milner's Proposition Objected To.

SYDNEY, Feb. 18.—Sir Alfred Milner having notified the government of New South Wales of his intention to send an officer to recruit in Australia for the South African constabulary, the government has replied that the colony objects to such a proceeding.

Sweden's Queen Improved.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 18.—The condition of Queen Sophia is so much improved that it is now believed she will no longer be confined to her bed at all.

Earthquake In Austria.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—Slight earthquake shocks occurred yesterday in the districts of Trieste and Laibach.

MRS. NATION LIVELY.

A Busy Sunday In Topeka. Four Times Arrested.

EARLY MORNING ANTISALOON RAID.

Bar Fixtures In a Barn Wrecked. Cold Storage Plant Searched For Liquors—Five Hundred Men and Women Aid.

TOPEKA, Feb. 18. Mrs. Carrie Nation put in a busy Sunday in Topeka, and as a result the capital city has experienced more genuine excitement than can be remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Mrs. Nation literally crammed the day with thrilling episodes. She succeeded in having the contents of a notorious "joint" smashed, broke into a cold storage plant where a number of fine bars had been stored away for safety and demolished them, addressed a large mass meeting of men and women and was arrested four times. The last time that the law laid its hands upon her was when Mrs. Nation emerged from the church where the mass meeting had been held.

Last night Mrs. Nation announced that she would begin today where she left off and will not rest until all the "joints" in Topeka have been closed.

Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, just as the big bell on the Church of the Assumption tower was striking the hour, Mrs. Nation sallied forth from the statehouse grounds at the head of 500 men and women, all armed with hatchets and axes, and moved on the "joints" of the city. Nobody but Mrs. Nation knew what plans she had laid.

In the crowd were a large number of students of Washburn college, some of the ministers of the city and a number of professional and business men. The crowd marched in perfect military order, the men and women following their recognized leader, whom they seemed to trust implicitly. The company marched silently out of the statehouse grounds, down Kansas avenue, to the place on East Seventh street kept by Ed Murphy. When Murphy's place was reached, the work of demolition began. Mrs. Nation, brandishing a new hatchet, headed the onslaught, uttering words of deprecation against the "joint" keepers as she sent her weapon through the first plate glass window at hand. Others followed her lead quickly. Amid the shouts of the crusaders and the dictatorial commands of the policemen present trying to protect the property glass was soon crashing to the ground on all sides. Next the door was smashed in with an ax, and the beer kegs, bottles, mirrors and everything smashable were attacked. Hardly five minutes after Mrs. Nation had begun the smashing what was once a well furnished saloon was in complete ruins.

Her work over, Mrs. Nation proudly emerged from the place and was arrested. She went along with the officer, followed by her band and the crowd that had gathered. At the police station she was released promptly and hurried back to her work.

She entered a livery barn in which bars had been stored and smashed them. Then, at the head of 25 of her stout hearted followers, she went to the Moser cold storage plant and entered upon a search for some liquor that she thought had been stored there. This time Mrs. Nation was arrested by the county authorities and was taken to the jail in a patrol wagon. It was after noon before she was released from jail on bond, and after taking dinner with Sheriff Cook she went to the First Presbyterian church, where she was accosted by an officer with a warrant and taken to the county jail again. She staid this time for two hours, and finally her bond was signed by one of the joint keepers of the city, a prominent negro politician.

The gathering of the crusaders at the statehouse grounds before daylight was conducted with the utmost secrecy. Very few knew about the intended raid except those going to take part in it.

Sudden Riches In Oil.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Oil strikes in California are making poor men millionaires as in the old days in Pennsylvania. One of the strangest of these freaks of fortune came to John A. Bunting, a former freight brakeman on the Southern Pacific road, who has just ordered a $30,000 private car. Ten years ago Bunting was keeper of a railroad water tank on the desert near Tucson, A. T. Then he was advanced and finally became a freight brakeman. He loaned a friend $170 and took as collateral a watch and a mortgage on 40 acres of land in Kern county. The friend did not pay, so Bunting sold the watch and foreclosed the mortgage on the land. He tried to sell the land, but could not get anything for it. Recently oil was struck near his place. He resigned and began to develop his property. He struck oil and now is rated as a millionaire.

Prominent Railroad Man Dead.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 18.—Colonel William H. Stevenson, former general manager of the New York division of the Consolidated railroad and later vice president of the Housatonic railroad system and a prominent figure in Democratic state politics, is dead at his home in this city of cerebral meningitis induced by an attack of the grip. Colonel Stevenson was taken ill two weeks ago, and for a week past his condition has been dangerous. He was 44 years old.

Four Killed In Railway Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—The east bound limited express train which left here at 10 a. m. was wrecked at Mills City, Nev., Saturday night. The fireman and three passengers were killed. The conductor, engineer, one brakeman, two postal clerks and one passenger were injured. All the passengers were badly shaken up. The train ran into a washout which had been caused by a cloudburst. All trains east and west were abandoned for 48 hours.

Accidental Shooting.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Joseph Jaurewski of 527 Westinghouse avenue, this city, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his gun. He was looking down the barrel when the mishap occurred. The barrels of the gun were choked with snow. The top of his head was blown off.

Measles Take a Family.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—With the exception of the mother, the entire Turner family of Shaftesbury, Vt., has been wiped out by the measles. Eight died in a month. John Turner, the last victim, was buried Saturday.

Mr. Ayres' Appointment.

Unusual interest is taken in the meeting of the Common Council this evening owing to the fact that several matters of special importance are to be considered. While there is ordinarily nothing particularly important about the appointment of an overseer of the poor, yet there is a great deal of conjecture at present regarding the probable action of the Council over this same office.

At the last meeting of the Council Mayor Jenkins presented the name of Alexander Ayres as his choice for overseer of the poor. The nomination was a surprise for all the members of the Council except Mr. Lee, at whose recommendation Mr. Ayres' name was presented. The Council confirmed the appointment, then reconsidered its action and laid the appointment on the table. Since that time there has been no end of talk as to just what will be done in the matter.

The reason why the appointment was laid over was because Mr. Ayres was unknown to a majority of the members of the Council, and they desired to look into his qualifications before passing on his appointment. Since that time there has been a quiet investigation. According to reports, most of the members of the Council are satisfied that he will answer the requirements and will vote to confirm the appointment.

It has been customary in the past for the chairman of the alms committee to confer with his associates before recommending a man to the Mayor and there has been considerable criticism of Mr. Lee for failing to do so. Had Mr. Lee's choice for an overseer of the poor been brought to the attention of the other members of the Council in time, much of the present trouble would have been averted.

Another subject of importance which will come before the meeting this evening will be the applications for saloons and hotels. As there are just the same number of applicants as there were licenses granted last year, it is but reasonable to suppose that all will be granted.

The city of Milwaukee needs a new superintendent of schools. At a meeting of the School Board there, relates the Philadelphia Record, it was decided that the most certain method of reaching the best man for the office would be by the use of the advertising columns of the newspapers. Director Hoyt in his address to the board emphasized the facts that the newspapers are read by all persons who are intelligent enough to manage the schools, and that therefore a newspaper "ad" would give better results than an announcement in the educational publications.

It was only last week when a man from Orange hunted the entire length of West Eighth street, in an effort to find the residence of a friend. The friend happened to live on West Seventh street but there wasn't a street sign to be found and so the stranger made a miscount and landed on the wrong street. Since then he has been telling his friends what a city Plainfield is without a single street sign. There are hundreds of other cases. Such advertising is not to be desired. Let the Common Council act on the matter tonight.

Robert A. Meeker, of this city, State supervisor of roads, is now a candidate for the position of United States road expert, which has just been made vacant by the death of the last incumbent. Those who know Mr. Meeker and are at all acquainted with his work for good roads in New Jersey feel that he is well qualified for the place. He has had long and varied experience in road building and is now one of New Jersey's most valued officials in the department of roads of the State.

It is the duty of the street committee to bring before the Common Council this evening the question of street signs for the city. They are greatly needed as the committee has already admitted and there is a strong public sentiment for them. If, however, the street committee fails to do its duty, then there should be some member of the Council who has the interests of the city sufficiently at heart to introduce the subject.

Plainfield is fortunate in possessing a citizen of the ability of Former Mayor W. L. Saunders. Besides being a clever amateur actor, Mr. Saunders has the faculty of successfully managing the production and the great success which met the production of "The Private Secretary" at Music Hall Saturday evening, was largely due to his efforts.

Assemblyman Meeker must expect no end of criticism when he introduces a bill of the importance of the anti-spring election bill without consulting the leaders of his party. Every important newspaper in the State has had something to say on the subject and all the comments are not highly complimentary to Mr. Meeker.

It is seldom that the people of Plainfield give such united support as they did to "The Private Secretary" Saturday night. They will turn out in even larger numbers tomorrow night for the oratorio "Elijah."

The New Jersey Legislature will meet again this evening. Although no action of particularly great importance is expected, there is no telling what may happen.

It is time that city and borough united to take some active steps against the gang of burglars which are working so successfully in the two communities.

Street signs are needed. It is the duty of the Common Council to provide for them. Let the matter be introduced tonight.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The bill introduced in the Legislature by Senator Reed, of Somerset county, providing for the abolition of the poll tax in New Jersey is not by any means a new measure, but there are many indications that it would be a popular one to pass. Time was when the poll tax was an important if not a necessary requirement in the matter of meeting the expenses of the State and counties, but the increased revenues from new sources are, as was recently said by Senator Reed, sufficient to warrant the abolition of a tax which is reluctantly paid.—New York Tribune.

Senator Reed's bill abolishing the poll tax may not become a law, but it is a just and fair measure, nevertheless. As matters now stand, practically only those who also pay a property tax are compelled to pay a poll tax. Men who possess no taxable property calmly ignore their poll tax bills, and seldom is there any attempt made to collect them. Now and then an ultra-energetic collector enforces the penalty of imprisonment for non-payment of poll tax, but such procedure is obnoxious to public sentiment, and inevitably calls forth a storm of protest. Since there is no pretence of uniformity in the collection of poll taxes, fairness and regard for the spirit of the Constitution demand their abolition. — New Brunswick Times.

The loss on the furniture, which was almost totally destroyed, is also fully insured. Mrs. Boyle was not at home at the time the fire broke out which accounts for the headway gained before the arrival of the department. The work of the latter in extinguishing the flames called for much commendation on the part of a number of citizens who witnessed their efforts.

MAGNIFICENT MUSIC AT "ELIJAH" CONCERT.

Elijah awakens, and again wearily prays for death, but in reply comes an aria for contralto, "Oh, Rest in the Lord," one of the most exquisite solos ever written, and breathing the very spirit of heavenly comfort. A majestic chorus, "He That Shall Endure to the End," follows, after which Elijah is directed to Mount Horeb, where, as is told in a most striking and dramatic chorus, the tempest, the earthquake and the fire pass by him, each, in turn, being almost seen by the hearer through the wonderful musical effects. Then comes to him the "still, small voice," described in tones of almost heavenly sweetness, and a chorus, soft and sweet, singing of the worship of the heavenly host.

Elijah's songs are no longer plaintive and discouraged; his aria, "For the Mountains Shall Depart," is full of strength and courage. A strong and impressive chorus tells of the further work of the prophet, then, after a significant pause, there is vividly pictured, in another chorus, intense and picturesque, the coming of the fiery chariot and the translation to Heaven.

A tenor aria, "Then Shall the Righteous Shine, and a brief soprano solo follow, and with the chorus. "But the Lord," a beautiful quartette giving the gospel invitation, and a grand final chorus, "Then Shall Your Light Break Forth as the Light of the Morning," the oratorio comes to a close.

As the rendition of so many numbers requires a considerable time, some parts of the oratorio are usually omitted, when it is sung at the present day. At the concert Tuesday evening, the choruses "Woe to Him," "Go, Return Upon Thy Way," "Then Did Elijah," and "But the Lord" will not be sung.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Few people realize the danger resulting from allowing melting snow and water to remain on the streets and pavements in the winter months. Though it causes but slight inconvenience in mild weather nevertheless an unexpected snap of freezing weather swiftly transforms the slushy material on the streets and pavements rendering it exceedingly dangerous to pedestrians. In this respect complaint has been made particularly against the state of affairs existing on Somerset street, immediately in front of the Manhattan Hotel. Here it has been more or less of a custom to permit a hydrant in front of the hotel property to run from time to time, and as a consequence therefrom several persons have sustained nasty falls. A little attention promptly given to matters of this nature is often the means of saving a greater expense to fellow-citizens later on.

A Strange Bird.

As a curiosity of the feathered tribe Arthur Krom, of Madison avenue, has what is known as a gross hawk, which was captured alive near Liberty Corners. It is a rare species of a bird, very few persons in this section having ever seen one. The color is of a dull slate, with a white breast, and is about the size of a chicken hawk. For sometime the bird has been in the possession of Frank Hedden, of East Fourth street. Mr. Krom has just purchased it and intends to stuff and mount it.

Proceedings Dismissed.

In the matter of the dispossession proceedings instituted by Annie E. Warnock against Frank E. Schaeffer to recover possession of her premises on Duer street, Justice Mattison, of North Plainfield, dismissed the proceedings at the hearing, this morning, on the ground that the plaintiff's case was fatally defective by reason of the fact that a difference existed in the amount of rent due as set forth in the affidavit and the sum actually proven to be in arrear at the hearing.

To Improve Old Store.

William L Smalley, Jr., the butcher, who has been conducting a shop at the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, has decided to return to his old stand, corner of Somerset and Race streets, in the borough. The shop will be completely overhauled, and among the improvements will be an entirely new plate glass front.

Decision Reserved.

In the case of Chamberlain against Suydam in Justice Smalley's court in the borough, the Justice has reserved his decision until next Wednesday.

DRUNKEN COWS FIGHT.

Sanguinary Conflict Takes Place After a Sumptuous Meal on Fermented Sugar Cane.

The most exciting affair in the vicinity of Bronson, Fla., of late was the ferocious combat between two of Farmer Hawkins' intoxicated cows the other day, causing the death of one after a fight that would put a modern bull fight to blush.

Hawkins lives four miles from Bronson, and prides himself upon his fine stock. He makes lots of cane sirup also. In the grinding season most of the farmers in this country make beer for home consumption from the "cane skimmings," but Hawkins is a staunch teetotaler and vowed he would give the skimmings to his cows. So he filled the trough full the other afternoon, not dreaming of the tragic consequences to follow.

Soon two of his pet cows came up and began drinking the liquid. It tasted good, and the cows wanted more. Soon they had on a goodly "jag," and they got belligerent. One plunged at the other, trying to get possession of the trough. The other, with a bellow of defiance, gored her antagonist in the side with artistic skill. The other turned tail for a moment, and then came rushing back, pinning the cow to a post and goring her frightfully.

The fight then became general. The infuriated animals bellowed and plunged at each other and fought with deadly earnestness. This was kept up for a half an hour, when one was knocked down in a dying condition, and the other was just able to walk around and bellow triumphantly. The men folks heard the uproar, but did not get to the scene of the warfare in time to stop it.

Mr. Hawkins is one out cow, but has lots of experience. The old settlers around there say this is a common occurrence where cattle drink this skimmings, as it makes them fighting drunk and a scrimmage follows. In the old times it was one of the boys' sports to get a drove of cattle in a inclosure and feed them with cane skimmings and watch the fight that would follow.

FORCED TO PAY BRIBE.

Senator Hanna Was Mercilessly Guyed by a Sharp Newsboy in a Cleveland Street Car.

One dollar was the price Senator Hanna was compelled to pay the other day as one of the penalties of his greatness. While going to his home in one of the Cleveland street cars he was stared at and made uncomfortable from the moment he climbed aboard the car until he left it, and all the trouble was caused by a newsboy who makes more money by his wits than by selling papers. The boy is a familiar figure on the Cleveland street cars, and he always has some comment which proves interesting to the passengers.

The other day he boarded a street car after the senator got on. Walking through the car he looked straight into the eye of the senator and sang in a clear voice:

"I don't know why I love you, but I do."

The passengers laughed, and the senator looked embarrassed. Passing through the car the newsie turned again toward the senator and sang:

"Because he makes them goo-goo eyes."

There was another outburst of laughter, and the senator looked more disturbed than ever.

Finally the boy walked toward the front of the car, where the senator was sitting.

"Piper," he yelled, "all about Senator Hanna overcome by heat in a snowstorm at Berea."

Mr. Hanna's face turned red, and, calling the boy quickly to him, he handed him a silver dollar, at the same time whispering something to him. The boy made straight for the door. He turned his head and once more sang:

"I don't know why I love you, but I do."

Then he dropped from the car.

NEW JOB FOR GIRLS.

Down in Chili's Metropolis Women Collect Car Fares.

Valparaiso Tram Cars Ruled by Conductresses of Complacent Disposition — When Not Too Busy They Read Novels.

The most startling feature of life in the Chilian metropolis, Valparaiso, that strikes the foreigner is the street car service. The conductors on the cars are all women, and that in a country where woman has by no means reached the high standing in social and public life of her sisters in the United States.

The girls who run the cars are, with few exceptions, very pretty, and there seems to be little objection to their novel occupation. The male passengers, of course, are pleased, and the few who are not too polite and gallant give vent to their sentiments. The female passengers are proud of the fact that this important occupation is in the hands of women.

The fact is that Valparaiso's female conductors are exceedingly courteous and obliging. They are usually a strong and robust set, and they sympathize especially with women passengers accompanied by children, whom they help board and alight from the cars.

The fair conductresses deserve every cent of their wages, which amounts to about 50 cents per day in United States money. For this they collect all fares and name the streets crossed by the tramway. Nor do they mouth their phrases as do their brothers in New York and Chicago.

On some of the lines leading into the suburbs the conductresses have an easy time.

Seats are provided for them in all the cars, and it is not an unusual thing during the dull hours to see them taking it easy, reading novels or the daily papers. They are neatly dressed in black, with white aprons, in the pockets of which they put their money and tickets. They wear broad-brimmed sailor hats.

The bane of their existence are the men inspectors who are detailed to count the passengers to see that they do not "knock down" fares. They have nicknamed these men "Judases."

A Yankee has little trouble to make himself at home, writes a Chicago Chronicle correspondent. Landing at the wharves one is surprised to find nearly every business man speaks English, and one soon finds that the English and Germans monopolize the business. The signs are European, and there are few Chilian names upon them. Most of the book stores keep only English books. There are scores of Englishmen on the streets, and one sees many pretty English and German girls shopping in the stores. The improvements are more like those of one of our cities than those of a South American town. The stores have plate glass windows, and the goods are as well displayed as in New York or Chicago. The streets are paved with Belgian blocks, and there are drays, cabs and carriages moving along them.

Here and there one sees a vegetable peddler or a baker with his stock in panniers on the sides of a mule, but the most of the trading and freighting is done with carts.

Valparaiso has cable connection with Europe and the United States. It has telegraphic lines which keep it in touch with all parts of Chili, and its long-distance telephones reach Santiago and other points. The telegraph here is as cheap, if not cheaper, than in any other country.

South America is fast passing out of the hands of the Spanish-American natives. I mean as far as the valuable properties and business of all kinds are concerned. From the coast of lower California to Valparaiso there has been of recent years a great German commercial invasion, which has been crowding out the English who had come before. The strongest foreign element in Central America to-day is the German. The Germans own the best of the coffee plantations of Guatemala.

Judge Was a Busy Man.

Col. Richard Malcolm Johnston tells a good story of an eminent Georgian, Walter T. Colquitt, who was a judge by day, a divine at night, and a good deal of a man all the time. While serving as a judge on the Chattachoochee circuit, Colquitt was returning one evening from church in company with several members of the bar. "Well," said he, "my experience to-day has been varied. I held court in the afternoon, in the interval for dinner made a political speech in the courthouse square, held court in the afternoon, and after adjourning whipped a whig who made insulting remarks in my presence about my noon speech, and preached to-night."

SAVAGERY IN HAY

Cannibalism and Witchcraft Ar Mingled in Religious Rites.

Demoniacal Ceremonials Witnessed by a Government Scientist—Voodooism the Accepted Religion of Millions of Blacks.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, the famou government explorer, has just returned to Washington with a grew some story from Hayti, where he has the remarkable privilege of witnessing a voodoo ceremonial—one of thos demoniacal orgies which on that is land celebrate the worship of th Great Yellow Serpent. This serpent represented at the festivals of th devil's cult by a harmless native species of snake, is supposed to be an incarnation of the arch fiend himself possessing all knowledge, but approachable only through his priest. and priestesses—the watchers at the shrine of Obeah, who is otherwise known as Ju-ju. Mumbo-jumbo, o. Vaudoux, the last of these names being commonly corrupted into Voodoo.

"Cannibalism is a conspicuous feature of these rites," said Prof. Hill "It is unquestionably a fact tha large numbers of young children ar offered up annually in Hayti as sacrifices to the Great Yellow Snake. Indeed, it is known that mothers frequently dedicate their infants at birth to this purpose. the fatal ceremony being postponed ordinarily until the victim has reached the age of about two years. Invariably the ritua winds up in a feast, the details o which are too horrible to be described Only when human prey is not obtainable is a black goat, which must not have a white spot on it, or a white cock used as a substitute. The cock chosen for this purpose is always one of those freak chickens which have their featners growing the wrong way.

"The religion of Vaudoux seems to be preserved on the island of Hayti with more of its pristine purity than anywhere else in the world, not excepting Africa. The republic of Hayti, in fact, is nothing more nor less than a piece of the dark continent set down near our shores. Its population, numbering about 1,000,000 souls, is composed of remnants of hundreds of savage tribes brought thither during the slave dealing days to work on the plantations. They were savages when they arrived and they are savages still, retaining their ancient customs and institutions.

"The ceremonials are rituals of witchcraft and are held for the purpose of gaining various favors from the Great Yellow Serpent, such as the cure of sickness, the bringing down of evil upon enemies, and even the causing of death to persons who may have given offense to the society or to individual members. As the dances progress they become more and more furious, usually ending in a frenzy that overcomes all the participants, who become crazy for the time being, many of them falling into a sort of cataleptic condition. The culmination of the orgy is the sacrifice of a living animal and the drinking of its blood, which is passed around for that purpose in a jug, mixed with rum. Finally, the victim is boiled in a pot and eaten.

"Each voodoo ceremony is presided over by a sorcerer-in-chief, known as the Papeloi, who is assisted by a witch woman called the Mameloi. These personages have attained their high rank in the society, as it is understood, through the long practice of extraordinary wickedness, and usually they are of hideous aspect, the notion being that their supernatural power varies directly with their ugliness. Nobody dares to disobey them, inasmuch as to do so would be to invite the most dreadful consequences, and they are able to devote their entire time to evil-doing, being maintained by gifts which their followers bestow upon them in the nominal shape of offerings to the devil god. It is worth mentioning, by the way, that the kidnaping of children for sacrifices is not infrequent in Hayti, and not long ago a lady missionary testified that to her certain knowledge human flesh was often sold in the markets of the interior towns. This last might seem incredible were it not realized how well-nigh universal is cannibalism in the dark continent, and that most of the people of Hayti are almost unmodified savages."

Wedding Garments by the Day.

In Philadelphia there are three or four establishments where wedding garments and mourning clothes may be hired by the day. A bridal outfit worth perhaps $150 or more is loaned to a bride at an expense of from $10 to $15. The owner sometimes engages a detective to watch the bride, to see that she doesn't skip with the gay toggery.

It is a well-known fact that tailors experience more suffering from headaches than any other class of industrial workers. The constant buzz of the sewing machines and the heavy atmosphere caused by the heating apparatus used for pressing and sponging clothing are responsible for this in a measure. A well-known merchant tailor of Philadelphia, a prominent man in his community, says: "For over ten years I was a 'presser,' then I became a partner of the establishment with which I am now connected. Having charge of the pressing and ironing department, I am compelled to spend most of my time in a room that is overheated and where the atmosphere is very heavy. This resulted in giving me frequent headaches, and I sometimes suffered great pain. The medicines prescribed by my physician brought me no relief and I was on the verge of despair when a friend induced me to try Ripans Tabules. FISHING ADVENTURE

Chicago Man Has Fight with Three Big Alligator Gars.

Vanquished Them All with the Aid o a Hatchet—It Was a Struggle for Life and Lasted for Fully an Hour.

Louis Hausler, of South Chicago, had an adventure on Old Town lake recently which came near ending his life. Single-handed and armed with nothing but a small hatchet he met and conquered three enormous alligator gars in a fight that lasted the best part of an hour. Every minute of that time Mr. Hausler was engaged not only in dodging the enormous jaws of the vicious and voracious beasts, but in preventing them from overturning the skiff in which he was. Had they done that his life would not have been worth a minute's purchase.

Mr. Hausler for 35 years fished along the shore of Lake Michigan, and was the first to begin the manufacture of caviare from the eggs of lake sturgeon. Since the supply of this fish failed he has branched out into other waters. This year, with a number of other Chicago fishermen, he descended the Mississippi in search of the fleeting "shovel bills." Most of the party went to the White river, but Mr. Hausler, learning of good fishing in Old Town lake, landed there and stacked ten immense crates of seines box-nets, trammels, and other knitted traps on the bank.

Old Town lake is a hollow, some 20 miles south of Helena, Ark. The ground has sunk, and the hollow, 15 miles long, has filled with water. The lake so formed is full of cypress stumps, which make net-placing difficult. The surroundings are desolate in the extreme, consisting of thick cypress woods and dense undergrowths of tangled vines.

On his first visit to the lake, say. the Chicago Tribune, Mr. Hausler set a light gill net in the lake in a likely looking place to find if the fish were running. Returning in his skiff next morning he found that the whole line of cork floats had been drawn under water. He could not understand what was pulling at the net, but grappling for the leading line he started to haul the netting in. Suddenly there was a rush through the water, and a pair of enormous jaws were thrust over the side of the skiff and snapped within half a foot of his arm.

"I thought I was gone," said Mr. Hausler. "The jaws were immense. They could have taken in not only my arm, but a good part of my body as well, and were armed with three rows of wicked-looking teeth. I saw at once that it was an alligator gar, and a big one. I grabbed a hatchet—my only weapon—and struck him on the jaw, but made no cut. The creature is covered with scales from which a revolver bullet will turn flattened. The skiff was near overturning, and I was hunting for a vulnerable place on the big one, when two more that seemed to be just as big came rushing up. It seemed every minute as if I would be in the water or in their jaws. They raged and beat the water up, and the noise of their snapping jaws was frightful. After raining almost countless blows in vain, I found a spot on the head where the hatchet would penetrate and succeeded in burying it three or four times in the brain of the biggest one. At last he gave up the fight, and I turned to the other two. I was almost an hour engaged in the struggle for my life, but I killed the three of them. By that time the skiff was almost wrecked, and I was exhausted. I went ashore and got help, and we hauled in the net and found all three enmeshed in it, and got them ashore.

The largest was eight feet long and weighed 259 pounds. The smallest was six feet and weighed 195 pounds. They are the largest I have ever seen. I gave them to some negroes to eat, for I had too much use for my hatchet to try to skin them."

The alligator gar is an immense fish which closely resembles the saurian, for which it is named. It has scales often an inch thick, which nothing short of a Winchester ball will penetrate. Its jaws are as large in proportion to its body as an alligator's.

There are authenticated instances of its killing men, and it is considered one of the chief terrors with which the southern fisherman has to contend.

Electric Wires Need Rest.

It is said that telegraph and telephone wires are better conductors on Monday than on Saturday, because of their comparative rest on Sunday. A rest of three weks, it is asserted, adds three per cent to their conductivity.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Materials and Styles For Fashionable Evening Costumes.

Fine, soft cloth is much employed for evening gowns in all sorts of delicate and artistic shades. Satin, striped gauzes and brocades, also, in fact, all varieties of rich and dainty goods, are employed, but perhaps crepe de chine has somewhat the preference; it is so soft, so clinging, so well adapted to the flowing styles now prevailing. For a faultless figure closely fitting costumes of soft satin are charming, but where there is any angularity full, draped gowns of mousseline de soie or tulle are more becoming.

Cloth is immensely worn for all sorts of gowns. The cut shows a costume of light brown cloth, the skirt opening at each side of the tablier to show panels of chestnut velvet. Gold buttons decorate the edges. The bodice forms a slight blouse, opening over a full vest of brown velvet with gold dots. Bands of velvet terminating in gold ornaments pass across the shoulders, and the wide corselet belt is trimmed with three velvet bands, with bows at the side and gold buckles in front. The collar is faced with velvet. The sleeves are laid in lengthwise stitched plaits. The hat of brown chenille is trimmed with a drapery of panne and an ornamental plume in shades of brown and tan. WHAT IS WORN.

Exclusive Styles Seen In Parisian Ballrooms.

The empire styles have been revived in all their characteristics, in a few cases copied from historical ball gowns of the period. It is only a few women in Paris who have ventured to introduce them, however, and those are ladies of great wealth, very graceful figure and a large wardrobe, who wish to wear something distinctive. Such evening dress is not likely to become general or even fashionable in the ordinary sense.

Ball gowns for women who do not dance admit of the utmost splendor of fabric and may be as heavy and magnificent as the wearer chooses, although, generally speaking, transparent tissues are more worn. Damasks, velvets, brocades and panne vie with each other among such costumes, and whatever is fine, rich and becoming is acceptable.

The costume illustrated has a skirt of black cloth, with three graduated circular flounces bordered with black chenille. With this is worn a full bodice of black mousseline de soie, shirred at and above the waist to form a sort of corselet. The short bolero of black cloth has half length sleeves with large cuffs and is embroidered all over with black chenille, fastening at the side with large enameled buttons. Long sleeves of closely shirred black mousseline reach the wrists. The cravat of black tulle has long ends, which pass under the bolero. The hat of almond green taffeta is trimmed with black velvet, and the muff of black mousseline has ruffles of green taffeta and a cluster of gardenias. JUDIC CHOLLET.

White Men Losing Interest in the Game of LACROSSE

WHILE lacrosse promises to continue a great game with the Indians, followers of sport are at a loss to account for the recent slump in interest in the modern game as it is interpreted by white men—mostly Canadians. Thousands of people used to turn out in eastern cities to witness the exciting and fascinating game. In the 80's lacrosse enjoyed a great vogue and teams traveled over a great portion of the country exhibiting the fine points of the sport to admiring thousands. It was said that in Boston and surrounding towns there were enough lacrosse players to keep the athletes of the Six Nations busy. The followers of the sport defended it as vigorously as do the adherents of football in "standing up" for their favorite sport. Strength, agility, speed, a good eye, a quick mind, dexterity in handling the stick, accuracy in long throws and excellent judgment for combination plays, all such important factors in the game appealed to all who appreciated outdoor sport.

Visiting a great sporting goods supply house the other day I noticed some shipping clerks getting out orders of crosses for shipment to many cities. "Those crosses have been stored away for some time, but that makes them all the better," said the chief of the department. "We have had a lot of orders for the paraphernalia of lacrosse and I would not be surprised if there would be a great revival of interest in the game.

"Dick" Kelley, of Montreal, a crack center fielder in lacrosse, who occupies a position in the world of lacrosse followers somewhat similar to that held by that other Kelly, the famous "King Mike" of baseball, and fully equal to the famous position of "King Ad," the greatest football player Princeton ever had, is using his influence in the east to clothe the game with its old-time glory. John McLaughlin, one of the most famous players that the game ever produced in the United States—he was born in Quebec 38 years ago, but lived for over a score of years in Boston—has been comparing notes with "Dick" Kelley and the old-timers have come to the conclusion that baseball, tennis, horse racing and other outdoor sports will not be permitted to crowd lacrosse out this year.

Kelley is, perhaps, the best player of lacrosse the game has ever produced. It was while McLaughlin was captain of the Independents in 1866 that he asked "King" Kelley to visit Boston. The young Canadian at once dazzled the followers of the splendid game with his fleetness and brilliancy of play. It is a question whether the loyalty of the followers of Dr. Grace, the cricketer, was any greater than that of those who cheered Kelley. The Independents became almost invincible. With the combination play of McLaughlin on the attack and the fast work of Kelley in the field, the victories were won. What young man who was in the east in 1886 and 1887 failed to be impressed with the reports of the big crowds that assembled on the Common to see the lacrosse games played there upon Independence day? Clever stick-handling, swift passing and fine dodging combined to make the young man's exhibition better than that any red man had put up. An old-time enthusiast tells me that Kelley subsequently went back to Canada and outplayed the stars of that country. Later he joined the Brockville team, which had the greatest aggregation of stars in the country. But if these players shone with great brilliancy, the brilliancy of the center fielder was the light of a sun to that of a comet.

Kelley was the "Big Bill" Lange of the center field. The mere announcement that he was to play would be sufficient to attract a large throng. Besides it was known by every follower of the game that he scored the quickest game known in the history of the modernized sport of lacrosse. This was against the Capital club team of Ottawa, when he surprised the Ontario players by making a goal from the "face" in just eight seconds.

It has been said that the game of lacrosse is more exacting on the physical make-up of a man than even rowing. Certainly all the good lacrosse players are athletes. Polo requires a fine seat in the saddle, a quick eye, considerable strength of wrist and forearm and some nerve in handling the pony. But polo is tame compared to lacrosse. Kelley might not have become such a famous player had he not been a sprinter, able to run 100 yards in a little over ten seconds flat, a strong swimmer, a boxer, a wrestler and a rower.

The old-time lacrosse player does not forget the fine points of the game very easily, although his wind may fail him, just as it would go back on a college athlete who had not played football for some time. Members of the order of Elks will recall the game of lacrosse that was played at Boston during the carnival last year, in which McLaughlin put up a fine contest, despite his lack of training. He scored nearly all if not quite all of the goals of the winning team by his own work. It was McLaughlin who introduced New England to the real game of lacrosse. His team won the championship of that section of the country in 1882. Pick up any book on lacrosse records and you will find an account of the battle between the Independents, captained by McLaughlin, and the Montreal (Quebec) team in 1887. The Independents lost this contest by one goal after the most stubbornly fought game of its kind recorded in the annals of lacrosse. Had they won they might have claimed the world's championship.

In 1892 the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse association adopted some very well-poised rules concerning the game and the conventions of 1893, 1894 and 1895 revised these rules but little. At the beginning of the season of 1892 it was thought by many that lacrosse would supplant baseball to a great extent at the big colleges. Perhaps if the game were not so complicated, compared to the sport of the diamond, it might have gained a better hold on college athletes. However, the fact remains that almost anybody may "have a try at" baseball, but it is not easy to master lacrosse. The game of "work up to bat" in baseball fills in many an hour with mediocre ball players, but there is no such an opportunity for the lovers of lacrosse. Still such an authority as F. A. Coleman says that lacrosse is simple and free from the technicalities that bewilder the novice in baseball. The Indians used to play any number of men, but in the revised game the team has 12 players and the goals are 125 yards apart. These goals are something like diminutive football goals, the sticks being but six feet high and but six feet apart. Like in other games provided with goals, the object is primarily to keep the ball from the goal of your own team and to put it through the goal of the opposing team.

The referee is a power in himself in this game. Long lists of violations of the rules are given in the official guides of the game, and on each the referee may act. A player may have a crosse of any length to suit his style of play, but the woven catgut must not be so loose that it forms a bag. The netting must be flat when the ball is not on it and at its widest part the crosse must not be more than a foot wide. To prevent the point of the stick being used as a hook to catch the crosse of another player there must be a string run from it to the handle. The ball is made of sponge rubber and weighs about 5¾ ounces. Thomas Bendelow, the well-known Scotch golfer and friend of Harry Vardon, said the other day that he was more impressed with lacrosse when he first came to the United States than with baseball. But getting into an argument with an old lacrosse player the latter made fun of driving in golf and said that any good lacrosse player could hurl the ball farther with his crosse than a golfer could drive the gutta percha sphere with his wooden club. Bendelow can drive 200 yards when in form, almost at will. That is 600 feet. I do not think there is a lacrosse player in the world who can hurl a lacrosse ball that far. The goals of the lacrosse field are but 375 feet apart, and there never was a game where a goalkeeper had to stop a throw made by a player who shoots unmolested for a goal clear across the field. It would be safe to wager that there is nothing in the way of a crosse or club that will send a rubber ball half so far as a golf driver will send a 27½-pennyweight gutta percha sphere.

MAIL FOR FARMERS.

Practical Aspects of the Rural Free Delivery System.

Statesmen from Every Section of the Country Pronounce It an Unqualified Success in Every Respect.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THERE was recently held in the national capital a very important meeting of about 50 government officials. The daily newspapers have had nothing to say about it because the gathering was unpretentious, and the business men attending the conference did not herald their coming nor their going.

The meeting was held in the offices of the rural free delivery system. General Superintendent Machen had ordered all of the route inspectors and special agents of that system to assemble at the department here on a certain day. They came from all sections and promptly reported at the appointed time.

The general superintendent addressed them for about two hours, giving them clear and specific instructions concerning their work and impressing upon them its vast importance—not merely to the individuals benefited, but its immense importance to the business interests of the entire country. Those who desired to do so were invited to ask questions; and, in a few minutes, Superintendent Machen found himself fairly bombarded with inquiries.

The supervisors of the rural free delivery system constitute a fine body of active men, a majority of them young men, and all of them manifested their interest in the work by stating some of their experiences with postmasters and rural letter carriers. They were all anxious to receive instructions for their guidance in particular matters which had arisen from their peculiar experiences in their localities. It is exceedingly fortunate for this new service that the superintendent is a business man, familiar with the work in hand, so that he was readily able to take up the various inquiries, one by one, and dispose of them without delay.

It had been the intention of the superintendent to hold but one meeting for conference and instruction, but the officials were detained another day for a second meeting, which proved to be as entertaining and instructive as the first. The service is new, the employes are new to the work, and every one of them needed the enlightenment which was given in this informal manner. It would have required hundreds, and may be thousands, of letters to explain to them their duties, and even then they could not have understood them so well as they did after this conference.

Fortunately, and merely by accident, the correspondent of this paper happened to be there and learned facts which will be valuable to some readers, and probably interesting to all. The postmasters, rural mail carriers, their assistants and deputies should find these statements valuable. All readers who would know their rights in our country and comprehend them should be interested in the subject of rural free delivery.

A. W. MACHEN

One of the most important statements made by Superintendent Machen was this: "I want to impress upon you gentlemen the fact that no letter carrier who uses any form of intoxicating liquor shall be retained in this service. In making your inspections you will bear this constantly in mind. I will expect you to report every mail carrier whom you find to be a violator of this rule. The ladies and gentlemen in our cities receive their mail from carriers who do not drink liquor, and the ladies and gentlemen along the rural routes will be likewise considered and respected."

One of the inspectors reported that he found many of the mail carriers with ramshackle vehicles, with unbecoming clothes, and with uncleanly, untidy bodies; and that some of them did not wear the badges of the rural free delivery system. The superintendent replied: "This service is new and it is your duty to aid in bringing it to a state of perfection, at least approximating the system in our cities. Some of these carriers are very poor, and their pay is not large. But all of them can wear clean clothes and have clean faces. Moreover, every carrier must wear the badge of his office; and those carriers who do not wear the badge will be succeeded by carriers who will do so, and cheerfully comply with the rules and regulations. They should not be unfeelingly ordered, but kindly encouraged to take a personal interest in their work."

Congressman Loud, of California, chairman of the committee on post offices and post roads of the house of representatives, says: "This rural free delivery system has come to stay. The citizen on the farm has as much right to have his mail delivered to him at his house, or near his house, as the citizen who dwells in a city. It is a grand system and has come none too soon. Wherever it has been established the people are delighted with it and will not permit it to be discontinued."

In reply to personal inquiry Superintendent Machen said: "The practical work of this new system is only two years old, although the first efforts to establish it were made about four years ago. Great credit is due to Hon. Perry S. Heath, late first assistant postmaster general. He worked very hard for the original development of the system, and it was my pleasure to have been associated in that work. I hope that the farmers will all understand that we are doing our best to extend the system all over the country, and that they will be patient with us, for it is a tremendous undertaking which taxes all of our time and the best talents that we can devote to it."

Congressman Hepburn, of Iowa, one of the recognized veteran leaders in legislation, says: "Superintendent Machen is a modest fellow, but he deserves a great deal of credit for the work done, and doing. He was superintendent of free delivery, having charge of all the city letter carriers in the country. When this rural free delivery work was begun he was placed in charge of it. He has done this work in addition to his regular official duties, and has done it uncomplainingly, cheerfully, and without one cent of additional compensation. I think that an official who takes such an interest in the work of this federal government ought to have at least a 'thank you' in recognition of his services."

PERRY S. HEATH.
(Originator of the Rural Free Delivery System.)

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, recognized as the grand old man and veteran statesman of the south, ranking in his section in national and international affairs as the late Senator Davis, of Minnesota, ranked in the higher circles of statesmen, says: "I am growing too old to hope to live to see the fruition of this work, but I am glad to have lived long enough to see its inception, and to note the worthy efforts which have been made and are being made. The men, women and children who live on the farms and plantations have never obtruded their envy of the people in the cities. They have waited until the great republic could be rich enough and prosperous enough to give them the privileges which business necessities compelled the government to give to those who lived in town. I am sorry that this service has been an additional expense in its inception, but that is unavoidable. When this system is completed the country people will write more letters and enjoy closer intimacy with their relatives and friends; and then the income will approximate the outlay. It is a great mark of the advancement of our republic. Although I have sounded the gamut of life and have heard its wierd wails, as well as its grand symphonies, I would yet be glad if I might live to see the plain people in the country everywhere receiving and dispatching their mail at their homes."

During the conference mentioned above one of the special agents said: "Mr. Superintendent, the mail carriers are often hampered in their work by the unfortunate condition of the roads, and I do not think that they should be held responsible for occasional failures to make their schedule time, under such conditions." To this the superintendent replied:

"I want reports concerning the condition of the roads. I want the addresses of the county supervisors in all such cases. We have the cooperation of the department of agriculture in this matter, and one of the grand prospective results of this service is to be good roads. There is a bureau in the department of agriculture devoted especially to good roads throughout the country."

SUCCESSFUL TEA.

Given by Guild in Rectory of Chuuch of Holy Cross Yesterday Afternoon.

Marking the close of the pre-Lenton entertainments in the parish, the Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross gave a delightful tea at the rectory, on Washington avenue, Saturday afternoon between the hours of three and five. The affair was in charge of the social and sales committee of the Guild, and the members of that committee reflected great credit upon themselves and the parish in general for the able and successful manner in which the tea was conducted.

The first floor of the rectory was tastefully decorated for the occasion with potted palms and beautiful cut flowers. In the dining room tea, cocoa and chocolate were served and in the rooms adjoining quantities of delicious cake, candies and other toothsome daintics were rapidly disposed of by the charming young women of the Guild.

Mrs. Samuel Townsend and Mrs. William Montgomery Downey acted as a reception committee. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. George Dupee, Mrs. J. O. Stephens, Mrs. H. R. Phillips and Mrs. Murray. Miss Davis, Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. W. A. Westphal, Mrs. Anna M. Hannigan and Mrs. Horsley Barker managed the cake table whilst Miss Alice Barlow Miss Frances Phillips, Miss Durand Miss Minford supervised the sale of candy.

ROBE STOLEN.

Mysterious Robberies Have Occurred Among Hacks at the Station.

For the past two or three weeks, hackmen stationed at the depot have been greatly puzzled over the mysterious thefts of various articles from their turnouts. Robes, whips and even parts of harness have disappeared in a most unaccountable way, as at no time are the owners any great distance from their respective carriages. The latest victim is Walter Thompson, from whose rig a costly robe was taken Saturday. The hackmen have banded themselves together and in case the thief or thieves are detected, they intend to punish them to the full extent of the law.

AMATEUR PLAY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

were ludicrous to the extreme and well carried out.

As the younger "Cattermole," Frederic W. Goddard was excellent. His acting showed a great improvement over that at the dress rehearsal, and he took the part with ease and naturalness. His friend, impersonated by Laurens H. VanBuren, was another success. Mr. VanBuren, as on previous occasions, seemed perfectly at home and was as natural as if he had been in a drawing room instead of on the stage. William T. Pelletier was a dignified country squire, playing that role in a highly satisfactory fashion. Harry M. Curtis had a hard character to represent, but he was properly ambitious to "soar on the upper crust of society."

Minor parts were taken by William A. Townsend, Frank W. Iredell and Frank Curtis.

Mrs. William L. Saunders had one of the most difficult parts in the play, but she succeeded admirably. It was very different from any role in which Mrs. Saunders had previously appeared in this city, but she showed the proper enthusiasm in spiritualism and was completely wrapped up in the welfare of the supposed son of her best friend, adding much to the funny situations in which she took part.

Miss Saidee Mae Howell and Miss Elsie Cochran Martin proved charming young women. While it was their first appearance on the stage, their acting was very natural. The play gave them the opportunity for displaying some very becoming gowns. Mrs. Frank W. Iredell was a decided success as the landlady, and her efforts to favorably impress the uncle with the virtues of his nephew were cleverly given.

While there was a trifling inclination toward nervousness on the part of several of the members of the cast in the first act, it completely disappeared as the play progressed and the thrilling happenings of the last act were given with much life. In the last act, something not down on the programme happened. The pole, which supported the portiers, fell as Mr. Saunders attempted to hide behind the curtains. Mr. Saunders was equal to the occasion, however, and quickly arranged a temporary screen of the fallen curtains which served the purpose.

Expect to Build.

Smalley Bros., are contemplating the erection of a two-story building on their lot on North avenue opposite the station. They propose making two eighteen-foot front stores, seventy-five feet in depth, with a ten-foot hallway in the centre leading to the offices above. They are trying to secure a driveway from Second street to the stores, where their horses and wagons will be kept, instead of standing in front of the store, as now.

Pedagogical Association Met.

The Pedagogical Association, of Somerset county, met at the North Plainfield High School building Saturday afternoon. A paper on Socrates was read by Mr. Hoffman, of Bound Brook. H. C. Krebs, superintendent of the Somerville schools, explained his method of teaching language in the public school and earnestly recommended that his system be given a trial in Plainfield.

Will Return to Plainfield.

J. P. Laire was in town again today, closing a lease for a house for his family on his return to Plainfield about March 1. Mr. Laire intends leaving the laundry business and proposes to again enter the hardware business at the old stand, The Gayle Hardware Company, Park avenue and Front street, he being still a member of that firm.

Wife of Wm. Craig is Dead.

Mrs. Craig, wife of William D. Craig, formerly of this city, but now cashier of the National Bank at Graham, Tex., died Saturday, February 9, following an attack of grip and pneumonia. She was the daughter of Col. Graham, who founded the present city of Graham. Mrs. Craig leaves besides a husband, three children, all girls.

Fire In Chimney.

Fire broke out this morning in the chimney of the house at the corner of West Third street and Lee place, owned and occupied by Thomas Burke. In answer to a still alarm Chief Doane and Hose Company No. 3 responded and extinguished the blaze before any serious damage ensued.

Miss Mamie Jones, a sister of the groom, and Chester Pope, of this city, acted as bridemaid and best man. Miss Cody was prettily attired in a traveling gown of gray material. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones were given a reception by their friends, afterward leaving for New Brunswick, where they will make their home in the future and where the groom is employed.

Progressive Euchre at Casino.

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was the progressive euchre party given at the Casino Saturday afternoon by Mrs. William H. Sterling, Mrs. Edward W. Conklin and Mrs. Samuel Huntington. There were about sixty women present. Mrs. George T. Van Boskerck won first prize. After the awarding of the regular prizes, there were four honors left and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler won the first of these. Following the play refreshments were served by Steward Ivamy.

Some Of the Doings In City and Borough Told In Concise and Pertinent Paragraphs.

—The liquor license applications will be acted upon by the Common Council February 25.

—There will be a sewing meeting of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church tomorrow afternoon.

—The Christian Endeavor Local Union has arranged for a union service to be held in Trinity Reformed church Thursday evening of this week.

—Recent experiments show that all classes of foods may be completely digested by a preparation called Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which absolutely digests what you eat. As it is the only combination of all the natural digestants ever devised the demand for it has become enormous. It has never failed to cure the very worst cases of indigestion and it always gives instant relief. L. W. Randolph.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

The Four Cohans, whose name conjures up merry memories galore, have set a new laughing pace as the stars of the latest musical farce, "The Governor's Son," which is the attraction at Music Hall tonight. George M. Cohan is the author of this most recent incentive to immoderate laughter.

"The Governor's Son" is in three acts and is a rapid fire farce wherein the fun is produced by natural methods and the persons participating are characters, not caricatures. The plot is unfolded with a celerity of action and an apulence of droll complications that hardly give the audience breathing time between hilarious outbursts.

Jerry, George, Helen and Josephine Cohan all have been given parts that afford them full swing. Nor are the opportunities confined to them for there are other plums in the piece and in the big company engaged by Manager Behman are players qualified to pick them.

Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was given to Miss Mary Saldentop, of West Second street, Saturday evening. About twenty-five friends called and spent an enjoyable evening socially, after which refreshments were served.

First Annual Ball.

The first annual ball of the Oriental Social Club will be given this evening at the Gesang and Turn Verein Hall, on Somerset street. Music will be furnished by Eugene O'Rielly.

The "Habit" of Fruit Bearing.

Fruit bearing in trees is merely a habit, for a young tree, taken in hand at the commencement, need only be pruned during the first three or four years, after which it will continue to produce fruit spurs of itself. For it must be remembered that fruit bearing is a habit which may be encouraged in trees, and when once they are well trained to do it they will not vary except in untoward circumstances. Therefore, the aim of all pruning, whether of root or branch, of young trees or old, is to induce the fruit bearing habit.—Profitable Farm and Garden.

A Promising Young Financier.

Little Isaac, who was barely six years old, was paid by his mother a penny per dozen for pins picked up from the carpet to keep the baby from getting them.

"Nurse," said little Isaac, as his stock of pennies increased, "do you know what I am going to do when I have ten cents?"

"No," answered the nurse.

"I am going to buy a paper of pins and scatter them all over the floor, and then pick them up," replied the young financier.—Jewish World.

Fat Flat Dwellers.

The tendency to obesity is greatly dependent upon racial and individual predisposition. It is much more pronounced in the well-to-do, who eat more and take less exercise, than with laborers. Dwelling in flats and using lifts are further causes for the increase of obesity, while the popularity of the cycle is a natural reaction against this reduction of physical labor.—London Medical Press.

No Cause for Worry.

Tourist (in Frozen Dog)—Heavens! Those two cowboys are quarreling violently and drawing their revolvers!

Bronco Bill—Don't worry, podner! They're only making a bluff at fighting, so as to accidentally shoot a few holes in your plug hat!—Puck.

His Nerve.

He—Oh, yes, I have heard him sing. I admire him very much.

She—Really, you don't mean it? Why, his voice is awful.

"It isn't his singing I admire; it's his nerve."—N. Y. World.

COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR STREET SIGNS.

Bids Opened For Proposed Improvements at City Sewage Disposal Beds.

MR. AYRES WAS APPOINTED.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN STARTED AGAINST DELINQUENT TAX PAYERS.

Four Important Acts Taken at Adjourned Meeting of Common Council Last Evening—Eleven Bids For Work Received.

There were four important matters that engaged the attention of the Common Council at the adjourned meeting held last evening. The first was the receiving of bids for the proposed improvements of the sewage beds. The second was the action of the Council in appropriating a sum not to exceed $500 to provide street signs for Plainfield. The third was the confirmation of Alexander D. Ayers as overseer of the poor and the fourth was the adoption of a resolution authorizing and directing the tax collector to issue warrants for the collection of taxes and, upon the failure of the delinquents to settle, to cause their arrest and detention until such tax is paid.

All of the members were present and there was a very large number of people in the lobby, mostly contractors who had submitted bids for the sewage improvements. Mr. Tolles moved that the regular order of business be suspended so that the bids might be received.

There were eleven bids received for the sewage improvement, and one of these was withdrawn later as it failed to comply with the requirements called for in the specifications. Those who offered bids were as follows: F. C. O'Reilly, Orange; George P. Olcott, East Orange; Gleason Kiely Contracting Company, Syracuse, N. Y.; Michael Hurley & Alfred B. Nelson, Trenton; A. D. Benedetto & Co., Orange; Emanuel & Son, Catasaqua, Pa.; Joseph Vaughn, Stamford, Conn.; John Bristol, Orange; A. Costa, Orange; Richardson & Gaston, Somerville; C. M. Meeker, Plainfield. The bid of A. D. Bendetto & Co., of Orange, was withdrawn.

The result of the bidding was not made known at the meeting, but afterward the contractors gathered in Street Commissioner Gavett's office and Alex. Vars figured out the three lowest bidders for the satisfaction of those interested. It appeared that the Gleason Kiely Contracting Company, of Syracuse, were the lowest bidders, their figures being $37,074 00. Next came C. M. Meeker, of this city, with a bid of $38,277 00, and the next highest bid was that of Richardson & Gaston, of Somerville, whose figures were $41,325 00. Considering the fact that the city engineer's estimate was $40,000, the third highest bid was considered excellent. While the other bids were not figured out at the time, Emanuel & Son, of Catasaqua, Pa., are known to have been near the lowest bidders. They had many things in their favor, which, it seems, from a sense of honor they did not take advantage of. These advantages included low rates for transportation of material, such as stone, concrete, etc., and yet the firm put their bid on the same basis as those who did not have these advantages.

It was estimated roughly that the other bids were so much higher that their success was in no wise assured in competition for the work. However, these bids will be figured out officially and each bidder will receive notification of the result. The unsuccessful ones will have their checks for $500 each, deposited as a guarantee of good faith, returned to them.

This business concluded the regular order was returned to and the first matter considered was a communication from Ethan Lamphear, in which he, at great length, recited the evils of intemperance, told about the original necessity of the inn and tavern, and earnestly protested against the granting of liquor licenses, chiefly on the ground that evangelistic meetings are soon to be held in this city, and the cause of righteousness and temperance would not be materially helped by the granting of licenses. The communication was referred to the proper committee

Two petitions were received from property owners along Woodland and Prospect avenues, one asked the Council to widen Woodland avenue to 100 feet for the purpose of establishing a boulevard, and the other petitioned for the macadamizing of Prospect ave-

HE MAY SUCCEED HIMSELF.

PROBABLE THAT MAYOR SMALLEY WILL BE RENOMINATED.

Some Borough Citizens Who Are Mentioned as Candidates in Coming Municipal Election.

At the meeting of the Borough Council last week Mayor N. B. Smalley took some time to give his opinion about the people who oppose the widening of Somerset street. He said that the man who would oppose the widening simply because he might be obliged to pay 15 or 20 cents more tax a year, could not possibly have the interest of the borough at heart. He said that he spoke from a property-owner's standpoint, and if the business of the borough is to be maintained something must be done to keep the business in the borough.

A conference of the Mayor and members of the Council was held at the close of the meeting, when matters pertaining to the coming election were discussed. It was not officially announced, but in all probability Mayor Smalley will be a candidate to succeed himself. It is the opinion among the leaders that he will allow his name to be placed before the caucus. Regarding other candidates nothing definite was decided. A number of names have been suggested, but as yet it cannot be learned if they will accept. Horace J. Martin is talked of as a probable candidate for assessor. J. P. Northop and E. L. Suffern have been mentioned for councilmen. It is rumored that Lawyer S. S. Swackhamer is slated to be a candidate on the Democratic ticket for mayor.

When His Honor was asked about his being a possible candidate for sheriff, he replied that he had never hung anyone and he did not think that he would strive for that job now. He said that the report that he was a candidate for sheriff was no doubt conceived in the mind of someone who didn't know anything about it.

STATION ALMOST READY.

Ticket Office Will Be Moved and the Fence Erected This Week If Possible.

It has been definitely decided by the officials of the Jersey Central Railroad that the ticket office at the North Avenue station shall be abolished. This will be done probably within a week. In the meantime the new station will be ready for use and a ticket office will be established there. The officials do not want to open the new station before the fence is erected between the tracks, and it is thought that this work may be completed this week.

No reason has been given by the company for doing away with the ticket office on the North avenue side, but it is presumed that as the travel will be the heaviest on the side of the new station, it has been thought best to establish it where it will be needed the most. This will give a little more room in the old station by tearing down the present ticket office.

Couldn't Get the Goat Again.

Great Sachem Newcorn returned yesterday from Camden and Philadelphia, where he had been since Saturday evening. At Camden on Saturday evening he paid an official visit to Pequod Tribe, No. 47, I. O. R. M., of Atlantic City, and Ottowa Tribe, No. 15, of Camden, the two tribes meeting together. The warriors and adoption degrees were exemplified in an excellent manner. Mr. Newcorn endeavored to capture the goat which the Atlantic City braves stole from him in this city, but he failed to succeed.

The Catholic regulations for Lent prohibit the use of meats on Wednesdays and Fridays, entirely, and allow it to be eaten but once a day on all other days. Good Friday, eggs, butter, milk and cheese are permitted. The usual class of people are exempted from these restrictions. These rules regulating diet were announced at all the masses of the Roman Catholic church Sunday.

In the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches in this vicinity special services will be held daily.

The services at Grace P. E. church tomorrow are: Holy Communion, 7:30 o'clock and again after morning prayer, 10:30; evening prayer, 4:30 and 8 o'clock. For Thursday evenings during Lent, the rector has procured the services of a number of celebrated preachers who will deliver appropriate addresses.

At the Church of the Holy Cross, morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion is set for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow. Morning prayer and litany will be said throughout Lent on Wednesdays and Fridays at 10 o'clock and will be followed by the communion service at Friday services. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, evening prayer is set for 4:30 and 8 o'clock respectively.

Beginning tomorrow, low mass will be celebrated daily at St. Joseph's at 7 o'clock. Father Dettrick, of Bound Brook, will be present at the Ash Wednesday evening service and is expected to preach. There will also be special services every Wednesday evening.

Rev. Father McGeary, of St. Mary's Catholic church, will distribute the ashes at the 8 o'clock mass tomorrow morning. The children of the parish will have a special service set apart for them at 3 o'clock. In the evening there will be distribution of ashes and sermon. Services will be held every Wednesday and Friday evenings during Lent, with a sermon Wednesday evening.

WONDERFUL GATHERING AT THE MASQUE BALL

Plainfield Society Turned Out in Strange and Grotesque Costumes for a Dance.

AT CASINO LAST EVENING.

JUST BEFORE MIDNIGHT CAME THE GRAND MARCH AND UNMASKING.

Wonderful Collection of Queer Characters Assembled—Affair Marked the Close of Social Activity Before the Beginning of Lent.

The Masque Ball given by the society people of Plainfield last night at the Casino, on West Seventh street, proved to be a brilliant affair and, coming as it did on the eve of Lent, served as a fitting climax to the many delightful social events participated in by the smart set during the past season.

The originality displayed in the selection of costumes was, to say the least, extraordinary and it was all the more remarkable by reason of the fact that, considering the number in attendance, few if any had followed out similar ideas in the representation of characters. At a glance it seemed like a life study of human history from the time of the dark ages down to the present generation. The attention was arrested at one moment by the laughable absurdity of a dignified cardinal gliding over the floor with a gay soubrette and at a few seconds later by the incognitable appearance of a pious Quakeress linked in the arms of a "Lieutenant Hobson." In the main, the costumes were extremely fetching, and, indeed, a few, scattered here and there, lent an air of splendor in the gorgeousness of their make up.

Selecting them at random, from the kaleidoscopic view, were to be seen a dreaded headsman of Oliver Cromwell, a demure colonial damsel, a typical Jersey farmer, a Spanish troubador, a bashful co-ed, a dashing young officer of the famous Philadelphia city troop, a "Tommy Atkins" apparently fresh from the seat of war in the British Foreign Office, a cavalry officer of the Revolutionary period, "Janice Meredith," stately young courtiers, and a number of ladies-in-waiting of the French and English courts.

A few small preliminary dances occupied the time until 11:30 when the grand march was started, with L. G. Timpson and Miss Waring leading.

At its conclusion the participants respectively disclosed their identity by unmasking. A supper was served by Steward Ivamy, after which dancing was resumed by the devotees of the terpsichorean art until an early hour this morning.

Among those on the floor were: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, red dominos; Miss Swayze, "Janice Meredith;" Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, snow queen; Miss Edith Tracy, Quakeress; Mrs. Fred W. Yates, butterfly; Mrs Daniel Ginna, a daughter of Spain; Miss Hammond, a co-ed; Mrs. E. M. VanBoskerck, Mother Goose; Miss Florence Waring, peasant; Mrs. L. G. Timpson, a Salavation Army lassie; Mrs. L. W. Serrell, a Castillian; Mrs. Wm. L. WANT TO LOCATE FACTORY.

BOARD OF TRADE ASKED TO OFFER SOME INDUCEMENTS.

Several Lots Offered by Members—Short Session of Board Before Public Meeting.

Previous to the public banquet of the Board of Trade last evening, the regular meeting of the Board was held. A communication was received from E. M. French in which he stated that the glove firm of Perin, Ferese & Co. was desirous of locating in Plainfield and wished to know what inducements the board would offer them. The firm at present has two factories which for convenience they wish to merge into one at some central location. They employ for the most part a good class of girls and guarantee at the start a pay roll of $30 000 a year which they hope to increase to $75,000 within a short time. It is not necessary for the factory of the firm to have a railroad frontage as thousands of dollars worth of goods can be shipped at once in a trunk.

Immediately after the communication was read Charles H Hand offered to give the company a lot on Evona avenue, 50 by 172 feet. His example was followed by President Woolston who also offered a large lot in the eastern part of the city. In case either of these locations were undesirable to the firm, J. D. Loizeaux stated that he would contribute half the amount toward any property they might wish to purchase. The offers were duly recorded and the firm will be notified.

Two other communications were read by the secretary, both of which were from manufacturers desiring factory sites in this city. One of them was from the patentee of a whiffletree, in the making of which, he stated a large number of skilled workmen would be employed. The second was from the Henquin Company, of Schenectady, N. Y., manufacturers of rotary engines. Both communications were openly discussed but no formal action was taken.

The committee having in hand the South Plainfield trolley stated that since the last meeting several hundred more feet of the route had been signed for and that the matter was progressing very favorably.

TALKED OF THE NEEDS OF CITY AND BOROUGH

Representative Gathering at Public Meeting and Banquet of Board of Trade.

JAMES E. MARTINE THERE.

SPOKE OF MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP PARTICULARLY OF WATER PLANTS.

Geo. H. Bruce Told Some of the Things Which Plainfield Lacks — Councilmen Replied—General Discussion on Subjects Brought Before the Meeting.

Not for some time has Plainfield seen such a representative gathering as that which assembled last evening at the second public meeting and banquet of the local Board of Trade given in their rooms in the Babcock building. President L. B Woolston presided at the head of the banquet table. At the close of the bounteous supper, he opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks setting forth the object of the gathering. He concluded by formally introducing James E. Martine.

The paramount subjects of Mr. Martine's talk were the question of municipal ownership of public utilities and the consolidation of the city and borough. Of the latter he presented many new ideas, the trend of them all being that the borough instead of retarding in its growth by uniting as some maintain, would advance with most perceptible strides.

In regard to municipal ownership the speaker stated that the question had no stronger advocate than he, particularly in the case of the public distribution of water. He objected strongly to this privilege being placed in the hands of the few to be dealt out at exorditant meter rates, which he regarded as an outrage. He also referred in the same light to gas, electric light and other commodities and quoted figures from municipalities where the public system is in vogue, to prove the truth of his convictions.

In conclusion Mr. Martine offered the following resolutions: "Resolved, that it is the judgment of this meeting held under the auspices of the Board of Trade, that our municipal authorities should take such steps in legislation that shall establish and maintain a municipal water supply plant for this city. We hold that the best interest of every citizen demands this action; we are convinced that water rates would be reduced and at the same time, a sinking fund laid up that would rapidly extinguish the cost of construction."

The resolution called forth considerable discussion, some of those present opposing it most strenuously. It was finally laid over until the next meeting when it will be more carefully considered.

Mr. Martine was followed by Lawyer George H. Bruce, who spoke on "What Plainfield Lacks." He pointed out one great drawback to be remedied, It was the need of a proper system of street signs which the Daily Press has been advocating for some time past, and to which he referred in very commendable terms. He also suggested a change in the present system of sending in fire alarms by key, using instead the keyless system as adopted by nearly all large cities. The speaker ended by suggesting several other improvements, more or less important.

He was answered, first by Councilman J. T. Buckle, who stated that the Common Council, which had adjourned less than an hour previous, had made an appropriation for the street signs, and secondly by Councilman B. F. Coriell who argued against the keyless fire-alarm system on the ground that it would lead to the sending in of many false alarms. Another suggestion of Mr. Bruce's, that of placing a red light over each box for quick location at night, he stated would be taken into consideration by the proper committee.

Short addresses followed by Borough Councilman Charles S. Lee, Charles W. Runyon and W. K. McClure, after which the banquet was declared at an end, but before leaving everyone was invited by President Woolston to be present at the next meeting to be held March 18.

Among the prominent citizens who were present were Mayor O L Jenkins, Councilmen Tolles, Buckle, Clifton, Gloak, Coriell and Craig, Freeholder Andrew Lutkins, Chief Kiely, W. A. McClurg, Robert A. Meeker, Charles Vail, E. M. Laing, W. A. Woodruff, Herman Schwed, Clayton M. Nagle, J T Vail, E Frank Vail, Charles H. Hand, H. A Bonn, James E Martine, L. B Woolston, George H. Bruce, John Lewis, J D. Loizeaux, Charles A. Lee, E V French, D. W. Littell, Charles E Buell, Charles W Runyon, W. R Brokaw, and Adam Dealaman and Wilson Fredericks, of Dunellen.

The second feature of importance in the number is the $500 prize story, by Henry McVickar, entitled "The Whirl of Chance." "The Current of Things," by Edgar Fawcett, is a story of a brilliant young fatalist whose experience in his peculiar courtship of Lady Isabel Orrow goes far to substantiate his theories concerning inevitable destiny. Mrs. William Allen, whose "Love Letters of a Liar," published in The Smart Set last Fall created a social sensation, contributes to the present number a story of the Philippines, entitled "The Meetiza." Other conspicuous contributors are Edith Bigelow, Bliss Carmen, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Edith Sessions Tupper, Clinton Scollard, Gertrude F. Lynch, Gwendolyn Overton and John Regnault Ellyson.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

Memorial Services Out of Respect For the Late Senator Parsons.

ALBANY, Feb. 19.—A memorial session of the senate was held last evening out of respect for the memory of Senator Cornelius R. Parsons of Rochester, whose death several weeks ago created general sorrow.

The senator's desk and chair have been draped in black since the day of his death. Last night a beautiful bouquet of carnations was placed on his desk. In the absence of Lieutenant Governor Woodruff President Pro Tem. Ellsworth presided.

Senator Parsons' widow and family were present, occupying a front seat in the ladies' gallery.

The special committee appointed to prepare a memorial presented through Senator Ellsworth resolutions on the death of Senator Parsons. The resolutions contained a high tribute to the character and sterling worth of the deceased senator. In moving the adoption of the resolutions Senator William W. Armstrong made an eloquent address, sketching the career of Senator Parsons and outlined his services as alderman and mayor of Rochester, as assemblyman and senator.

Senators Elsberg, Ellsworth, Stranahan, Marshall, Raines, Hill, Malby and Ahearn also paid fitting tributes to the memory of Senator Parsons. Senator Armstrong said that Senator Grady had hoped to make an address, but was detained from the session by illness.

The resolutions were adopted, and the senate adjourned out of respect to the memory of Senator Parsons.

There was an unusually large attendance at last night's session of the house. In the absence of Minority Leader Frisbie that position was filled by Mr. McKeown of Kings.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

A Hearing on Proposition to Abolish Spring Elections.

TRENTON, Feb. 19.—The Republican senators had a conference after the adjournment of the senate last night which lasted until after midnight. The subject under discussion was the proposition to abolish spring elections in cities. The senators announced a willingness to hear one representative from each county. Essex county was represented at the hearing by Major Carl Lentz, the Republican county chairman; Hudson county by County Chairman Wooley, Passaic county by County Chairman Conklin, Robert Carson of Middlesex county and C. Edward Murray of Mercer county were also present. The principal talk was made by Major Lentz. He strongly advocated the consolidation of fall and spring elections. It was urged that such a measure would be very beneficial to the Republican party, as it would procure for the Republican ticket a large vote that is not cast in the spring.

Mr. Wooley said the measure was asked for by the Republican voters of Hudson county, who outnumbered the Republican voters in seven counties that he mentioned.

All of those at the hearing advocated the measure, and the suggestion thrown out by one of the senators that it might be well to add a referendum clause was met by the statement that the friends of the proposition would sooner not have the bill at all than have it with a referendum clause, which would give indication of cowardice.

After a hearing had been had the senators went into secret session for the purpose of considering the matter.

Atlanta's Missing Parties Found.

ATLANTA, Feb. 19.—The dead bodies of Mrs. H. M. Wilson, a young widow, and William Hamilton, a student in pharmacy, who disappeared from Atlanta one week ago, were found one mile from the end of the Chattahoochee river car line. The surroundings indicated that Hamilton had killed Mrs. Wilson, set fire to the woods near her body and then ended his own life. Both bodies were fearfully burned and rested upon breastworks thrown up by the Confederates to stem the advance of the Federal army on Atlanta in the war between the states.

Another Carnegie Library.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 19.—Professor John H. Finley, head of the department of politics in the university and formerly president of Knox college at Galesburg, Ills., has received a telegram from Mr. Andrew Carnegie stating that he has decided to give $50,000 to Knox college to be used for a new library building. Professor Finley and the new president of Knox college have been in correspondence with Mr. Carnegie for some time regarding funds for the new library.

Hawaiian Editors Quarrel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Word comes from Honolulu that Edwin S. Gill, editor of The Republican, shot and seriously wounded Mortimer H. Stevens, a member of the staff of The Advertiser, in the office of The Republican on the evening of the 6th. The shooting followed a controversy about an article Gill had published concerning some young ladies who were stopping at the Hawaiian hotel.

Sullivan Gets Decision.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 19.—Before the National Athletic club last night Tommy Sullivan of Brooklyn and Joe Bernstein of New York met at 122 pounds. The bout was to go 20 rounds, but in the sixth round Bernstein refused to break to save himself from punishment, and Referee Willis gave the decision to Sullivan.

Shared Profits With Employees.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The Saugerties Manufacturing company has divided the profits with its employees. The total amount distributed was $40,000. Each employee received 5 per cent of the amount of his year's wages. The dividend was a surprise to the men and was paid only after the stockholders' dividend was paid.

Southern Railroad Sale.

ATLANTA, Feb. 19.—A special from Rome, Ga., says: "It is reported here that a controlling interest in the Chattanooga, Rome and Southern road has been bought by a New York syndicate, presumably for the Seaboard Air line. The road is 140 miles in length and runs from Chattanooga to Carrollton, Ga."

Crisis In Bulgaria.

SOFIA, Feb. 19.—During an election riot at Eelitsch the peasants fired on the gendarmes and wounded one. Thereupon the gendarmes returned a volley, killing three peasants and wounding five.

A CRISIS IN CHINA.

General Chaffee Not to Join Expedition From Peking.

THIS GOVERNMENT FEARS RESULTS

Thinks That a Movement Against the Chinese at This Time Might Cause Another Uprising and Bring on a General War.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The president has decided to take a determined stand against the expedition which Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, commander in chief of the allied forces in China, is organizing to clear out the Chinese imperial troops in Chi-li province in which Peking is situated. In the opinion of this government the plans of Count von Waldersee, it carried out, will cause another crisis in the relations of China and the powers and perhaps bring on a general war, which will result in the dissolution of the empire and its division among the nations that favor that course. So far this government has taken no steps other than to make representations to the several powers to secure their support in opposition to Waldersee's scheme, but the subject is to be discussed at the regular cabinet meeting today, and a line of action to carry out the ideas of the president will doubtless be arranged. It is understood that the character of the opposition which the United States will make to the expedition will depend somewhat on the attitude of some of the powers. Should Great Britain, Japan and Russia, for example, coincide with those of the United States it is likely that a formal protest against a hostile movement in China at this time will be addressed to Germany.

The position of this government is that while peace negotiations are in progress it is inconsistent and unfair to engage in hostile operations against the Chinese. Major General Chaffee, commanding the American forces in Peking, was instructed by telegraph not to participate in the expedition, and additional instructions will be sent to him when the policy of the government has been fully determined. He has been directed also to use his influence against the expedition.

It was from General Chaffee that the government learned of the German field marshal's intentions. A dispatch on the subject came from him and was the subject of conferences between the president, Secretary of War Root and Acting Secretary of State Hill. General Chaffee said, it is understood, that Count von Waldersee was organizing an expedition to drive the Chinese troops out of Chi-li province and had asked him to join. It did not take the president and his advisers long to reach the conclusion that the declared policy of the United States was in direct opposition to the objects of the expedition, and the instructions referred to were sent without delay.

An adviser of the president said yesterday afternoon that while the subject was too delicate to permit a detailed expression of views he would say that the administration adhered to the letter and spirit of the president's communication to the emperor of China's appeal for the good offices of this government to bring about peace and to its declaration to the powers and China that the American forces would be used merely to guard the United States legation and American interests in the empire. The president is reported to be perturbed over the proposed expedition, believing it not only unwise, but a breach of good faith while peace negotiations are on.

REPLY NOT LIKED.

Envoys Will Insist on China's Compliance With Original Demands.

PEKING, Feb. 19.—The foreign envoys have held a conference regarding the Chinese reply concerning the punishment of the guilty persons named by the powers. The reply was considered unsatisfactory, and the envoys decided to insist upon a compliance with their original demands.

This decision and the objections urged by the envoys to the latest imperial edict were unanimous, and the doyen of the diplomatic corps will inform the Chinese plenipotentiaries that the former requirements must be strictly complied with.

Meanwhile great preparations are being made by the various commanders preparatory to the big expedition, especially in the matter of transportation. Apparently the only commanders who have enough of anything for a long campaign are the American, British and Japanese. The others are deficient, especially the German, although Count von Waldersee believes that in a few days he will have all the supplies really necessary. He takes the position that it will be better to secure the greater part of the provisions from the country itself, but most of the generals think it unwise to take so great a risk.

The British will rely almost entirely upon pack trains. Any other method of transportation through the mountain passes would probably be impossible, as, according to information received here, the Chinese have prepared for just this contingency and have blocked every possible pass with big bowlders in order to render the passage of artillery next to impossible.

Many people in Peking say that Count von Waldersee is "working a bluff" in co-operation with the foreign envoys, hoping to compel the Chinese plenipotentiaries to comply with the demands of the powers.

Mrs. Nation In Jail.

TOPEKA, Feb. 19.—Yesterday was a busy day for Mrs. Nation. In the city court she was tried for destroying property, but the decision was withheld. Judge Hazen of the district court passed upon a peace warrant sworn out by the owner of a cold storage plant which she tried to wreck on Sunday. Mrs. Nation's bond to keep the peace was fixed at $2,000, which she was unable to give, and she was sent to jail. None of her followers care to sign a peace bond, for they realize that she would not keep the peace.

THE TORIES REVOLT

First Division In Parliament Causes Surprise.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY CUT DOWN.

All Caused by Lord Cranborne's Refusal to Answer Questions Relating to England Foreign Policy. Dillon Saw His Opportunity.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The first division in the first parliament of King Edward VII, which took place yesterday, resulted in cutting down to 45 the government's normal majority of 130. The interest caused by this unexpected event was heightened by Mr. Winston Spencer Churchill's first speech at Westminster and by Mr. Chamberlain's heated defense of his own policy.

The extraordinary slimness of the majority of this strongest British government of modern times was the result of Lord Cranborne's refusal to answer questions relating to the government's foreign policy without previous notice from the questioners. Mr. John Dillon seized the opportunity and, in spite of an unusually large attendance, almost placed the Conservative party in Queer street.

In the course of an interview previous to the division Mr. Dillon said:

"I have waited a long time, but owing to the curious customs of procedure in the house of commons I have never had a chance really to test the question. I know quite well that I had the spirit of the house behind me, for members, regardless of party ties, are very jealous of individual privileges. What it all means is that the government will be obliged to revoke the arbitrary ruling made by Mr. Balfour that undersecretaries of state are not obliged to answer questions addressed to them.

"Had it not been for a fear of defeating the government the number of Tories voting for my motion or abstaining would have been greatly increased. As it was, about ten Tories followed the Liberals and Irish into the lobby, while numbers did not vote at all.

"The question is more important than it appears to be on the surface, for if Mr. Balfour's ruling should be followed it would prevent the Irish members from questioning the Irish secretary and eventually deprive us of all rights of free speech. In instituting the rule Mr. Balfour broke all precedents both by the rule itself and by failing to notify the opposition leader of his intentions. His whips made vigorous efforts, but with such small results that you may be sure this tongue tying ordinance will not any longer be imposed on the house of commons.

The "revolt of the Tories," as The Daily Graphic calls it, is believed to have been more serious even than was revealed by the figures of the division. Several Conservatives asserted afterward that they were sorely tempted to vote against the government, but held back owing to feelings of loyalty to the ministry.

The same spirit actuates the editorials in the government papers this morning in defending the cabinet.

Jewels In a Dirt Heap.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 19.—Yale university officials in the Peabody museum made a discovery last Saturday that nearly took their breath away. In one of the storerooms in the cellar of the museum building a workman who had been instructed by one of the managers of the building to clean up things was at work sweeping away a pile of rubbish. A professor connected with the museum happened into the room and picked out of the dirt a small glittering piece of metal that he ascertained was a gold ornament. He ordered the workman to take every bit of the stuff into his room. In the pile was $10,000 worth of gold in Aztec jewelry. How it came to be there no one in the Peabody museum can explain.

Bridge Company Consolidated.

OWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Negotiations are practically completed for the absorption of the Owego Bridge company by the American Bridge company. An inventory is now being taken. Various opinions are expressed as to the effect of the deal on the future of the shops here, some claiming that their capacity and force will be largely increased and that the construction of highway bridges will be made a specialty. Some anxiety is felt here over the possibility that the work will be transferred elsewhere and the shops here eventually closed.

Repairs For the Prairie.

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—The auxiliary cruiser Prairie, which came to the navy yard a week ago for extensive overhasling, has been placed out of commission, and the department of construction and repair will take her in hand now for a nine months' job to cost about $250,000, changing her into a training ship. Seventy-eight men of her crew are to be transferred at once to the United States cruiser New York, which is fitting out at New York for the Asiatic station.

A Child's Fatal Dose.

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Ruth Agnes, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Corcoran of this city, is dead from accidental poisoning. On a table in a room where the child was playing were some strychnine and quinine pills which had been prescribed for Mr. Corcoran, who was ill. During the temporary absence of the parents from the room the child ate some of the pills, convulsions and death resulting.

No Students to Be Hanged.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—There is no foundation for the report circulated in the United States that seven students would be publicly hanged in Kiev as a warning to others not to participate in political agitation. The nearest approach to a wholesale public execution was in the case of seven gypsies convicted of murder, who were condemned to be hanged at Chackliff. All of them, however, were pardoned.

Fire In Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Fire destroyed a large number of valuable models for silk and knit goods frames owned by Tompkins Bros. Valuable tools were also lost.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The London county council has decided to spend £50,000 in precautionary measures against the bubonic plague in London.

HITCH ON NAVAL STATIONS.

Cubans Have Not Yet Defined Future Relations With Us.

HAVANA, Feb. 19.—The special committee appointed by the Cuban constitutional convention to draw up a proposition defining the future relations between the republic of Cuba and the United States was in conference all day with the other members of the convention in an endeavor to get the opinion of the majority as to what action should be taken regarding the suggestions offered by Governor General Wood Saturday.

The question of naval stations is still the chief subject of controversy. Probably the committee will submit a report leaving out any reference to this matter and also omitting any reference to the right of the United States to intervene at any time for the preservation of order. It is considered that the latter question is covered by the treaty of Paris and that, moreover, it would be a slur upon the efficiency of the future government to admit the possibility of a necessity for American interference.

The objection to naval stations is not looked upon in this light, but the delegates do not wish to give their adherence to an arrangement involving a specific stipulation as to naval stations. Many say that if the United States government wishes naval stations in Cuba it can take them, and there will be no objection, but the convention, going on the assumption that the United States will take the initiative, is not disposed to make a formal concession.

DE WET BALKED.

British Column Heads Off the Boer Invaders.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—A correspondent of The Daily Mail who is with the British column pursuing General De Wet says:

"General De Wet has failed to reach his objective, having been headed off in turn from Strydenburg and Hopetown, respectively 38 and 55 miles from the scene of Friday's fight.

"Last night a meeting of burghers was held in General De Wet's camp to protest against the indiscriminate flogging of men, and half the force threatened to surrender. Eventually the malcontents decided to fight independently."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail hints that Lord Kitchener is planning a campaign in the northern Transvaal, especially in the neighborhood of Pietersburg and in other districts not hitherto visited by British troops.

New Orleans Carnival.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19.—Amid a thunder of cannon and a roar of steamboat and factory whistles and in the presence of thousands of people gathered on the river front at the head of Canal street Rex, the merry king of the carnival, made his triumphal entry into New Orleans with his suit yesterday. He came attended with a numerous retinue and with all the trappings of royalty and was met by the peers of the realm as he landed from his yacht, the America. Preceded by an imposing military parade, the king was escorted through the principal thoroughfares of the city to the city hall, where, in the presence of Mayor Capeville and a distinguished gathering of guests, he was presented the keys of the city. The city is thronged with visitors from all sections of the country. The railroads report that their accommodations have been taxed to the utmost in hauling visitors. Proteus paraded at night, taking for his subject "Alkyris the Magnificent," based on Marie Corelli's story of "Ardath."

Huntington Left Seventy Millions.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—In order to take advantage of the 5 per cent rebate which is allowed upon the payment of inheritance taxes within six months after death the executors of the will of the late Collis P. Huntington paid to the state last week $665,000. The executors estimated that the tax which would be assessed against the estate would amount to $700,000, and by paying the tax last week a rebate of $35,000 was secured. Much surprise was expressed at the amount of the tax which the executors have determined is due to the state. It indicated that the Huntington fortune approximated $70,000,000, or more than double what it was generally thought Mr. Huntington's estate was worth at the time of his death.

Accidentally Shot.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Joseph Jenkins of Lee Hook was shot in the head and fatally wounded by Frank Pollard, 15 years of age, who had surreptitiously taken a shotgun from the kitchen in the Jenkins house and loaded it. Mrs. Jenkins came unexpectedly into the room, and Pollard, in his fright, discharged both barrels, literally riddling the woman's head. He put the gun back and ran to neighbors for help, saying that a man had shot Mrs. Jenkins. After search had been made for the man the boy confessed. The coroner found the shooting to have been an accident. Pollard had been taken into the family from a wanderers' home in Boston.

St. John Applauds Mrs. Nation.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Ex-Governor St. John of Kansas writes Hon. W. J. Groo of this city applauding Mrs. Nation's hatchet crusade, which he likens to the crusade of John Brown. He prays that Mrs. Nation's crusade may terminate as disastrously to the liquor traffic as Brown's raid did to slavery.

A Hermit Frozen to Death.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Philip Genold, a hermit, was found frozen to death at his home in Ellenville on Saturday. He was a brother of John Genold, who became insane by seeing a cannon ball cut off another brother's head during a battle in the civil war.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in nitering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are clocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS.

Five Millions Voted For the St. Louis Exposition.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The bill to authorize the holding of the international exposition in celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Louisiana purchase at St. Louis in 1903 and appropriating $5,000,000 therefor passed the house yesterday under suspension of the rules by a vote of 191 to 41. The opposition was hopelessly in the minority, and the struggle over the bill was brief. The question of closing the exposition on Sunday was not mentioned during the debate. The sundry civil bill was under consideration late in the day, and Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, took occasion to make a detailed statement of the appropriations of the present congress. He was led to do this, he said, by many criticisms of the reckless extravagance of this congress. The situation, he said, was quite bad enough without exaggerating it. He figured that the appropriations would total $694,118,595, exclusive of the sinking fund requirement of $53,000,000, against $657,150,862 for the current year. In the course of his remarks he fired some hot shot at the minority for prating of economy and not helping to uphold the hands of himself and others when they were trying to keep appropriations down.

Nearly the whole of yesterday's session of the senate was devoted to consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill. So far as committee amendments to the measure are concerned the bill practically was completed, although the amendment appropriating $500,000 for an extension of the pneumatic tube service remains undisposed of. A point of order was made against it, but on the appeal of Mr. Mason of Illinois the entire question was passed over until today.

Just before adjournment the conference report on the Military academy appropriation bill was laid before the senate. Mr. Daniel of Virginia made a vigorous attack upon the provision which debars a cadet convicted of hazing from ever holding a commission in the army, navy or marine corps. The report is still pending.

A CHINESE PAPER.

Weekly Herald Published In Chinese Appears In New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Simultaneous with the New Year's celebration in Chinatown appears the new Chinese paper, The Chinese Weekly Herald. The experiment has been tried before in New York, and San Francisco has its regular daily for the Chinese quarter known simply as The Chinese Herald. Mr. Pang, who is to edit the new paper in this city, was formerly a member of the staff of the San Francisco sheet and two years ago started a small evangelist paper here.

News will be translated from the New York papers each week, but the principal feature will be the special articles written in Chinese by cultured Chinamen of this city. In this way it is hoped to bring American views most clearly before the foreign readers.

The difficulties in printing are many. There are 38,000 characters in the language, and, though some of these may stand for whole sentences, there remains at least 12,000 characters which are needed for the ordinary combinations of everyday language. This is the number of letters in the largest font which Mr. Pang has imported.

What Consul Hay Did.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Consul Hay scored a distinct diplomatic success at Pretoria before leaving there. Lord Kitchener had issued a proclamation at Johannesburg which, while allowing the English and Dutch to buy food from the government stores, prohibited this privilege to foreigners. There is no food in shops, and it is very difficult to obtain food in any direction. So it looked like starvation for the 8,000 foreigners on the Rand. The consular corps at Johannesburg exhausted all their resources without avail and at last dispatched Mr. Gordon, the American consular agent, to Pretoria to enlist the help of the consul. Mr. Hay, hearing that Lord Kitchener was about to leave town, went to him immediately without consultation with his colleagues, laid the matter before him and succeeded in getting an order to the military governor at Johannesburg to allow not only Americans, but all foreigners, to obtain food at the government stores on certificates from their representatives. It was rather a surprise to the rest of the consuls when the order was issued, but it was too clearly in the interest of all the foreign population to excite any objection.

A Million Dollar Failure.

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—A failure for a million or over, with assets to the amount of a $10 bill, was shown by the voluntary petition in bankruptcy filed by George R. Eager, a railroad builder of Newton, Mass. The actual figures of liabilities are $1,407,341.42. The unsecured claims aggregate $1,008,502.65; the secured claims, $315,222.08; notes and bills shared by other parties, $83,616.69.

Nantucket's Blockade Raised.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Feb. 19.—The ice embargo which has surrounded this island from supplies, especially yeast cakes and kerosene, for several days was broken yesterday by the steamer Nantucket after a four hours' attack on the ice. NATIVES BEGIN TO TELL THE TRUTH

Representatives of Many Towns of the Province Meet the Philippine Commission at Aguinaldo's Former Headquarters.

TARLAC, Luzon, Feb. 19.—The Philippine commission decided after a conference it would not be wise to postpone the organization of provincial government in the province of Tarlac. As the first step in the work of organization the commission determined to appoint an American as governor of the province, the selection falling upon Captain Wallis O. Clark of the Twelth United States infantry.

There are two native factions seeking to control the affairs of Tarlac, the strongest being led by Macabulos, whose loyalty is questioned by all the military officers. The indifference of the people is obvious. There is a manifest lack of enthusiasm. The testimony of those charged with military responsibility here is of unsettled conditions, a lack of schools, a general prevalence of insurgent sentiment and more or less skirmishing still in progress. The people, however, have begun to give truthful information regarding the insurrection.

Representatives of most of the towns of the province are now here to meet the commission, whose members have been welcomed to the former headquarters of Aguinaldo with bands and arches. All the better class dwellings have been burned, and the commissioners are housed at the headquarters of the military, where a public session was held at which the law was discussed briefly and passed. Then the appointments were announced, including, in addition to Captain Clark as governor, Lieutenant Henry M. Morrow of the Thirty-first volunteer infantry to be treasurer and Lieutenant Robert S. Welsh of the Thirty-ninth United States volunteer infantry to be supervisor. The secretary and the fiscal will be natives.

During a visit to the model district prison the commissioners met Valles, who was director general of the insurgent communications and who fell into the hands of the United States troops last Saturday. He declined Colonel Smith's offer of a release on condition that he furnish information as to the whereabouts of the ladrones.

An Alibi For Kennedy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—In the trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dolly Reynolds, the prosecution yesterday rested its case, with the exception that one question is to be put to Detective Cary, now returning from Florida with the witness Melville. Mr. Cantwell then opened the case for the defense. He said that he intended to establish Kennedy's innocence of the crime with which he is charged. He declared that the defense would prove an alibi and also prove that there was another man who had a motive for killing Dolly Reynolds. With a view to proving the alibi, the defense summoned four witnesses who positively swore that they had seen the accused dentist at St. George, on Staten Island, between 12:45 and 2:45 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 16, 1898, the day the murder was committed. It is believed 12:45 a. m. of Aug. 16 is about the hour at which Dolly Reynolds was murdered at the Grand hotel in Manhattan.

A Convict on Trial For Murder.

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The trial of Clarence Egnor, the convict under indictment for murder in the first degree for killing Guard Archibald W. Benedict of Willseyville, Tioga county, at the prison on Jan. 9 last, was begun before Judge Rich in the supreme court yesterday. After the selection of a jury the district attorney opened the case for the prosecution, and after his address the court adjourned until today. It is not unlikely that the trial may extend into next week, as the people have some witnesses from Buffalo, aside from the convicts here, who will be sworn, and the defense have summoned 11 witnesses from Buffalo.

Mayor Bars All Games.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—Mayor Ames issued orders to the captain of police yesterday to stop and prevent any glove contests in this city last night and to see that no contests with gloves or any sparring match shall take place in future. He also orders the prevention of all athletic exhibitions where life or limb is placed in jeopardy and explains that under this category he includes football, baseball, handball and similar sporting events. The mayor is highly indignant over the governor's interference and promises to make it ridiculous.

New York Poolroom Raided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Through evidence furnished by the Tammany committee of five and in the presence of Lewis Nixon, its chairman, District Attorney Philbin, with a large force of detectives and policemen, yesterday afternoon made a sensational raid on an alleged poolroom at 20 Dey street, of which "Ridge" Levine is the reputed proprietor. Fifty men were captured, including the alleged proprietor.

MADRID, Feb. 19.—General Weyler assembled the newspaper editors yesterday and informed them that as quiet was maintained he had decided to remove the censorship. He told them, however, that they must refrain from writing regarding the recent troubles, the marriage of the Princess of the Asturias or the visit of the Count and Countess of Caserta to Madrid.

Street Signs Assured.

The efforts of the Daily Press to secure proper street signs for Plainfield have not been in vain. At the meeting of the Common Council last evening, Councilman Tolles, who is the chairman of the street committee, introduced a resolution which provided for the appropriation of a sum not more than $500 to purchase street signs. The resolution went before the Council and was immediately passed by a unanimous vote. The matter now rests with the street committee and, now that the necessary funds have been provided, there is no doubt but the committee will proceed in the work without delay.

It is nearly ten years since the city government went into the subject of street signs to any extent. The city was then well equipped with them but many were broken and, with the disappearance of the fences which bordered the lawns, the street signs disappeared as well. For the last few years there have been no street signs at all. The Council knew it, the Board of Trade knew it, but no attempt was made to remedy the trouble. Nearly two months ago, The Daily Press started to agitate the subject and since then has kept it continually before the people.

The suggestion of The Daily Press was first taken up by the Board of Trade which petitioned the Council asking that signs be placed in position. The Council of 1900 preferred to allow the new Council to take up the matter and so no action was taken during December. Although the retiring Council recommended that the street signs be provided at once, the present Common Council has taken no action until last night.

The public has been of one mind on the subject and the agitation started by The Daily Press resulted in a general feeling throughout the city that the Council should act in the matter at once. And now the Council has acted and it will only be a question of a short time before the first of the signs will be in position.

The action of the Common Council last evening, in approving the appointment of Alexander M. Ayres as overseer of the poor, occasioned no surprise. It was generally understood that a majority of the Council were satisfied that he had the qualifications for the position. There were two votes against the confirmation of the appointment. This time, Councilman Lee, who is chairman of the alms committee, came out openly for him. At the previous meeting, although it was on his recommendation that Mayor Jenkins made the appointment, Mr. Lee gave no sign at the meeting that he knew anything about the nomination.

Despite the fact that bids were received at last evening's meeting of the Common Council for making the proposed changes at the sewage disposal beds, the Common Council is no more bound today to follow out the proposed plans than it was six months ago. The object in securing the bids was to get something definite to work from. While there is not much doubt but that a majority of the members of the Common Council favor the plans which the committee on streets and sewers have presented, no definite action has yet been taken.

A great many things about municipal ownership were said at the public meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, and there are still many more things that might have been said. It is a vast subject and meetings of that nature every night for a month would fail to exhaust it. If any good comes out of last evening's meeting, then the Board will have accomplished its object. It cannot do any harm and a good discussion on such an important topic is bound to be useful to all those who were present.

There are in Plainfield a number of citizens of whom the rest of the community should be proud. As a result of their labors, Plainfield will hear tonight one of the grandest of the oratorios, "Elijah," rendered by a chorus composed entirely of local talent. It was no easy task to bring this about and the committee which has worked so indefatigably to make it possible is deserving of the heartest thanks of the people of Plainfield.

A vigorous campaign is to be started against the taxpayers who neglected to pay their personal or poll taxes between the years of 1881 and 1891. The law provides a way whereby these taxes may be collected or the delinquent lodged in jail. Some time ago, the Borough Council took similar action and no end of excitement was caused. Nobody managed to land in jail, however, and since then the campaign against the delinquents in the borough has not been conducted quite so vigorously.

It is evident that the members of the Council are not greatly impressed by the claims of Mr. McClintock, president of the American Sewage Disposal Company, regarding the application of his patents to the plans proposed for the local disposal system.

When the street signs are placed in position, it will be time to see that the houses in the city are properly numbered and that the numbers are placed where it is possible to see them without a long and careful investigation.

Social gaiety in Plainfield ends tonight and tomorrow the Lenten season will begin, to continue until Eastertide when society will again resume its activity.

There promises to be much excitement when the new station with its system of fences and subway is first put into operation.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

"Senator Cross, from Union county," says the Plainfield Press, "is frequently called upon to preside over the Upper House of the State Legislature when the president of the Senate, Senator Pitney, wants to take the floor." Senator Pitney doubtless knows who ought to be the next president of the Senate, and is wisely giving Senator Cross a little preliminary experience.—Elizabeth Journal.

* * * * * * * *

Senator Reed's bill for the abolition of the poll tax is a worthy measure and should pass. About the only persons who pay that tax are owners of real estate who should not be compelled to pay a tax, small though it be, from which others are exempt. It is a matter of record, however, that those individuals who never pay tax as a rule comprise the "floaters" whose voting strength too frequently control elections in many of the towns and cities in New Jersey.—Morris County Chronicle.

Dunellen, Feb. 19.—The article in another paper a few days ago to the effect that the new heating apparatus in the Whittier school does not afford sufficiently high temperature for the pupil's comfort, is declared by a borough official to be absolutely untrue. During the few cold days last week an even temperature was maintained at all times without any especial effort and at no time have any of the pupils complained of unsufficient heat. The rumor probably arose from the fact that the hot air system at the Lincoln school did not work satisfactorily on the north side last Monday and Tuesday owing to the high wind which prevailed on those days.

Sociability and good natured jollity were the features of the social given in the parsonage of the Presbyterian church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Everything passed off in a pleasant manner and the social was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

Scotch Plains, Feb. 19—The last sad rites over the remains of the late Eben W. Goodwin, who was found dead from asphixation at Blenderman's Hotel in New York early Saturday morning, were held from his late home in Fanwood yesterday afternoon. The services were in charge of Rev. Mr. Mulford, of All Saint's church, of which the deceased was an attendant. The home was filled with the many friends of the family who had gathered to pay respect to the one they had honored in life. COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR STREET SIGNS.

nue. In each case the Council was asked to appoint commissioners to assess benefits for the work. The petitions were referred to the street committee.

Mr. VanHerwerden reported back the petition of Clarence L Murphy, in which he asked for an apportionment of taxes on property located on La-Grande avenue. It was recommended that the request be granted which was done.

Mr. VanHerwerden then offered a resolution which provided that the tax collector be authorized and directed to issue warrants for the collection of personal and poll taxes in arrears between the years 1881 and 1891, and when the delinquent failed to pay the collector should cause the arrest of such one and he be detained until the amount be paid. The resolution was adopted all voting aye. That resolution was followed with another one by the same member, which provided that the collector should make separate returns each month of collections under the foregoing resolution.

Still another resolution offered by Mr. vanHerwerden fixed the salary of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh at $1,250 a year, with an additional $750 for work in connection with the enforcement of the Martin Act, the last named amount to be paid out of the collections from the enforcement of the Act.

Mr. Mellick reported on the petition for an electric light on Park avenue near the city limits and recommended the granting of the same, the light to be located on the east side of the avenue.

At this time Mr. Lee, chairman of the alms committee, called from the table the nomination of Alexander D. Ayers, overseer of the poor. He then moved that the nomination be confirmed. President Dumont and Councilman Clifton voted against confirmation, and Councilmen Randolph, Lee, Craig, Coriell, Mellick, Tolles, Buckle, Gloak and vanHerwerden voted in the affirmative, thereby confirming the nomination.

The last and one of the most important matters considered was the resolution then offered by Mr. Tolles which provided for the expenditure of a sum not to exceed $500 for the placing of street signs in the city. The resolution provides that the street committee shall attend to the work This matter has long been agitated by The Daily Press on behalf of the public, who have felt the disgrace thrown upon the city in being without this necessary improvement. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Before the Council adjourned it was decided to meet Monday evening, February 25, at which time action will be taken on the applications for saloon and hotel licenses. This could not be done last evening owing to the fact that the applications have not been advertised the legal length of time.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

After His Tenant.

William M. Stillman, trustee for the Babcock estate, has instituted dispossess proceedings in Justice Huff's court against Wesley R. Brokaw, the piano and music dealer, for non-payment of rent. Mr. Brokaw's business place is in the Babcock building. The papers in the case are returnable Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Social at Hope Chapel

The second of a series of socials among the adult classes of Hope chapel Sunday-school was held last evening. A pleasing programme had been prepared and after its rendition refreshments were served. The socials are given for the purpose of making the pupils of the various classes better acquainted.

Built on Honor.

I take great pleasure in anouncing to my friends and the general public that I have had the good fortune to secure the sole agency for the world-renowned McPhail Pianos, of Boston, Mass. Built on honor and sold on merit for the past 63 years. A Piano excelled by none and equaled by few. I shall in the future carry a full line of these superb instruments, together with the celebrated Kimball, which I have so successfully handled in the past. Thanking you all for past patronage and wishing a continuance of the same, I beg to remain,
Very truly yours,

Berlin. Auf Grund kaiserlicher Genehmigung traten neulich 12 argentinische Offiziere zu einer dreijährigen Dienstleistung in das deutsche Heer ein. —Die Berliner Stadtverordneten beschlossen, zur Linderung der Wohnungsnoth an den Umzugsterminen Baracken zu errichten.—Seitens der Berliner Polizei wurde die Einführung eines neuen Generalalarmsystems beschlossen. In der ganzen Stadt werden Buden errichtet, an denen hinter erleuchteten Tafeln automatisch-elektrische Meldungen von stattgehabten Morden, Bankeinbrüchen und anderer Verbrechen zu lesen sind.—Im Berliner Pathologischen Institut kam ein Brand zum Ausbruche. Hierbei verbrannte ein Theil der anthropologischen Sammlungen Professor Virchows, darunter Objekte, die einen unschätzbaren Werth hatten, da sie nicht mehr ersetzt werden können.

Spandau. Ein vielumworbener Posten war in Spandau seit Jahrzehnten der des Kantinenwirths der königlichen Gewehrfabrik. Wenn hier Vollbetrieb war, so arbeiteten ungefähr 4000 Mann, von denen die Meisten 8 bis 10 Mark pro Tag verdienten. Dann machte der Wirth sein Geschäft. Nach wenigen Jahren war der Kantinenwirth ein vermögender Mann. Während der Perioden 1885 bis 1888 und 1888 bis 1892, in denen zwei neue Gewehrarten fabrizirt wurden, erwarben zwei Inhaber je ein Vermögen von mehr als 200,000 Mark. Seitdem ist das Einkommen des Kantinenwirths indeß mehr und mehr beschnitten worden, indem ihm von dem Umsatz Abgaben auferlegt wurden, die in eine Arbeiterunterstützungskasse fließen. Unlängst hat der bisherige Inhaber die Wirthschaft abgegeben, weil er nichts mehr verdienen konnte.

Treptow. Der aus Treptow gebürtige Reisende Wilhelm Meister hatte seinem Chef in Berlin etwa 6000 Mark unterschlagen und war flüchtig geworden. Auf Grund eines Briefes wurde Meister neulich in einem Gasthause zu Burg bei Magdeburg ermittelt und zur Haft gebracht.

Sie wird einen Jahresaufwand von rund 33,000 Mark erfordern. Zehnjährige Dienstzeit ist Voraussetzung des Bezugs der Rente, die mindestens 240 Mark beträgt und bis zu 75 Prozent des Jahresverdienstes ansteigt.

Stettin. Anläßlich des letzten Ordensfestes in Berlin sollte auch der Geheime Rath Schlutow in Stettin, der leitende Geist der Schiffsbaugesellschaft „Vulkan," den Adelstitel erhalten. Schlutow hat aber, gleich seinem Vater vor 40 Jahren, die Annahme des Adels abgelehnt.

Köslin. Der Arbeiter Ferdinand Friede von Reckow wollte mit dem Arbeiter Karl Strege von Zünz über die Dievenow nach Bünnewitz gehen. Unterwegs brachen beide ein. Strege wurde von dem Schmied Abraham aus Zünz gerettet, Friede dagegen ertrank.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Plainfield

Because it's evidence in Plainfield. It's from a citizen, perhaps a neighbor.

Investigation will confirm it.

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

BOICE-RUNYON & CO.,
PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

A man in the employ of the Philadelphia offices of the Reading Railroad says: "I have been a bookkeeper for over sixteen years, and ten of them I have spent with this corporation. My occupation being sedentary, I have always found that a little walk after meals did me a wonderful amount of good, and gave my food a chance for proper digestion. A few months ago, however, prior to the reorganization of our road, the work so accumulated that I was compelled to give it all my time and attention. Instead of going out for my meals as was my custom, I remained at my desk, hastily partaking of a cold luncheon and immediately returning to my work. This finally resulted in upsetting my constitution, and got my stomach into very bad shape. Complaining of my ill health at one time in the presence of one of our traveling agents, he advised me to try Ripans Tabules. I did so, and the effect was almost miraculous. The very first one brought me immediate relief, and within the short space of six days I found myself restored to my old time health and vigor. Ripans Tabules are certainly a wonderful remedy for ills resulting from a bad stomach. They have proved so in my case, and I take great pleasure in sincerely recommending them to all suffering from dyspepsia, nervousness and severe headaches. One Tabule brings relief."

WANTED: A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE WARDROBE.

Some Novel and Pleasing Ideas in Trimmings and Accessories.

A great deal of velvet is worn not only in deep or rich tones, but in tints of the utmost delicacy.

Very pretty evening gowns have a silk skirt upon which are flounces of tulle. These flounces are bordered and headed by tiny pink ruches, very full. The bodice is entirely of tulle, also adorned with ruches, to match the skirt.

One of the most attractive accessories to the toilet is the wide belt or corselet entirely embroidered with cabochons, beads or metals.

Today's illustration shows a costume of red serge. The skirt is composed of three circular flounces, the upper forming a long tunic and all bordered with lines of narrow black galloon. The collar and the blouse are of red velvet, and over the latter is a short bolero of serge trimmed with black galloon and tiny red velvet buttons. This bolero has short, tight sleeves bordered with galloon, from beneath which emerge full, long sleeves of red velvet having deep cuffs of serge trimmed with velvet buttons. The hat of black velvet is trimmed with points and loops of the same material and jeweled ornaments. This same idea could be carried out in brown very effectively.

CHILDREN'S FASHIONS.

Styles For Little Girls and Those of Larger Growth.

The loose, straight sack is much worn by children, the necessary breadth around the underarm seam. For young girls the jacket having a straight front is the favorite. It is fitted at the back and sides and has two darts which take it in at the waist, so that only the immediate front is straight. The top of the sleeves is usually extended a little by cordings, stitched straps or an interlining of haircloth, so as to give the narrow, undeveloped shoulders an appearance of greater width.

GIRL'S COSTUME.

Red is much liked for little children this winter, also blue in all shades from navy to cadet. A pretty style of dress for a little girl is the "quartermaster" and consists of a plaited skirt and a little jacket closed with gilt buttons.

The cut shows a redingote gown for a girl of 14 years. It is of beige cloth and has a yoke, plastron and tablier of brown velvet. The fronts are laced over the plastron by brown cords and gold buttons, and the yoke and front of the tablier have horizontal stitched plaits and bands of beige cloth embroidered with brown. The seams of the redingote are open at the front and are laced across brown velvet panels of brown cord and gold buttons. The top edge of the redingote is embroidered with brown. There are open sleeves of beige cloth of elbow length laced with brown cord and gold buttons, and beneath them full, long sleeves of brown velvet, gathered in at the wrist by a band of beige cloth. The brown velvet hat is trimmed with peacock blue feathers and a gold buckle.

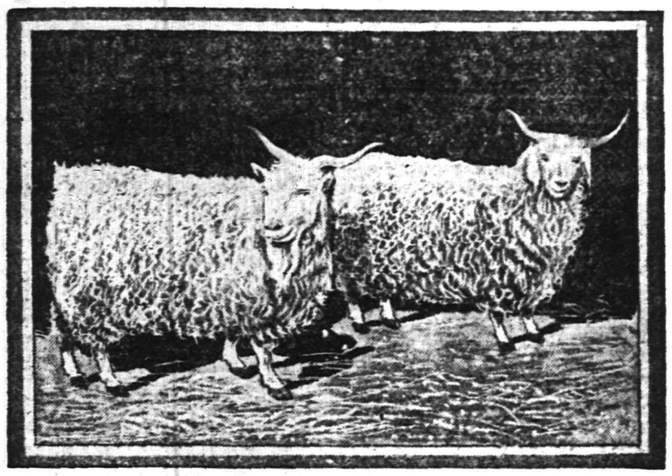
Raising Angora Goats for Profit in This Country

After Many Years of Experiment the Industry Seems Now to Be Growing

BREEDING Angora goats is an industry to which considerable attention has been given in this country in an experimental way for a number of years, but it was not until quite recently that the industry gave promise of assuming profitable proportions. Some enthusiasm in this direction was aroused by the publication of a pamphlet on the subject by the agricultural department in 1898, written by Captain Almont Barnes, of the division of statistics of the department. The article set forth, among other things, the great value of the goat skins which we import annually, and how we ourselves might easily produce them; the usefulness of the carcass for food, especially of the Angora breed; the exceedingly small expense involved in raising the animal, owing to his habits of feeding upon the vegetation which is in greatest abundance and which other ruminants refuse; the million acres of land in the United States that might be made available for goat raising which otherwise would remain, as heretofore, unemployed.

Since that time the department has given considerable attention to the subject, and now publishes another valuable pamphlet written by George Fayette Thompson, of the bureau of animal industry. In this second pamphlet Mr. Thompson says:



GOATS IMPORTED BY Dr. JAMES B. DAVIS IN 1849.

"It is the purpose of this article to deal with the Angora goat only, and the effort is made to answer such questions as have been received by the bureau from all parts of the country. These answers are based upon the experiences of those who have raised them, some of whom have been in the business 40 years or more. Differences of opinion are found to exist on several important points, where each contestant appears to occupy plausible premises; but this is not at all strange when the history of the Angora goat is considered; for it is not certain that all of the animals imported as purebreds were pure; indeed, it is held by some of our leading breeders that there is no longer in Turkey or elsewhere any such thing as a purebred Angora goat. Besides, there has been no general register for Angora stock in the United States until within a year or two, and each breeder has been at liberty to judge points for himself. If a general Angora register had been established 20 or 40 years ago, the industry would now be conducted upon somewhat definite lines, and most of the questions now arising as to points in breeding would have been settled.

Because of this awakened interest there is an interest attached to the introduction and history of the industry in this country.

The history of the Angora goat in the United States has been marred by the carelessness or indifference of occasional writers for the press who have been often inaccurate as to dates or facts, and also by others whose interests have doubtless led them into exaggerations. The real facts of its history in the United States, however, are so few and so simple as to prompt that venerable breeder, William M. Landrum, to say that they would make but a very small book.

During the administration of President Polk, the sultan of Turkey requested of him that he recommend some one who would experiment in the culture of cotton in Turkey. Accordingly, Dr. James B. Davis, of Columbia, S. C., was recommended, and he received the appointment. The work done by Dr. Davis appeared to be highly gratifying to the sultan, and so, upon his return, in 1894, the sultan, desiring to reciprocate the courtesy of the president, presented him with nine of the choicest goats in his dominion. Col Richard Peters, writing in 1876, says of these animals: "These doubtless were selected from the herds of Angora, a district of country lying among the Taurus mountains, which traverse Asiatic Turkey, and which derives its name from its principal city, situated about 200 miles east of Constantinople."

Of the nine Angoras imported by Dr. Davis, seven were does and two were bucks. Besides these, according to Colonel Peters, there came in the same lot one purebred Tibet doe, several head of crosses between the Angora and the Tibet goats, and quite a number of grade does bred from the common short-haired ewes of the country and his Angora bucks.

Dr. Davis, not being familiar with goats, thought these were the famous Cashmere goats which furnished the fiber for the costly Cashmere shawl, and they were called Cashmere goats for many years after their introduction into the United States. The records show that as late as 1861 Mr. William M. Landrum, the veteran breeder of Angoras, was awarded a silver goblet and $25 in cash for the introduction of the first Cashmeres [Angoras] into California.

The first (or Davis) importation of Angoras was frequently exhibited at fairs, and always attracted much attention. The reports made by the officials of fair associations were always favorable, sometimes flattering, and as is known, after years of experience, not always correct.

All of the Davis importation of pure-bred Angoras were purchased in 1853 by Col. Richard Peters, of Atlanta, Ga., with the exception of one owned by Col. Wade Hampton, of South Carolina; one sold by Dr. Davis to Mr. Davenport, of Virginia, and one to Mr. Osborne, of New York. Col. Peters later imported others from Asia Minor, which did not prove to be very satisfactory, as they were gummy. The Savannah Republican in April, 1860, said that Col. Peters was selling his goats at very high prices, having received $1,500 for one buck; that the president of an Illinois fair was so pleased with one of the bucks on exhibition there that he offered Col. Peters "the weight of the buck in silver for it." Col. Peters is looked upon as the real founder of the Angora goat industry in the country. Although Dr. Davis had crossed the Angoras with common goats to some extent, it was Col. Peters who demonstrated the possibility of erecting an excellent fleece-bearing flock by judicious crossing with common goats.

Of recent years some excellent individuals have been brought from Cape Colony. Turkey has since 1881 prohibited the exportation of Angoras, and Cape Colony, observing with jealous eye the rapid progress now being made in the United States, has placed an export duty upon Angoras of £100 ($486.65). W. Hammond Tooke, writing of the mohair industry of Cape Colony in the Agricultural Journal of the Cape of Good Hope, says that they have nothing to fear from Turkey or Australia, but that the United States gives them more concern, as the breeding of Angoras for mohair is no longer considered an experiment in the United States.

Previous to the outbreak of the civil war there were many fair-sized flocks in the south and southwest. There were smaller flocks in many of the northern and western states.

After the war interest in Angoras in the south and north died away to a great extent, and the far west began to take up the subject to some extent, many of the breeders from other sections removing to California.

Mr. Julius Weyand, secretary of the Angora Goat Breeders' association of California, in a report to that organization in 1891, gives a brief review of the industry in that state. He says that in 1885 there were about 100,000 Angora goats in California, but between that date and 1889, owing to the admission into the United States of mohair as carpet wool, and thus paying but 2½ cents duty per pound, the number decreased to 55,000. Mr. C. P. Bailey is authority for the statement that practically all the goats in California are of the Angora breed.

Large flocks of Angoras have been sent from California and Texas into Nevada, Oregon and Washington, where they have been divided into smaller flocks and become the property of many different farmers. Texas has also sent many over into New Mexico.

"Although the foregoing facts show that the Angora goats have been slow in gaining a standing among the industries of the country, it can hardly be doubted that there are now in motion such energies as will place the industry upon a rational basis. It is believed that the Angora industry is already emerging from the chaos which has enveloped it for 50 years past, and that it will soon be as firmly established as any other stock interest in the United States.

VICTIM OF HYPNOTISM.

San Francisco Man Tells How He Was Married Without His Knowledge or Consent.

Mr. M. C. Palmer, of San Francisco claims that he was some time ago made the victim of a hypnotic marriage. The suddenness and sensation of such a wedding he now describes in detail.

"Five months after locating in Oakland, Cal.," he says in the Chicago American, "I was sitting in my office one November afternoon when there entered Mrs. Stockton and a lady who resided with her in the city. After a cordial greeting Mrs. Stockton said to me, with easy assurance: 'You and I are to be married today.'

"WE ARE TO BE MARRIED."

"For a moment I was inclined to laugh, thinking that she was jesting but the fierce gleam in her eyes undeceived me. I can only compare it to the wicked glance of the rattlesnake as he strikes his fangs into the trembling ground squirrel.

"I repelled feebly, but the effort proved useless. At that moment will force with me was suspended and my brain refused to act; I was merely an automaton and said and did what ever the woman prompted me to say and do.

"These facts will not appear strange to those who have studied the phenomena of hypnotism, but to the uninitiated it may seem incredible.

"Within an hour from the time of her appearance on the scene that day I had presented myself before a justice of the peace with Mrs. Stockton and been married to her.

"I remember participating in it mechanically, but cannot recall the incidents any more graphically than can a man remember the details of a nightmare. I was afterward informed by an acquaintance that the justice and others in the room had remarked my lethargic condition and commented upon its strangeness."

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.

Father Asks Money Damages for His Little Girl Who Was Killed by a Foolish Joke.

Mrs. Ruamy Turrell, a New York farmer's wife, jumped out of a dark place in front of little Mary Partridge, a child of a neighbor. Mrs. Turrell had on a hideous false face and she yelled "boo" with all her might, and the child fell to the ground in convulsions. After she had been carried home she had frequent attacks of hysteria and would scream at the slightest noise. She grew weaker and weaker and finally died. Now Farmer Partridge is suing Mrs. Turrell for willfully causing his wife's death and asks damages to the amount of $15,000. In the circuit court the case was decided in the father's favor, but it has been taken to the supreme court. The question is: May a person who willfully or innocently causes fright which leads to mental and nervous disorders and causes death be held responsible for that death? There had been a row between the Partridge and Turrell families, and Mrs. Turrell says she used the mask to frighten Mrs. Partridge and make her stay on her own side of the fence.

Pennsylvanians Are Not Slow.

A good story was told by James M. Beck, assistant United States attorney general, at the dinner of the Pennsylvania society in New York. Mr. Beck attempted to refute the theory that the people of Pennsylvania are slow by saying that within one hour after Gov. Beaver was inaugurated a Philadelphia politician applied to him for the position of janitor of the capitol, relates the Evening Wisconsin. The governor replied that the place had been filled half an hour before. A few days afterward the disappointed office-seeker saw the drowned body of the janitor hauled out of the river. He rushed to the governor and applied again, saying: "I've just seen my rival's corpse pulled from the river." "Sorry," replied the governor, "but I have just given the berth to the man who saw him fall in."

SAVINGS BANK CHAT.

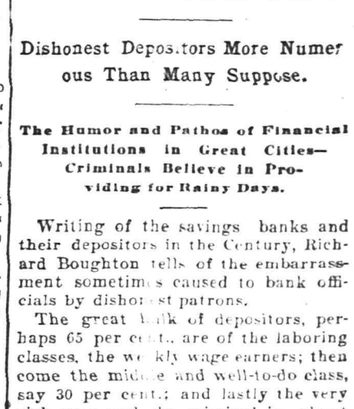
Dishonest Depositors More Numerous Than Many Suppose.

The Humor and Pathos of Financial Institutions in Great Cities—Criminals Believe in Providing for Rainy Days.

Writing of the savings banks and their depositors in the Century, Richard Boughton tells of the embarrassment sometimes caused to bank officials by dishonest patrons.

The great bulk of depositors, perhaps 65 per cent, are of the laboring classes, the weekly wage earners; then come the middle and well-to-do class, say 30 per cent; and lastly the very rich man and the criminal in about equal proportions. By criminal I do not mean to confine this class to bank burglars, check forgers and bank note counterfeiters—you will see all of these if you will watch the line long enough—but I include all those men and women who avoid police notice when they can, and are occasionally "wanted" down in Mulberry street; the rich keeper of the fashionable gambling house; the woman who is suspected of knowing the whereabouts of a vanished thief or forger; the man who never breaks into a bank himself, but takes a friendly and patronly interest in those who do; and so on up and down the scale of cosmopolitan vice. At one time or another they all have savings-bank acounts. It seems incomprehensible, but people of all classes are frequently even permanent depositors. I do not say this from hearsay, but have seen examples of each of them lodging their money, even in their own names.

What can you do with these people when they come to deposit? It is not criminal to save money, and you cannot arrest them. In some cases their accounts are closed by the banks, and they are told to take themselves off—a hint upon which they promptly and quietly act, possibly from fear of the police, accustomed as they are to obey when told to "move on."



HER PARTING SHOT.
(Miss Innocent Swore at the President Like a Trooper.)

Some of them, however, are not easily gotten rid of. A famous confidence woman had her account in a New York bank, and her quiet demeanor, amiable smile, innocent almost girlish timidity, quite won the chief official in charge. He was accustomed to call her aside politely from the somewhat rough crowd in line, give her a chair in the anteroom, and send her pass book and money by one of the clerks to the receiving teller. Her identity was finally discovered through a police inquiry at the bank, and the next time she called, the old gentleman offered her, not a chair, but her pass book with her deposits in full. The "poor young thing" swore at him like a trooper. It was quite necessary to call in the moral influence of the porter, displaying his "special deputy" badge, before Miss Innocent made less noise and took herself and her deposits out of the bank, giving the old gentleman a parting shot at the doorway. . . .

The president and managing officials of a leading bank once debated long and seriously whether they should inform the authorities that just after a famous burglary three men and two women had deposited $3,000 each, in new bank bills that possibly were a portion of those that had recently been stolen in transit between the two banks. It was a question whether the suspicion would justify this action, which of course would become public, perhaps get into the newspapers, and some illiterate depositors might hear the story with a new twist given to it—not that burglars put money into the bank, but had been in and had taken some out. The result would be a run. It was finally decided to do nothing, at least at the time. Soon afterward the thieves—for such they were—relieved the bank's perplexity. Two of the men and the two women came in singly, but in a hurry, drew the full amount that was in their names, and made off. The fifth of the party did not return until years afterward, when a man with cropped hair, an unconscious lock-step halt in his walk, and other evidences of having been temporarily retired from society, called and drew the deposit that had slumbered while he was "doing time up the river."

Small Fortune for Dogs.

Miss Jane Schroeder, who has just died in Essex, Conn., has left what is called in sporting parlance 7,000 "bones" to two dogs which she had picked up on the streets. During her 65 years of life Miss Schroeder lived in a tumbledown shanty and devoted her days to visiting the sick of the town and picking up stray dogs and cats. During one of these missions she picked up a child and adopted her as a daughter. Gretchen Schroeder, as the child is called, will inherit what remains of the $7,000, should the dogs die before she does.

BUSINESS MEN WON.

Easily Defeated Basket Ball Team of Company M, of Somerville at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium.

The Business Men's basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A. had no trouble last evening in defeating the team from Company M, N. J. N. G., of Somerville. The game was played in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the Business Men winning by a score of 22 to 9.

From the very start the Plainfielders had things practically their own way despite the fact that the Somerville boys put up a strong fight. The visitors were kept continually on the defensive and when they did have a chance to throw at the goal, their aim was poor.

The teams were:

Blessing the Danube.

From time immemorial it has been the custom in Roumania, at Christmas, to bless the Danube.

Formerly a scaffolding was erected on the frozen river, and on this was a large cross of ice; but owing to the extraordinary number of people who presented themselves the ice frequently gave way, and many were drowned. The ceremony now takes place on the bank of the Danube. The people, in recognition of the occasion, wear turbans of colored paper, and carry long, white wands. These people, who are dressed to represent Pontius Pilate, Herod and other religious characters, go from place to place singing hymns, which are almost similar to our own Christmas carols.

At the appointed hour of the ceremony the notabilities arrive in processional order, accompanied by the priests. The service lasts half an hour, at the close of which the ice is broken and a small wooden cross is thrown into the water. Hundreds of people rush in after it, and the person who is successful in recovering it is considered very lucky. Sometimes the struggle to possess these crosses is attended with several fatalities, owing to disputes arising as to the ownership of the cross. In the scuffle which ensues, it is said, knives are sometimes drawn and used without scruple.—London Express.

Woman's Strategy.

A good citizen who is a wholesale grocer in a large way, but no lover of music, was dragged to "Tannhauser" the other night by his wife, a stout lady in diamonds and a decollete gown. About the middle of the third act the worthy man fell fast asleep, and apprised the theater of his condition by loud snores. His good dame was dismayed at his behavior, and dug him sharply in the ribs with her elbow. The only response was a grunt and a snore louder than ever. Persons in the neighborhood began to turn their heads to see the cause of this disturbance, and the good wife became almost frantic. Throwing aside attempts at concealment, she shook him violently by the shoulders. He stirred, but did not wake. In desperation she used her last expedient.

"Louis," she said, in a thrilling wisper: "Louis, it's past seven o'clock."

Louis sat bolt upright, as though he had been electrified. He gazed about, and saw where he was. Wrath shone dully in his eye.

"You fooled me," he said. "Why?" Before she could answer the worthy man was fast asleep and snoring fortissimo, nor did he awake before the end of the act.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Now Buys Elsewhere.

"If you please, sir, father says he's going to kill a pig, and can you do with a side of bacon?"

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster. "Tell him to send it as soon as he likes."

A week passed away, and, as the bacon had not arrived, the teacher reminded the boy of his order.

"I expect you forgot to tell your father, you young rascal," said the schoolmaster, good-humoredly.

"Oh, no, sir, I didn't," said the youngster. "My father hasn't killed the pig."

"How's that, Tommy?"

"Please sir, it's got better."—London Answers.

GOOD SHOW AT MUSIC HALL.

THE FOUR COHANS OPENED HERE IN THEIR NEW PLAY.

"The Governor's Son" Was Produced in Excellent Shape at Music Hall Last Evening.

The four Cohans, famous "head liners" in vaudeville for many years, made their first appearance in this city last night in their new play, "The Governor's Son," which in point of scenic and electrical effects, general good performance and ensemble throughout, has never been equalled under present management. It was a great production, far surpassing anything expected, reflecting highest credit to all concerned and to Manager L. E. Behman, who is responsible for the sumptuous provision of all details, in particular.

Rarely is it the privilege of "one night stand" houses to present to their patrons such a perfect production as was witnessed at Music Hall last night, and although a large-sized audience was present, it was worthy of an attendance that should have filled the house to overflowing. To particularize the individual excellence of the great cast would take up too much space, but it was universally conceded that more pleasing and finished performance of the famous Cohan family has never been seen in this city.

The story of the play is good. There is a continuity and sense to the plot, admirably worked, interspersed with clean wholesome songs, specialties and novelties which won great applause. The work of the four Cohans is unequalled. Father, mother, son and daughter, Miss Ethel Levy and Geo. Sloan are artists par excellence. The staging of the production—the "business," climaxes and effects, show the master hand of an adept in the art of detail, due to the efforts of Stage Director R. A. Roberts, who supervised the performance last night, and who, by the way, is the same director who staged "Janice Meridith," now running at Wallack's Theatre, New York.

To sum up all, Manager Maze Edwards is to be congratulated for his success in being able to secure and present to his patrons such an unequalled performance. Manager L. E. Behman deserves praise for his liberality in mounting his production in such sumptious manner. The Cohans, all four, and their support are unequalled and Stage Director Roberts has no peer in the presentation of detail. The company play in Trenton tonight and afterwards in some Pennsylvania towns, opening at the Savoy theatre, New York, Monday.

MENACE TO EUROPE.

Francis Joseph's Demise Would Cause Grave Complications.

His Personality Is All That Stands Between Order and Anarchy in the Polyglot Austro-Hungarian Realm.

There is an aged monarch in Europe whose demise cannot fail to produce immeasurably greater complications than anyone ever expected as the result of Victoria's death. This is the emperor of Austria. Francis Joseph, now that Victoria is dead, is the oldest in years of reign of all the old world's sovereigns. He went to the throne in 1848, after the enforced abdication of his uncle, and has thus borne sway more than half a century. Christian IX., the king of Denmark, who was born a year earlier than Victoria, and who is 83 years of age, is a dozen years older than Francis Joseph, but the Austrian emperor was on the throne 15 years before the Danish king entered power.

Austria-Hungary, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is composed of a larger number of races than are found in any other contiguous nation in Europe. Moreover, the hand of every one of those peoples seems to be against every other one. The German element of the empire, which is the dominant caste, though the Slavs are more numerous, is hated by the Hungarians and the Bohemians, and this feeling is reciprocated. The Jews, too, as in many of the other nations of continental Europe, are an object of dislike to most of the Christians, while the latter are very far from being harmonious among themselves. Hungary has something closely approaching to independence, and Bohemia wants to get similar privileges, but both the Hungarians and the German ingredients of the population of the empire oppose this concession.

The disturbances which have been breaking out periodically in the Austrian parliament for the past three years, on account of race and class antipathies, have led the world to look for a catclysm after the death of the

FRANCIS JOSEPH.
(The Venerable Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary.)

emperor. Francis Joseph is pesonally popular with all the races of his polyglot empire. Bohemia and Hungary, as well as Austria proper, have affection for the aged ruler. Both Hungary and Austria would accept the suspension of the constitution which the emperor has threatened in the event of the renewal of the race feuds in parliament. This would make Francis Joseph as nearly an absolutist as any ruler in central or western Europe can be in this democratic age. If Metternich was alive he would welcome the contingency which would constrain the monarch to suspend the fundamental law. Metternich told the Austrian Ferdinand I. and the Prussian Frederick William IV. that a constitution was the last thing any people of the German race ever ought to ask for, and the old Mephistopheles found many persons of his way of thinking among the potentates of his day. Francis Joseph is a very different sort of person from his uncle and predecessor, Ferdinand, and nothing short of imperious necessity will induce him to carry out his threat to rule his country as an absolutism. Trouble is expected and a break-up in the empire is feared when the death of the emperor puts the head of a collateral branch of the family, who lacks the popularity as well as the ability of the present monarch, in power.

Speculation and Theft.

Some statistician, in emulation of Lombroso perhaps, has been figuring out the habitual employment of convicts. He concludes that more men and women whose employers are the national, state or municipal governments fall into evil ways and come to untoward ends than those who work for private individuals or corporations. A very large proportion of the men and women who have been handlers of public moneys seem to yield to the constant temptation and begin to peculate, and some cynic avers that peculation is the corollary on speculation. As a matter of fact, most of the big and little thieves who confess how they were led to take money that did not belong to them declare that speculations of one sort or another brought them eventually behind the bars.

Must Pay Their Church Dues.

Several members of a church in Kutztown, Pa., having fallen far behind with their fair dues, the board of trustees has decided that in future the bell shall not be tolled for a funeral in any family which has not paid up its indebtedness and a year in advance besides.

Reminder of Quantrell Raid.

Out in Kansas they are still paying claims for damages sustained in the celebrated Quantrell raid. Up to the present time $201,945.45 has been paid. The unpaid outstanding claims amount to $75,642.35.

TWO DEATHS.

Wife and Sister of Rev. C. R Bliss Died the Same Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, Feb. 19—Mrs. Bliss, wife of Rev. Charles R. Bliss, who, with her husband, has been stopping at "The Homestead," was taken suddenly ill Saturday evening with peritonitis and died Sunday evening. Mr. Bliss has been very ill and has been under the care of Dr. Murray, of Plainfield.

A particularly sad incident in connection with the death of Mrs. Bliss is that Monday morning a telegram was received from Long Meadow, Mass., telling of the death of a sister of Mr. Bliss. The remains of Mrs. Bliss were taken to Long Meadow today and a double funeral will be held at that place.

Mr. Bliss, who is still very feeble, being 72 years old, has gone to Long Meadow to reside. He was accompanied by Miss Ella Conover, a trained nurse, who will remain there for a time. Mr. Bliss was not acquainted with the death of his sister, on account of his condition.

PLANNING ENTERTAINMENTS.

Considerable Business Transacted at Meeting of Camera Club Last Night.

The Plainfield Camera Club held a regular meeting last evening at which time a new constitution was adopted. This was made necessary on account of the old constitution not being adapted to the present needs of the club.

The entertainment committee reported that arrangements are being made to give several illustrated lectures. The first one will be given soon by Dr. B. VanD. Hedges on his trip to California. The club also decided to make a number of club slides for exhibition purposes.

MEEKER WITHDRAWS HIS ELECTION BILL.

But a Substitute For That Measure Was Introduced by Him Yesterday.

WHAT WILL BE ITS FATE?

NUMBER OF BILLS PASSED SENATE AND THE ASSEMBLY.

Lots of Work Done at Yesterday's Session of the Legislature—Many Bills Introduced but None Affect Plainfield Particularly.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 20—Assemblyman Meeker's anti-spring election bill, the introduction of which caused such a sensation at the State House, last week, has been withdrawn. The Union county Assemblyman withdrew it at the session of the Lower House of the Legislature yesterday. In its place, however, he introduced a substitute measure designed to remedy the defects of the original bill. Just what the fate of the bill will be nobody is willing to say. The general opinion seems to be, however, that its champions will be able to put up a strong fight in the Assembly and possibly win. If victorious there, they assert that they will pass the bill through the Senate.

The substitute bill differs in a number of points from the original one which Assemblyman Meeker sprung on the legislators. One of the changes in the new bill is that it is not made applicable to justices of the peace, who are to be elected as provided in the constitution, and will take office on May 1. The terms of all other elective officers holding office at the time of the passage of the act are extended from the time when the terms would otherwise expire until January 1 of the year following.

A similar provision is made in the case of officers appointed by the mayor of any city. Provision is also made that no mayor shall appoint any officer whose term would begin after the ending of the term of the mayor making the appointment.

The Senate passed, among others, the following Senate bills: Providing for the relief of creditors against absconding debtors, and embodying the main points of the commission appointed to revise the statutes on this subject; abolishing lieutenant of police in Elizabeth, and creating that of captain instead; providing compensation for the secretaries of local Boards of Health for preparing the annual reports to the State Board; authorizing the governor to appoint three commissioners to revise and codify the general statutes of the State not heretofore revised and codified by commissions.

The following House bill also passed the Senate: Reducing the scale of District Court salaries for New Brunswick and Perth Amboy, so as to give the judge $1,200 instead of $2,000, and the clerk $600 instead of $900.

Senator McCarter's bill providing for the equipment of Chancery chambers in Jersey City, Newark and Trenton, with the New Jersey law and equity reports, was defeated after being opposed by Senators Stokes and Francis.

The House passed the Trenton Armory bill of Senator Hutchinson, appropriating $150,000 for an armory in this city, and also Senator Hutchinson's bill permitting the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to build a new bridge or extend the present structure across the Delaware River at Trenton.

The following House bills also passed the House: Providing for a new courthouse in Hudson county, Asbury Park Library bill, East Orange Charter bill, providing a penalty of $50 for cruelty or neglect of minor children, permitting water boards to issue bonds for the maintenance of water plants, providing for the abolition of grade crossings of county roads and railroads, authorizing an annual appropriation of $250 in each school district for manual training, abolishing the office of State Dairy Commissioner, and placing that department under the State Board of Health, with the State Dairy Commissioner as chief inspector in the reconstructed departments; authorizing Jersey City to build a new police station, prohibiting any form of bribery at elections and the intimidation of employes by employers, making it a misdemeanor to seek employment upon forged or false papers.

Among the numerous Senate bills introduced were the following:

By Mr. Miller—Providing that the DEMOCRATS NOW.

Two Small Boys Receive Complimentary Copies of William J. Bryan's New Paper.

Phillip Leichtentritt and Harry Rottberg, two young boys of this city, wrote to William J. Bryan some time ago asking him to send them a copy of his paper, "The Commoner," with his autograph. Yesterday their efforts were rewarded, when they each received a copy of Mr. Bryan's paper. Although the boys are young in years, they have perused every word in the paper and profess to understand the doctrine contained in each item. The boys say that Mr. Bryan's writings are so plain that even the youngest can understand and they are now advocating him for the Presidency.

NOBODY WANTS WARREN.

TROUBLE IN ARRANGING NEW CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

Plan Proposed at Trenton Yesterday of Dividing Warren County Between 4th and 5th Districts.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, February 20—In attempting the re arrange the Congressional districts of the State, the Republican leaders are having all sorts of trouble. The present obstacle is the decided objection of the leaders in the counties which will go to make up the new Fourth and Fifth Congressional districts to having Warren county included in either of those districts. Warren is so thoroughly imbued with Democracy that all the other counties seriously object to having to overcome its Democratic majority.

It was planned to have the Fourth district include the counties of Mercer, Hunterdon, Somerset and Warren, while the Fifth was to be composed of Union, Morris and Sussex. Mercer, Hunterdon and Somerset objected to Warren, and the three counties comprising the Fifth also strenuously objected to the addition of Warren.

It is now proposed to divide Warren county between the two districts, giving 21 000 to the Fourth and 16,000 to the Fifth. The chief objection to the plan is, of course, the fact that the county of Warren has to be divided. The subject was discussed at length at the State House yesterday, and the leaders are hoping to have the plan in shape by next week so as to introduce a bill providing for the redistricting.

ELOPERS FOUND.

Farmers James Cole Has Decided to Let Them Paddle Their Own Canoe.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 20.—Farmer James Cole has discovered his runaway daughter, Maud, who went to South Branch last week and married Jesse Ort. Mrs. Cole went to Califon, Jesse's old home, and found that he was working at South Branch, a village near Somerville. She then went to South Branch, where she found that her daughter and Jesse were married. She then wisely concluded to make the best of it, but wrote to her husband the facts and asked him what should be done. He replied that the only thing to do was to come home and leave them to paddle their own canoe. So Mrs. Cole gave the couple her parental blessing and left for home.

The groom bears a good reputation and is well liked by all who know him. The couple will remain at South Branch.

New News Stand at Station.

In connection with the opening of the new railroad station the question of establishing a news stand on that side of the track has been discussed. The Union News Company will not erect a news stand there at present, but will employ the services of a boy who will supply the trade. Arrangements will probably be made as early as possible for the erection of a stand, but the railroad company must first consent to its erection.

DR. GRIGGS TALKED ON FLORENTINE POET.

First of a Series of Lectures on "Dante" Given at Vincent Chapel Yesterday.

IT WAS WELL ENJOYED.

DWELT ON PUBLIC AND PRIVATE LIFE OF DANTE.

Spoke at Length on His Love Affairs—Sketched That Period of World's History and the Events of the Poet's Life.

Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, of Brooklyn, delivered the first of his series of lectures on "Dante" in Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The large assemblage that greeted him at his initial lecture augurs well for the success of the course.

The lecturer dwelt at some length on the private life and public career of the Florentine poet and showed the audience how thoroughly the individual existence of Dante was interwoven in the thoughts to which the poetic genius gave expression.

Dr Griggs declared that the poet occupied a position in literature which was shared by not more than three others in the world's history, and that, considering this poetic mastery and keen insight of the philosophy of human life, he must be placed first on the list of renowned scholars.

Dante's Inferno, Purgatory and Paradise, which make the Divine Comedy, the Doctor said, were of great value, not merely as a portrayal of the state of society at the time in which it was written, but more as a concrete study of the philosophy of human existence. Art, said he, finds its force in the fact that it represents life, whereas it is impossible for philosophy and science to do so. Dante is said to have lived in the dark ages, but it is the deepest folly to set aside ten centuries and stigmatize it as the dark age.

The lecturer elaborately sketched this period, contrasting the ideals of the nations of the human race throughout this period, and passing on through the twelfth century, which is called the great awakening, he devoted the remainder of his talk to the happenings of the thirteenth century, in which Dante played a part.

The dawn of Christianity came with the thirteenth century and with it came also Dante. The events of the poet's life were brought to the attention of the audience, and exactly how these events were expressed in the divine comedy, especially his regard for chivalry, love of women and fondness for adventure. In Vita Nuova is to be found the story of his love for the divine Beatrice Portinari, whom the poet verily adored, and the beauty in this work lies in the fact that it is not a poetic allegory but a painting of real life. The Doctor referred to the nobility of this love affair and pictured its effect on the subsequent life of this master mind of poetry. To St. Francis he attributed the inspirations of Dante, for, said he, without the inspiration of this noble saint, who forsook ritual and sought to practice the simple religion of Christ, Grotto and Dante would be impossible.

Dr. Griggs is a masterly exponent of the literature of Dante, and his lecture, as a whole, was highly entertaining and, moreover, really invaluable to those who have neglected to acquire a knowledge of the father of Italian literature.

The second lecture in the course is set for Tuesday, February 26.

Store Still Leased.

Recently it was reported that William George, of Massachussets, had rented the store on East Front street, formerly conducted by the late George W. Moore, and would continue a tobacco business. There is still a lease on the place, and this will not expire for several months. The executors will probably retain the store until the estate is closed up and their work is completed. Mr. George was expected to be in town yesterday to make arrangements for taking the store, but he did not appear.

The trolley wire on the Somerset street line broke early yesterday morning at a point opposite the intersection of Craig place. Traffic was delayed, consequently, until the necessary repairs could be made.

An important meeting of the Painters' Union will be held this evening, after which there will be a "smoker."

A NEW WATER COMPANY.

HAS SECURED A FRANCHISE FROM WESTFIELD TOWNSHIP.

Proposed Source of Water Supply Is a Secret—Service of Union Water Company Not Satisfactory.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Westfield, Feb. 20—The fine stone roadways for which Westfield is noted are threatened with destruction, at least, temporarily. The Township Committee has granted a franchise to the Westfield Water Supply and Power Company and granted them the privilege of tearing up streets and laying water mains.

Where the company is to get the water supply seems to be a secret as the members of the company refuse to speak on the subject. It is said that the company is now trying to buy the mains of the Union Water Company which now extend through most of the streets of the town.

The Union Water Company has supplied the town with water for private and public use for several years but for several months the pressure has not been up to that agreed upon by the company and Township Committee and much dissatisfaction has resulted. At several fires the pressure has not been great enough to throw the required stream through the hose and but for the chemical engine great loss of property would, it is claimed by the firemen, have resulted.

The private consumers have also had complaints to make very frequently. At one time the pressure was so low that the houses on Dudley avenue, a high part of the town, were unable to draw water and the hot water boilers in the kitchens were badly damaged.

The men back of the new company are Arthur N. Pierson, William S. Welch, Edward Harbison and George H. L. Morton, of Westfield, Jesse O Gove, J. Mona Lesser and James M. Marden, of Boston, Mass.

EUCHRE CLUB MET.

Miss Lizzie Piker Entertained Members of the Twentieth Century Euchre Club Last Night.

The Twentieth Century Euchre Club met yesterday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Piker on West Front street. All the members of the club were present and an enjoyable time was spent.

In the euchre games Miss Lizzie Piker and Harry Leek carried off the first prizes, and Mrs. Frank Wikoff and John Fisher succeeded in capturing the second prizes.

A luncheon was then served and the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing and parlor games.

Mrs. Lorenzo Townley extended an invitation to the club to meet at her residence on Somerset street at the next regular meeting.

NO QUORUM.

So the Plainfield Speedway Association Failed to Hold a Meeting Last Evening.

For the first time since its organization, the Plainfield Speedway Association failed to secure a quorum at its meeting last evening. A number of the most energetic members turned out and these were greatly disappointed at the lack of inactivity shown by their fellow members.

It was the opinion of those present last evening that if the speedway is to be built there is no time to be wasted. Another meeting will in all probability be held next Tuesday evening when every horseman in the city will confer a favor on the officers by being present.

UNION MEETING.

Young People of Plainfield Churches Will Unite at Trinity Church Tomorrow.

At a recent executive meeting of the Plainfield Local Union of Christian Endeavorers, the subject for the coming evangelistic services was fully discussed and a unanimus desire expressed to aid the movement in every possible way. As a means of preparation for the services the Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leaguers of Plainfield will unite in holding a union young people's prayer meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Trinity Reformed church. Miss Nettie Beeching will lead and a most helpful hour of prayer, song and testimony is anticipated. There will be solo singing. Many young people have signified their intention of attending the meeting and a large audience is expected. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

HEWING DOWN TREES ON SOMERSET STREET.

Big Gang of Men Began Operations This Morning Under Direction of Mayor Smalley.

WORK BEGAN AT 7 O'CLOCK.

FIRST STEP TAKEN TOWARD WIDENING SOMERSET STREET.

Borough Residents Found a Clearer View Across the Street When They Came Out This Morning—No Active Opposition Met With Yet.

The first steps toward widening Somerset street from Green brook to Jackson avenue were taken early this morning. With the authority vested in him by an ordinance passed some time ago, Mayor N. B Smalley put a gang of some thirty men to work at 7 o'clock this morning. At that hour climbers ascended into the branches of the trees in front of the undertaking establishment of Henry DeMott and two trees were rapidly felled. Simultaneously the men with the axes started operations in front of Dr. Z gilio's residence and soon afterward chopping was commenced on the trees at Sebring's marble yard further down the street.

The gang of men which had been selected by the Mayor was divided into squads and as work was finished at a particular point the squad would hasten to another spot on the thoroughfare and begin anew.

While the half dozen trees at Dr. Zeglio's place were being cut down, those across the street on Dr. Pittis' pavement were given the attention required. A little later P. M. French discovered that he had a clearer view of the neighbors' residences across the way.

Mayor Smalley remained on the ground during the entire time personally directing the work of the gangs. Marshall Campbell was also industriously assisting in various ways.

As soon as a tree was felled and the branches severed therefrom by the choppers, the wood was carried away on large drays. No resistance has been made as yet by any of the abutting property owners, and it is safe to say that by tomorrow night the last vestige of forestry will disappear from Somerset street.

It is the intention of the Mayor to allow the tree stumps, which will project about four feet above the level of the pavement, to remain until the frost is out of the ground.

The repair wagon of the trolley company has been stationed in the neighborhood in order to repair any possible damage that may occur to the trolley wires by falling branches.

SENT TO JAIL.

Newman and King Sentenced This Morning to Sixty Days Each, For Assaulting Dodd.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Feb. 20—John Newman and John King, the two Plainfield young men convicted of assault on William J. Dodd, son of County Jail Warden Charles W. Dodd, appeared before Judge Vail, in the Union county court this morning, for sentence. Both men had pleaded non vult to the charge.

Judge Vail sentenced them to the county jail for sixty days each, the terms to begin at once. The sentence was somewhat of a surprise to the prisoner's friends as it has been their impression that a fine with no imprisonment would be imposed.

Lecture by Dr. Richards.

An illustrated lecture on Venice, Florence and Naples will be given by Rev. Dr. Richards in the chapel of the Crescent avenue church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Those who have heard Dr. Richards speak on the Holy Land and other subjects should not fail to hear the one tomorrow evening as it is entertaining and instructive throughout. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the McAll Auxiliary.

WANT NEW TRIAL.

Counsel Trying to Secure a New Trial For William Lupton, Colored.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 20.—An attempt is being made to secure a new trial for Wm. Lupton, who was convicted of atrocious assault and battery upon Alfred Paniel. Judge Schenck has the matter under consideration and will render a decision March 2.

Lupton's counsel, William V Steele, bases his claim for the right of a new trial particularly upon the fact that at the trial evidence was admitted tending to show that there existed a scar on his client's neck prior to the time of the assault in question, and also that Paniel's motive arose from a previous collision between the parties.

STRAIGHTENING A RAILROAD.

TRACKS OF PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BEING CHANGED NEAR STELTON.

Will Abolish Several Small Curves Just Outside of New Brunswick—Other Improvements.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to straighten its tracks between New Brunswick and Stelton and the work will be started at once. Ryan & Kelly, of Philadelphia, have secured the contract for the work, which will probably take six months to complete. The first improvement will be to make the line from the east end of the railroad bridge at New Brunswick a perfectly straight one to Stelton station. A number of small curves and one big one will be abolished, the largest single section of track to be moved being 200 feet.

When this is completed the balance of the track from Stelton station to Metuchen, and from Metuchen to Rahway will be improved. All sharp curves will be made easier and a number of small curves abolished altogether so that the line between the points mentioned may be as nearly an air line as possible.

This improvement, it is thought, will shorten the running time between Rahway and New Brunswick at least three or four minutes. Several hundred men will be put on the job at once and that in addition to the above improvement, other changes will be made between New Brunswick and New York.

VARIED PROGRAMME.

Variety Entertainment and Dance Given by the Children of Mary Last Evening.

A variety performance, followed by a dance, was held under the auspices of the Children of Mary, last evening, in the Parochial School building on Liberty street.

The performers were members of the Manhattan Theatrical Bureau, of New York. In the troupe were Joe. Rice, an excellent imitator of farmyard noises; George Rieber, a dialect story teller, and Charles Vaughan, a tenor soloist. A postmaster and fortune teller, on the dancing floor, conducted a thriving business, while a refreshment stand received a good share of patronage. Instrumental music was supplied by Rogers' orchestra.

The committee on arrangements were the Misses Nellie Meany, Catherine Carty, Maria Carty, Annie O'Keefe, Lizzie O'Keefe, Annie Daly and Elizabeth V. Day.

TROLLEYMEN'S BALL.

Will Be Held in Saengerbund Hall Tomorrow Evening.

The first annual ball of the Union Trolley Employes' Benevolent Association, which is to be given in Saengerbund Hall tomorrow evening, promises to be largely attended.

The association which is conducting the ball was organized in this city last October and now has a total membership of one hundred, composed of the employes of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway system. It pays weekly benefits to sick or disabled members and also pays a death benefit.

Its officers are: President, John H. Adelman; vice-president, Walter Gamble; secretary, Wm. Robinson; recording secretary, Harry Emmett; treasurer, C. W. Harden; marshal, David Adelman.

Remarkable Collection of Bells.

The collection of bells, 110 in number, that will be used in the entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course Friday night, is said to be the finest that can be procured, having been made in the oldest bell foundry of England, and imported at great expense especially for this company. It is, so far as is known, the only complete set of hand bells in this country.

GRAND RENDERING OF ORATORIO "ELIJAH."

Every Seat at Music Hall Filled for Choral Society Concert Last Evening.

A WELL-TRAINED CHORUS.

EXCELLENT WORK OF THE WELL-KNOWN SOLOISTS.

One Change Made—Miss Anderson Was Ill and Mrs. E. F. Griffin Took Her Place as Soprano—Much Praise For Work of the Participants.

For a few hours, last night, the people of Plainfield were transported from their own city and the twentieth century across the seas and back through the ages to ancient Judea, in the time of the prophets. With the people of that day they saw the land waste under the touch of drought, and watched the contest between the priests of Baal and the prophet of the Most High; with the seer Elijah they grew despondent in the lonely wilderness, and grew strong again at the revelation of God in the "still, small voice."

Such is always the effect of a successful rendition of Mendelssohn's beautiful and popular oratorio, "Elijah," and such was the effect last night, when the dramatic music was most satisfactorily presented in Stillman Music Hall by the Plainfield Choral Society, assisted by Edward J. Fitzhugh, conductor, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Emma Fish Griffin, soprano, Miss Corinne Welsh, contralto, John Young, tenor, Joseph S. Baernstein, base, of New York, and an orchestra from the New York Philharmonic Society.

A very large audience was present, filling every seat in the building, the musical people of the city being present in large numbers. The chorus, which is composed entirely of local singers, occupied the back of the stage, seated in ascending tiers. The orchestra were in front of them, and the soloists and conductor in the extreme front.

Before the opening of the oratorio, William Wallace Howland, chairman of the committee of arrangements, announced that a change in the quartette of soloists had been necessary, since Miss Sara Anderson, soprano, who had been expected to be present, had been taken ill and would not be able to appear. The society had, however, been very fortunate in securing to fill her place, Mrs. Emma Fish Griffin.

Mrs. Griffin filled the position very acceptably. Her voice was sweet and full, clear and true on high notes, of excellent range, and filling the room easily. Her enunciation was distinct, and she entered with spirit into the characters she personated. The most noteworthy of these, perhaps, was that of the widow of Zarephath, with whom Elijah lodged during the famine. In the dialogue which the widow sings with Elijah, there are difficult and dramatic passages, and wide alternations of feeling, and Mrs. Griffin rendered her part in the number with skill and sympathy. She also sang passages in which an angel speaks, and personated the youth whom Elijah sends out to look for the approaching rain clouds.

Miss Corinne Welsh, the contralto soloist, had a well-trained voice of considerable depth and good range. She sang in recitative with much spirit and warmth, especially where she personated Queen Jezebel denouncing Elijah. She had, also, several of the most attractive arias of the oratorio, singing them simply but with precision and sympathy. One of her solos was the well known "O Rest in the Lord," which was warmly applauded.

The tenor soloist, John Young, made a very favorable impression upon his audience. He had a voice of excellent quality, clear, pure, and true, and managed it with telling effect. He chiefly sang the part of Obadiah, but also personated King Ahab in the scene previous to the sacrifice on Mount Carmel, and sang the last aria of the oratorio, "Then Shall the Righteous Shine." His first number was perhaps the most effective, being the recitative beginning "Ye People, Rend Your Hearts," followed by the exquisite aria, "If With All Your Hearts Ye Truly Seek Me." Mr. Young sang this number without referring to his score, which made it come like a personal message to the hearer.

More work was required of the bass soloist, Joseph S. Baernstein, than any other member of the quartette, as LITERARY.

Burpee's Farm Annual for 1901, "Quarter-Century" edition, published by W. Atlee Burpee & Co., of Philadelphia, is more than an ordinary seed catalogue. It is a comprehensive book of 220 pages, besides four colored plates, showing leading novelties in vegetable and flower seeds; bound in a beautiful lithograph cover printed in ten colors and gold. The book is noteworthy from the fact that every description, even of the standard varieties, as well as directions for culture, have been entirely rewritten from the most recent notes taken at Fordhook Farms. The first sixteen pages (printed on enamel paper with photogravure illustrations) are devoted chiefly to a record of progress during the last quarter of the Nineteenth Century. Everyone who gardens either for pleasure or profit will certainly be delighted with this comprehensive catalogue, containing as it does so much new and trustworthy information. While too costly a book to send free, it is mailed for ten cents, together with a fifteen-cent packet of either Luther Burbank's Floral Novelty, or the new dwarf Burpee's "Quarter-Century" Tomato. In this way the catalogue really costs nothing, but Messrs. Burpee & Co. publish another catalogue of ninety pages, entitled "Seed-Sense," which is mailed entirely free.

KIDNAPER CAUGHT.

Young Cudahy Identifies Man Under Arrest as One of His Captors.

OMAHA, Feb. 20.—The police have under arrest James Callahan, charged with complicity in the abduction of Edward Cudahy, Jr., on the night of Dec. 18. Callahan was arrested last Saturday, but the police have kept it a secret until yesterday in the hope of securing other arrests. Young Cudahy has positively identified him as the man who accosted him near the Cudahy residence and represented himself to be a sheriff from an adjoining county and forced him into a buggy and also as the man who kept guard over him at the Melrose Hill house during the 30 hours he was kept a prisoner pending the negotiations for the ransom of $25,000 which Mr. Cudahy paid for the return of his boy.

Daniel H. Burris, who sold a horse and buggy to two men who are supposed to have used it to procure the abduction, also identified Callahan as one of the men with whom he made the deal. Marie Larsen, a servant in the employ of J. N. H. Patrick, of whom the kidnapers rented a house, was the third person to identify Callahan and says he is the man who paid a month's rent in advance for a cottage in Happy Hollow which the bandits abandoned two weeks before the abduction, fearing discovery.

Callahan was arrested by Patrolmen Deuxberry and Dwyer, both of whom are old acquaintances of the prisoner, one of them having gone to school with him. They also knew that he was a close friend of Pat Crowe, for whom a large reward has been offered as leader in the kidnaping. Their suspicions were aroused some time ago by remarks dropped by Callahan in connection with discussion of the Cudahy affair. Their suspicions were communicated to the chief of police, who made a quiet but thorough investigation which led to Callahan's arrest.

Four Dead Miners Found.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 20.—A special from Cumberland, B. C., says that 600 feet below the ground and over 1,000 yards from the foot of shaft No. 5 a little gang of men were working last evening in an heroic attempt to reach the bodies of their fellow miners who perished in Friday's explosion. Four bodies have so far been recovered. The first body found was that of Duncan McInnis, a Scotch miner, who recently came to Cumberland. Near by was that of his Japanese helper. These two were lying on their backs close together with their hands up to their foreheads. There are no marks of burning, and the conclusion therefore is that they were suffocated by the after damp. They had evidently moved but a few steps from their work when overcome. Owing to the difficulty of working continuously in the dense atmosphere of the pit, it was several hours after the discovery of McInnis' body that two more bodies were found. These have not yet been identified. They are mangled almost beyond recognition. The work of endeavoring to recover the bodies is now proceeding from both Nos. 5 and 6 shafts.

Retired Officer Restored.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—In pursuance of a special act of congress Ensign Everett Hayden, U. S. N., retired, has been appointed a lieutenant on the active list in the same relative position he would have occupied had he not been retired. Ensign Hayden was retired on account of disabilities. While on detached service making geological surveys he fell over a precipice and broke his leg. The action of congress in authorizing his restoration to the active list is said to be largely due to a recent opinion of the attorney general that an officer physically disqualified for sea service need not necessarily be retired if competent to perform naval duty on shore. Owing to the loss of his leg Lieutenant Hayden will be assigned permanently to shore duty.

Worcester Elects This Time.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 20.—Philip J. O'Connell, Democratic candidate for mayor, was elected yesterday over William A. Lytle, the Republican nominee, by a majority of 511. The poll is the largest in the history of the city. O'Connell received 9,559 votes and Lytle 9,048.

RAID ENDS FATALLY.

Barkeeper's Wife Killed In an Attack on Saloon.

RAIDERS MASKED AND WELL ARMED.

Millwood, Kan., Thrown Into Intense Excitement by the Affair, and a More Serious Collision of the Factions Feared.

MILLWOOD, Kan., Feb. 20.—In a raid on a "joint" here by 20 masked men heavily armed Mrs. Rose Hudson, wife of the bartender, was instantly killed. William Webb, one of the raiders, was shot through the arm, and two or three of his companions were slightly wounded. Young farmers composed the party. Two arrests were made, and much excitement prevails over the prospect of a still more serious collision between the factions.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Monday night two men entered the "joint," which is said to be owned by Mrs. Michael Lochner. Warning has been served on the proprietress to cease business, but compliance was refused. When the men entered, they ordered drinks, which were served by Bartender Hudson. One of the men rapped loudly on the bar, and at this signal about 20 more men rushed into the place. All carried arms and wore masks. Half a dozen shotguns were raised and discharged into the ceiling, apparently to demoralize the keepers of the place. Two men rushed upon Hudson with guns leveled at his head. He grasped the barrels and pushed them aside just as they exploded. Hudson slipped to the floor.

Just then Mrs. Hudson burst open the rear door and entered. She dashed toward her husband, whom she supposed to have been shot. Hardly had she crossed half the intervening space when another gun was discharged point blank at her head. The whole top of her skull was blown away, and Hudson, regaining his feet, bore her to the rear room, where she died.

Ten men, it is said, were waiting under arms to help defend the "joint" from the expected raid, but when the band entered the place and began shooting the defenders became panic stricken and decamped.

When the raiders saw Mrs. Hudson fall dying, they, too, became frightened and hastily quitted the place without attempting to destroy the liquors or fixtures.

Sheriff Everhardy of Leavenworth was quickly notified of the raid and yesterday arrested John and Henry Wilson, farmers, charged with participating in the affair. Several more arrests are expected.

Mrs. Nation to Stay In Jail.

TOPEKA, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Carrie Nation is in the hospital ward of the county jail, where she is likely to remain until the April term of court, when the cases against her for destroying property will be heard. No citizen of Topeka has offered to sign her bond of $2,000 to keep the peace, and Mrs. Nation says she will ask no one to do so, as she will remain a prisoner. She has telegraphed her husband to come to Topeka and remain here while she is in jail. The action of Judge Hazen of the district court in placing Mrs. Nation and her leaders under bonds to keep the peace is the beginning of the end of the saloon smashing lawlessness. His firm decision that this thing must stop in Topeka is indorsed by the people.

Roosevelt Starts For the East.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Feb. 20.—Ex-Governor Theodore Roosevelt left for the east last evening after another day hunting coyotes on the plains east and south of Colorado Springs. The ride yesterday included eight runs after coyotes, in only two of which, however, the dogs were let loose. The distance covered was more than 50 miles. The party returned to Colorado Springs in the afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt arrived at the depot just in time to board the private car before the train pulled out, and there was no ceremony other than a cheer by the assembled throng.

Pugilists In Trouble.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Pugilist Gus Ruhlin and his sparring partner, "Denver Ed" Martin, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $750 each for engaging in a friendly boxing exhibition at a local theater. Frank Hall, who made the complaint against them, was arrested, charged with witnessing a boxing contest. Hall was also held to the grand jury in the sum of $750. The Illinois law calls for the punishment of a witness of even a friendly sparring contest.

Raymond of Buffalo, secretary of the canal committee of the state board of trade, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston board of trade at the Eagle hotel last night. Mr. Raymond spoke of "Boards of Trade and the Canals."

Carnival In New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—Though the day opened with threatening weather, before noon every cloud had disappeared from the skies. The event of the day was the glittering pageant of his majesty Rex. CHINESE WILL YIELD

Ready to Comply With All Demands of the Powers.

MARTIAL PREPARATIONS SCARE THEM

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang Greatly Worried Over the Proposed Expedition—Urge Their Government to Give Up.

PEKING, Feb. 20.—Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have received a telegram which virtually means that the Chinese will comply with all the demands of the powers, although they still desire information on a few minor points. The foreign envoys look forward confidently to absolute compliance by tomorrow at the latest.

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have been greatly worried by the preparations for the expedition into the interior, and they have strongly urged the court to yield, pointing out that otherwise the dismemberment of the empire was probable.

General Chaffee signalized the Chinese New Year by calling upon Li Hung Chang, who seemed to be in much better health.

It is now asserted that the Germans will turn the railroad over to the British at the end of the month.

Last Saturday was an uncomfortable one for Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, the Chinese peace commissioners. Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, the German minister, visited the Chinese envoys on that day and informed them that Count von Waldersee would be ready to start a great expedition for Singan-fu on Feb. 23 if the Chinese government did not comply with the demands of the ministers before that date.

The Chinese commissioners asked the minister how many men would compose the expedition. Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein refused to tell, but said there would be enough to get through to the Chinese capital.

The Chinese commissioners immediately dispatched an alarming message to the empress dowager, in which they informed her that she must hurry and agree to the terms and that the Germans would surely start for Singan-fu if she did not settle by the date mentioned.

Later in the day an attache of the British legation visited Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching and told them that the English were tired of waiting to hear from the Chinese government. Their troops were anxious and enthusiastic to join an expedition and would start next Saturday with the Germans. They would never rest until they got the entire court in their hands, and once they had succeeded in doing this there was no telling what would happen.

This alarmed the Chinese commissioners still more, and they rushed a second telegram to the empress dowager, in which they urged the necessity for quick action on her part. A little later an attache of the Japanese legation visited Li Hung Chang's temple and told the Chinese envoys that the Japanese were under Count von Waldersee's orders and would be compelled to join the expedition next Saturday. The Japanese attache advised quick compliance with the demands of the ministers as the only way of preventing the dispatch of the expedition.

Thereupon the Chinese commissioners hustled off a third telegram to the empress dowager. This time they told her that there were only two heads in question—those of Chao Shu Chao and Ying Lien—while if the expedition should start thousands of her loyal subjects would be killed, and there would also be a tremendous property loss. All these telegrams are now in the hands of the empress dowager and the court, and it is very likely that they will interfere somewhat with the New Year's festivities, which are supposed to last five days.

Meantime the German, British and Japanese headquarters show great signs of activity, and the troops there are making every preparation to start on Feb. 23 if it should be necessary.

Instructions to Conger.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Minister Conger has been instructed by cable to communicate to the foreign ministers at Peking the feeling of the United States government that further hostile expeditions should not be indulged in at this time.

Bacilli In Books.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Dr. W. A. Kuflewski, chairman of the special committee appointed by the public library board to consider the advisability of sterilizing the books in the library for the purpose of preventing the spread of disease, reported to the trustees at their meeting, recommending that some system be adopted for freeing the pages of the volumes from bacilli at regular intervals. Dr. Kuflewski exhibited several glass tubes filled with germs taken from the pages of library books examined. The bacilli represented 100 different poisons and germs of disease. He said that all of the 50 books examined by him during the investigation were found to be more or less infected.

Pennsylvania Spring Elections.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—The spring elections for municipal and other minor offices were held throughout Pennsylvania yesterday. The weather was mild, and the elections passed off quietly. Reports from the state show that only a light vote was cast. In this city John W. Davidson was elected receiver of taxes with the usual overwhelming Republican majority. The Republicans also elected a state senator and two assemblymen to fill vacancies.

WEST POINT REPORT.

The Senate Rejects It as Being Too Drastic.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—By the emphatic vote of 42 to 18 the senate late yesterday rejected the conference report on the Military academy appropriation bill. This action came at the conclusion of a spirited debate upon the provisions against hazing inserted in the report by the conference committee of the two branches of congress. Discussion of the provision which was precipitated at the close of Monday's session by Mr. Daniel of Virginia occupied the greater part of yesterday's session, and the report of the conferees was rejected because it was regarded by a large majority of the senate as too drastic, and while no instructions could be given the conferees by the senate it was understood that to secure favorable action by the senate a modified provision as to the penalty for hazing would have to be presented and agreed upon by the conferees.

Early in the day Mr. Deboe of Kentucky delivered his announced speech upon the Nicaragua canal. He reviewed at length the proceedings which led up to the present situation and strongly advocated the construction of the waterway by the United States.

An effort was made to obtain consideration for the bill reviving the grade of vice admiral of the navy for the benefit of Rear Admirals Sampson and Schley, but it was unavailing.

The house spent the day upon the sundry civil appropriation bill and reached the ninety-ninth page. There are 135 pages in the bill. The features of the day were the debates upon the question of national irrigation of arid lands in the west, which came up incidentally, and a local proposition to buy some additional ground for the government hospital for the insane which has been agitated here for several years. No material amendments were placed upon the bill.

Contracts have already been closed for the erection of a factory at Shelby, Ind. This will be the first enterprise of its kind in the state. Ten thousand acres of land have been purchased by the company. The factory at first will be able to cut 600 tons of beets daily. George W. Cass, the president of the company, is a Chicago attorney, John F. Tully is secretary, and C. W. Shriver is the general manager.

Heavy Run on a Bank.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—False and unfounded rumors caused a run on the German National bank of Allegheny yesterday, during which $180,000 was paid out to certain frightened depositors. The excitement at one time during the afternoon was intense, causing almost a panic and giving the police all they could do to prevent an outbreak. In the crush around the door of the institution one lady, Mrs. Mary Fogal, was seriously bruised and injured internally. Several stories in circulation are given as the reason for the run.

TAX BILLS FAVORED.

New York Senate Committee Ready to Report.

ALBANY, Feb. 20.—The senate committee on taxation and retrenchment has decided to report favorably on those amended tax bills that will, if they become law, net the state in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 annually. The bills are the acts taxing insurance companies savings banks and trust companies. The amendments are as follows:

The bill taxing insurance companies is amended so that all domestic insurance companies—fire, life and mutual—are taxed 1 per cent on the gross amount of their premiums in this state. The insurance companies of other states are taxed 1 per cent on the gross amount of premiums in this state. Fire and marine insurance companies of other states, however, are not to be taxed. Foreign country insurance companies writing fire and marine insurance are taxed one-half of 1 per cent on the gross premiums in this state. Foreign country life, health and casualty insurance companies are not to be taxed. All other foreign country companies are to be taxed 1 per cent on their premiums in the state.

Trust companies are to be taxed 1 per cent on the capital, surplus and undivided profits. They are to be exempted from taxation for local purposes on personal property.

Savings banks are to be taxed 1 per cent on their surplus at its par value.

Summed up, the state will receive revenue from its new taxation scheme as follows: Insurance companies, $700,000 savings banks, $750,000; trust companies $1,350,000; total, $2,800,000.

All of the tax imposed is in addition to the tax the companies have to pay already.

The assembly committees on internal affairs will report favorably the S. W. Smith bill, which gives to boards of supervisors the power to regulate the speed at which vehicles may be ridden or driven upon the highways. This bill, it is claimed, is aimed at automobiles. The committee will also report the Doughty bill to regulate the speed of automobiles on the highways of Nassau county and the Fowler bill to make the office of sheriff throughout the state a salaried office.

English Plans For Paying War Debt.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The war office publishes the list of British casualties in the fight between Smith-Dorrien and Commandant General Louis Botha at Bothwell Feb. 6, already fully described in Lord Kitchener's advices to the war office from Pretoria Feb. 9. The British casualties were 24 killed and 53 wounded, and the Boers were repulsed. The Daily Mail, in view of the necessity of raising money for the war in South Africa, still "in full blast," advocates a tariff for revenue purposes which, it says, differs entirely from a protective tariff. It suggests a 10 per cent ad valorem duty on foreign manufactures. This suggestion will probably find considerable support in view of the almost certain increase of the income tax. Among the numerous suggestions for raising money it has been proposed that the government should appropriate the many millions that are lying in the Bank of England. No information has been received in London from South Africa that would give color to the report circulated in the United States that General De Wet had been captured by the British.

A Michigan Saloon Smasher.

PORT HURON, Mich., Feb. 20.—With a hammer instead of the usual hatchet Mrs. Charles Rhodes yesterday started to wreck James Wilson's saloon. She entered the place and asked for her son, who, it appears, hangs around Wilson's establishment. He was not there, and after giving the bartender a lecture Mrs. Rhodes suddenly drew a hammer from under her cape and began to break a showcase containing bottled goods. With three blows she broke all the glass front and about ten bottles of whisky. The bartender then put her out. Mrs. Rhodes stated that she had served notice on the saloon keeper not to sell her son liquor. Wilson will ask for a warrant for Mrs. Rhodes' arrest.

The Latest Labor Move.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—The latest labor move in the great steel combination is the announcement that President T. J. Shaffer of the Amalgamated association, with a committee of officers, will leave for New York this week to persuade Mr. Carnegie to have inserted in the transfer of his holdings a clause permitting the organization of the employees of the combines by the Amalgamated association or any labor organization. President Shaffer is of the opinion that Mr. Carnegie will act on the proposition and that some clause will be inserted in behalf of the workingmen before the transfer is completed. But the new movement is to be carried to a finish, and it is claimed President Shaffer is enlisting the support of the labor leaders of the country.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, Feb. 20.—The house Republicans held another conference yesterday on the antispring election bill. Mr. Meeker sought to have immediate action taken on his substitute bill. Some of the members thought that the bill should first of all be submitted to competent legal authorities to ascertain if it is in constitutional form. It was finally decided that the matter go over until next Monday night. The house passed a number of bills. The two houses adjourned in the afternoon for the week in order that the members of the legislature might visit the three state institutions at Vineland.

Fire In Mining Town.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 20.—Fire swept Silver Creek, a suburb of Sugar Notch, adjoining this city, destroying 18 houses. It threatened the Sugar Notch town hall and other buildings. Many families are made homeless, and their losses will amount to many thousands of dollars, with but little insurance. Fortunately not a life was lost. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Dinner For the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The president and Mrs. McKinley gave their regular annual dinner at the White House last night in honor of the supreme court. The table, the decorations of which were mainly of mounds of green offset with red and white primroses, was set in the long corridor, while the east room was beautiful with ferns, azaleas and roses.

MacArthur's Reception at Malacanan a Success.

POPULATION WELL REPRESENTED.

Belgian Consul at Manila Implicated In the Carman Case—He Fled In Order to Avoid Arrest.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—General MacArthur's reception at Malacanan exceeded anytaing in the Spanish regime. The palace was beautifully decorated and brilliantly illuminated. Thousands of persons attended from the army, navy, official, consular, clerical, business and social circles, American and foreign. The Filipino population was well represented. General Barry was master of ceremonies.

General MacArthur and the ladies of the United States commission received the guests. The reception lasted till 11 o'clock. There was dancing afterward. The affair was thoroughly enjoyable, and the Filipinos were especially pleased at being accorded a privilege never before afforded them. General MacArthur's tact and courtesy were greatly appreciated.

The Women's Peace league met at Judge Taft's house yesterday and passed resolutions to the effect that they intended to unite the Americans and Filipinos in the efforts to promote loyalty and hasten peace.

M. Andre, the Belgian consul at Manila, left here yesterday for Brussels. M. Haeltman, his associate in business, has been arrested by the police on a charge of having violated a parole issued by General Bates. He is also implicated in the case of D. M. Carman, who is said to have furnished the rebels with supplies. It is reported that the consul fled in order to escape being involved in the matter. He said that he was going to Europe on business.

Correspondence now in the hands of private individuals dated last year confirms the previous belief that a number of persons were involved with Carman in his dealings with the insurgents.

The transport Rosecrans, which sailed for Guam with a number of deported rebels some time ago, has returned here. She reports that she arrived at Guam on Jan. 24 with 32 prisoners, and the Solace arrived on Jan. 31 with 11 prisoners. After quarters had been prepared for these prisoners and six months' supplies provided they were all landed on Feb. 12.

The officers of the Rosecrans report that the Guam islanders express great satisfaction at the American methods of administration.

Over 500 residents of San Pablo, in the province of Laguna, under the lead of the local officers, have taken the preliminary steps toward the formation of a branch of the Federal party.

The Kennedy Trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—In the trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dolly Reynolds, the attempt to prove an alibi for Kennedy went on yesterday, and more witnesses swore that they had seen the accused man on Staten Island at the hour when, according to the prosecution, he was leaving the Grand hotel, where the murder was committed. The feature of the hearing was the appearance on the stand of the aged mother of the defendant. Mrs. Kennedy has been an invalid ever since her son was arrested. She has been ill in bed of late, but yesterday arose to give testimony which might aid in saving her son from death in Sing Sing. Conclusion of the trial is expected today.

Will Send a Crew to England.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—The rowing committee of the University of Pennsylvania at a meeting held last night unanimously voted to send an eight oared crew to England to compete at the Henley regatta in July. Harry Fuller, former treasurer of the college boat club, was appointed chairman of a committee to raise the funds to cover the expenses of the trip. The committee has estimated that $3,500 will be sufficient to meet the expenses. When the money is raised, the varsity crew now in training will be sent to England, and a second eight will be organized to participate in the contest between Cornell, Columbia, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania at Poughkeepsie.

Redemption Day In Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 10.—Yesterday was the day for redeeming tickets sold for the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest. There was no rush of applicants for money, while a very considerable number of local purchasers returned their tickets as contributions toward reducing the debt of the Sangerfest association. A formal motion has been filed for a new trial of the injunction case, which Judge Hollister will overrule, and the matter will then be in form to go to the higher courts if it is deemed worth while to further try the law points involved.

Noted Historian Dead.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Dr. William H. Egle, a noted genealogist and historian, is dead at his home in this city of pneumonia. He was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1859. In 1863 he was appointed surgeon of the Forty-seventh Pennsylvania regiment and served until December, 1865. In March, 1887, he was appointed state librarian, which position he held for 12 years. He was the author of a history of Pennsylvania and a large number of other historical publications.

The Choral Concert.

There is something lacking in the man who cannot enjoy beautiful music. While there are many who are unable to produce it either with their own vocal chords or with the aid of any musical instrument, they can nevertheless appreciate the efforts of others more fortunate in that direction than themselves. That Plainfield possesses many who thoroughly enjoy beautiful music was evidenced at Music Hall last evening when the famous oratorio, "Elijah," was given by the local Choral Society, assisted by a quartette of soloists and an orchestra.

Plainfield has long been noted as numbering among its citizens an unusual proportion of music loving people. Such a state of affairs might exist, however, without any such concerts as the result. It requires time and money to arrange affairs of that nature and there must be some leading spirits who are willing to devote a little of both in order to make these musical treats possible.

Plainfield possesses not only the many lovers of music but those who are willing to take the initiative and bring to pass just such affairs so that of last evening which was, without doubt, one of the chief events in musical circles in this part of the county. Four singers of reputation were secured to assist the local chorus and one of the grandest of the oratorios was rendered in a way that is very seldom heard outside of New York itself.

Much credit is due to the men who were instrumental in arranging the concert of last evening. There is also credit due to those who took part in the rendition of the oratorio itself and aided in giving the Plainfield public one of the most enjoyable musical entertains that it has been their privilege to listen to this season.

It seems a great pity that, with so much excellent talent in the city, a permanent organization like the old Choral Society and the Melopoia, can not be formed here and continued year after year. With such an organization such concerts as the one of last evening would be made possible several times a year instead of at rare intervals.

Now that the Council has appropriated the necessary funds to properly equip the city with street signs, it rests with the street committee to secure the proper signs and place them in position. The plan of the street committee seems a reasonable one. They intend to place a few signs in position at first, and, when they have been given a trial, the entire city will be equipped with them as far as the appropriation will permit. But the street committee does not want to wait too long as there is an immediate demand for the signs, and they should be placed in position with all reasonable speed.

It is the opinion of Newspaperdom, quotes the Philadelphia Record, that no business man will complain that newspaper advertising does not pay well if he shall place his advertisement in newspapers which make clean-cut and straightforward circulation statements covering given periods of time. "No statements are valuable unless they are specific and give the exact number of copies printed and sold every day," says the Chicago News.

Former Congressman Alvah A. Clark spoke with considerable plainness to Democrats of the State on the occasion of the dinner of the Robert Davis Association. Some of the Democrats were pleased and others were not.

It speaks well for the enterprise of Plainfield citizens when two of them offer to donate lots for the proposed new glove factory in this city while a third offers to pay half the cost of any lot which the company may select.

J. Y. Wilson and the trolley company still cannot agree to terms and the extension of the trolley line to Watchung is apparently no nearer at hand than it was a year ago.

If the Board of Trade only keeps up the active campaign which it is conducting this winter, it will undoubtedly succeed in doing considerable for the advantage of Plainfield.

Today is Ash Wednesday and Lent begins.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It is pretty hard on the Amboyans who have to come to New Brunswick to cross the river on either side, provided they are driving, and a wagon bridge is therefore a most pressing need to them; but if the Freeholders are going to build the bridge it were well if the bill to reduce their number is adopted soon, otherwise it will cost as much for their inspection of the work as it will for the construction of the bridge.—New Brunswick Home News.

* * * * *

As has already been stated, there appears to be a determination on the part of those who are studying the congressional reapportionment of the State to put Union, Morris, Sussex and Warren counties in one district, leaving our near neighbor and friend, Somerset county, to go into the district with Mercer county. The four counties referred to have a total population of 226 424, of which Union county has about 90,000. Taken as a whole, the district would be Republican, if the majorities of former years are to be accepted as indicative of future returns. In 1898 these four counties gave a narrow majority of 825 for governor, a Republican majority of 1 502 for congressman, and last year 4 6 2 majority for McKinley and Roosevelt These figures do not show that the proposed district is very strong either way. It is Republican now, but a change of a few hundred votes on some off election might put the majorities on the wrong side.—Elizabeth Journal.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

In the course of the Senatorial discussion of the Oleomargarine bill, a few days ago, Proctor and Tillman grasped the opportunity to enlighten their colleagues on the practical knowledge of the subject that each possessed. Proctor stated that he had milked 250 cows, while Tillman claimed that his career extended direct from the dairy to the Senate. The Senator from South Carolina said that he knew all about "axle grease" and all other deccetions, concoctions and contractions that were represented to the public as butter, and, incidentally, he referred to one grade of butter that was so strong that a man had to put a brick in the top of his hat to get the taste out of the roof of his mouth.

* * * * * *

The anxiety of Mr. Spaulding for his bundles, in the "Private Secretary," recalls an incident that happened at Woodhull & Martin's, West Front street store the other day. During the busy hours, a Hebrew rushed suddenly into the establishment, reeled and fell heavily on the floor. One of the clerks, Charles Greer, coming to his aid inquired as to the cause of his exhaustion, and the only response given was "where's my pocketbook?" After considerable effort the man recovered sufficiently to explain that subsequent to making a purchase at the West Front street store he had boarded a car for Netherwood and upon arriving at his destination discovered that his pocketbook, containing $37, was missing. Not wishing to waste the time waiting for a trolley to Plainfield, the Hebrew had covered the entire distance on foot as quickly as his legs could carry him. In the meanwhile the purse had been found and promptly restored to the owner, who was again over come in an endeavor to profusely thank the clerk for the restoration of the ducats.

Wants to Know.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—As a taxpayer of the borough of North Plainfield I would like to inquire why the tax rate of the borough was increased eighteen points in 1900 above 1899? The administration would have the public believe it was due to the "swearing off" of taxes on indebtedness to banks, etc. If this is true there must be facts and figures in the possession of those in authority that would enlighten many other business men, besides myself, whose interests are in the borough, who would like to know.

A retired sea captain, sixty years of age, well known to the reputable citizens of New Haven, suffered from an overworked and worn-out digestive apparatus. He had no faith in patent medicines as a cure for dyspepsia, but was induced by a friend to try Ripans Tabules. This he did with but little hope of benefit. After trying them for some time he said to the friend who had directed his attention to them: "Those Ripans Tabules were so effective from the start that I was amazed at the result. They are wizards. All the dyspeptic misery endured by me since becoming a landlubber has disappeared. I take one every night now, and feel so much rejuvenated by their use that I sometimes think I could climb a ship's rigging as well as I did thirty years ago."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS Tabules may be had at any drug store. Ten samples will be sent to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

FEMININE CYCLISTS

"Isn't it dreadful?" said the Englishman; "so immodest." We stood upon the hotel veranda looking at the sea.

"What is dreadful?"

"There, don't you see—that woman's bicycle skirt, so shockingly short?"

A group of cyclers stood upon the lawn, they, too, gazing at the sea. A woman was of the party. For the bicycle her skirt was not at all short. It extended quite two-thirds of the distance from her knee to her ankle, was as long as it could be with safety, yet to the British mind that skirt represented a glaring breach of feminine propriety. In Great Britain women may keep a "pub," or licensed dramshop, and be considered entirely and respectably feminine. They may smoke cigarettes when and almost where they please and still be real ladies. But let a woman shorten her bicycle skirt by so much as an inch above her ankles and the British constitution is shaken.

LONG ENGLISH SKIRT.

The rainy day skirt common in America would be, even when worn upon a bicycle, overshort for this solemn British propriety. At the same time no man is fonder of showing off the shape of his own lower extremities below the knee, whether they be spindles or gateposts, whether they be straight or crooked, than your Briton. Englishmen wear queer looking knickerbockers daily in the most crowded of London streets.

One day on Euston road I saw a woman cycler hurled to the ground in the midst of the omnibuses, cabs and trucks that thunder up and down that choked thoroughfare. Her head struck the sidewalk. That she was not run over and killed could only have been owing to the Providence which takes care of fools and children. The reason of the fall was that her long skirt had caught in the axle of the wheel and had been chewed up till it threw her over.

English women think the knickerbockers worn by Frenchwomen on the bicycle are scandalous. On the other hand, although the Frenchwoman dons knickerbockers and rides a diamond frame or so called man's bicycle, although she not seldom has also a mustache and beard, yet she dislikes English women because she considers them masculine. French ladies declare that Englishmen are manly, but that English women are not womanly. Curious world, is it not?

Not all Frenchwomen wear the knickerbocker bicycle suit and ride the diamond frame, but most of them do. Sparkling with life, picturesque as fancy can paint, is the scene in the great park of Paris, the Bois de Boulogne, of a bright Sunday afternoon. Fair cyclers flit like birds in and out among the trees and along the beautiful paths. Frenchwomen are certainly the most graceful of their sex, whether it be due to natural litheness and suppleness of body or whether to the exceedingly careful training they receive, but of the fact there is no doubt.

Many of the knickerbocker costumes are very pretty and taking, like everything else French. They are planned with a view to pleasing the beholder. The sightliest are made with a pair of bloomer trousers not so wide as to be baggy and clumsy, fastened below the knee, and a short, close fitting jacket to match. The color is black, gray or dark blue, often black. The jacket reaches to the waist, is open in front, displaying the cheerful pink, blue or violet shirt. A jaunty, becoming toque or cap covers the head. Frenchwomen do not take kindly to the sailor hat or the golf cap.

Thus attired the speed, grace and ease with which these charming cyclers ride cannot be too much praised. If at any time one of them has occasion to dismount and move afoot through a crowded street, her knickerbocker costume attracts not the slightest notice. Over and again I observe French wheelwomen walking through Paris streets in bloomers, sometimes even without their bicycles, and not a head is turned to look after them, the incident is so ordinary. It is recognized that they are bicyclers. It is not so common, however, for women riders to go about unattended by men as they do in the United States or in England. This is not because the thing is considered improper, but merely because no Frenchwomen can imagine herself having any kind of pleasure unless there is a man along.

SALOONS AS CLUBS.

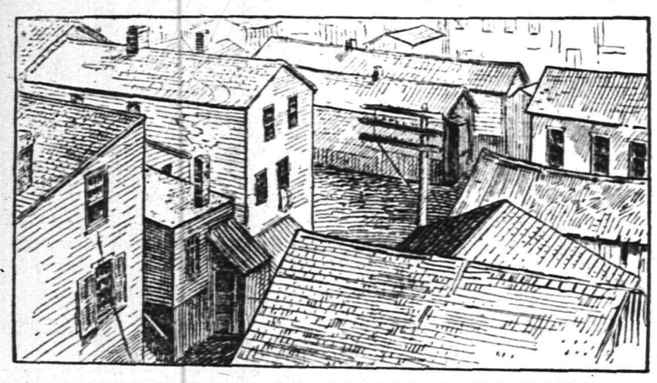
Some Ethical Aspects of the Drink Problem in Cities.

Why Grog and Beer Shops Have Such a Strong Hold on the People, and What Makes Them Most Dangerous.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

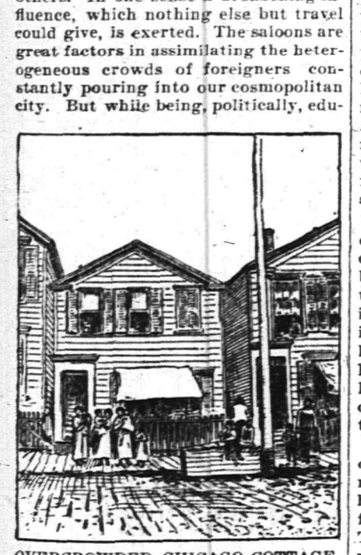
REGARDING the work accomplished by the "Committee of Fifty," organized in New York city, in 1893, by himself, Seth Lowe, Prof. Francis G. Peabody and other representative men, the late Charles Dudley Warner wrote: "It was from the first understood that the prime business of the committee was not the expression of opinion or the advancing or advocacy of one theory or another, but strictly the investigation of facts without reference to the conclusions to which they might lead."

Of the four subcommittees, one has reported on "The Liquor Problem in Its Legislative Aspect," another on "The Economic Aspect of the Liquor Problem." One line of inquiry has been into the ethical aspects of the drink problem and the committee, at its own expense and under its auspices, empowered the Chicago Commons to search into conditions in Chicago and the ethical substitutes for saloons. A volume in which the report of this investigation will be contained is to be published soon. During six months of unremitting labor, Mr. R. L. Melendy, the incumbent of the University of Michigan social settlement fellowship at Chicago Commons, prosecuted this self-sacrificing and hazardous work and brought to light such varying conditions as would surprise the many who speak much of saloons, but realize little of the multiplicity of phases of human existence to which they bear relation. By no means the least of the features of the saloon is the sort of unorganized club life carried on there. Nearly the same constituency meets at the same place night after night, and the subjects discussed and the manner of treating them depend entirely upon the character of the frequenters of each. Untrammeled by rules and regulations, the saloon surpasses in spirit the organized club. Men here find the atmosphere of freedom and spirit of democracy which many of them crave. The distinguishing feature which draws to one may be political, to another a common nationality or a similarity in occupation.



LOCALITY FROM WHICH CHEAP SALOONS DRAW PATRONAGE.

At "everybody's exchange," men of all nationalities meet and exchange opinions, each being modified by the others. In one sense a broadening influence, which nothing else but travel could give, is exerted. The saloons are great factors in assimilating the heterogeneous crowds of foreigners constantly pouring into our cosmopolitan city. But while being, politically, educators for good or ill, in the saloons are learned the lessons of vice and corruption. The proprietor, often a man of superior intelligence, generally directs the thought. He possesses the latest news. He is at the head of what is known as one of the greatest political institutions in the country. No other so accommodates itself to the shifting moods of the people; and that which comes most directly in touch with them will, to a large extent, control legislation. The better class, who cry for the abolition of the saloon, hardly realize its tremendous hold on the people. It is easy to say that it "must go," but it is necessary to face the fact that something must be provided in its place. To ascertain what this is to be, it must first be known what attractions the saloon is able to offer. Although hedged in by laws, and opposed on every side, it flourishes. This shows that the root has not been struck. In what other place can a poor man find a substantial, unstinted meal for five cents? The breweries are able to place these in the saloons by purchasing supplies in large quantities. Here are bread, several kinds of meat, vegetables and cheese, to which customers help themselves. Red-hots, clams and egg sandwiches are dispensed as freely to those who do not drink as to those who do. There is an appearance of abundance, found neither in their homes nor the cheap restaurants, and an entire absence of any sense of charity, so repugnant to a self-respecting man. The hungry here find temporary relief and in time become "steady regulars." It is probable that the saloons to-day are feeding more people in Chicago than all the charitable organizations combined. In them nothing is said about the "deserving poor," no "work test" is given, and money is loaned again and again "expecting no return."



OVERCROWDED CHICAGO COTTAGE.

The laboring man, out of employment, looks to the saloon, not only for food, but for assistance in finding work, for many of these institutions act as labor bureaus. At the saloon, homeless men find fire, seats, tables, music, conversation and games at slight expense. In many cases there is an entire absence of the things which the uninitiated are in the habit of associating with the saloon idea. It is said that in every neighborhood are places free from gambling and social vices, where indecency in conversation is strictly prohibited and drinking to excess never allowed, owing, in some cases, strange to say, to the ethical or religious convictions of the saloon keepers themselves. Hence it is often heard that the saloon is a "social necessity"—a horribly false premise, for in these same "respectable" resorts many young men start on a saloon career from which they would have turned with disgust had they first entered some of the places which they reached by graded steps, through first passing the doorway of the higher class establishment. Many saloons entertain the neighborhood with a vaudeville show suited to the requirements of the audience. In too many instances the programme is cheap and vulgar, although patriotic songs are seldom missing. A large number pander to vice in its worst forms and in about two per cent. gambling is permitted. Weddings are sometimes celebrated in the popular saloons. Young girls are sent for buckets of beer, and as they grow older attend the concerts with their parents and friends, form new acquaintances there, and reach maturity with no idea of any other place so attractive. While in the workingmen's districts the wretched conditions of home and lodging-house life and the nonexistence of other social opportunities have turned the saloon into a large field from which is reaped a rich harvest, so in business sections inadequate provision for places for business appointments has offered advantages the saloons have eagerly grasped. In them a business man may sit at a polished table in a quiet corner and discuss affairs with a friend at leisure. Some of these "drawing-rooms" are veritable palm-gardens. An orchestra fills the air with choice music, and costly pictures adorn the walls. Separate rooms are furnished, free of charge, to committees and small meetings of various character.

The head of a department in one of Chicago's largest wholesale houses confessed that certain of the firm's best salesmen sell a large portion of their goods "over a glass of beer" in a neighboring saloon. The meetings of lodges are often held over saloons because their owners rent halls more cheaply than other landlords can afford to do. The former depend on the drinks they sell for their pronts.

Mr. Melendy related the story of one night spent in the "vilest, bummiest doss-house in the city," where he went so disguised that his best friends failed to recognize him. The odors coming down the stairway, as he entered, were almost overpowering. Two smoky kerosene lamps dimly lighted a large room containing a hundred two-story bedsteads. On the frame of each was a rag of a mattress, with another for cover, reeking with filth and alive with vermin. Ten cents paid for a night of indescribable horror, filled with sickly sights, sounds and odors that made the worst saloon seem desirable by contrast. The social settlements, Salvation Army and Y. M. C. A. are doing all they can to provide better sleeping quarters. In New York and elsewhere, it has been proven that wholesome lodgings can be furnished at popular prices and a profit made. Such might induce large numbers to relinquish their saloon patronage, but a great portion of the human race will have to be made over before those who go to a saloon to "get a drink" will be sufficiently reduced in numbers to render the business unprofitable. However, bettering existing conditions seems to be the first great step, that those who seem to visit these places from necessity rather than choice may find good cheer elsewhere.

EDWARD JULIAN.

The character, the counsels and example of our Washington * * * they will guide us through the doubts and difficulties that beset us; they will guide our children and our children's children in the paths of prosperity and peace, while America shall hold her place in the family of nations.—Speech of Edward Everett, July 5, 1858.

Tribute to Washington

Richard Henry Lee's Eulogy of the Great Patriot, Soldier and Statesman

We feel that we need make no apology for printing at this time this beautiful eulogy of Washington. The words are those of Richard Henry Lee. They are the words of one who knew the great chieftain, the brave soldier, the wise counselor, the first and greatest American patriot. No more suitable choice could have been made by congress in selecting a member to deliver a eulogy of the beloved dead. Richard Henry Lee had believed in Washington, in his ability, in his patriotism, and when those faint-hearted patriots in the dark hours of the revolution would have sacrificed all that had been won, when they would have surrendered the cause to England and foregone all hope of independence, Lee stood firmly by the army in the field, and by the American commander.

The eulogy of which the following is but an extract, was delivered before congress at Philadelphia, December 26, 1799. More than a century has passed since that time, but the words uttered then have as great a meaning to-day as they had then, and we live to see the beginning of the fulfillment of the prophecies regarding the lasting fame of Washington.

THE founder of our federated republic—our bulwark in war, our guide in peace, is no more! O that this were but questionable! Hope, the comforter of the wretched, would pour into our agonizing hearts its balmy dew. But, alas! there is no hope for us; our Washington is removed forever! Possessing the stoutest frame, the purest mind, he had passed nearly to his sixty-eighth year, in the enjoyment of high health, when, habituated by his care of us to neglect of himself, a slight cold, disregarded, became inconvenient on Friday, oppressive on Saturday, and, defying every medical interposition, before the morning of Sunday, put an end to the best of men. An end did I say?—his fame survives! bounded only by the limits of the earth, and by the extent of the human mind. He survives in our hearts, in the growing knowledge of our children, in the affection of the good throughout the world; and when our monuments shall be done away; when nations now existing shall be no more; when even our young and far-spreading empire shall have perished, still will our Washington's glory unfaded shine, and die not, until love of virtue cease on earth, or earth itself sinks into chaos.

How, my fellow citizens, shall I single to your grateful hearts his preeminent worth? Where shall I begin in opening to your view a character throughout sublime? Shall I speak of his warlike achievements, all springing from obedience to his country's will—all directed to his country's good?

Will you go with me to the banks of the Monongahela, to see your youthful Washington, supporting, in the dismal hour of Indian victory, the ill-fated Braddock, and saving, by his judgment and by his valor, the remains of a defeated army, pressed by the conquering savage foe; or, when oppressed America, nobly resolving to risk her all in defense of her violated rights, he was elevated by the unanimous voice of congress to the command of her armies? Will you follow him to the high grounds of Boston, where, to an undisciplined, courageous, and virtuous yeomanry, his presence gave the stability of system, and infused the invincibility of love of country; or shall I carry you to the painful scenes of Long Island, York Island, and New Jersey, when, combating superior and gallant armies, aided by powerful fleets, and led by chiefs high in the roll of fame, he stood, the bulwark of our safety, undismayed by disaster, unchanged by change of fortune? Or will you view him in the precarious fields of Trenton, where deep gloom, unnerving every arm, reigned triumphant through our trimmed, worn-down, unaided ranks; himself unmoved? Dreadful was the night. It was about this time of winter, the storm raged, the Delaware rolled furiously with floating ice, forbade the approach of man. Washington, self-collected, viewed the tremendous scene; his country called, unappalled by surrounding dangers, he passed to the hostile shore; he fought; he conquered. The morning sun cheered the American world. Our country rose on the event; and her dauntless chief, pursuing his blow, completed, in the lawns of Princeton, what his vast soul had conceived on the shores of the Delaware.

Thence to the strong grounds of Morristown he led his small but gallant band; and through an eventful winter, by the high efforts of his genius, whose matchless force was measurable only by the growth of difficulties, he held in check formidable hostile legions, conducted by a chief experienced in the art of war, and famed for his valor on the ever memorable heights of Abraham, where fell Wolfe, Montcalm, and since, our much lamented Montgomery, all covered with glory. In this fortunate interval, produced by his masterly conduct, our fathers, ourselves, animated by his resistless example, rallied around our country's standard and continued to follow her beloved chief through the various and trying scenes to which the destinies of our union led.

Who is there that has forgotten the vales of Brandywine, the fields of Germantown, or the plains of Monmouth? Everywhere present, wants of every kind obstructing, numerous and valiant armies encountering, himself a host, he assuaged our sufferings, limited our privations, and upheld our tottering republic. Shall I display to you the spread of the fire of his soul, by rehearsing the praises of the hero of Saratoga, and his much loved compeer of the Carolinas? No; our Washington wears not borrowed glory. To Gates—to Greene, he gave without reserve the applause due to their eminent merit.

Moving in his own orbit, he imparted heat and light to his most distant satellites; and combining the physical and moral force of all within his sphere, with irresistible weight he took his course, commiserating folly, disdaining vice, dismaying treason, and invigorating despondency; until the auspicious hour arrived, when, united with the intrepid forces of a potent and magnanimous ally, he brought to submission the since conqueror of India; thus finishing his long career of military glory with a luster corresponding to his great name, and in this, his last act of war, affixing the seal of fate to our nation's birth.

To the horrid din of battle, sweet peace succeeded; and our virtuous chief, mindful only of the common good, in a moment tempting personal aggrandizement, hushed the discontents of growing sedition; and surrendering his power into the hands from which he received it, converted his sword into a plowshare, teaching an admiring world that to be truly great you must be truly good.

Were I to stop here the picture would be incomplete, and the task imposed unfinished. Great as was our Washington in war and as much as did that greatness contribute to produce the American republic, it is not in war alone his preeminence stands conspicuous. His various talents, combining all the capacities of a statesman, with those of a soldier, fitted him alike to guide the councils and the armies of our nation. Scarcely had he rested from his martial toils, while his invaluable parental advice was still sounding in our ears, when he, who had been our shield and our sword, was called forth to act a less splendid, but more important part.

The finger of an overruling Providence, pointing at Washington, was neither mistaken nor unobserved; when, to realize the vast hopes to which our revolution had given birth, a change of political system became indispensable.

How novel, how grand the spectacle! Independent states, stretched over an immense territory, and known only by common difficulty, clinging to their union as the rock of their safety, deciding by frank comparison of their relative condition, to rear on that rock, under the guidance of reason, a common government through whose commanding protection, liberty and order, with their long train of blessings, should be safe to themselves, and the sure inheritance of their posterity.

This arduous task devolved on citizens selected by the people, from knowledge of their wisdom and confidence in their virtue. In this august assembly of sages and patriots, Washington of course was found; and as if acknowledged to be the most wise where all were wise, with one voice he was declared their chief. How well he merited this rare distinction, how faithful were the labors of himself and his compatriots, the work of their hands and our union, strength and prosperity, the fruits of that work, best attest.

First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen, he was second to none in the humble and endearing scenes of private life. Pious, just, humane, temperate and sincere; uniform, dignified and commanding, his example was as edifying to all around him as were the effects of that example lasting.

His last scene comported with the whole tenor of his life; although in extreme pain, not a sigh, nor a groan escaped him; and with undisturbed serenity he closed his well-spent life. Such was the man America has lost! Such was the man for whom our nation mourns!

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Manager Maze Edwards had arranged for the appearance of a company that was to present Gillette's comedy of "All the Comforts of Home" at Music Hall on Washington's Birthday—Friday—but sickness and various other obstacles prevented the organization from continuing their tour, so after other attempts to secure a suitable play, a first class vaudeville combination has been engaged from the now famous "White Rats" management, which is a guarantee of their excellence and merit. This combination, known as "The London Vaudevilles," will appear at Music Hall Friday afternoon and night in an unequalled bill of novelty. The company is headed by George Fuller and Fannie Gonzales, famous entertainers, and George H. and Edna Thomas, premier sketch artists, and includes Mlle. Luella, in poses majestique, Allen and Peters in illustrated song, the Goldsmith sisters in beautiful dances, Vendig and Ward, talking experts, Prof. Schock in feats of magic, beautiful views of past century events and other pleasing features. The entire company are well known "head liners" on the Keith and Proctor circuits and lovers of novelties and specialties may be assured of a first class show. Reserved seats for the night entertainment can now be secured at the box office.

The Broadway Theatre Stock Company which will appear at Music Hall the coming Monday night, inaugurate a week of choice repertoire plays, the first of which will be "The Pilot's Daughter," a comedy of much merit, with beautiful scenic effects. "Ladies tickets" will be a feature of the Monday night's performance.

* * * * * * *

The famous journalist, John Russell Young, who was the Minister-Plenipotentiary at China under Gen. Grant, and who was afterwards Congressional Librarian, wrote of "The Wolves of New York," which will be seen at Music Hall Saturday afternoon and night. "Leonard Grover knows the ins and outs of New York, its virtues, its vices and its follies, as well as any writer for the stage, and he has grouped a series of pictures which are as lifelike as they are vividly true. There is scarcely a swindle or a crime that is not laid bare, and the audience last night was worked up to a high tension. The drama is acted remarkably well by a strong company and would crowd The National for weeks, if other engagements did not prevent." John Russell Young in the Philadelphia Star.

he sang the title role, which includes numbers of great difficulty, requiring both a voice of decided capability and an artistic and sympathetic temperment in the singer. Both of these requirements Mr. Baernstein possesses, and his personation of Elijah gave general satisfaction. In recitative he was natural and dramatic; in denouncing the idolators he was full of righteous indignation; in raising the widow's son he was tender and reverent. His most effective solo, however, was "It Is Enough," the beautiful but exceedingly pathetic aria in which the discouraged prophet prays for death, which was sung by Mr. Baernstein with artistic finish and deep feeling. His singing throughout the evening was characterized by skill and sympathy, ease and precision; his voice was deep and full, and of good range, and his enunciation excellent.

The members of the vocal quartette sang together with harmony and unanimity in the quartette passages. In numbers requiring a double quartette, the supplementary quartette was composed of four members of the Choral Society, Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; Edward Maxwell Honeyman, tenor, and David E. Titsworth, bass, who did excellent work, and received warm applause. Miss Raybert and Miss Carroll also sang with the other women soloists in passages for women's voices.

The Choral Society, which has given many successful concerts in Plainfield, has this year a chorus which has not been excelled in any former year for its good volume of tone, unanimity and precision. The choruses in "Elijah" vary greatly in style and emotional content, but all were rendered with spirit and feeling. Among the most effective numbers given by the chorus were those in which the worshippers of Baal cry to him to send down fire from heaven, which were weird, half savage, and full of strange harmonies; the striking chorus beginning "The Fire Descends from Heaven;" the magnificent number closing the first part, entitled "Thanks Be to God," in which the rushing of the waters is heard; and the chorus near the close of the oratorio, in which is described the passing by of the wind, the earthquake and the fire, and the coming of the "still, small voice."

The soloists who have assisted the Choral Society this winter in their rendition of both "Elijah" and "The Messiah" have expressed their approval of the fine work of the chorus in the highest terms.

The orchestra from the Philharmonic Society added greatly to the general effect, forming just the right background for the voices, and producing the greater part of the descriptive effects as in the coming of the storm, the passing of the earthquake, wind and fire, and the descent of the fire from heaven. The singing of the 'cello added much to the pathos and beauty of Elijah's prayer for death.

Soloists, chorus and orchestra were under the complete control of the conductor, Edward J. Fitzhugh, who directed them with well accustomed skill, and guided them in their sympathetic rendition of the great composition. He showed himself to be thoroughly acquainted with every detail of the oratorio, and impressed upon his singers and instrumentalists some of his warmth of feeling and enthusiasm for great music.

AT THE BIG STORE.

Improvements and Thorough Renovation Completed at Crosby & Hill's Establishment.

Crosby & Hill's big store on West Front street has just been passing through a thorough renovation and at the same time many improvements have been made, all of which may add to the general attractiveness of the store and provide the needed extra room, which the increasing business demands. The store has been painted throughout, giving it a bright and clean appearance. Partitions in the in the centre of the store have been removed, which gives the extra space to display goods to an advantage.

Mr. Carson, the enterprising manager for Crosby & Hill, planned the improvements and renovation, and has thereby provided admirably for the care and attention of the firm's many patrons. From time to time Mr. Carson will improve the store and will always maintain a first-class dry goods store, where people will find the same advantages as in any of New York's big houses.

All Like New Department.

The dress goods sale now going on at Woodbull & Martin's is proving a great attraction to Plainfield women, who are universally enthusiastic in expressing their approval of the improvements recently made in this department. Special values are being offered all this week.

Case of "Hay-Foot, Straw-Foot.

"I remember quite well," said an ex-soldier the other day, "how, when we were in the army, we would fasten hay and straw on the feet of recruits—hay for the left foot and straw for the right. As we marched the corporal would yell: 'Hay-foot! Straw-foot! Hay-foot! Strawfoot!' In this way the recruits learned to keep step and time.

"My son was married a couple of weeks ago, and I am thinking that our old corporal would have a chance to use his hay and straw, for it is a fact that, although well educated and anything but obtuse, his wife cannot tell her right shoe from her left one. It is the same when she gets a pair of rubber overshoes. At home we look after her, but is she goes visiting she is sure, unless it is one of her lucky days, to come home with the right rubber on the left foot or vice versa. Sometimes when she gets a pair of new shoes she marks on the lining in ink a large L or R. She was in somewhat of a quandary the other day when she looked at her shoes to find both L and R on the lining of each shoe. Her young brother-in-law had contributed the extra letters."—Cleveland Leader.

Celerity in Pennsylvania.

A good story was told by James M. Beck, assistant United States attorney general, at the dinner of the Pennsylvania society, in New York. Mr. Beck attempted to refute the theory that the people of Pennsylvania are slow by saying that within one hour after Gov. Hastings was inaugurated a Philadelphia politician applied to him for the position of janitor of the capitol, relates the Milwaukee Wisconsin. The governor replied that the place had been filled half an hour before. A few weeks afterward the disappointed officeseeker saw the drowned body of the janitor hauled out of the river. He rushed to the governor and applied again, saying:

"I have just seen my rival's corpse pulled from the river."

"Sorry," replied the governor, "but I have just given the berth to the man who saw him fall in."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pictures Useful to Missionaries.

At Port Said, where the west, the far east and Africa all meet and mingle, an Englishman has established one of the most curious businesses imaginable. He has an immense stock of colored pictures of all sizes representing Biblical scenes. The figures in the pictures are of all nationalities, from the pig-tailed Chinaman to the negro of central Africa. One subject—the return of the prodigal son—is drawn and colored in 30 different ways. In one picture the figures are those of south sea islanders, in another of Chinese, in another of negroes and so on, including Malays, Hindoos, Samoans, Dyaks and many other faces. The missionaries find these pictures more convincing than the conventional ones and buy largely of the dealer.—N. Y. Sun.

For Producers.

Seventy-five per cent. of all the furs worn in the world are of American product. The only ones of importance which are found in Europe are Russian sable, ermine, silver fox and mink. Persian lamb comes, as its name indicates, from the orient, as do also the astrakhans. No furs are obtained in England, France or Switzerland. A few baum martens and coneys (the latter the old English name for rabbits) are obtained in Germany. Seal, Hudson bay sable, otter, mink, beaver, fisher, linx, every kind of fox, and bear and wolverine are all at their best in America.—N. Y. Sun.

ARGUMENTS ADVANCED AGAINST POLL TAX.

An Interested Citizen Tells Why Senator Reed's Measure Should be Passed.

HAS MANY REASONS.

CLAIMS THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO COLLECT IT ALL.

Such Being The Case, Says It Is Not Fair—Pointed Out Cost of Trying to Collect It—Believes That Senate Will Pass The Bill.

A question that is now agitating the minds of the people of New Jersey is that regarding the proposed abolishing of the poll tax. During the present session of the Legislature, Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, introduced a measure in the Senate to do away with this tax. It was reported upon favorably by the committee this week and the chances are it will find its way back to the Senate next week for action. Thus far there has been no opposition to the measure, and from appearances there is not likely to be any.

In view of the intended action it is interesting to know something about the arguments in favor of abolishing this tax. A reporter of The Daily Press, in making inquiries about the measure, learned many things of interest and profit from a well known person in a position to speak on the subject.

The present system of poll tax had its origin during the late Civil War when it was established as a means of raising a bounty for the help and support of the families of those who went to the front to fight for the country. It was proposed and paid by those who, by force of circumstance, could not go, though perfectly willing to contribute their share toward maintaining the rights of a free people and protect the Union. The tax, it is said, was never intended to apply as giving a man a right to vote as the name might imply.

The person who vouchsafed the information concerning the matter states that so far as he is able to learn there is no authority to levy the tax now. The money goes into the general treasury, but for no special purpose. The bonds issued originally and for which the money was raised, have long since been wiped out.

One strong argument he advanced against maintaining the tax is that it is not collected in the general sense of the term, and cannot be for any great length of time as an assessment on a man who has nothing and who will not and cannot pay. As soon as authorities begin to lock men up for non payment of the tax, he said there will be a strong public sentiment against such action. It will be impossible to get elective officers to enforce the payment, and appointive officers would be killed politically if they dared to enforce it.

Another thing he pointed out that reasons against the tax is that it is obnoxious, and the people won't stand for it. It would cost far more, he said, to enforce the payment than the original amount, and the expense of keeping a man in jail would cause the people to rise up in their indignation. The arrest of delinquents would necessitate the building of larger jails at greater expense.

The next question concerning the tax, advanced by the person advocating its abolishment, is what shall be done? It is a well known fact, he said, that every man pays his share toward the maintenance of the government. This he does when he buys shoes, clothing, hat, meat, grocers, pays rent, etc. Indirectly he pays a tax, and, of course, the man who owns property, also pays a tax, together with the man who pays a personal tax.

A case, advanced by way of illustration, can be seen in North Plainfield, where there are about 1 200 voters. There is collected approximately $800 in poll tax, and not over half of the remaining 400 pay a poll tax. It was reported last year that within $7 or $8 of the entire poll tax was collected. This was made possible by the fact that the Mayor and Council crossed from the books the names of those whom they knew would not pay the tax, and this condition exists in many places, including Plainfield.

Another argument which he advanced against the tax is that no assessor takes into consideration this tax in making up his budget. It is generally reckoned as an "unknown quantity." Assuming that one half

MAKERS OF AUTOMOBILES WILL LOCATE HEADQUARTERS THERE.

Purchased Buildings of Chemical Company and Will Move Them—Dr. Pierce Interested in New Concern.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, Feb. 21—The group of buildings just west of Lincoln, and owned and formerly occupied by the O. C. Chemical Company, have been acquired by the Dr. Pierce Auto Manufacturing Company, now operating in Newark and Rahway, N. J.

It is the intention of the company to remove these buildings to a site in East Bound Brook, directly opposite the American Engine Works, where other and larger buildings will be added and the business of the company, which is the building of electric vehicles, will be materially increased.

Dr Ray V. Pierce is the president of the company and his son, Hugh C. Pierce, has been elected manager. The latter is a young man of unusual abilities who is also looking after the other interests of his father in East Bound Brook, being treasurer both of the American Engine Company and the Ideal Cash Register Company.

The work of moving the buildings for the auto company will be begun immediately and pushed forward as rapidly as possible. They are comparatively new having been built by the Chemical Company less than two years ago. The latter company failed a short time ago and its affairs are being wound up by a receiver.

BLAZE AT WATCHUNG.

Kindling Wood Factory Narrowly Escaped Destruction by Fire Last Week.

A slight fire occurred one evening last week in the kindling wood factory at Watchung. Fortunately before it had made much headway, it was discovered by a man named Wilson who happened to be driving past the place at the time. A bucket brigade was recruited and the flames were soon extinguished. A circular saw was the only thing of consequence destroyed.

The cause of the fire is attributed to spontaneous combustion.

HOLIDAY ATTRACTIONS IN AND ABOUT CITY.

What's Going to Happen in Plainfield This Evening and Tomorrow.

ENTERTAINMENTS PROVIDED

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY WILL BE OBSERVED IN PLAINFIELD.

Banks, Schools and Stores Will Be Closed—Many Socials This Evening—Also Union Services—Tomarrow Evening's Attractions.

Tomorrow is the one hundred and sixty-ninth anniversary of the birth of Washington and the day will receive due recognition in Plainfield. The annual celebration of the day has now become general throughout the country, while in London and in Paris it is celebrated by the American residents generally. The Legislatures of the various states have set apart the twenty-second of February as a holiday to commemorate the greatness of his name and as an acknowledgment of gratefulness for his services.

Business in Plainfield will be suspended, in general, all day. The banks, public schools, and stores will be closed and the post office will only be opened until 10 o'clock.

The army of commuters will be missing at the station in the morning for it will require very urgent business to induce any of them to visit the office that day.

The forecaster has promised to supply fair weather and there will be no end to the round of pleasure to be enjoyed by the people of Plainfield.

In this season of the year there are necessarily few forms of out of door entertainment to be had. The snow has disappeared and consequently there will be no sleighing, but it is reasonable to suppose that Holly's pond will be covered with skaters.

A Martha Washington Bazaar will be opened at Grace M. E. church this evening and will be continued on the following evening.

A young people's prayer meeting will be held at 8 o'clock this evening by the united Christian Endeavor Societies and Epworth Leagues, of Plainfield, in Trinity Reformed church. Miss Nettie Beeching, vice-president of the Plainfield Local Union, will conduct the service.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will render "Mother Goose Rhymes" in Chinese at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and this evening the same society will give a Colonial tea from 6 to 8 o'clock.

The Christian Endeavorers of Warren chapel will hold a social this evening, at which a fine musical programme can be heard.

At Saengerbund Hall, the Union Trolley Employes' Benevolent Association will hold their first annual ball.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church promise a pleasant time to those who attend the Birthday Social. Instead of paying an admission fee, a penny for each year of one's age is collected.

Rev. Dr. W. R Richards will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Venice, Florence and Naples" at 8 o'clock in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church.

In Vincent chapel the annual birthday party will be held this evening under the auspices of the the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church. The affair is expected to be well attended.

Among the entertainments arranged for tomorrow evening is that of the Imperial Hand Bell Ringers at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock, one of the Star Course entertainments.

A patriotic service will be held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church. Arthur M. Pierson, of Westfield, will lead the meeting. At the Casino, the members of the old Alert Hose Company will dine, and talk over old times. The Christian Endeavor Society of the Crescent Avenue church will enjoy a programme filled with entertaining numbers.

One of the chief amusements for tomorrow will be the matinee and evening performance of the London Vaudevilles at Music Hall. The show is said to contain some of the best vaudeville talent in New York, and will undoubtedly attract large audiences. The usual prices will prevail.

While formal social functions are off during Lent, the entertainment committee of the Park Club has arranged for informal dancing at the clubhouse tomorrow evening.

WANT NO INTERFERENCE.

MASTER PLUMBERS HAVE TAKEN A DEFINITE STAND.

Passed Resolution Which Will Go to Plainfield Building Trades Council This Evening.

At a meeting of the Master Plumbers Association held last evening, the members decided that they would not tolerate any interference from the Building Trades Council, which is composed of almost all the local journeyman plumbers, painters, masons and carpenters.

In order to acquaint the council with their determination in a formal manner the following resolution was passed which will be presented to them at their meeting to be held this evening:

"Resolved, That the Master Plumbers Association, of the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, do hereby notify the Plainfield Building Trades Council that we have not affiliated with them, and are not in accord with their dictations, that we propose to do work for any person or persons who have the money to pay and do pay for the same irrespective of any organized body of Trades Council."

TREES NEARLY DOWN.

No Objection Has Yet Been Raised By Interested Property Owners.

No remonstrance has been made by anyone since the first axe was applied early yesterday morning to the tree in front of Undertaker Henry DeMott's place of business.

The trolley service along the line has been delayed but little. The street railway people kept a repair wagon on the ground all yesterday and today. The telephone poles which mar the view so much at present will shortly be removed.

Under the new ordinance the overhead telephone wire system will be abolished entirely, and the underground method of wiring will take its place. These wires will be run along the curb line and be placed in position before the street is re macadamized.

Andrew W. Winkler, of Park place, this morning requested the Mayor to remove a large tree in front of his blacksmithing property on Somerset street above Linden avenue. The request was promptly complied with by His Honor.

W. S. S. Again Successful.

Nearly seventy-five young people, responding to invitations issued by the W. S. S., attended the third dance given by that organization in Central Hall last evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by Suhr's orchestra and was kept up until an early hour this morning, stopping only at midnight for refreshments. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Nelson Peterson, Harry Bogert and Robert Goldsack.

PICTURED THE STORY OF "LITTLE WOMEN."

Enjoyable Entertainment Given at Seventh-Day Baptist Church Last Evening.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT.

DRANK COFFEE MADE FROM BEANS GROWN ON OWN PLANTATION.

Pleasing Social Arranged by Committee From Christian Endeavor Society—Musical Numbers Besides Tableaux.

Through the efforts of a committee from the Christian Endeavor Society a large and appreciative audience witnessed the rendition of a very pleasing programme at Seventh-Day Baptist church last evening. Always seeking something new and novel by way of entertainment, the committee had selected Louisa Alcott's charming story, "Little Women," and gave a potrayal of one of its most interesting parts by tableaux. The presentation was in two scenes and for the benefit of those who were not familiar with this popular book, a brief synopsis of what was to ensue was read by Miss Ernestine Smith.

The tale is supposed to be to some extent a history of the Alcott family at the time of the Civil War. Mr. and Mrs. March are away from home, the latter nursing her husband, who is sick in a hospital at Washington, and the girls are left to themselves, watched over only by a kindly neighbor, Mr. Lawrence, and an old family servant, Hannah. The first scene showed a meeting of the Pickwick Club, formed by the four girls, Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy, for the purpose of publishing a weekly paper. The stage settings were very appropriate and the portrayal of the meeting occasioned much merriment.

The second scene showed the home coming of Mrs. March after Beth's serious illness from scarlet fever contracted while helping a poor family in which her mother had been interested. In this as well as the previous scene the different parts were carried out in a manner which showed much careful preparation and forethought by the participants. Their efforts were rewarded at the close by continued applause.

Previous to the presentation, a well-rendered violin selection was given by Mrs. Robert Johnston, and Miss Grace Teller contributed two pleasing contraito solos. The affair terminated with the serving of refreshments, a feature of which was excellent coffee made from beans grown on the denomination's own plantation, attached to Mr. Booth's mission in South Africa.

The committee to whom credit is due for the success of the entertainment consisted of Miss Bessie Fitz-Randolph, Mrs. J. E Kimball, Mrs. F. J. Bubbard, Miss Ernestine Smith and O. S Rogers. Miss Myra Clark attended to the refreshments, while the programme was rendered under the guidance of Frank H. Smith.

Those who enacted characters in the scenes were as follows: "Mrs. March," Miss Luella Clawson; "Meg," Miss Ethel Titsworth; "Jo," Miss Mary St. John; "Beth," Miss Cornelia Miller; "Amy," Miss Eva Rogers; "Mr. Lawrence," Frank J. Hubbard; "Laurie," Chas. Titsworth; "Hannah," Dr. Martha Stillman.

BURGLARS WORKING AGAIN.

ENTERED HOME OF WILLIAM E. MANNING AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Were Frightened Away by The Dog Before They Were Able to Secure Any Booty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

South Plainfield, Feb. 21—Burglars began operations in South Plainfield early yesterday morning. They succeeded in gaining entrance to the home of William E. Manning but were frightened away before they secured any plunder.

A front window at Mr. Manning's home was pried open with the aid of a peculiarly shaped hatchet which was left behind. A bicycle which stood in front of the window was moved and a lamp lighted and placed in the middle of the floor.

Albert Manning had been paid a considerable sum of money the evening before, and the burglars evidently knew of the fact. The money was left in a secretary in the dining room, but in the room was also left a large dog which belongs to Mr. Manning.

The first the members of the family knew of the invasion was when they were aroused by the wild barking of the dog. Mr. Manning immediately investigated, but the burglars had evidently been frightened away by the dog for the house was empty. Besides the hatchet, they left a mitten and a nail keg, which had been taken from the adjacent ice house. Near the ice house was found a first class bicycle lantern. A careful search failed to show that anything had been taken by the thieves.

DR. LEWIS' MOTHER DEAD.

Passed Away at Berlin, Wis., Where Dr. Lewis Will Attend the Funeral.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street, left yesterday for Berlin, Wis., in response to a telegram notifying him of the death of his mother, Mrs. Tacy Lewis, of that place. Mrs. Lewis was eight seven years old and had resided in Berlin since 1848, when the entire place was but a vast wilderness. Beside Dr. Lewis she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Burdick, with whom she resided.

Before an audience at Hopewell last evening, S. D. Drake, of this city, delivered a stirring address on "Town Building, or How to Locate Factories." MAYOR N. B. SMALLEY WILL RUN AGAIN.

Consented to Do So at Caucus of Borough Republican Leaders Last Night.

OTHER PROBABLE NOMINEES

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY WILL BE HELD NEXT THURSDAY EVENING.

Selected Candidates For Other Offices That Will Have to Be Filled at Coming Borough Election—Who They Were.

Thirty of the active Republicans of North Plainfield gathered at the office of State Senator Charles A. Reed in the Babcock building on West Front street last evening. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the political situation in the borough and more especially to ascertain if possible the names and relative strength of probable candidates to represent the Republican party on the ticket to be named for the coming election.

Although no slate was decided upon, it was the concensus of opinion of those attending the preliminary caucus that few if any contests are likely to occur.

George Brown, the present collector, in all probability, will be renominated. No opposition was evinced when his candidacy came up for discussion. The likely men for the councilmanic nominations are James P. Northrup and E. L. Suffren, both of whom are new men.

Andrew Luthins will undoubtedly receive a renomination for the office of freeholder. The friends of Louis E. Barkalew are, however, using his name in this connection.

Pressure was brought to bear, at the meeting, on Mayor N. B. Smalley to accept a second nomination and the latter has consented to allow his name to be placed before the nominating body.

From present appearances a sharp contest is looked for among the several candidates for assessor. Already at least three candidates are in the field and the rivalry is keen. Thus far John P. Emmons, Horace J. Martin and J. K. Arnold have come out for the office. The borough executive committee, composed of State Senator Charles A. Reed, Peter A. Emmons, and Mayor N. B. Smalley, have set Thursday evening at 8 o'clock as the time for holding the primary. The place of meeting will be the school building and a good sized crowd is expected to turn out.

QUIET WEDDING.

Young Couple Married at Home of Dunellen Pastor—Will Reside Near There.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Ruth W. Ackerman, daughter of C. J. Ackerman, and Frank H. Martin, both of Clinton avenue, were married by Rev. S. K. Doolittle, pastor of the Dunellen M. E church. The ceremony took place at the home of the pastor, and the Misses Martin, sisters of the bride, were the attendants.

The bride wore a fawn colored traveling dress, and immediately after the ceremony the couple left for an extended wedding trip. Last evening they were at Easton, Pa. They will eventually go to Niagara Falls, and will return in two weeks. They will reside at the home of the groom on the Daniel Manning farm, which the groom purchased recently.

Collided in Darkness.

Peter Burnett, of Rose Hill, has learned that fast driving at night is an expensive habit. A little experience in North Plainfield one evening last week taught him that. While driving our Somerset street on the occasion referred to, Burnett dashed into a light rig smashing a wheel off the latter. The owner of the injured vehicle and Burnett adjourned to Nelson's Hotel to adjust the matter. The affair was settled by the latter paying $7 for the damage he had caused.

CHANGES ON READING ROAD.

PORT READING JUNCTION MADE NEW EASTERN TERMINAL.

New Order of Things Will Affect Bound Brook—Changes on Lehigh Valley Railroad.

In accordance with a recent order issued by the officials of the Philadelphia and Reading branch of the Morgan syndicate, the terminal of that road will hereafter be at Port Reading Junction, near Bound Brook, where a "Y" has been laid, and water tanks and a coaling station have been established. All engines formerly lying at Bound Brook will now await orders at the new terminal. The new change, it is said, will save the company about $3,000 a year in turn-table, round-house and water rental.

This new order of things will remove many families from Bound Brook and many employes have been transferred in consequence to other places and have been given other runs. The local freight between Bound Brook and Philadelphia has been discontinued and more changes are looked for within a short time.

Several changes have also taken place on the Lehigh Valley Railroad to take effect the first of March. The local trains between Bound Brook and New York will be discontinued and the crews have been assigned to duty elsewhere, thereby taking more families out of the town. It is said that the changes have resulted in giving Bound Brook a number of vacant houses, much to the detriment of the town.

LENTZ GETS VIOLENT

Ohio Member Causes Sensation In the House.

LAST APPROPRIATION BILL UP.

Senate Works on Postoffice Appropriation Bill Without Completing It—Sharp Controversy Over Pneumatic Tubes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The house finally passed the sundry civil appropriation bill yesterday and entered upon consideration of the general deficiency, the last of the general appropriation bills. Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat who in this and the previous congress has violently attacked the administration, furnished the sensation of the day. He read a newspaper paragraph recounting the death of a federal judge in New Mexico who had been a member of the legislature which elected Senator Hanna as a text for charging corruption in that election. This called forth a rebuke from Mr. Cannon, who declared that brave men fought the living and only ghouls ravished the tombs of the dead. General Grosvenor of Ohio attempted to reply, and the two Ohioans were anxious for the fray, but Mr. Cannon would not permit it. He thought if "dirty linen" was to be washed the gentlemen should hire a hall. Later Mr. Lentz made a second onslaught of a more sensational character and brought down upon himself the whole Republican side of the house.

In some remarks about a paragraph in the bill for payments for the apprehension of deserters Mr. Lentz made the startling charge that soldiers in the Philippines had buried a native alive and had then beheaded him, and he read a letter written, he said, by a soldier in the Philippines saying that he and his companions while on an expedition were ordered to shoot every man and beast they found. Mr. Lentz said if these things are true the soldiers were justified in deserting. Mr. Cannon, Mr. Mahon of Pennsylvania, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio and Mr. Moody of Massachusetts, amid warm applause, strongly rebuked Mr. Lentz. Mr. Cannon declared that were Mr. Lentz in the Philippines he would be tried by court martial and shot. Mr. Mahon said that Mr. Lentz's remarks were revamps of the copperhead speeches of 40 years ago, and Mr. Moody read the words of Lincoln that the man who encouraged a soldier to desert is worse than that deserter.

Mr. Sherman offered an amendment designed to prohibit hazing at the Naval academy on penalty of dismissal. This amendment was pending on a point of order when the house adjourned.

The senate spent the day on the postoffice appropriation bill, making some progress, but not completing it. The amendment of Mr. Butler of North Carolina proposing a reduction of about 9 per cent in the pay for railway postal service was defeated—18 to 51—after a debate in which Mr. Depew answered Mr. Butler's criticisms on the large profits made by American roads.

Starved In a Land of Plenty.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 21.—The deaths of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer from starvation were reported to the police by Agent Frellson of the associated charities in this city. The cases were discovered by Mr. Frellson on Monday last. The couple had sold most of their furniture for a small sum of money, with which they purchased food and fuel for themselves and two children. When most of the food had been eaten, it is supposed the parents deprived themselves in order to save the children and, being too proud to beg, literally starved to death. When the discovery was made, the Hoefers were in a frightfully emaciated condition, and the children were sick from the lack of proper nourishment.

The Kennedy Trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dolly Reynolds, is nearly at an end. The defense has summed up, and today will come the closing address for the prosecution, the judge's charge and probably a verdict. That the people's case is weaker than it was two years ago, when Kennedy was convicted, is generally acknowledged. On the other hand, the defense is in a better position, and a strong alibi has been set up. The few witnesses examined yesterday gave testimony favorable to the accused dentist.

Revision of Cuban Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—As a result of several conferences between the secretary of war and the Cuban economic commission correspondence has been opened with General Wood at Havana with a view to the creation of a joint commission for the revision of the tariff of Cuba. The commission probably will consist of five members, three representing the United States and two representing Cuba. No action will be had in the matter until the views of General Wood on the subject have been received.

Illness of President Hill's Daughter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The Herald today says that it has been ascertained that Miss Gertrude Hill, the third daughter of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad company, was until a few days ago in grave danger of death as a result of an operation for appendicitis. It is said that she is now out of danger. Miss Hill has been a student at a fashionable school here, and the operation was performed on Feb. 11 in the hospital of the school.

Body Found In a Trunk.

PETERBORO, Ont., Feb. 21.—A trunk which was supposed to be empty was shipped from here to Kingston by William Patterson, a medical student at Queen's university. Suspicion became aroused, and the trunk was opened. It was found to contain a human body. Patterson was arrested at Belleville.

Millionaires Off For Florida.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Mr. and Mrs. William Rockefeller, James Stillman, president of the National City bank, and Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, left yesterday for Palm Beach, Fla.

LONDON WAR GOSSIP.

Kitchener's Narrow Escape From the Boers.

DE WET AGAIN ELUDES THE BRITISH

Kruger Said to Be Contemplating a Return to South Africa—Has Been Writing a Memorial—The Treaty of 1871.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Lord Kitchener's second narrow escape from capture calls out newspaper warnings as to the danger of his rapid flittings by train from place to place. It is considered better for him to remain in Pretoria than to risk upsetting his carefully elaborated plan of campaign.

As Lord Kitchener is now back in Pretoria the inference is that General De Wet has again escaped from the supposed cordon.

There is no further news of General French's pursuit of Commandant General Botha in the eastern Transvaal.

Statements emanate from both Pretoria and Brussels that Mr. Kruger contemplates returning to South Africa. It is said that he has just finished writing a memorial on the war which will be sent to the European governments and to President McKinley.

Lord Roberts, it is asserted, has been offered the lord wardenship of the Cinque ports, which the Marquis of Salisbury desires to relinquish. The post was formerly held by the Duke of Wellington.

The reported determination of the house of representatives at Washington to inquire into the question whether the United States has broken the treaty of 1871 by permitting the exportation of horses, mules and other supplies to the British forces in South Africa created more academic interest than practical concern in the government departments here.

The interesting belief is expressed that the end of the war as an active campaign is now in sight and that within a few months military operations in South Africa will assume that stage which for four years has marked the war in Burma, which wore itself out without attracting particular interest in Great Britain or elsewhere. This opinion was expressed by no less an authority than the undersecretary of state for the foreign office, Lord Cranborne.

It has long been rumored that Lord Wolseley intended to reveal the difficulties with which he had to contend as commander in chief in getting the government and the treasury to sanction necessary military measures. According to The Daily Mail he will address the house of lords next week on the subject, the Duke of Bedford putting the leading question.

Boer Cause Declared Hopeless.

PRETORIA, Feb. 21.—Reports from Lydenburg say that Acting President Schalkburger, addressing a gathering of burghers recently, told them that he now recognized that their cause was quite hopeless and that a prolongation of hostilities was futile. Personally, he added, he would take it upon himself to advise a surrender, but he would say that if surrender was inevitable it was foolish to surrender in twos and threes, as the proper course was to come to a general agreement and surrender as a nation.

Close Call For Kitchener.

PRETORIA, Feb. 21.—The Boers blew up a supply train that was in advance of Lord Kitchener's train near Klip river. They had carts and wagons ready to take the goods away, when Lord Kitchener sent forward his armored trucks and his bodyguard, who drove the Boers off. The British suffered few casualties. The engine driver of the supply train was scalded to death as a result of the explosion.

Passed Over Mayor's Veto.

ALBANY, Feb. 21.—The Stranahan New York city police bill was reported in the senate from the cities committee yesterday with the recommendation that it be passed over the mayor's veto. Senator Stranahan asked that the bill be passed at once over the mayor's veto. Senators Grady, McCarren and Ahern dissented from such a course. After a brief discussion the senate passed the bill over the mayor's veto by a party vote of 32 yeas to 14 nays, the absentees being Senators Goodsell and Wiley (Rep.) and Grady (Dem.). The police bill was sent to the assembly immediately after its passage by the senate and was passed by the lower house by a party vote of 100 yeas to 45 nays.

New York Police Captain Let Go.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The police board announces that it has dismissed all the charges against Captain Herlihy growing out of the recent troubles in the Red Light district. All the commissioners but Mr. York voted to let the captain go unpunished. York voted against dismissing the charges. Herlihy was tried on the charges for failing to enter complaints in the station house blotter, for allowing vice to run rampant in his precinct and for conduct unbecoming an officer in using improper and insulting language to the Rev. Robert Paddock of the procathedral.

The Prickings of Conscience.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The secretary of the treasury has received a conscience contribution of $300 in an envelope postmarked Zanesville and Marietta (O.) railway mail and also $10 in an envelope postmarked Brooklyn.

Cold In Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—Cold and stormy weather prevails throughout Germany. At Leipsic yesterday the temperature was 13 degrees below zero. Traffic is badly interrupted in the Bavarian mountains and in the Eifel region.

Better Housing For London Poor.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The county council of London has virtually adopted a proposal to spend £1,500,000 on a scheme for the better housing of the poor of London, a matter in which King Edward is greatly interested.

Snowstorm at Oswego.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Another severe snow and wind storm is raging here. Trains are nearly on time, but the tracks are badly drifted. The roads in the surrounding country are in a bad condition.

Famous Observatory Burned.

GOTHA, Feb. 21.—The famous observatory on the Seeburg, at which the celebrated astronomers Ruckel, Zack and Lindenau worked, has been destroyed by fire.

MRS. NATION'S CASE.

Judge Hazen Continues It to the April Term of Court.

TOPEKA, Feb. 21.—Judge Hazen of the district court continued the case of Mrs. Carrie Nation, charged with smashing Murphy's joint, until the April term of court. The cases against Eva Hardin, Mrs. Rose Crist, Miss Madeline Southard, Mrs. C. C. Chadwick and C. R. McDowell were also continued.

Mrs. Nation enlivened the proceedings in her characteristic way, displaying more strongly than ever the fact that the dignity hedging around the judicial bench has no more terrors for her than the coarsest joint.

Mrs. Nation arose several times to address the court, each time calling the judge "your dishonor." When asked if she were ready for trial, Mrs. Nation, who acts as her own attorney, said:

"Your dishonor, I am incapable of trying my case this afternoon, as I have been poisoned by cigarette smoke in the county jail. I want to see how the other cases are tried anyway."

Judge Hazen looked at the joint smasher in a helpless sort of way and then recognized Captain J. G. Waters, one of the attorneys for the defense, who argued for a continuance of the cases, none of which, he said, had been placed on the trial dockets. Judge Hazen announced that he would call the case against Stark on Monday morning.

Miss Madeline Southard and Mrs. Crist, who have been with Mrs. Nation in the county jail, gave bond for $500 each and were released. Mrs. Nation and the others were returned to jail. The indications are that there will be a bitter legal battle over the trials. The attorneys for the defendants will insist that they be granted a change of venue on account of the alleged prejudice of Judge Hazen.

Mrs. Nation is yet in the county jail. She refused an offer of bond from her brother, J. V. Moore of Kansas City.

Miss Southard is released and will go at once to her home in Winfield. All the other crusaders are out on bond and will remain in Topeka.

Searching For Dead Miners.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 21.—The work of recovering the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster at Cumberland, B. C., proceeds slowly. So far eight bodies have been found, four being whites. These were found in the main drive lying face downward close to the cave in. They at first appeared to have been badly burned, but investigation showed that they had been blistered only by after heat. They had apparently left their stalls and were attempting to make their way toward the shaft of No. 6 when overcome. Several of the Chinese corpses were badly bruised. All the victims whose bodies have been recovered were buried yesterday after the remains had been formally viewed by the coroner. The inquest was adjourned for a week.

Five Negroes to Be Hanged.

SYLVANIA, Ga., Feb. 21.—Arnold Augustus, Andrew Davis, Richard Sanders, William Hudson and Sam Baldwin, five of the negroes who killed Fillmore Herrington and Milton Mears, two white men, in this county last August, have been found guilty of murder and sentenced to be hanged March 29. The men were members of an organization known as the Knights of the Archer. The charter of this order, which was found by the posse arresting the negroes, is said to contain an oath of vengeance against the whites, and the members were obligated to defend themselves against the whites unto death.

Governors to Attend Inaugural.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21.—Colonel A. K. McClure of Philadelphia was tendered an informal reception at the St. Charles hotel here by the officials of the Southern Industrial association. Colonel McClure said it would tend greatly to advance the business and commercial welfare of the south for all the southern governors to attend the approaching inauguration ceremonies at Washington city in a body. Governors Heard of Louisiana and Longino of Mississippi consented to go. Secretary Thompson of the Southern Industrial association sent a request to other southern governors asking them to act likewise.

Rathbone's Property Sold.

HAMPTON, O., Feb. 21.—George A. Rentzschler of this city purchased the Reilly and Campbell blocks, which were sold at auction under a decree of the United States court on foreclosure obtained by W. F. Jones of New York. The property was part of the estate of Major E. G. Rathbone, formerly director of posts of Cuba. The Reilly block sold for $61,300 and the Campbell block for $59,550. A former sale was set aside by the courts.

Peace Declared In Winfield.

WINFIELD, Kan., Feb. 21.—All fears of a clash between the factions were dissipated last night, when a printed circular appeared, signed by the chairman of the mass meeting which had demanded the closing of "joints." The circular declared a cessation of hostilities in view of the fact that the reformers have accomplished their original purpose and now rely on the city officials to keep the saloons closed.

Fire Sweeps Wisconsin Town.

WOODRUFF, Wis., Feb. 21.—Fire destroyed all the business houses of this village, with the exception of one saloon. The losses are not known. The property destroyed consisted of three general stores, three hotels and 13 saloons. There was practically no insurance.

TOURISTS AT SANTIAGO.

Foreign Army Officers Inspect the Battlefields.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 21.—The Hamburg-American pleasure steamer Prinzessin Victoria Luise, which arrived here Tuesday morning with 220 tourists on board, left yesterday for Cienfuegos from which port she will proceed to Havana, Nassau and New York. The party spent the greater part of the two days in visiting historical places in this neighborhood. Several German, Austrian and French army officers of high rank studied the topographical features of the battle fields under the instructions of American officers.

The German commissioners who are investigating commercial conditions in the West Indies expressed surprise at the large volume of business now done, the present being the best sugar shipping season.

The excursionists, who were entertained on board the steamer, left early in the morning in order to visit the wrecks of the vessels of Admiral Cervera's squadron before nightfall.

General Whitside went to Havana on the Prinzessin Victoria Luise, having received telegraphic orders from Governor General Wood to attend a conference there regarding civil matters, presumably the proposed improvements in Santiago.

ROOSEVELT IN OMAHA.

Vice President Elect Declines to Talk Politics.

OMAHA, Feb. 21.—Vice President Elect Roosevelt arrived in Omaha in a special car over the Union Pacific yesterday afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt said he never felt better, and he spoke enthusiastically of his six weeks' stay in Colorado.

When asked about the results of his lion hunts, the vice president elect modestly declined to be quoted, but very strongly emphasized his disapproval of the stories that have been sent out touching on that matter. It was suggested that these reports were more of a joke than of a serious nature, to which he replied very emphatically, "A lie is a lie, whether given as a joke or otherwise."

He discussed the game laws of the several states and said the storage houses should be suppressed and the seasons for killing small game restricted.

Colonel Roosevelt declined to talk politics, but expressed his regret with regard to the senatorial deadlock in Nebraska. He complimented the railroads of the west over which he has traveled during his trip and felt gratified at their liberal treatment.

Cotton Mills Cut Wages.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 21.—Notices have been posted in the mills of the United States Cotton company at Central Falls stating that, beginning Monday next, a reduction of wages of 10 per cent will go into effect. This reduction will place the wages back where they were previous to the increase by the company in December, 1899. The mills manufacture print cloth, and about 650 hands are employed, chiefly French-Canadians. On account of the depression in the print cloth market the owners consider a reduction of wages necessary. This is the first reduction of wages in any Rhode Island cotton mills since the general increase in wages in 1899.

Shooting Proved Fatal.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—Chester Staples of Cresco, who was shot in the leg last Saturday in a lumber camp in the Pocono mountains, is dead in the Lackawanna hospital here. For 14 hours after the shooting he was without medical attention until his removal here and was so weak from the loss of blood that he could not withstand the effects of the amputation which was necessary. Staples was shot by Decue Deitrich, proprietor of the lumber camp, after an altercation in which Staples had demanded wages due him.

Mob Searching For Slater.

TOPEKA, Feb. 21.—A mob of 1,000 men, mostly Santa Fe shop employees, went through the county jail last evening in search of Slick Slater, who committed an assault on Lottie Goerbrick Monday night in the Lincoln school grounds. They will lynch Slater the moment he is caught. Some talk of burning, but hanging will probably be the mode of punishment inflicted. Officers say he is not in jail, but he is believed to be there notwithstanding.

A Furious Storm.

CORY, Pa., Feb. 21.—In the history of this region no storm ever before reached the fury of the present blizzard. With half a dozen feet of snow on country roads and outlying city districts and Hatch street buried under 12 feet of snow, Cory caught about the worst part of the storm. A heavy fall of snow, accompanied by a fierce wind of great velocity, set in Tuesday evening and has continued with unabated vigor.

ERIE BARGE CANAL.

A Wonderful System Mapped Out by Engineer Bond.

ALBANY TO BUFFALO IN THREE DAYS

Freighters In Fleets to Be Run by Electricity—The River Route Favored—Cost Estimated at $49,000,000.

ALBANY, Feb. 21.—A marvelous system of state canals, the boats to be run by electricity and to be 150 feet long by 25 feet wide, with a draft of 10 feet, and to travel in fleets, going from Albany to Buffalo in less than three days, is the plan presented by State Engineer Bond and a capable board of engineers to Governor Odell. The system is to be built for $7,000,000 less than proposed by the canal commission appointed by Governor Roosevelt. The canals will be able to carry 15,000,000 tons of freight in a season of seven months.

For building an Erie barge canal on the route favored by State Engineer Bond, $49,000,000; for deepening the Oswego canal to nine feet, $859,026; for deepening the Champlain canal to six feet, $5,472,000; total cost of canal improvement, $55,331,026.

These are the figures in round numbers presented by State Engineer Bond to Governor Odell. They are figures that are surprising, because it has been intimated that the figures of the canal commission of $62,000,000 would be far exceeded when a careful survey is made. The figures for the Erie canal are $9,008,000 less than those of the commission, while the figures for the Champlain canal are three times the amount asked for by the commission. The state engineer in his report says:

"The estimate of $49,000,000 is for a canal of size suitable for barges of 10 feet draft, 25 feet width and 150 feet in length. The canal as planned and estimated for by these routes is first class in every respect, with locks of the most modern type, capable of passing two boats at once, with recent improvements and methods for filling and emptying the locks, with power generated to pull the boats into and out of the locks, operate the gates and valves and furnish electric light. In the river and lake channels the minimum width is 200 feet. Both the bottom and sides of the canal are to be thoroughly puddled. Guard locks are provided wherever required, and in the canal sections guard gates are provided at distances apart not exceeding ten miles, so that any section can be shut off for repairs. A full complement of first class bridges is provided wherever required."

In the navigation of the proposed canals only steam, electric or other mechanical motors have been considered. Consequently the towing path will be a thing of the past. The estimate covers the marking of the channel of the canalized rivers by spar buoys anchored to the bottom of the river and easily distinguished.

Each lock is equipped with four arc lights on the lock proper and one on each approach. Besides these, incandescent lighting will be furnished for the lock-houses.

The route favored by Mr. Bond in his report for the canal from Albany to Buffalo and for which he gives his figures of $49,000,000 is what is known as the river route.

Bribery Charged In Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 21.—It is revealed at Dover that an attempt has been made to bribe a Democratic member of the general assembly to remain away from the joint session today in order to reduce the number of votes necessary to elect a United States senator. The story is that Walter M. Hearn, a Democratic representative from Sussex county, came to this city on Monday night to attend a German ball. During the evening he was met by a man who is said to be an Addicks Republican, and the senatorial question was discussed. According to Mr. Hearn's story, this man offered him $2,000 if he would remain away from the state capitol on Thursday and thus lend his assistance to insure a majority vote for Mr. Addicks. With a full membership it requires 27 votes to elect, and Addicks now has 20, with prospects of getting three or four more Republicans.

Children Kidnaped.

PETERSBURG, Ind., Feb. 21.—Leonard Duews and Mattie Barnes, aged 12 and 14 years respectively, children of wealthy farmers living five miles south of this town, have been kidnaped. They were enticed away from their homes early yesterday morning by a man and woman who were in a buggy. Nothing has been heard or seen of the children since they entered the buggy. Officers are scouring the country in all directions for the kidnapers. The citizens are much worried over the affair, as there have been other kidnaping cases in the neighboring counties.

Barker Out of Jail.

ARLINGTON, N. J., Feb. 21.—Thomas G. Barker, who shot the Rev. John Keller in this city, will be released from the Hudson county jail at noon today. This decision was reached by Judge Blair in Jersey City late yesterday afternoon after a conference with Prosecutor Erwin and Lawyers Van Winkle and Wall, counsel for Barker.

They Must Decide.

Several members of the Common Council have already shown considerable hesitancy in placing themselves on record in any way as approving the proposed changes at the sewage disposal beds. The sewage disposal beds have not been remarkably popular and it is not surprising that some of the Councilmen do not want to call down the condemnation of their constituents by making a bad matter worse.

It is a question, however, which cannot be delayed much longer and all the members of the Council will have to settle in their own minds what action the city is to take in the matter. Furthermore, they will have to take an official stand and either vote for the plan proposed by the street committee or arrange some substitute for it. It is not a particularly pleasant thing to say but it is nevertheless true that the present situation at the sewage disposal beds requires some change in the immediate future. If the Councilman fail to provide any substitute for the present method, they are going to incur censure just as surely as if they happen to advocate the wrong method.

The ordinary layman cannot fairly consider with a reasonable hope of success the many methods of sewage disposal which are now being used throughout the country and which could be utilized here. It requires special training to fully understand the subject. Realizing that fact, the street and sewers committee of the Council secured the services of an expert and base their recommendations on his report.

Experts are human, after all, and and are just as likely to make mistakes as the rest of mankind. The beds were originally built after careful consultation with some of the best known experts of the country. It is yet claimed by some of those who were identified with the establishment of the present system that the beds, if enlarged and conducted on the system originally planned, would be perfectly satisfactory. It may be so. That is not a subject which a layman can talk with authority.

Wherever the trouble is, the Council will have to remedy it in the near future. While no plans have yet been authorized, there are undoubtedly a majority of the members of the Council who favor the plans suggested by J. O. Osgood, the expert engineer, who was retained by the committee to carefully investigate the situation and give his ideas as to the best course to pursue. The lowest bid for the proposed changes will involve an expenditure of a trifle over $37 000. That money must be paid by the taxpayers eventually so it behooves the members of the Council to act carefully in the matter. If, however, they are satisfied after careful investigation, that this is the best plan which can be adopted, they should stand firmly by their convictions. Otherwise, they should be free to express themselves as being opposed to the proposed changes.

While Assemblyman Meeker's action in introducing the anti spring election bill was not reckoned on by the Republican leaders at the State House, it is evident that they have decided to overlook the irregularity of the action of the Union county man and let the measure go before the Legislature. In several ways, however, his bill was by no means satisfactory and so he has consented to allow it to be withdrawn and a substitute measure introdnced. The fate of the substitute bill will be watched with much interest. This question of the spring elections is one of the most important which the Legislature will have to consider this winter and the treatment of it may make a decided difference when election time comes around again.

German manufacturers understand the importance of newspaper advertising in working up trade, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Fearing an increased competition on the part of American manufacturers, the Germans have attempted to induce the newspapers of their country to fix prohibitory rates for American advertising. Consul General Mason has reported that most of the newspapers have refused to do anything of the kind, although the trade journals have been forced to exclude the "ads" of American firms from their columns. The American manufacturers have told Mr. Mason that so long as they can advertise in the daily press they shall not care about being kept out of trade papers.

The next meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held Monday evening, and at that time it is probable that the offer of James E Martine of a site for the proposed new hospital will be considered. While the Governors will no doubt appreciate the public spiritedness of Mr. Martine's act, it is a question whether they will accept it. It is not often, however, that any citizen offers to supply such an institution with $10 000 worth of property, and the subject should receive the careful consideration of the members of the Board.

Plainfield will watch with interest the operations of the new water company in Westfield. At present, the latter place receives its supply of water from the pumping station at Netherwood. Should the new company succeed in getting a strong foothold in Westfield, it will have its effect on the Plainfield Water Supply Company.

Mayor Smalley believes in being up early and doing, so he started a gang of men at work cutting down the trees along Somerset street before those who thought of objecting were hardly out of bed. As a result the work was done without any interference.

It is to be regretted that the Republican leaders cannot see the advantages of uniting the counties of Union, Somerset and Morris in one Congressional district. It would be far more satisfactory to all concerned than the divisions now proposed.

People are wondering why it is that some streets in the eastern end of the city are equipped with two sets of house numbers.

It is the wise advertiser who keeps his name always before the public.

As tomorrow is a legal holiday, The Daily Press will not be issued.

Tomorrow is Washington's Birthday.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Andre M. Seguine, a former Plainfielder, was called as a witness for the defense in New York yesterday in the trial of Dr. Kennedy for the murder of "Dolly" Reynolds. Seguine is the cabman who is alleged to have driven the murdered woman and an unknown man from the Grand Hotel to a restaurant on the night of the tragedy. His father conducted a livery business, until about six years ago, on East Second street, and the younger Seguine was then in his employ as a cabby.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

ARGUMENTS ADVANCED AGAINST POLL TAX.

pay, it is not considered fair that the other half should escape, which they do, as it has been proven that all of the tax cannot be collected. Again, he reasoned that it is unfair to place a poll tax on a man who is already paying a heavy property tax. The decrease caused by the doing away with the poll tax would scarcely be perceptible.

The question of what is the money raised for has been brought up, and according to the speaker, the county has no right to this money, inasmuch as it was originally and is now considered in the light of a "State tax."

Again, it is reasoned that in causing arrest for the non-payment of a poll tax, the fees of the justice of the peace as well as those of a constable will have to be considered and this means additional expense in enforcing the payment of a tax which he claims has no specific aim or purpose. The law says that every male of 21 years or over shall be entitled to a vote, so that the failure to pay a poll tax cannot exclude a citizen from that right as some people believe. The person who offered the foregoing arguments concluded that the people do pay a tax, irrespective of the poll tax, and he considered that the time had arrived when the pernicious $1 tax should be abolished.

Temperance Drama

The feature of the entertainment to be given at this evening's meeting in Reform Hall be a temperance drama in three acts entitled "The Moderate Drinker." There was a girl in the art class with me who used to complain very often of not feeling well, and sometimes she would be away for two or three days. I was talking with her one day about Ripans Tabules and what they were good for, when she told me that she was a great sufferer from constipation and that that was what made her feel so wretchedly. She was often so ill from it, she said, that she had to go to bed, and it had kept her away from the studio several times during the winter, and made her miss a good many days' work on account of the pain she suffered. I had some of the Tabules with me at the time and I gave her several, advising her to try them. She used them, every one, and liked them so much that she afterwards bought a new supply. They helped her so much that she has not been troubled since she began taking them She thinks they are splendid.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS cannot cure. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS may be had at any drug store. 10 cents buys a package. 12 packages for 60 cents. Thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 24—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Trust: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength."—Phil. iv, 4-13.

The Christian Endeavor topics last year included in them a study of the parables of Christ. This year they cover the Christian Endeavor pledge, beginning with this topic on the first clause, "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." The idea of studying the pledge by clauses is a good one and should enlist the earnest thought and interest of every Endeavorer. The Scriptural basis of every clause in the pledge should be noted and a practical application made of every clause to our lives as Christians and as Endeavorers. The pledge is Scriptural. It is practical. It is not impossible of fulfillment. Every duty included in it may be performed. It is not antiquated. It is as fresh and attractive and helpful today as it was at its birth 20 years ago. It should not be shelved nor forgotten. Christian Endeavor without the pledge is Hamlet without Hamlet; it is the shell without the kernel, the bark without the tree. Take it, and it will take you to Christ. Keep it and it will keep you in faithfulness and fidelity to Christ.

"TRUSTING"

Trust is heart confidence. It is not mere intellectual belief in Christ, but a trust of the heart in Christ. The child trusts its parent. It leans upon him. It has confidence in him. It does not always understand him. It does not come scientifically to this position. It knows him, and therefore it trusts him with the heart rather than with the head. This is the character of Christian trust. The Christian Endeavor pledge does well to begin with "Trusting." All Christian life and zeal begin there. Trust is Scriptural. It is enjoined and emphasized throughout the Scriptures. Trust is practical. We can trust. We cannot always understand, but we can always trust. Trust inspires endeavor. The man who trusts God delights to serve God.

"IN THE LORD JESUS CHRIST."

The trust of Christian Endeavor is not trust in self, in the Christian Endeavor society or in the millions of Endeavorers. It is trust in Jesus Christ. Trust in Christ is both Scriptural and practical. "Trust in the Lord" is the keynote of the Scriptures. Paul declares that he can do all things, not by his own power, but "through Christ." The Endeavorer's trust is to be put in Christ. Such trust alone will produce the desired results. The Endeavorer who trusts in himself, in the society or in great Christian Endeavor conventions will find his trust misplaced. Christ is worthy of our trust. God trusted Him—trusted Him with the greatest work of the universe—and He failed Him not. Neither will He fail us. "So I am with ye alway, even unto the end of the world."

"FOR STRENGTH."

"Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." The Endeavorer trusts. He trusts Christ. He trusts Christ for strength—strength to keep the Christian Endeavor pledge, strength to live a Christian life, strength to endure hardness, to meet adversity. This is also Scriptural: "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me;" "Thy grace is sufficient for thee." The reason so many fail in keeping the pledge in living the Christian life, in doing God's work in the world, is because they do not trust Christ for strength. They try to keep the pledge, to live a Christian life in their own strength. This is impossible. We need Christ to strengthen us. Through His strength alone can we do all things. But how does Christ help us? Not by doing for us. Christ helps us by helping us to help ourselves. He strengthens us "with might by His Spirit in the inner man." By trust in Christ we receive His strength. He dwells in our heart by faith, and then we can do all things through Him.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a special programme, with a prepared address on the first clause in the pledge.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. xi, 1-7; xxxvii, 3-5; cxxi, 1-8; Isa. xi, 27-31; Math. vi, 25-34; John xv, 1-10; II Cor. xii, 7-10; I Pet. v, 6, 7; I John, v, 1-5; Rev. ii, 10.

A Plea For Purity.

A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings and who is soon—he knows not how soon—to be translated into heaven should be holy.

Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my companionship. Am I so soon to go and dwell with angels? Then I should be pure. Are these feet so soon to tread the courts of heaven? Is this tongue soon to unite with heavenly beings in praising God? Are these eyes of mine so soon to look on the throne of eternal glory and on the ascended Redeemer? Then these feet and eyes and lips should be dead to the world and live for heaven.—A. Barnes.

Showing Our Appreciation.

It is wonderful how much the genuine manifestations of our appreciation of others do to brighten and sweeten our relations with them. In the home especially we are wont to take too much for granted. We reason that the members of our families know how much we think of them and there is no need of our telling them about it. That is true, but there are other ways of showing our kindliness than that of talking about it. Tones may be quite as significant as words, and manner always carries with it a multiplicity of shadings. But then there are times when words are a blessing that is not forgotten. Sometimes the most precious thing in the world is a few words.—Church Record.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 24, "Our Sufficiency"—Text, II Cor. iii, 4, 5; ix. 8; Phil. iv., 13.

"God is able to make all grace abound toward you, that ye always may abound to every good work."

To watch the failures and successes which are occurring around us all the time is instructive to one who has the discernment to read the hidden meaning of it all. Not every one who starts in business life succeeds. Some one has said, with how much truth I do not know, that few succeed until after the third failure. Sure it is that of the great number who start ten years find few still running. The trouble is not that there are not goods enough to be had and folks enough to buy, but that this one has not induced enough people to buy enough goods of him.

Many start in the Christian life who run but a little way. A New England city church which had never at one time numbered over 220 members had in ten years of existence had 1,000 different names on its roll. Not a large number had died nor many removed by letter, but many who came in on flood tides of revival went out on the ebb.

Was there a lack of God's grace to keep them, or did they fail to use grace provided, or where was the fault? It is doubtful if adversity causes as much backsliding as prosperity. Failures are the result more often of overconfidence and rash risks than of hard times.

God's sufficiency is our safest ground of trust. He cannot fail. His resources are exhaustless, His wisdom boundless and His help unfailing to those who trust Him. But He must be senior partner in the business and hold the controlling power.

We are able to do all things through Him. The otherwise impossible becomes the easy and natural if only God works with us. We dread the fire unless the Son of God shares the furnace heat with us. Then we walk safely, with no smell of fire on our garments. Lions become as companionable as our trusty watchdog if duty makes us share their den with them. Shipwreck has no terrors, dungeons no darkness, stripes no anguish; hunger and cold and nakedness and peril have no power to make us fear and falter in our fidelity so long as we rely on Him who walked the waves of Galilee, was angel strengthened in Gethsemane, wore crown of thorns in palace and pretorium, was crucified on Calvary. His word to us is as sure as it was Paul—"My grace is sufficient for thee."

He always wins who sides with God;
To him no chance is lost.
God's will is sweetest to him
When it triumphs at his cost.

A Missionary Leader.

Rev. W. F. Oldham, D. D., is in the prime of life, with strong physique, well balanced thought, courteous address and an apprenticeship in the India mission field of years sufficient to give him grasp of the life and needs of that part of the army on the firing line.

He has been elected assistant secretary of the Missionary society, and his voice will be heard at annual conferences and in the churches through the land, giving information and rousing zeal in this branch of our church work.

He was chairman of the committee on missions at the general conference in Chicago last May. His ability in that position probably had somewhat to do in the matter of his election to his present office. Our young people should lose no opportunity to meet and hear him.

Missionary Pictures.

Much inquiry is made regarding the possibility of getting stereopticon slides for use by the leagues in illustrated lectures on various mission fields. Some chapters own stereopticons and use them frequently. Not a few have arranged with missionaries who own cameras and have obtained a stock of negatives and had slides made from them. Bishop Hartzell has one of the finest collections of African pictures if not the very best yet secured. Arrangements will probably be made to make these views available for our League missionary work.

Rev. Dr. Walter J. Yates of Hazardville, Conn., has for several years taken great interest in this kind of work and at the request of some of the bishops and missionary secretaries prepared some sets on different countries which have been made helpful in many places.

From Maine to Kansas and Oregon this work has spread. Many are working at it. Some means should be found to make those interested in it better acquainted and mutually helpful.

Scientific Research.

Jester—Old Squeezit has agreed that after his death his body shall be turned over to the university in the interests of science.

Jimson—Interests of science?

"Yes, all Squeezit's relations have insisted that he has no heart; the doctors are going to find out."—Ohio State Journal.

For Example.

"I shall order a modest luncheon," said Tenspot as he scanned the bill of fare.

"What is your idea of a modest luncheon?" asked Bunting.

"Well, for example, I shall have dressed tomatoes." — Detroit Free Press.

Time to Quit.

Nodd—I've played my last game of poker.

Todd—What's the matter? Does your wife object?

"No; but last night she informed me that she would like to learn how to play herself."—Detroit Free Press.

If You Have To.

Two can live as cheaply as one if it's a case of have to.—Chicago Daily News.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Plainfield

Because it's evidence in Plainfield. It's from a citizen, perhaps a neighbor.

Investigation will confirm it.

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

COMMITTEE UNDECIDED.

Defining Relations Between Cuba and This Country Difficult.

HAVANA, Feb. 21.—The special committee appointed by the Cuban constitutional convention to draw up a proposition defining the future relations between the United States and the republic of Cuba continued in secret conference with the other members of the convention all day. No settlement was reached. It is understood that a majority favor leaving the question open until the signing of the constitution, which is now being engrossed. The committee is expecting Governor General Wood to send an official letter setting forth what he considers the relations should be, so that the convention may act with a better understanding of the desires of the United States. It is argued that even if the convention should agree to such a definition of relations as was outlined by General Wood last week it is not officially known whether the United States would approve.

General Wood says he told the special committee to inform the convention that he represented the policy of the executive department at Washington and that he could not say how congress would act in the matter. Any communication which he may address to the committee will be on those lines.

The convention is practically unanimous against naval stations at Havana, Cienfuegos or Santiago. Some of the delegates say they will readily grant the request if the stations are located, say, one on the Isle of Pines and the others on smaller islands.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Republicans carried Philadelphia by a plurality of nearly 100,000.

The president has nominated Brigadier General Shafter to be a major general.

Miss Olga Nethersole sailed for London to have a surgical operation performed.

A French subject was arrested in the Philippines charged with having aided insurgents.

Lottie Friese, a New York city servant girl, robbed her mistress of $3,000 worth of jewelry.

Frank Hamilton, reporter, was found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree for killing Leonard R. Day in Minneapolis.

Clever Bank Robbery.

RANTOUL, Ills., Feb. 21.—The private banking institution of F. B. Vennum at Fosher, a small hamlet situated in the northwest part of Champaign county, was robbed by a lone highwayman, who secured $1,620. About 10 o'clock Arthur Hyer, a reckless farmer boy, aged 22 years, entered the bank and in the same time covering the clerks with a pistol. The cashier, Arthur Vennum, handed out the money requested, and the bold robber backed out of the door. An alarm was given at once, but not before the robber had boarded a freight train just pulling into the Illinois Central yards. He took charge of the engine and pulled through town at high speed. However, several citizens had armed themselves and caught the caboose of the train as it passed the depot. After running about a mile the train was stopped and the desperado captured in the cab of the engine. All of the money stolen was recovered.

Turkish Government Warned.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 21.—Besides the representations made by Russia to the porte concerning the situation in Macedonia, the embassadors of Great Britain, France and Italy have also pointed out to the Turkish government the necessity for the punishment of those guilty of recent crimes and the protection of peaceable inhabitants. This step appears to have been prompted by the circular note addressed by the French minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, in consequence of the appeal made by Greece to the powers after the debates of December, in which the Greek chamber related numerous instances of assassinations of Greek subjects in Macedonia.

Vanderbilt Talks to Students.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 21.—Cornelius Vanderbilt addressed a big company of students, professors and graduates of Yale last evening in North Sheffield hall on the "Development of Locomotive Boilers," illustrating his address with stereopticon slides. After tracing the history of the locomotive, the lecturer took up the subject of the firebox which he invented and described it minutely, showing it in views. The data of the experimentations were stated. In conclusion Mr. Vanderbilt stated that he has placed five of his boilers on

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

No one who delights in good, first class, high grade, refined vaudeville, should miss the performances at Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night, Washington's Birthday, which will be given by the London Vaudevilles, an organization of more than superior excellence. Not only are the members of this company famous "head liners" of the Proctor and Keith circuits, but they are members of the famous "White Rats" Association of vaudeville artists and it is this association, composed of none but the elite and best of artists, that vouches for the excellence of the shows to be given here tomorrow.

George H. Thomas and Edna Thomas, who with George Fuller and Fannie Gonzales head the list of performers, will be seen to best advantage in their very pleasing entertainments and sketches, which are veritable shows in themselves, and an extra feature has been added by the management in the engagement of Prof. Autenreith and his wonderful moving pictures, said to be the best exhibition of this kind ever seen in America.

They comprise everything sensational, terrific, sublime and ridiculous and will no doubt prove interesting. To the above will be seen the charming Mlle. Luella in her "poses majestique," the Goldsmith Sisters in their unique dances, Prof. Scheck in feats of magic, Vendig and Ward in colloquial seances, Allen and Peters in illustrated songs and others. This is a mannoth bill deserving of patronage and none should miss it. Matinee performance begins at 2:15 p. m., night at 8:15.

. . . . . .

"The Wolves of New York," Leonard Grover's greatest comedy drama will be seen at Music Hall, Saturday afternoon and night. It is brimful of intensely sensational situations and replete with realism. The plot deals with the wiles and temptations which surround an innocent young country girl and severally equally guileless rural companions in the dive district of New York, and after giving the audience an insight into the Bowery district of the great city, it transports you to the delightfully natural country homestead in New York, where the play ends with the usual virtue triumphant. The scenery and mechanical effects are of the best and the company has been carefully selected for its fitness for each character.

—Florida oranges and grape fruit are specialties at Neuman Bros. Oranges by the box; specially low prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dreier, of West Front street, are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son.

SANG FAMILAR RHYMES TO CHINESE MUSIC

Then Young Folk of a Century Ago Served an Excellent Supper.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR GIVEN BY BAPTIST YOUNG WOMEN.

A Novel Entertainment of Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes Given in the Afternoon Followed by Colonial Supper.

A novel and interesting entertainment was given Friday afternoon at the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society. It was entitled "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes." Miss Grace Yerkes had charge of the entertainment and trained the various participants in taking their parts.

The platform was arranged in Chinese fashion and those who took part were costumed in the dress of that country. The most important incidents and characters in Mother Goose were represented in a realistic fashion by the following persons: The Misses Ethel Smith, Della French, Elizabeth Winn, Edith Runk, Pearl Oakley, Violet VanWinkle, Helen Pierce, Helen Pierce, Edna Cronce, Alice Carver, May Batchelor, Isabelle Godown, Beulah VanWinkle, Sadie Johnson, Anna Morrison, Henrietta Winn, Lizzie Frank, Elizabeth McGee and Russell Miller, John Frank, Pierson Bailey, Leslie Powlison, Harry Allen.

There were parts where all the young people participated in singing Chinese songs and in representing the various incidents. Mrs. Samuel Case also assisted in the rendering of Chinese songs.

The entertainment was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all. A colonial supper followed from 6 to 8 o'clock. The various rooms were decorated in colonial style, and many very old heirlooms formed a part of the articles used. There was a slipper two hunded years old, a chair used by Gen. Lafayette, a looking glass used by Gen. Washington when he occupied the Harberger residence. Then there were candles and sticks, a hundred years old, Indian relics, etc., many of which were furnished by Mrs. John H. French. These old-fashioned things have been in the French family for a great many years.

About the rooms tables were arranged where supper was served and where candy and cake were sold. Miss Susie Woodland, assisted by the following were in charge of the candy table, Miss Bertha Needham, Mrs. W. B. Vail, Miss Grace TenEyck, Miss Ada Fountain and Miss Caroline Drake.

Those in charge of the cake table were Mrs. R. W. Barnes, chairman; Miss Alice Scribner, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Miss Bessie Hackett, Miss Mary Henry, Miss May Serrell, Miss Velma Oakley. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. B. J. Shreve, chairman; Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Miss Clawson, Miss Margaret Harold, Miss Susie Milne, Miss Elsie Brokaw, and the decorating committee comprised Miss Mary French, chairman; Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Mrs. Clinton Randolph, Mrs. Hannah Flanders, Mrs. R. W. Barnes, Mrs. W. B. Vail, Mrs. James Manning, Miss Florence Marsh.

Those in charge of the supper tables were Mrs. Harold Serrell, Miss Bertha Willis, Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Miss Florence Marsh, Mrs. Milne, Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., Mrs. Hannah Flanders, Mrs. W. Kempton Browning. They were assisted by the following waitresses: The Misses May Batchelor, Pauline Denton, Ella and Minnie Serrell, Bessie Flanders, Annis Kinsman, Deborah Winn, Bessie Hackett, Elsie Drake, Ellen Boice, Bertha Miles, Clyde Slater, Catherine Roeap, Helen Robbins, Daisy Adams, Ursula Krewson, Edna Lewis, Emma LaRue, Bessie TenEyck, Ethel King, Velma Oakley. Mrs. Frank Jones was chairman of the supper committee.

Miss Bertha Thorn was the efficient treasurer. All of those assisting in the affair were costumed in colonial dress and presented a picturesque appearance. In the evening a short programme of vocal and instrumental music was given, including some parts from the "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes."

Miss Shreve, president of the society, deserves great praise, as well as those who took various parts in the affair, for the success attained.

—At the meeting of the Union Veterans' Union held this week two new members were elected.

A horse belonging to J. T. Vail, of LaGrande avenue, the real estate dealer, ran away Thursday afternoon as Mr. Vail was about to tie it in front of a residence on West Front street, near Compton avenue. The animal ran at a slow gait down West Front street to a point near Grant avenue when in attempting to pass one of Crosby & Hill's delivery wagons and a trolley car at the same time, the surrey to which it was attached collided with a trolley pole and was badly wrecked.

On being freed from the shafts the horse ran at a terrific pace up Front street to Park avenue, to North, to Watchung, to Second street, and stopped at its accustomed place in the rear of its owner's office on North avenue. In spite of the long run the animal escaped without the least injury.

MUSIC AND SOCIABILITY.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL GIVEN AT WARREN CHAPEL THURSDAY NIGHT.

Arranged By Christian Endeavorers—Musical Programme Given.

The Christian Endeavorers of Warren chapel treated their friends to an unusually interesting entertainment Thursday evening. Rev. Jos. O. McKelvey, the pastor, made a few remarks in the nature of an introductory. The choir sang "Praise the Lord" and the other musical parts on the evening's programme were: Piano solo, Albert Squire; vocal duet, Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz and Miss Margaret Shepherd; vocal solo from the "Holy City," Miss Sadie Wilson; flute solo, Elmer Wheeler; accompanist, Miss Ellen Coddington.

Mrs. Fred G. Back recited a short piece entitled "The Missionary and the Boy." Another particularly interesting recitation was "Send Me." The speakers in the cast were six little girls, Jennie Rowe, Emma Pickett, Sadie Wilson, Edith Wheeler, Ida Wheeler and Jessie Reynolds.

Mrs. David M. Runyon, chairman of the missionary committee of the Local Union, addressed the Endeavorers present on "Some Facts on Foreign Missions with which Christian Endeavorers should be Familiar."

At the conclusion of the set programme refreshments were served.

Rev. G. Hauser enlivened the occasion by phonographic selections.

The committee in charge consisted of Misses Katherine Deike, chairman; Miss Hattie Squires, Mrs. Wm. A. Wilson and Geo. Zimmer, assisted by Mrs. James Sutton, chairman of the general social committee of the society.

ENDEAVORERS WILLING.

Held Union Prayer Service Preparatory to the Coming Evangelistic Meetings.

A very helpful and inspiring prayer service was held in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Local Union, in preparation for the evangelistic services soon to be held in this city. Considering the many events occurring that evening the attendance was excellent. Miss Nettie Beeching, of Watchung, conducted the service, and after reading an appropriate Scripture selection, she made a few remarks relative to the services to be held next week. She spoke of the many opportunities that would be offered for Christian work, and she hoped that all would accept them.

After the opening part of the service there were many fervent prayers and whole souled testimonies that found an echoing sentiment in the heart of each one present. An impressive part of the service was the vocal solo, "Under His Wing," by Miss Elsie Giles. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E E Anthony, who played during the evening.

Just before the meeting closed Miss Beeching asked all present who would be willing to promise to bear witness for Christ during the evangelistic services they attended, to raise their hands. At least fifteen responded heartily.

AMATEUR STORE KEEPERS.

BUT THEIR EFFORTS PROVED VERY SUCCESSFUL ALL THE SAME.

Much Business Done at Two Nights of Bazaar Given at Grace M. E. Church.

The first night of the Martha Washington bazaar, inaugurated Thursday evening in Grace M E. church, proved highly successful. The room had the appearance of a modern department store—anything you wanted could be obtained on the spot. The crowd patronized all the amateur store keepers nearly equally well—though some favoritism was shown the candy man, or rather the candy woman.

Those in charge of the various departments were: Fancy work—Mrs. H. K. Carroll, chairman, Mrs. Andrew Lutkins, Mrs. George Fairchild and Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek.

Groceries—Mrs. Cora Ryno, chairman, Mrs. J. W. A. Bauersachs, Mrs. John Steiner and Mrs. John Higgins.

Candy—Mrs. Annie Most, Mrs. Elmer Winckler, Mrs. Charles E. A Heywood and the Misses Alice Carroll, Grace Carroll, Carrie Tingly, Agnes Tingley, Isabelle Lunger, Clara Steiner and Mamie Steiner.

Fish pond—The Misses Nellie Vermule, Jennie DeCamp, Eva Doeringer, Ada VanHorn, Carrie Pangborn.

Lemonade—Mrs. G. W. Gardner, chairman; the Misses May Van Fleet, Mary Hoagland and Ada Woolston.

Cake and ice cream—Mrs. James Lunger, chairman; Mrs. E. A. Vermeule, Mrs. Robert VanNest, Mrs. Andrew Winkler, Mrs. Wm. Thorn, Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Hoffman and Miss Emma Smalley.

The U. S. Grant Glee Club made a hit, and gave evidence of the remarkable training ability of their leader, Horace Martin, Sr.

The bazaar was in operation again last evening and some fine music added much to the enjoyment of those present.

UNION GOSPEL MEETINGS.

FIRST SERVICE WILL BE HELD TOMORROW EVENING.

At First Baptist Church—Rev. Theo. S. Henderson Will Be in Charge During Coming Week.

The series of union gospel meetings which the churches of the city have arranged will begin tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist on West Front street. The speaker will be Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, of Brooklyn.

Wm. Phillips Hall, who is to be the speaker during the week beginning March 3, introduces Mr. Henderson to Plainfield, having requested him to make the preliminary arrangements and conduct the meetings until he can come himself. Mr. Henderson is a powerful and winning speaker, and one of the most successful preachers in Brooklyn. He will preach every evening next week except Saturday evening. His coming to Plainfield is purely a labor of love. Like Mr. Hall, he is not willing to accept any remuneration for his services.

At this meeting, as at all in the series, there will be spiritual singing by a large chorus choir, led by F. H Jacobs, who has a national reputation as a gospel singer. It will be remembered that the First Baptist church is the place for the evening services of the whole series. The public are cordially invited.

The bride was very prettily gowned in white silk and was attended by Miss May S. Teller, of this city, a sister of the bridegroom. The best man was M J. Hortwick, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Teller will take up their residence after March 1 at Elizabeth where the groom is employed.

Collector and Mrs. F. H. Smith Pleasantly Entertained Last Evening.

A pleasant "at home" and progressive euchre party was given Thursday evening by Collector and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, of Madison avenue. There were seven tables. The decorations and favors were all suggestive of Washington's Birthday, and the well-known story of the hatchet and cherry tree were brought to mind in several ways that furnished amusement for all.

The honors were awarded to Miss L. A. Force and H. C. VanEmburgh. Following the evening's play, a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served,

IN HONOR OF WASHINGTON.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS HELD PATRIOTIC SERVICES LAST NIGHT.

Effective Meeting at First Baptist Church Led by Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield.

The patriotic service held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church last evening proved to be extremely interesting. The affair was conducted under the supervision of the prayer meeting committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, led in the religious part of the service and also delivered an extemporaneous address on "Patriotism."

In the course of his remarks on patriotism, Mr. Pierson declared that the house of God is the most appropriate place wherein to thank the Almighty for the blessings which the people of this nation have received at his hands.

The speaker deplored the shame made use of by high officials in public life. Too many, he feared, sought only for vain glory. Mr. Pierson eulogized the private and public life of the nation's fathers, particularly that of Washington.

Washington's public greatness arose chiefly from the goodness of his private life. His private life as a man was only made by the piety of his youth, and in this connection the speaker recited the maxims followed by Washington as a boy. These maxions, six in all, covered the entire ten commandments of God.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Pierson said that it seemed as though now days what are looked upon as great men in public life were really those made so by a turn of the wheel of forturne and maintained that the truly great were only those who led devout Christian lives.

The pastor, Rev. D. J. Yerkes, before the close of the meeting, made a short address.

BIDS FOR STREET SIGNS.

WILL BE RECEIVED SHORTLY BY THE STREET COMMITTEE.

No Action Taken Regarding Sewer Beds as References of Lowest Bidder Hadn't Been Received.

The Councilmanic committee on streets and sewers met in the committee rooms Thursday evening.

Owing to the fact that the references of the Syracuse bidder, on the sewer contract, had not yet been heard from, no action was taken. The report in the matter will be prepared in time for the next regular meeting of councils, March 4.

The committee informally discussed various methods of managing the proposed new sewer beds when completed.

It was decided to call a conference of the abutting property owners in the matter of widening Woodland avenue.

The street commissioner was requested to prepare a map outlining the proposed improvements on Geraud avenue.

The only other business before the meeting related to the street signs. An estimate on the cost of durable enameled signs, with blue ground and white letters is expected from one of the leading sign makers of the country in time for the next meeting of the committee Thursday evening.

Excited Horse Caused Trouble.

One of a team of horses belonging to the Plainfield Cab Company slipped and fell at the corner of Park avenue and Front street yesterday afternoon. The carriage rolled on top of the horse and was nearly upset by the animals endeavors to get up. Patrolmen Vanderweg and Flynn and Charles E. Steiner lent assistance and while attempting to back the wagon, the fallen horse arose and, despite their efforts, the team ran to Somerset street. They were finally brought up with no other damage beyond a broken neck yoke.

Celebrated Tenth Birthday.

Clarence Snell, of Elmwood place, entertained about thirty of his little friends Thursday evening in honor of his tenth birthday. The little folks played games until they were thoroughly tired out, after which they sat down to supper. The table was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the center was occupied by a large birthday cake on which were ten candles.

DR. RICHARDS' LECTURE.

Talked to Large Audience on "Italy The Land of Story and Song" Thursday Night.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards gave an illustrated lecture in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church Thursday evening on "Italy the Land of Story and Song," which was appreciated by a large and intelligent audience. The views were most clear and graphic, Dr. Richards proved himself a most exceptional lecturer. His description was lucid and delightfully given. His story of a trip up Mt. Vesuvius was startling and highly interesting. The lecturer dwelt at considerable length upon the genius and intellect of the men of Pompeii, asserting that they were men of marvellous genius, who lived in a marvellous period of the world's history.

The lecture was given for the benefit of the McAll Auxiliary and a good sum was realized.

ISSUED FIRST WARRANT.

COLLECTOR SMITH AFTER THOSE WHO DON'T PAY PERSONAL TAX.

Warrant Issued Against Chapot Chamois Company This Morning—Served by Constable.

Collector Frank H Smith issued his first warrant this morning, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Common Council at the last meeting. The warrant was issued for the attachment of goods belonging to the proprietors of the Chapot Chamois Company for the non-payment of personal and real estate tax amounting to $165.

Mr. Smith learned that the company has been moving their goods to Pennsylvania, where they intend to continue the business, and he proposed to prevent their getting away with everything before the tax was paid.

The warrant was given to Constable Mattox to serve and he attached the company's property remaining for the tax owing. Just what action the proprietors will take is not known.

SURPRISED HIM.

Mrs. J. C. Martin Arranged Pleasant Affair For Her Husband Last Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Duer street, celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary yesterday in a quiet and pleasant manner. Last evening a genuine surprise was given to Mr. Martin by a number of his friends. There were about thirty in the party and they first met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Field Stout, on Park place. Mrs. Martin arranged the affair, but her husband had not the slightest intimation concerning it.

The evening was passed in playing all kinds of games, and the guests greatly enjoyed a number of vocal selections given by a delegation from the U. S. Glee Club, of which Mr. Martin is a member. During the evening refreshments were served and it was about 1 o'clock when the happy event came to an end.

DR. BURR RECOMMENDED.

Former Plainfielder Proposed as Pastor of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York.

Many Plainfield people will be interested to learn that Dr. Everitt Burr, of Newton Centre, Mass., has been recommended by the committee on the selection of a pastor for the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, of New York, to fill the place of Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, who left the church to become president of Brown University.

Dr. Burr is a son of Stephen Burr, who with his family resided in Plainfield for a number of years, and was superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday-school. Dr. Burr became very well and favorably known as pastor of the Ruggles street Baptist church, Boston, prior to his pastorate in Newton Centre.

She has a happy way of teaching which holds the interests of her listeners from start to finish. TELEPHONE RANG AND THE BURGLAR FLED.

But Not Until He Secured $225 in Cash From Former Mayor John F. Wilson's Home.

IN HURRY OF DEPARTURE HE SLIPPED AND FELL, UPSETTING VASE.

Mistake at Telephone Exchange Saved Col. Wilson Much Property—Plunder Was Heaped on Floor Ready to Take—Burglar Fled Too Soon.

Burglars broke into "Tunlaw," the residence of Former Mayor John F. Wilson on Greenbrook road Thursday evening and succeeded in making a good-sized haul. By a fortunate mistake of the local night operator, the burglar was interrupted before he completed operations.

Col. Wilson and his family had retired for the night. About 10 o'clock the members of the household were awakened by a telephone call. Hastening down the back stairway to the call at the 'phone, Miss Wilson was surprised to hear strange sounds in the dining room. The house dog barked loudly.

In the short interval elapsing, the crook, evidently scenting danger, attempted to take flight. In his haste his foot slipped on a rug covering the well-oiled floor. He fell heavily and an awful crash was heard. A table holding a valuable Japanese vase had been upset in the fall. Without losing a second the burglar regained his feet and made a bound for the front door. At that moment Mr. Wilson arrived on the scene, but the man had made good his escape. He left by the front door, taking the key with him. It is supposed that he gained an entrance at the door in some way.

The appearance of the dining room was startling. On the floor lay Col. Wilson's overcoat upon which had been piled all the family silverware. In the library a small writing desk had been opened and its contents strewn about.

A roll of bills, aggregating $225, which Col. Wilson had temporarily placed in a drawer in the desk, was missing, and a beautiful pair of gold sleeve links were gone. What else was taken is not known, but the ransacking had been done thoroughly.

A mistake at the telephone office prevented the burglar from getting more. Someone in the metropolis called up "652, Plainfield," but the local operator misinterpreting the message rang for "52," which fortunately happened to be the number of "Tunlaw."

Mr. Wilson sent for Mayor N. B. Smalley and laid the facts before His Honor. Mayor Smalley was informed by the former that the necessity of having to pay a $900 tax annually should at least bring, in return, sufficient police protection to prevent such robberies.

Yesterday morning on the lawn of the Greenbrook residence were found two overcoats belonging to the former mayor.

Yesterday there was at least one man at large who should have spent the day congratulating himself that he and the mayor did not meet on the occasion of this burglary. Mr. Wilson prides himself on being somewhat of a shot and is regretting that he did not arrive in time to get a little target practice.

MUSIC HALL AMUSEMENTS.

REPERTOIRE COMPANY WILL BE HERE NEXT WEEK.

Other Good Shows Booked For The Following Week at Stillman Music Hall.

"The London Vaudevilles," an organization of very competent artists, attracted good-sized audiences at the matinee and night performances at Music Hall yesterday, and gave a very pleasing entertainment. To particularize the individual excellence of the several artists would be superfluous, where so much merit and ability dominated. Everybody acquitted themselves in splendid manner, and, as a whole, a better vaudeville show has seldom been seen here.

This afternoon and tonight, Leonard Grover's scenic comedy drama, entitled "The Wolves of New York" will be seen for the first time in this city. A fine cast of metropolitan players enact the several characters in the piece, and it abounds with specialties and novelties of actual life. The scenes are immense and as realistic as though actually happening. Particularly can this be said of the pool room scene. Bang goes the bell—"They're off," shouts the "bookie"—"Volunteer" first—"Tipstaff" second—"Mamie B." third"—at the quarter, at the half, in the stretch are all called amidst great excitement. Then comes the finish with the dark horse the winner—winning enough to pay off the mortgage on the little home.

Another great scene and undoubtedly the greatest sensational scene now before the public is the explosion of the oil tank and the burning of the Tetlow Oil Yards at the outer edge of the East river. Just as the explosion occurs the blind sister is seen on the endless chain elevator and is being carried straight into the tank of blazing oil, when the hero climbs the frame work and rescues her. "The Wolves of New York" is a very clean play and and is enacted admirably.

Manager Maze Edwards has the Broadway Theatre Stock Company booked for a week of repertoire plays, commencing Monday. Full particulars of this engagement had not arrived at the writing of this article, but will be given in full in Monday's issue.

During the week of March 4, two great plays will be seen, the first on Tuesday, March 5, "The Dairy Farm," and the second on Friday, March 8, "Sporting Life." Both of these plays have acheived great success in New York and other cities wherein they were presented after their great runs in the metropolis. "The Dairy Farm," is said to be likened only to two other plays, "The Little Minister" and "The Old Homestead," and superior in fact, to this last named play. "Sporting Life" is one of the latest English melo dramas that was brought to this country by Charles Frohman.

Many other dramatic novelties will be presented during the coming months, due notice of which will be given.

—If possible Freedom Castle, No 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will engage G. A. R. Hall as a regular meeting place.

—For the weakness and prostration following grippe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly. L. W. Randolph.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS.

Campaign For the First Election Under the Commonwealth.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 23.—The campaign preceding the first general election of the Australian commonwealth is now in progress. The main issue, according to mail advices received here, is the tariff.

Edmund Barton, the provisional premier, is a protectionist. The leader of the opposition, G. H. Reid, is an advocate of free trade. The main features of the government platform are a revenue tariff, construction of a transcontinental railway, old age pensions, uniform suffrage and "White Australia." The government proposed to extend the franchise to women, but will not admit the eligibility of women to seats in parliament. Strong legislation will be passed against the importation of Asiatic labor.

Premier Seddon of New Zealand is accused of attempting to form a Pacific federation in opposition to the Australian federation by the annexation of the Fija islands to New Zealand. Premier Seddon declares that his only purpose is to prevent Cook and other islands being seized by a power other than Great Britain.

Two surviving Breelong murderers have been hanged. Gimmy Governor, the leader of the trio, was executed at Darlinghurst jail on Jan. 18. Jacky Underwood, the accomplice of the Governors, was hanged on Jan. 14 at Dubbo jail.

Thursday island has been the scene of savage warfare between Kanakas and Manila men. On Jan. 23 in an encounter two natives were clubbed to death and eight others fatally injured, while there were many wounded. Many native houses and much property were destroyed.

Friction continues to develop in the New Hebrides between French colonists and the natives. A deputation of seven Presbyterian missionaries from the New Hebrides have waited upon Australian Premier Barton, urging action to suppress alleged malpractices by the French. The deputation stated that the Franco-British joint command composed of naval officers was giving little satisfaction, and the clergymen made serious charges against the captain of his majesty's ship Ringaroo. The missionaries alleged that the French are illegally seizing lands, armed bands of French colonists driving out the natives, burning houses and destroying plantations.

RELATIONS WITH CUBA.

The Convention Will Probably Take Some Action Today.

HAVANA, Feb. 23.—Nothing definite has been decided upon regarding the question of future relations. Many of the delegates assembled in the convention hall yesterday afternoon to talk over the matter informally. Most of them seem to be impressed with the conviction that if the convention stood out vigorously for absolute independence the United States congress would support them.

The special committee on relations has instructed its secretary, Senor Juan Gualberto Gomez, to draw up a proposition and submit the same to the committee for consideration. This proposition will, it is understood, deal with the issue in three leading divisions:

First.—That Cuba shall not be made the base of war operations against the United States.

Second.—That the commercial treaty with the United States shall embody as far as possible free trade between the two countries.

Third.—That no foreign treaties shall be made jeopardizing the independence of Cuba.

Another Crowe Story.

OMAHA, Feb. 23.—Edward Cudahy, Sr., has received a letter which he and the chief of police believe to be from Pat Crowe. It states that Crowe is not guilty and says that but for fear of suffering the fate of the negro recently lynched at Leavenworth, Kan., he would have given himself up. Now that the excitement has quieted down, the writer says, he will give himself up to Chief of Police Donahue if the latter and Mr. Cudahy will insure him protection.

Banquet of Newspaper Men.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association was brought to a close last night with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria, fully 250 members from all sections of the country being in attendance. The dinner was held in the Astor gallery of the hotel. From the balconies handsomely gowned women, the wives and daughters of the members of the association, looked down upon the course of events.

Discussing the Treaty.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—In spite of the great secrecy with which, as is usual, the deliberations of the cabinet are guarded it may be safely asserted that one of the subjects under discussion at yesterday's meeting was a dispatch from Lord Pauncefote which, it is understood, dealt with the probable attitude of the United States toward Great Britain's counter proposals in the Nicaragua canal matter.

Revolutionary Speech In Cadiz.

MADRID, Feb. 23.—In a stirring speech at Cadiz Professor Salmeron, chief of the Republican party, declared himself a partisan of revolution. "In the presence of the gravity of the political situation," said he, "it is necessary to precipitate a republic, as the monarchy is incompatible with Spanish unity." He urged Republicans to prepare for the "decisive moment."

Three Aged People Buried In a Day.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Three funerals were held at Berlin, this county, on the same day, the combined ages of the persons who died being 260 years. They were Charles Saunders, 85 years; Mrs. Lafage, 87 years, and Mrs. John Taylor, 88 years.

Large Coal Storage Plant.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The Ontario and Western Railroad company is erecting a new coal storage plant here with a capacity of 130,000 tons. One hundred thousand dollars will be expended on the plant.

Blizzard In Northern New York.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 23.—One of the worst blizzards of the winter is prevailing in northern New York. Snow began falling about midnight, and a blinding storm is still in progress. Railroad traffic is hampered.

Big Haul of Chinamen.

MALONE, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Chinese Inspector Ketchum and United States Marshal Roby captured 25 Chinese on the boundary yesterday. They are in jail at Malone.

GREAT DAY IN MANILA

Thousands of Filipinos Celebrate Washington's Birth.

FEDERALS SHOW THEIR STRENGTH.

President Tervera Says There Is No Servility In Accepting American Sovereignty—Enormous Sale of American Flags.

MANILA, Feb. 23.—Thousands of Filipinos gathered around the Luneta band pavilion near the shore yesterday afternoon and listened to and applauded American orators, the occasion being the celebration of Washington's birthday.

It was the first great gathering under the auspices of the Federal party. Filipino and American flags fluttered from the ships in the bay and over various parts of the assemblage. They were intertwined on the speakers' stand.

The Federalists marched in companies from various sections, each following a banner designating its own locality, and crowded closely about the pavilion, where were seated Governor General MacArthur and other generals, the members of the United States Philippine commission and a number of Filipino leaders.

President Tervera, who was one of the principal speakers, testified on behalf of the Federal party to the confidence felt by Filipinos in the American government. He said his fellow countrymen especially revered Washington as a type of the highest Americanism and considered there was no servility in acknowledging American sovereignty.

General Luke E. Wright of the commission in the course of a speech dealing with Washington's career and achievements assured the Filipinos that the Americans had come among them to plant such forms of liberty as they knew and enjoyed at home.

The closing address was made by Senor Tomas Del Rosario, secretary of the Federal party.

Colonel Walter S. Schuyler, with a detachment of the Forty-sixth volunteer infantry, had a smart skirmish near Santa Cruz, province of Cavite, in which several insurgents were killed. The Americans captured ten rifles.

During the week American flags to the value of $25,000 have been sold to natives in the provinces of Pampanga, Tarlac and Pangasinan. School supplies to the value of $160,000 have been ordered. The government cable to Zamboanga is completed.

Taxes Better Than Guns.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Reports received from Manila indicate that the American tax collector is doing more to sap the insurgent cause than many other governmental agencies. Recently the authorities decided to impose an internal revenue system of taxation by way of compensation for the abandonment of the cedula tax. A bright young officer was placed in charge of the collections, but these did not come in with rapidity. Although given due warning, the shopkeepers and others affected by the tax who responded to the call numbered only about ten. A second notice had little better results. Then the officer acted. He went into the town where he was beginning operations with a few soldiers and closed up every shop where the taxes were in default. The next day there was a rush at the tax office, and everybody took out an American license. They did this, protesting that they were being twice taxed, paying one rate to the insurgents and another to the American officers. The latter told them they could continue to do this if they pleased, but the shopkeepers and merchants soon tired and cut off their contributions to the insurgent cause.

New Surgeon For Soldiers' Home.

BATH, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The board of trustees of the New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' home at their annual meeting appointed Dr. James T. Burdick of Brooklyn chief surgeon of the home hospital in place of Dr. Oran W. Smith. It was stated by members of the board that Dr. Smith has resigned. Dr. Smith said he had not resigned and would not relinquish the office until compelled to. He is a civil service appointee and a veteran and says he will insist upon his rights under the law. The salary is $1,800 per year. Dr. Burdick is well known in Grand Army circles and was madical examiner of the G. A. R., department of New York, in 1896. His appointment takes effect April 1. Dr. Smith said that about two months ago he tendered his resignation to take effect April 1, but has since then withdrawn it.

The Russian Famine.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Daily Express publishes the following from its Odessa correspondent: "Several of the Russian provinces are still suffering acutely from famine. In the governments of Kherson and Bessarabia tens of thousands are famishing. Among the additional hardships of the severe winter hunger typhus is rapidly spreading also. The condition of the peasantry in the famine districts of southwestern Russia is equally lamentable, but it is worst of all in the northern and east Volga provinces, where the people for two months have been subsisting on roots, grasses and offal and are now dying of sheer starvation. As in previous famines, the absence of sufficient rolling stock prevents a distribution of stored grain to the famine districts."

Cervera Cheered by Americans.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Gibraltar correspondent of The Daily Express says: "On the arrival here of the steamer Fuerst Bismarck, now cruising in the Mediterranean with a large party of Americans, Admiral Cervera, who is staying in Gibraltar, went on board to visit a friend, Mr. Arthur Humphrey. He was vociferously cheered by the Americans, all of whom shook him by the hand."

The Plague at Cape Town.

LONDON, Feb. 23. The colonial office has received from Sir Alfred Milner his first report regarding the bubonic plague in Cape Town. From this it appears that during the week ended Feb. 16 20 cases, 1 European and 19 colored, were reported, with three deaths, while 104, all colored, were quarantined because of contact with persons attacked by the disease.

Boathouse For Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 23.—The Syracuse Alumni club of New York city has presented a boathouse to the university navy. The structure will probably cost $2,000.

RUSSIA AND AMERICA

Serious Results Not Expected In Tariff Controversy.

CORDIAL RELATIONS ARE UNBROKEN.

Russia's Action Explained—Production of Sugar Has Steadily Increased, While Price Decreased—Our Policy Imitated. Russia and America.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23.—Although the situation arising out of the Russo-American tariff controversy is unquestionably full of peril, neither well informed Americans nor well informed Russians anticipate an unbreakable deadlock. The most hopeful feature of the case is the fact that the political relations between the two powers remain absolutely unaffected.

United States Embassador Tower, who is in close touch with the Russian foreign office, says:

"The present commercial question will be decided in due time by the proper authorities of both countries. It has not interrupted in the slightest the cordial relations which have always existed between the United States and Russia."

A fear has been expressed that any American concession would be considered a sign of weakness by western Europe, eagerly waiting for an opportunity to make a concerted onslaught upon American exports and the American tariff system, and that Russia opened the battle with this in view. A correspondent has had an opportunity to inform himself authoritatively on this point and asserts that Russia has no ulterior designs whatever. All assertions to the contrary are sufficiently discredited by M. de Witte's well known warm sentiment for America. It is understood that the Russian minister of finance, doubtless without including Russia's great ally, France, in his remark, has recently observed:

"My sentiments for America, like Russia's relations with her, are warmer and closer than in the case of all Europe."

The authoritative exposition of the Russian position just given explains why Russia did not wait for the decision of the United States supreme court and did not strictly measure the reprisal to fit the American action. Russia, it is explained, does not have dealings with the American courts, but with the American executive. If the countervailing duty were removed tomorrow, M. de Witte would withdraw the reprisal tomorrow.

Russia's sugar policy is explained as follows:

"Conformably to law the minister annually fixes the amount of sugar to be produced and disposed of on the domestic market. This amount increases every year as the consumption increases. The minister also fixes the maximum domestic price, which diminishes each year.

"There is no truth whatever in the statement that permanently high prices are contemplated by the Russian policy. Prices have fallen within ten years from 8 to 5½ rubles. If the producers wish to manufacture more sugar for export, the government will not interfere.

"It is argued by competitors that because domestic prices are higher in Russia than elsewhere producers are able to sell lower abroad and that producers could not sell advantageously at the present export prices if they were not assured of a profit on domestic sales large enough to give satisfactory dividends. This is not to be disputed, but Russia answers that in any such view of the case all American exports are bounty fed, for American protection assures the trusts high prices in the domestic market and enables them to export advantageously.

"Russia, therefore, in applying the same principle, is authorized, without weighing blow for blow on a gold beater's scales, to retaliate upon all American exports of manufactures."

Twelve Killed In New Jersey Wreck.

TRENTON, Feb. 23.—Twelve killed and about 30 injured is the record of the result of the collision of trains at Rusling's siding, near Bordentown, on the Amboy division of the Pennsylvania railroad. It is known that all bodies have been removed from the wrecked trains. Of the injured 19 are now in the Trenton hospitals and five in Cooper hospital at Camden. Some of the other more slightly injured went to their homes. Of the injured at Trenton eight are Italians, and at Camden all the five are Italians. Of the dead 11 bodies are now at the Trenton morgue, one of them an unidentified woman, and one body is at Camden. Both General Superintendent Sheppard and Division Superintendent Abercrombie admitted that the crew of the accommodation train disobeyed the train orders. Conductor Sapp of the local train, who is at his home in Bordentown suffering from slight injuries, admitted to Mr. Abercrombie that he had entirely forgotten the order relative to the third section of the "Nellie Bly" express.

De Wet's Force Breaking Up.

DE AAR, Cape Colony, Feb. 23.—Commandant Froneman's force, about 1,000 strong, has separated from General De Wet and gone north. General De Wet is moving westward to meet Commandant Hertzog, who is coming with a fresh supply of horses. A British officer who was taken prisoner by General De Wet at Sand Drift, but subsequently released at Houtenkraal, from which point he made his way to De Aar, asserts that he and his fellow prisoners were shamefully treated by the Boers. He says he saw General De Wet personally jamboking a British officer for expostulating in reference to the treatment.

A Unique Banquet.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 23.—There was witnessed at Clinton yesterday afternoon what was probably the first event of its kind in the United States, the gathering of patrons of the rural free delivery system at a banquet. It was arranged by Postmaster Payne of Clinton. Covers were laid for 365, and there was an interesting programme of toasts and responses.

Dowager Empress a Great Sufferer.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The Dowager Empress Frederick, according to private information received by the Berliner Tageblatt, is suffering terribly.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Business In the East Picking Up. Cotton Goods Alone Are Dull.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business in the east and practically along the north Atlantic coast has been catching up with the rest of the country a little this week, so that in the few lines where complaint has been heard locally of late the tone is better This comes from the working off of retail stock which owners feared would have to be carried over until next season. In builders' hardware the buying has been notably better, and the distribution in the grocery jobbing trade has been given a considerable stimulus.

Even the laggard dry goods market has shown a good measure of improvement, though in cotton goods there is still much to be desired, for the larger buying has not brought any improvement in general tone, and in some directions the market is slower than a week ago. From the interior advices are almost uniformly favorable, with a very heavy movement of general merchandise and farm implements over the northwestern railroads.

Instead of being able to advance prices of cotton goods in proportion to the high quotations recently made for raw cotton the mills are meeting with light demand, and even at the reduction to 3 cents for print cloths there is no activity. Many mills have already restricted operations, and more will stop spindles on March 1.

No diminution appears in the movement of iron and steel products. Mills are rushed with orders, and new contracts are taken at full prices. Pig iron is freely bought, and prices tend upward.

Lumber and materials are in good demand owing to extensive preparations for spring building, and at Buffalo there is special activity on account of hotels and other work in connection with the exposition. Grain markets are devoid of wide fluctuations, although many reports are circulated regarding the condition of winter wheat. It is too early to secure definite information, and traders are not influenced by rumors. News from India and Australia indicates a larger crop than last year's.

Failures for the week were 253 in the United States against 201 last year and 39 in Canada against 33 last year.

BOXERS PUNISHED.

Li Hung Chang Says Leaders Have Been Given Their Deserts.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—"Li Hung Chang asserts," says the Peking correspondent of The Morning Post, "that the punishments to be imposed upon Prince Chuang and Yu Hsien have been carried out in accordance with the demands of the foreign envoys."

The Standard has received the following from its correspondent at Shanghai:

"An imperial decree orders the Chinese officials in Peking to repair the palaces there promptly that they may be in readiness to receive the court, which will leave Sian-fu toward the end of March."

A dispatch from Peking says:

"The foreign ministers have received a message from the Chinese peace commissioners saying the edicts regarding the punishments, the cessation of examinations and the responsibility of the viceroys and governors have been signed, but the text has not yet arrived. Owing to the Chinese New Year's celebrations many of the telegraph offices are closed until next week."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Salvatore Giovanni, from New York, was assassinated in Chicago.

The first locomotive for the Shangtung railroad left Chemnitz, Germany.

Five persons were killed by an Erie and Pittsburg freight wreck at Sharon, Pa.

Heavy snowstorms were reported throughout Spain. Railway traffic has ceased at several points.

Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks was elected president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The entire student body at Michigan Military academy was quarantined because of a case of smallpox in school.

Kennedy Jury Disagreed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The jury in the case of Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, accused of the murder of Dolly Reynolds in the Grand hotel on Aug. 16, 1898, came into court at 2:41 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They had no verdict. They could not agree. They were discharged by Justice Fursman. They had been locked up just six minutes over 23 hours. It has been impossible to determine with an iden of exactness how the jury stood. It is believed, however, that the last vote taken stood 11 to 1 for acquittal. The foreman of the jury, James Klaber, is believed to have been the man who held out for conviction.

Girls Adhere to the Union.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 23.—The Shamokin Silk Mill company has shipped all its raw silk to a firm in Paterson, N. J., on account of the closing down of the mill Wednesday night because a majority of the girl employees formed a union. The girls have decided to make the union as strong as possible and to persuade people from working at the mill unless everybody is reinstated and the company recognizes the organization.

Turks and Bulgarians Clash.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 23.—Fighting has occurred between a large body of Bulgarian agitators and a force of Turkish troops at a village near Ghevgheli, Macedonia. Six Bulgarians were killed and three taken prisoners. Several of the Turkish troops were wounded.

MANY BILLS PASSED.

Congress Devotes Itself to Odds and Ends.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The house devoted yesterday to odds and ends of legislation. With the approach of the end of the session members with small bills of various kinds have been besieging Speaker Henderson for recognition. For the last ten days the pressure has grown steadily greater. Under an arrangement entered into a large number of these smaller bills in which members are individually interested were passed. An hour was devoted to unanimous consent legislation and two hours and a half each to the passage of private claims bills and private pension bills. Nine bills were passed by unanimous consent, and 29 claim bills and 139 pension bills were passed. Among the latter was the senate bill to pension the widow of the late General Henry W. Lawton, who was killed in the Philippines. As the bill passed the senate it carried $100 a month. The house cut the amount down to $50 upon the representation that Mrs. Lawton enjoyed a comfortable income.

Two of the great supply bills of the government, the postoffice and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills, were passed by the senate. During the greater part of the session a proposition to discontinue the appropriations for fast mail facilities from New York to New Orleans via Atlanta and from Kansas City to Newton, Kan., was under discussion. While the debate was protracted it was not particularly lively. By a decisive vote the senate continued the appropriations. An effort was made to obtain an appropriation to continue the pneumatic tube service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, but it failed. An amendment was agreed to authorizing the postmaster general to investigate the question of establishing a postal telegraph system and to report his findings to the next congress.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was passed in record time, only 40 minutes being consumed in its consideration.

After a spirited debate the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was rejected and sent back to conference.

MURPHY POLICE HEAD.

Under the New Law Mayor Van Wyck Acts Promptly.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Mayor Van Wyck has created a sensation in the ranks of Tammany Hall by appointing Michael C. Murphy, president of the board of health, as the new single headed police commission, which is to reorganize the police force of Greater New York under the Stranahan bill, which was signed yesterday by Governor Odell.

W. S. Devery, deposed chief of police, was appointed Mr. Murphy's deputy.

John B. Sexton of the former bipartisan police board was appointed by the mayor to succeed Mr. Murphy as the head of the health department.

As Colonel Murphy's first official act after choosing Devery as his deputy Captain Josiah Westervelt, in whose precinct, the Second, Levien's Parole club was raided by District Attorney Philbin, was transferred to the Charles street station.

Captain Henry Halpin was transferred from the Charles to the Church street station, succeeding Captain Westervelt.

Commissioner Murphy in this order also assigned the deputy chiefs of the different boroughs to the places they now hold.

After the issuance of the order Commissioner Murphy was driven away from police headquarters in his carriage.

Governor Odell Displeased.

ALBANY, Feb. 23.—Governor Odell is considering three ways of meeting the challenge thrown down to him by Mayor Van Wyck in the retention of Chief Devery. They are these: First, the removal of Mayor Van Wyck; second, the removal of Commissioner Murphy, and, third, the sending of a message to the legislature recommending the immediate passage of the Raines constabulary bill. Governor Odell was seen last night and asked what he had to say about the appointment of Michael C. Murphy as commissioner and of Devery as one of the deputy commissioners. The governor said: "I have no comment to make at this time. I shall think very hard over the matter tonight. Later I may have something to say."

Murdered Twenty Years Ago.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 23.—The disappearance of Henry Thomas and John Lear, wealthy farmers, more than 20 years ago near Petersburg has been cleared up. William Finney found their skeletons on his farm five miles north of town. The skeleton of Thomas was identified because the right index finger bone was missing. Thomas and Lear were neighbors and dealt extensively in cattle. On the day they disappeared they had disposed of a large number of cattle, receiving gold in payment. They started to town together to deposit the money and were never seen again. An investigation was made at the time, but no clew to their whereabouts was ever found. The coroner has taken charge of the bones and says he will use every effort to bring the murderers of the two men to justice if he can find them.

Roosevelt Home Again.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Vice President Elect Theodore Roosevelt arrived in this city last night from the west on the Lake Shore limited. His face was glowing with healthy color, and he looked as if he had had one of the best times in his life. He said that he had had just such a time. Colonel Roosevelt came direct from Chicago, where he had stopped for a few hours on Thursday on his way back from Colorado. There was no one at the station to meet him except the reporters. To them he said he had nothing to say about his hunting trip for the present. One of the reporters asked Colonel Roosevelt what his plans were for the immediate future. "Well, I am going down to Oyster Bay just as soon as I can," he said, "and I shall probably be there until I leave for Washington on March 1."

Another Eclipse Expedition.

AMHERST, Mass., Feb. 23.—Professor David P. Todd of Amherst college will conduct an expedition to observe the total eclipse of the sun May 18. The point chosen for the observation is the island of Sinkop, between Borneo and Sumatra. A special steamer of 4,000 tons will carry the party. Mrs. Todd will accompany her husband.

First Snow In Two Years.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 23.—The first snow in this state in two years fell here yesterday. It continued during the night.

LOST IN GOLDEN GATE

Steamer Rio de Janeiro Sinks Off San Francisco.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PERISH

Consul Wildman and Family Among the Missing—Steamer Struck Hidden Rocks While Entering the Harbor In a Dense Fog.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—The Pacific mail steamer Rio de Janeiro ran on a hidden rock while entering the Golden Gate early yesterday morning in a dense fog. She sank a few minutes after striking. It is thought that nearly 150 persons were drowned, but it is impossible to ascertain the exact number owing to the fact that Purser John Rooney, who had the passenger list and roster of the crew, is among the missing.

Ten bodies have been recovered, two white women, one white man and seven Chinese. The most prominent passenger on the steamer was Rounseville Wildman, United States consul at Kongkong, who was accompanied by his wife and two children. It is thought all were drowned. The ship was in command of Pilot Frederick Jordan when she struck. He was rescued. Captain William Ward went down with his vessel.

As nearly as can be learned there were 234 people on board the Rio de Janeiro. The steamer was three days overdue from Hongkong via Honolulu when she arrived off the heads Thursday night, and the dense fog prevailing at the time induced Pilot Jordan to bring her to anchor until he could see his way clear through the gateway. She laid to until about 4:30 o'clock in the morning, when the atmosphere cleared, and she was started under a slow bell toward Point Bonita. All went well until 5:40 o'clock, when she struck. Most of the passengers were below at the time, and it is believed that many of them were drowned in their berths.

Tugs were immediately dispatched to render any service that might be needed, but no living persons were afloat when they reached the wreck. A number of drowning people were rescued by Italian fishermen, and the bodies of two white women, three Chinese and a Japanese were brought in by the tugs.

From all accounts it appears that the officers were cool and gave the necessary orders with the least possible excitement. Captain Ward, who was on deck when the vessel struck, at once gave orders to the crew on watch to hurry the passengers to the forward deck. At the same time the quartermaster on duty sounded the signal for fire drill, and within five minutes all the men were at their stations.

There was no way of telling the extent of the damage to the vessel, as she remained on an even keel for 15 minutes after striking. But Captain Ward, with the instinct of long experience, knew the gravest danger threatened the 200 souls in his charge, and he gave orders to lower the lifeboats and life rafts. There was not much confusion until 15 minutes after striking the bow of the vessel suddenly plunged under water. Then there was a wild rush for the boats. Two boats had already been lowered, and others were getting away as rapidly as the trained discipline of the crew could prepare them. A thick fog enveloped everything, and as yet no sign had come from the life saving stations. Darkness was all about, and with this added horror the people on the Rio had to cope.

The wreck lies about three-fourths of a mile south of Fort Point and about 1,000 yards off the rocky shore. The smokestack and a portion of the upper works of the ill fated steamer are visible.

There are several conflicting stories concerning the fate of Captain Ward. The steward of the Rio says that he stood beside the captain when the vessel went down. Two other survivors say that they also saw the captain to the last, but Frederick Lindstrom, the quartermaster of the Rio, emphatically declared that Captain Ward emulated Admiral Tryon of her British majesty's ship Victoria in going down to his cabin, where he met his doom behind a locked door.

Captain Frederick W. Jordan, the pilot of the Rio, was rescued by an Italian fishing boat owned by Frederick Castrini and was brought to Meiggs station about 10 a. m. Along with him were a Japanese and Philip Nussenblack. He was taken up to the room occupied by the customs officials and told the following story:

"We anchored inside about 5 o'clock last night. The weather was thick, and I left orders that when the weather cleared we should go farther in. At 5 a. m. the fog lifted. We could see the Cliff House and the north end light, and I told the mate to heave short. After we started heaving short the wind came in from the northeast, and the fog settled in thick, and I told the mate to stop heaving. Then the captain came up and said: 'Let her go. We can go ahead.'

"You see my watch stopped at 20 minutes to 6. When the vessel struck, I ordered all the boats out. The first boat out was that of the doctor. It was half filled with water no sooner than she struck. I got a ladder and placed a woman on it, and we began to descend. She had a boy with her, a child of about 8 years. She gave him to me. I held him in my arms, and the little fellow had his arms around my neck. The woman and I were about half way down the ladder when the Rio de Janeiro gave a tremendous pitch. I was flung off the ladder. I saw nothing more of the woman or the boy.

"I went down with the ship about 50 feet. I worked my way up to the surface and got hold of some wreckage. I had sense enough left to turn on my back and drift with the wreckage. Then I came across what seemed to me the top of a house with a Chinaman on it. He helped me to clamber on the roof, and with him I drifted out toward the north heads.

"I was then rescued by a fishing boat. I cannot say who the woman was. I believe she had a husband, but he was not on deck when we left. I saw nothing either of the woman or the boy after I was flung off the ladder into the water."

"Did you see Captain Ward?"

"I saw nothing of him after we struck. I believe he is lost."

The Borough Election.

Although the Republicans of the borough of North Plainfield have not yet held their primary to select candidates for the approaching municipal election, there is no doubt now but that Mayor N. B. Smalley will be placed at the head of the Republican ticket to run again for the office he now holds. There will assuredly be a Democratic ticket, but it is still a question who will be Mayor Smalley's opponent.

When Mayor Smalley was elected two years ago, it was by the exceedingly narrow margin of thirteen votes. His opponent at that time was Former Mayor John F. Wilson, who was the Democratic candidate. While North Plainfield has a large natural Republican majority, there were many Republicans at that time who voted against Mr. Smalley believing that he would not make a satisfactory executive. During the two years that he has been in office, Mr. Smalley has quite surprised many of those who voted against him by the efficiency with which he has filled the office. Of course, he may have made some mistakes but they were of judgment and in an effort to properly fill the position.

Mayor Smalley has certainly made a good mayor. Of course it is possible that some other man might fill it more satisfactorily. Mr. Smalley's friends do not see it in that light. Naturally the Democratic leaders do. One thing is certain, however. If the Democrats have any hopes of defeating the present Mayor for re-election, they will have to put up their strongest candidate.

Mayor Smalley has the advantage of a natural Republican majority and a host of friends in the borough. If he can hold the votes of those who supported him two years ago, he is sure to win. His friends say that there were many who voted for Col. Wilson at that time who have been favorably impressed by Mr. Smalley's official acts and will support him in this campaign. The Democrats believe that the increased tax rate and some of Mayor Smalley's official acts will tend to turn many of his former friends from him and thus bring about his defeat.

The telephone company at Troy, N. Y., has increased its business very much by advertising in the newspapers every day in the week, relates the Philadelphia Record. The manager recently said to a reporter: "Most persons, especially women, who do not lease a telephone would never think of the convenience of telephonic communication unless their attention should be called to the matter. By daily 'adv' in the newspapers, reminding them that they can save time, trouble, delay and car fare by going to the nearest public telephone station, we have induced many to become regular patrons, to the great increase of our revenues."

It speaks well for the excellence of the work done at the North Plainfield public schools when the State Board of Examiners select the work done at the manual training department of the borough schools as a model for the rest of the schools of the State to pattern after. Superintendent Wightman has certainly been successful in his efforts to put the North Plainfield schools on a high standard.

If Assemblyman Meeker had been seeking notoriety this winter, his career in the Legislature could not have been better chosen. Those who know the big Assemblyman from Elizabeth, however, are not inclined to believe that he is playing to the gallery, but is rather attempting to do his duty by his constituents at home.

While the street committee is considering the street sign question, the members should not fail to remember the need of seeing that the house numbers are attended to. At present, many are missing and others are so hidden away that it is next to impossible to find them.

Mr. Martine's gift of a hospital site is not the first of his public benefactors. It will be remembered that the beautiful and prominent site occupied by the Park Avenue Baptist church, corner of Prospect avenue and Ninth street, was a donation from him.

Both mayors have expressed themselves as in favor of the speedway. If the local horsemen take an active interest in the project, it should not be long before the speedway is an accomplished fact.

Rahway, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and Plainfield have all had an unusual number of burglaries of late. Now South Plainfield has suffered from a similar raid.

The applications for licenses in Plainfield will surely be acted on at the Council meeting Monday evening.

The boroughites hardly know Somerset street now all the trees are gone. It looks like another place.

Washington's Birthday proved quite a lively day for Plainfield.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Strong, of Middlesex, is pleasing his friends and constituents by his conservatism, good sense and firm independence. He is watching proceedings with careful scrutiny, is "catching on" to the working of the legislative machinery, and is doing his own thinking. The citizens of Middlesex are especially pleased that the Senator is being "run" by none of the Republican factions or bosses of that county. He thinks and acts for himself, after careful consideration of the arguments pro and con. The Senator's bill abolishing Boards of Freeholders in second class counties and substituting therefore Boards of Trustees of five members will probably be introduced next week.—New York Herald.

* * * * * *

Senator Reed has introduced a bill in the Senate abolishing the poll tax. If it should become a law it would considerably lessen the labors of tax collectors, but we can see no other reason why it should be passed. The moneys collected from the poll taxes aggregate a considerable sum in each taxing district, and it does not require much of a financier to see that this amount would have to be raised through an increased percentage on the real and personal property. In these days of alleged prosperity, it should be no grievous burden for the taxpayer to raise the small sum called for by the poll tax, and the fact that numbers of them cannot be collected without recourse to drastic measures is no reason for the repeal of the law nor for its non-enforcement. The State provides liberally for its indigent and ill, and a dollar a year is a small enough contribution for each and every man to make to the general fund.—Somerville Messenger.

* * * * * *

It is gratifying to learn from Senator Reed, of Somerset county, that in some newspapers he "has been misquoted relative to spring elections," and that he "never said, or intimated, that the independent voters were floaters, or were financially interested in maintaining separate elections." Such a statement, Senator Reed said yesterday, "would be not only untrue, but absurd, as every one knows that our independent voters are among the best citizens of the State. I did say that the floaters are opposed to consolidating elections, and that, I think, will be admitted by all who are familiar with the subject. I also said that I had not found among the independent voters with whom I came in contact any opposition to consolidation." So far then, and fortunately, the remark as to the purchasable element in politics is confined to Middlesex county, where it was born; or, to be more exact, to New Brunswick, and it is not probable that any Republican in any other part of the State will care to claim it is his property.—New York Tribune.

AMATEUR PLAY.

"Cranford" Presented by Young Women at Residence of Mrs. Charles C. Burke, Last Evening.

An interesting little play, entitled "Cranford," was given last evening at the home of Mrs. Charles C. Burke, on Ravine road, Netherwood. The cast was entirely composed of young women. The scene was laid in colonial times and some of the costumes worn by the amateur actresses were heirlooms.

The story centres on the career of a Matilda Jenkyns. Miss Jenkyns' wordly goods are deposited in the Cranford Bank. The institution fails and the young women is thereby translated from a position of wealth to the door of poverty.

Miss Jenkyns conducts a small store, as a means of livlihood, which is patroned by exclusive society. The climax is reached when Peter Jenkyns arrives on the scene and once more restores his sister to a life of ease.

The caste follows: "Matilda Jenkyns," Marguerite VanDeventer; "Miss Pole," Grace J. Burke; "Mary Smith," Anna L. Runyon; "Hon. Mrs. Jamison," Dorothy Waldo; "Lady Glenmire," Maida Hyde; "Mrs. Fitz Adam," Charlotte Finch; "Miss Barker," "Eloise Haven; "Mrs. Forrester," Grace T Miller; "Martha," Frances VanDeventer, and "Peter W. A Jenkins," Raymond V. V. Miller

After the play refreshments were served and the pleasures of the evening concluded with a dance.

Considerable opposition against the location of the new hospital on the site on Thornton avenue, offered by James E. Martine, has developed. F. O. Herring, of Park avenue, is one of the leading objectors.

Lawyer Charles L. Moffett has offered the Hospital Board a fine site further out Park avenue at very reasonable terms. PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT.

Imperial Bell Ringers Well Received by Members and Friends of Y. M. C. A.

The Imperial Bell Ringers entertained a large audience at the Y.M.C.A. Hall last evening in one of the Y. M. C. A. Star Course entertainments. Their work with the bells was certainly wonderful and was heartily applauded. They also showed great ability with other instruments. H. G. Shipp's solo on the zither was particularly pleasing. The instrument is a difficult one and it is rare that an audience listens to one who is so accomplished on that instrument.

Owing to an accident received to their harp in shipment, the harp solo had to be omitted. A harp was borrowed for the occasion and was used in the quintettes.

"The Lenten Call" is the significant title of a circular of Lenten information issued by the Church of the Holy Cross for the use of members of that parish.

STATE EPILEPTIC VILLAGE.

PLANS FOR IMPROVING ITS EFFICIENCY ARE SUGGESTED.

Something About That State Institution Which is Located Up in Hills of Somerset County.

Few Plainfielders have but a very indefinite idea of the State Village for Epileptics, which is located ten miles from this city at Skillman. H. P Reynolds, of the borough, has just been appointed a director of that very important State work by Governor Voorhees.

There are in the State few more beautiful sites than that which was selected for the colony where scientific and beneficent treatment and care is to be given, under State auspices, to those afflicted with that distressing disease, epilepsy. In the heart of a fertile agricultural community, in Montgomery Township, Somerset county, amid low lying hills, cypress groves and far stretching fields of rich meadow and farm lands, three farms, containing over 500 acres, were purchased in 1898, after four years of unsuccessful effort on the part of medical men to secure the desired results.

At present but twenty patients are under treatment at the village, that being the limit of accommodations afforded by the two old farm houses now being used for hospital purposes.

It is the desire of the Board of Managers to secure a more comprehensive law and larger appropriation, and also of the construction of the two cottages now being built on the farm. These cottages are each to have accomodations for thirty patients, and will cost about $40,000.

In the new law asked by the managers, provided for in a bill now before the Senate, authority will be given to the management to retain indigent patients committed by the county authorities, and the county will be compelled to pay $2 a week and the State $1 a week toward the support of every patient. At present the State pays the entire cost of maintenance. The bill also proposes to give the Board of Managers authority to regulate the discharge of patients from the institution.

It has been ascertained by experience that about seven per cent. of epileptics are curable under proper care and treatment. With but a few exceptions, those cured have been persons under twenty years of age. For this reason Dr. Weeks, the superintendent of the village, is particularly anxious to have a building for the cure of epileptic children, of whom there are forty in the Home for Feeble Minded Children at Vineland. In the majority of cases these children are intelligent and as much out of place in the Vineland institution as are the 200 epileptics now confined in State hospitals for the insane at Morris Plains and Trenton.

Steady, but not laborious employment for both the mind and body, has been found to be the best treatment for epilepsy, and to carry out this treatment more effectively, Dr. Weeks urges the erection of an industrial building where the patients can work at light trades in winter. In summer as many as possible will be given garden and farm work and other out-of-door employment.

New Jersey was the fourth State in the Union to found an epileptic village, the other States preceding it in this movement being New York, Ohio and Massachusetts. Now there are colonies in nearly a score of States. In addition to the 200 or more epileptics now in State asylums, whom it is desired to care for at the village, Dr. Weeks has on file fully as many applications for the admission of private patients. By the work of the patients and with the county and private contributions, Dr. Weeks believes the village can eventually become almost, or quite, self supporting.

The cost of maintaining the village last year was $7,845 56, and for next year, to allow of the maintenance of more patients and the erection of another cottage, the management wants a State appropriation of $100,000.

Will be Better Now.

Frank Burke, of East Second street, was up before City Judge Bunyon this morning charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Burke was arrested last evening by Patrolman Vanderweg in a Park avenue saloon where he was causing a disturbance. Promising to conduct himself better hereafter Burke was dismissed this morning on a suspension of sentence.

It is distasteful to many people to see their names in public print as indorsers of proprietary remedies. They feel a natural aversion to having their ailments published in the newspapers. At the same time a feeling of humanity prompts them now and then to say something that may lead to such relief of other sufferers as they have themselves experienced. This was the case with one of New York City's merchant princes, a man who stands at the head of his particular line of trade. Not long ago he declared that Ripans Tabules were "simply admirable" for correcting disorders of the digestive organs. He found that they sweeten the stomach, that they gently move the bowels, and that they give quick relief from the distress that accompanies indigestion. This gentleman says that he will never again allow himself to be without a supply of Ripans Tabules.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS Tabules will not benefit. They banish pain, prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS Tabules may be had at any drug store. Five cents a vial is the price of one dose. RIPANS Tabules may be sent to any address for 5 cents, for a vial to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

A WOMAN-MAN.

How Murray Hall, the Woman Who Posed as a Man, Drew a Club on a Lady Interviewer.

The extraordinary career of Murray Hamilton Hall, who for 30 years successfully masqueraded as a man in New York city, deceiving even the very elect among the politicians who were her familiar associates, recalls to me one of the singular episodes in the life of a newspaper woman.

When a woman goes to a great city and tries for journalistic work, she must take what she can get, and she does not always get it, either.

One of my first assignments in New York was a commission to investigate city employment agencies and discover whether they were not engaged in unlawful and immoral business, as some of them were. For many years the so called Hamilton Hall had kept an employment agency on Sixth avenue. I visited it several times. It was run squarely enough, so far as the object of my investigations was concerned. I said so in my newspaper report. I also, however, made comment which offended the little woman-man—called him, her or it "a tiny man with a squeaky voice," or something like that. This hurt the little creature's vanity. It was only 4 feet 7 inches tall, which makes the deception it practiced still more extraordinary.

The small person was vindictive. It had me followed and so found out where I lived. I shall say "it" for convenience, because the he-she pronoun is confusing and tends to give one a headache. One evening after dinner there was a caller for me at my hotel.

THE CHANDELIER SHIVERED INTO FRAGMENTS.

It was Murray Hamilton Hall, the woman-man. The small chap carried a heavy Irish blackthorn stick, which it flourished vigorously. Hall was loaded for me, so to speak. It had swallowed a quantity of its favorite firewater and so had plenty of Dutch courage. It attacked me in a curious sort of contralto-falsetto voice, if there be such, which rose to a scream as the speaker became wrought up. It poured into my ears a tale of highborn descent from a fine old Scotch family, but if she-he wasn't an Irishman, then it belied its looks.

Presently in a stress of rage Hall raised the blackthorn club over my head. I don't know what would have happened, but at that moment my guardian angel or some other power caused the cane to hit the chandelier, which shivered into 40 fragments.

The clerk and hotel people came running in, and little Hall cooled off. To this day I don't know whether it really meant to whack me upon the head with that blackthorn club or only to scare me. But to the end of my days I shall remember precisely how that stick looked, every grim black knot of it, as it struck the gas globes.

"I'm able to pay for it," squeaked little Hall grandiloquently. "Send me the bill tomorrow. Here is my card."

Then she-he arose with a flourish of the blackthorn club and a dramatic movement and staid not upon the order of its going, but got out at once.

The incident remained in my mind vividly. With it there remained an indelible impression that somehow the little creature was masquerading. I seemed to know that intuitively, but how or why I could not make out. I was certain the name of Murray Hamilton Hall was an assumed one, but the real one neither I nor another ever found out. Here was at least one woman who could keep a secret.

Undoubtedly there were hundreds, if not thousands, in New York who in their hearts mourned in connection with the death of little Hall. They were the members of the political clubs whom she-he had deluded for a generation, had eaten and drunk with, played poker and gone fishing with, had taken its tall, handsome wife to their clambake parties and boasted of its political pull over them all. Of this mysterious and powerful "pull" Hall bragged to me, I remember, telling me what it could do then and there if it chose. At any rate, here was one woman who had the satisfaction of voting for half a score of presidents. How she must have roared to herself with laughter when she thought of this stupendous joke.

Noteworthy is the remark of a woman who lived in a part of the same house with Hall and had been deceived like the rest. When at its death the little woman-man's sex was discovered she exclaimed indignantly:

"If I had known Hall was a woman, I'd have moved out."

MISS WIDEAWAKE.

Some Men Who Are Now Prominent in the Public Eye

Popular American Soldier.

The time is drawing near when another change will be made in superintendents at West Point, and the younger army officers are casting covetous glances in that direction and hoping that they may be chosen as the successor to the superintendent, Col. A. L. Mills.

Maj. Charles H. Muir.

Washington gossip, from where all good things come, is connecting the name of Maj. Charles H. Muir with the new assignment. Maj. Muir is now serving with his regiment, the Thirty-eighth volunteer infantry, in the Philippines, having recently returned to that duty from service on the staff of Gen. Chaffee in China. In the regular service Maj. Muir is a captain in the Sixth cavalry.

In the volunteer service Maj. Muir is known as the "hiking, fighting major," and in the regular service he is known as the best rifle shot in the military service of this country, and one of the best in the world. His companions of the regular service tell a little story which illustrates his ability with the rifle.

During the time of the hardest fighting before Santiago, Cuba, Maj. Muir's regiment was receiving a heavy fire from the Spanish army, and to add to their discomfort a Spanish artillery platoon of two guns prepared to go into action about 1,000 yards in front of them. The American troops were reserving their fire to a great extent, but the major laid aside his saber, and, taking a carbine from one of his men, began paying his compliments to the Spanish artillerymen. So rapid was his fire, and so careful his aim, that the Spaniards never succeeded in firing but one shot. Before the second gun could be discharged the major had laid so many of the artillerymen low that there was not a sufficient number of them left to either serve the guns or retire with them, and they eventually fell into the hands of the Americans.

Love and Politics.

It is not often that love plays a part in South American politics. As a rule our sister republics to the south are ruled by the god of war, and ambitious men bring about rapid changes by wielding the bloody sword.

Gen. Leonidas Plaza.

But little Ecuador offers the world a novelty in the shape of a political change where nothing more bloodthirsty than a romance figures. Gen. Leonidas Plaza, the new president of the republic, owes his position to the wooing of his charming wife, the daughter of the retiring president.

In fact, the new president has had rather a romantic career in which two beautiful women have figured prominently. Four years ago President Alfaro was elected chief magistrate of the republic of Ecuador, much to the regret of Gen. Plaza, who had strongly opposed the election, but who had not a sufficient following to contest the choice of the people with the sword. Under such conditions Ecuador was not a desirable place of residence for him, and he removed to Costa Rica, and attached himself to the government of that country, under President Iglesias. In a short time he had wooed and won the heart of the sister-in-law of the Costa Rican president, and they were soon to be married.

Then President Alfaro of Ecuador took a hand in the game, and made peace overtures to Gen. Plaza, who at once returned to Ecuador, breaking his marriage engagement with the fair Costa Rican. He immediately laid siege to the heart of President Alfaro's daughter. Their engagement was soon announced, and as Alfaro could not legally succeed himself, he put forward his prospective son-in-law, that the office might be kept in the family. Gen. Plaza is the youngest president ever chosen by a South American state, being but 40 years of age.

A Great Boer Leader.

"For myself I shall resist foreign domination until the last of my countrymen in arms explodes his last cartridge."

Marthinas Steyn.

Such was the message sent by Marthinas Steyn, late president of the Orange Free State, to President Krueger on the latter's departure for Europe, and those who know him say that every word of his message is true, and that the great Boer leader is prepared to make trouble for England for years to come.

Opposition to England was born in the Boer leader. His mother hated the English much more than she hated the native blacks who preyed upon her home, stole her cattle and burned her crops. The English, she declared, had driven her from her home in Cape Colony into the wilds to meet the blacks, and they were more responsible for their troubles than were the natives.

"You are free men; see to it that you remain free."

Such were the constant words of advice and warning that she addressed to her son; words that burned into his being until they are dearer than life to him, and it is to "remain free" that he is willing and anxious to fight to the last ditch and there die in defending the right of the burghers.

President Steyn is a lawyer by profession, a graduate of Grey college at Bloemfontein, though he acquired his knowledge of law from a four years' course in the law schools of London and a year in Holland. His greatest desire in life has been to see a great republic builded in South Africa which should include all the English as well as the Transvaal and Orange Free State territory. He was born October 2, 1857.

An English Diplomat.

Sir Claude MacDonald, the man at whose door England seemed anxious to lay the blame for her lack of success in securing very desired concession in China, is to-day resting quietly in Japan, while the English public is but beginning to realize that it was probably not all his fault that English missionaries were tortured and English property destroyed by the Boxers in China.

Sir Claude MacDonald.

Sir Claude MacDonald is a product of the British army, and his rise to prominence has been both rapid and well deserved. He entered the army as a subaltern in 1872, and saw his first active service ten years later in England's ill-fated Egyptian expedition. In the army he rose to the rank of major, serving in the eastern Soudan campaign, where he was wounded at the battle of Tamai.

After representing the British government at Zanzibar for a time he was sent to the West Coast of Africa in 1888 as the imperial commissioner, and it was here that he displayed to best advantage his great ability as an organizer and diplomat. He found the territory to which he had been assigned in the crudest possible state. England claimed possession, but the native blacks ruled the land wherever the guns of English warships could not reach.

Practically unsupported by the strong arm of the English soldiery, it took a master hand at diplomacy to bring order out of the existing chaos, but by 1895 the thing had been accomplished. When in that year he turned his post over to a successor, it was with a feeling of a task well done. Competent native police preserved order throughout the territory; well regulated customs houses provided a source of income, and England ruled in word as well as name.

A Fight for Millions.

Henry Bradley Plant began his life's work a poor man; when he died he left an estate of $20,000,000 for his heirs to fight over. In the New York courts a suit is being heard in which the widow of the dead millionaire is sueing to recover a widow's portion instead of the paltry $30,000 a year which the will provides for her. In some ways the suit is peculiar. It is brought to establish the legal residence of the deceased in New York, instead of Connecticut, where his will was filed. He had homes in both places, but spent the greater part of his time in New York, and should the widow be successful in securing a decision to the effect that New York was his legal residence it would give her one-third of the immense estate he left, or nearly $7,000,000, the laws of the two states differing in this respect. If the widow is unsuccessful in her suit, and the will remains unbroken, practically the entire estate will go to a grandson of the deceased, Henry Bradley Plant, now but a child of five years.

Mrs. Margaret Plant.

Henry Bradley Plant, Sr., made his fortune in the railroad, steamboat and express business in the south. He was born in 1819, and 18 years later began work for the New Haven Steamboat company. From that he worked into the exprses business and went south in the employ of the Adams company with his headquarters at Augusta, Ga. Just at the beginning of the war he organized the Southern Express company, and later built the Plant system of railroad and steamboat lines. The income from his estate is now estimated at $678,000 a year, and should the will be upheld it will make of the grandson a 100 times millionaire by the time he is of age.

WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

Owing to an alteration of name few people are aware that the United States gave birth to such a great soprano singer as Mme. Nordica. Her proper name was Norton, and she was born in the state of Maine.

Built on Honor.

I take great pleasure in anouncing to my friends and the general public that I have had the good fortune to secure the sole agency for the world-renowned McPhail Pianos, of Boston, Mass. Built on honor and sold on merit for the past 63 years. A Piano excelled by none and equaled by few. I shall in the future carry a full line of these superb instruments, together with the celebrated Kimball, which I have so successfully handled in the past. Thanking you all for past patronage and wishing a continuance of the same, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

Blanche Walsh's Success in "More Than Queen"

This Talented Actress Has Given the Drama a Careful Interpretation

NAPOLEON is always with us, but nowadays there is an unusual Napoleonic epidemic. The magazines give us reviews of a new life of Napoleon by Lord This, or the gossip of a man that knew a man that had seen the great little man put on his coat. The publishing houses at stated periods put out books dealing intensively with some hitherto unstudied phase of Napoleon's character or career. And the stage is to the fore with picturesque presentation of events and scenes in the life of the man of destiny.

In certain ways the stage has the best of it. With dress, direct speech, vivid background, living, moving men and women, it is able to carry us back to the days of French supremacy, or rather the days of Napoleon supremacy. We can see pass before our very eyes historic figures, hear fall from their lips historic sentences, look upon halls where every detail has been carefully copied from historic chambers, and, for the time, we forget the twentieth century, the age of commercialism, are carried back to days of military glory, days of fanatic loyalty to a military leader.

At present two such plays are before the public, "L'Aiglon" and "More Than Queen." The former deals with the life of Napoleon's unfortunate son, the duke of Reichstadt; the latter with the life of Napoleon's unfortunate wife, Empress Josephine. Sara Bernhardt and Maude Adams are both appearing in "L'Aiglon" this season, and in "More Than Queen" Blanche Walsh takes the title role.

"More Than Queen" consists of a prologue and five acts. In the play the character of Josephine is much idealized. She is made "more than queen." Her influence over Napoleon is pictured as very great, which enhances the interest of the domestic scenes, enhances the pathos of her deposal. We are given a glimpse of their relations from an imaginary first meeting to the divorce of the unhappy lady, and also some glimpse of public affairs and pageants.

The papers are devoting much space just now to the regal robes of King Edward and Queen Alexandra of England, and we read with awe of crimson velvets, ermine too dear for an earl, jewels from the world's mines, and picture to our mind's eye the stately pageant, when by the payment of a little coin to the doorkeeper we might see with real vision another such exhibition.

At least outside of royal circles one may not look upon more gorgeous dressing than that presented in the play "More Than Queen," and one will have to go far to see handsomer dressing on a handsomer woman. Miss Blanche Walsh's beauty is of the regal style that is able to carry off and not be obscured by splendid apparel. She walks a queen—more than queen, if one is to judge the royal type from specimens shown to-day in the newspapers. Palaces, jewels, velvet and ermine are attendants on those that wear crowns; but oftentimes, it seems, beauty is not one of the gifts brought by the guarding fairy to the royal infant's cradle. And without doubt many a princess, now and then a queen, might hopelessly long for the physical graces with which Miss Walsh is dowered.

And perhaps envy even the dresses. Seven costumes there are in "More Than Queen" that are worth notice, but we will describe only three or four. All are made in the "Josephine" style — short-waisted, long-skirted, soft and clinging. In the prologue, in which Josephine appears as simple Mme. de Blauharnais, the gown is of gray, but the long train edged with sable and showing through its open-work the white satin underneath gives a hint of coming splendor. A gray velvet-brocaded satin jacket and pink silk shawl are worn with this.

After her marriage to Napoleon Josephine sometimes in her robes celebrates her lord's victories. She greets him on his return from Egypt gowned as queen of Egypt; a costume of sheer pink stuff through which runs a serpentine design, decorated with black jet and silver spangles, a girdle and stole of gold and jewel-embroidered velvet, a scarf of blue gauze over the shoulder. A beautiful dress is of white and gold, with a bit of scarlet, the white being velvet thick and soft as heavy snow, the gold in spangles on waist and sleeves, the red the center of a cashmere shawl that adds the last touch to the rich, artistic costume. At the coronation is worn white satin with a front embroidered in gold and jewels, a girdle of pink and white diamonds, the same stones at the wrist, and from shoulder to wrist on the sleeves two rows of the empire laurel leaves; the coronation cloak thrown over this magnificence is of ermine-lined, gold-embroidered red velvet, on which gold threads outline laurel wreaths and the letter "N."

One would think all this flattery would prove irresistible to the vain Napoleon; but no, poor Josephine is to be cast off. So far as clothes go, she dies game; she makes her bow as empress in a mantle of lemon-colored velvet, aglitter with topaz stones and gold-wrought bees; thrown over a gown of white satin, belted with a golden girdle, sleeves and shoulders gleaming through a network of pearls.

Miss Walsh, as soon as she found she was booked for "More Than Queen," at once began a study of the costumes and manners of the Napoleonic period. She studied not only books but pictures and old prints. Two of her costumes, the coronation one and the white and gold, are exact copies of robes worn by Josephine. The copies of the personages in the coronation scene are modeled from the famous picture painted at the time by Louis David.

Miss Walsh has won fame early in life, to-day occupying a decidedly enviable position on the American stage. She was born in New York, in rather lowly quarters, her father being warden of the old Tombs prison, and it was within those somber walls much of her youth was spent. Always fond of the theater, and being able to gratify her tastes by frequent attendance thereat, she was taken with stage fever before reaching womanhood. A mere girl she made her first appearance in front of the footlights, and ever since has followed the theatrical profession. In private life Miss Walsh is Mrs. McDowell, having married Melbourne McDowell, late Fanny Davenport's husband.

THE ASTROLOGER.

And the "Son" Did.

It takes a bright woman to rebuke another woman's rudeness, a general statement well borne out by the following story: A lady entered a railway train and took a seat in front of a newly married couple. She was hardly seated before they began making remarks about her. Her last year's bonnet and cloak were fully criticised, with more or less giggling on the bride's part, and there is no telling what might have come next if the lady had not put a sudden stop to the conversation by a bit of strategy. She turned her head, noticed that the bride was considerably older than the groom, and, in the smoothest of tones, said: "Madam, will you please ask your son to close the window behind you?" The "son" closed his mouth, and the bride no longer giggled.—Chicago Times-Herald.

"Yessum! Externally and internally."

"How can that be?"

"Why, flannel shirts and flannel cakes."—Chicago Evening News.

Music and Laughable Sketch Made Up a Pleasant Evening's Entertainment.

A very pleasing programme, which required nearly two hours for its rendition was given at the birthday social in the Monroe Avenue church Thursday evening. It was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience.

Two well rendered violin solos by Prof. Wallander, accompanied on the piano by Miss Ada Wallander, began the programme after which Wilson Derby gave several selections on the mandolin. Miss Lulu Randolph recited in an able manner, Miss Derby contributed two vocal solos and the Misses Carrie and Sadie Brower sang a duet.

The entertainment terminated with a sketch, "The Train to Morrow," in which the parts were taken by Alfred Osman, Miss M. Brower and Miss Sadie Brower. The sketch caused merriment.

Refreshments were afterward passed and the rest of the time was spent in a sociable manner. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Higham, Mrs. Grannet and Miss M. E. Brower.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Young Soldier Barely Saved from Being Buried Alive.

George Coleman Tells of Lying in Morgue and Preparations for a Military Funeral — Name Now on Death Roll.

George Coleman, 18 years old, of Chicago, who ran away from school to go to war two years ago, was laid out for dead in a military morgue near Manila last summer and came near being buried alive. His name is entered upon the death roll in the war department at Washington, but young Coleman is alive. He had grown so tall in two years that his father, John Coleman, a policeman living at 3150 Shields avenue, hardly knew him when he limped into the house a cripple the other morning.

Coleman died, to all appearances, of typhoid fever, and he was removed from the hospital to the morgue.

After placing the young soldier in a coffin in preparing for the burial, an army surgeon suddenly discovered a spark of life in his body. In their excitement the doctors must have used drastic measures to resuscitate Coleman, for they burned the flesh off his knees and ankles to the bone, presumably with electricity.

The joints were left stiff, and the otherwise stalwart boy now hobbles about with the use of a cane. He fears he is crippled for life.

Coleman ran away during the summer of 1898. He was then 16 years old, but so large that the recruiting officers accepted him into the United States service without question. Young Coleman made his way from Chicago to Fort Snelling during the organization of the Forty-fifth regiment, United States infantry, by Col. Dorst. He was assigned to company A and accompanied the regiment when it moved to San Francisco and later by transport to the Philippines.

The young soldier remained in good health until after a march of 48 miles, which he made with his company to meet a provision train that had been sent out of Manila for the relief of the Forty-fifth regiment. His shoes had worn out and he wore a pair of native slippers during the long tramp. These were so thin that they afforded little protection. Coleman fell sick and went to his bunk, after making the return march with his company. There he lost his mind completely.

Like all who return after reaching the portal of death, the young soldier had no story to relate of strange visions of the Great Beyond—save the story the doctors and the morgue keeper related to him. These he reiterates.

"They could have buried me alive and I never would have known it," said Coleman to a Chicago American reporter. "I did not know how close they had taken me to the grave until a week after I was returned from the slab to the hospital. Then I opened my eyes with a feeling that I had been asleep.

"The doctor who had pronounced me dead told me the story afterward, when most of the fever had left me and I was quite myself again. He said that after passing through a night at a very high temperature my heart apparently stopped beating. He pronounced me dead and they lugged me off to the morgue, which was a small building convenient to the hospital, where many poor fellows die.

"A cloth was tied around my head and jaw, to keep my mouth closed and prevent small insects from crawling in. They left me on the slab all that day and night. Next morning I was lifted into a pine coffin.

"A guard was there to accompany my body to the grave. The soldiers had their guns with which to fire the regular military salute.

"It was at this juncture—it makes me shudder now to think of it—that a little spark of life that was left in me signaled to the surgeon bending over my coffin. Hence I am here today to relate this strange story which other people told me.

"So far as consciousness was concerned, I was dead at that time and probably I would have passed away without suffering had they buried me.

"While I was lying in the morgue word was sent to my company that I was dead and in the reports of the lists of deaths my name was sent on to this country. I don't think my old comrades know I am alive now, as they were transferred during the period of my sickness.

"October 2, 1900, I was carried to Manila and treated there in the hospital until November 1, when I took the transport Thomas to San Francisco. I stayed in the hospital at San Francisco until I was honorably discharged from the army. Then I came home to surprise the folks."

First of Evangelistic Services at First Baptist Church Attracted Large Crowd.

THE CHORUS CHOIR SANG.

REV. T. S. HENDERSON WAS IN CHARGE OF THE MEETING.

Impressive Talk on How to Save Sinners—Nearly All the Local Pastors Were Present—Singing in Charge of F. H. Jacobs.

Under the most favorable auspices the first of the series of special evangelistic services was held last evening in the First Baptist church, where all of the meetings will be held. By the hour of 7:30 o'clock, at which time the service opened, the large edifice was completely filled, every seat being occupied and many people were standing. The generous and whole-souled response on the part of the people of the city and vicinity in attending this first service speaks well for the success that must follow. It was noticeable that there were a great many non-church-going people in the audience.

A large chorus choir of nearly one hundred voices occupied a specially constructed platform, and under the direction of F. H. Jacobs, the well-known evangelistic singer, conducted a song service that was very effective. Howard Case, organist at the church, presided at the organ. Seated in front on the platform were nearly all of the evangelical pastors of the city. During the opening part of the service Mr. Jacobs sang very sweetly "Count Your Blessings," the choir singing the chorus.

Before the preaching service began, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, on behalf of committee of arrangements, made a brief statement concerning the meetings. He said that commencing with next Sunday night, William Phillips Hall, the evangelist, would conduct services for ten days, and F. H. Jacobs would assist at all the services. Neither Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, who will conduct the services this week, nor Mr. Hall will charge one penny for their work, neither will they receive indirectly or directly any financial aid, outside of expenses incurred by carfare and hotel. Mr. Jacobs will be paid for his services, as he depends on that for his living. Dr. Snodgrass stated further that as soon as money sufficient to pay the expenses of the meetings is received no further collections will be taken. Beginning with this afternoon meetings will be held every afternoon in the Crescent Avenue church. Regarding the evening services, if there should be overflow meetings, they will be held in the First M. E. church.

After Rev. Charles E. Herring, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, offered prayer, Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, of Brooklyn, who will conduct this week's services, preceding Evangelist Hall, took charge. Mr. Henderson is a very convincing talker and speaks with much power. He favorably impressed all by his sincere and earnest manner. He took for his text from II Kings, fourth chapter and thirty-second verse: "Behold, the Child Was Dead!" The speaker then unfolded the beautiful and impressive story of Elisha, the prophet, and the Shunammite's son, who was raised from the dead.

He told how one day the son was taken ill and died and the prophet being away, he was sent for. A prayer went up that the child who was dead might become alive. The son's father was not concerned much about the dead boy, but the mother was and she traveled eighteen miles to get Elisha to return and bring her boy back to life. Continuing, Mr. Henderson spoke in part as follows:

"We are co-workers in raising the dead to life. Men are brought to Christ through men, and hearts are won through hearts. We must all study God's method in this very important matter. The secret in Elisha's power was not in his office as prophet. His character was greater than his office, his teaching greater than the teacher. When you are ready to stand by the Master as Elisha did, you will then be in a position to receive that resurrection power which he had.

"Elisha asked for a double portion, which was a great thing to ask and a divine thing to receive. The moment the mantel fell on his shoulders then he got his power. The dead in your families, city or church will never be raised, unless you as Christians are annointed from on high. At a time

BICYCLE RACE.

Soon After the Start Hangliter's Wheel Came to Grief and He Fell Out of Race.

Difference of opinion between Wm. Hangliter and "Manchester Jack," two employes of the Potter Press Works, as to their relative riding abilities, led to a bicycle race Thursday noon. The course was along South Second street from the Pond Tool Work to the hospital and fully several hundred fellow employes assembled to cheer the contestants.

At the start both riders kept well together, but the car tracks on Grant avenue caused Hangliter's wheel to swerve and he was thrown to the ground, with the result that he was severely bruised and his machine somewhat damaged. The other rider continued on and was awarded a purse of five dollars, but Hangliter's friends are not satisfied and insist on another race.

FAMOUS TISSOT PAINTINGS.

SHOWN WITH REMARKABLE DETAIL AT Y. M. C. A. HALL.

Hon. Lee Fairchild Delivered Accompanying Lecture—Entertainment Was an Enjoyable One.

The famous Tissot paintings were displayed by means of an electro-stereopticon at a lecture delivered by Hon. Lee Fairchild in the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday evening.

The original paintings by James J. Tissot, the celebrated French artist, represent scenes which tell the story of the Saviour's journey through the world. They begin with his youth and end with his final ascension.

The pictures were grouped into six divisions by the lecturer. The Holy childhood, the ministry, the Holy week and the passion, the last supper and betrayal, the crucifixion, and resurrection was the order in which the subject was treated by Mr. Fairchild. Beginning with the series of scenes connected with Holy week a better appreciation of the views was had by the lucid explanation of each by Prof. Welhams Clarke, of London, England. The reproduction of Tissot's works was little short of marvelous and the rich detail of the slides added much to the grandeur of the scenes.

All of the originals are said to be historically, geographically and artistically correct, and it would be folly to select any one of the various groups as being particularly good for all were majestic and inspiring.

To illustrate the childhood, were shown the magnificat, the journey of the wise men, the presentation at the temple and the carpenter.

The ministerial epoch was shown in the scene at the synagogue, healing of the sick, calling of St. Matthew, the pharisee and publican, raising of Lazarus and the return of the prodigal son. The scenes following illustrated the periods between Christ's entry into Jerusalem and His condemnation and between the supper and the betrayal.

The journey to Calvary and the closing scenes of the crucifixion, together with the dawn and ascension, marked the finish of the evening's instructive entertainment.

Gospel Conference.

A Gospel conference was held at the First Church of Christ last evening conducted by Dr. Morse, acting pastor. W. F. Richards assisted by giving a phonographic concert illustrating the service. There were selections as sung by Sankey, Excell and other well-known evangelistic singers; also selections from "The Holy City," "The Palms" as given by prominent singers. There was a good attendance at the service which proved to be helpful and interesting.

Five Members Left.

There is little likelihood that the members of the Order of Chosen Friends will continue the new organization recently formed as a result of the failure of the older. There are five members in the new organization, all the rest withdrawing and joining other lodges. It is claimed that the new order offers but few advantages.

To be Married in April.

The marriage of Miss Lydia P. Ackerman, daughter of Mrs. J. Hervey Ackerman, of West Seventh street, to Arthur Murphy, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. T. Logan Murphy, of West Front street, will take place soon after Easter.

Netted $100.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will net about $100 as a result of the affair held in the church last week.

To Entertain Grand Officers.

Friendship Degree Lodge, Daughter's of Rebekah, will entertain some of the Grand Lodge officers at the meeting Thursday evening.

Work Stopped on Six New Houses—Union Men of Other Trades Struck in Sympathy—Both Sides Refuse to Yield.

The refusal of the Master Plumbers' Association of this city to affiliate with the Plainfield Building Trades' Council brought on a strike on six new houses Saturday and may result in a general strike all over the city before the trouble is settled. The immediate cause of Saturday's trouble was the refusal of George Schaefer, a member of the firm of Leland & Company, to take out a card from the Trades' Council. Schaefer is what is termed as a "working boss." According to the rules of the Council, he is required to take out a union card before he can do any work. The recent action of the Master Plumbers' Association was to the effect that the "working bosses" would not acknowledge the right of the Trades' Council to compell them to take out union cards.

The strike Saturday occurred among the plumbers employed on three new houses being built by James Manning on East Front street, near Netherwood avenue, where Schaefer started to work. The other union men, carpenters, masons and other mechanics, struck in sympathy and the work on the house was stopped.

Leland & Co. had a contract for the plumbing in two houses which John Lloyd is building on Belvidere avenue and for another in the West End. The union men employed on all these houses stopped work at once until a settlement should be reached. Twenty men are affected.

At present, there is a deadlock, both sides refusing to yield a point. Efforts are being made by interested parties to bring about an amicable adjustment of the troubles so that work may be continued on the buildings as soon as possible.

C. L. WRIGHT DEAD.

Well-Known Horseman Died at Muhlenberg Hospital Early This Morning.

Charles L. Wright, the well-known horse fancier, died at Muhlenberg Hospital early this morning. Last Thursday an operation was performed by Dr. Endicott and the operation was apparently successful. A relapse set in this morning and Mr. Wright died shortly afterward.

At the time of his death Mr. Wright was in his forty-ninth year. He was the owner of the Fairview farm, originally known as the Webb King place on the road from Park avenue to Dog Corner. This farm was entirely devoted to breeding thorough-bred trotters, "Arphansa" and "Fairmount Maid" were among the famous trotters possessed by him.

Mr. Wright was a member of the Gentlemen's Driving Park and for several years past was a conspicuous figure at the matinee season meet of the club.

Mr. Wright leaves a wife and two sons.

The funeral services will take place at his late residence on Rahway road, Wednesday afternoon, February 27, at 2 o'clock.

SKATED ON RESERVOIR.

Pangborn, of the borough, recently discovered that some of the water furnished by the Plainfield Water Supply Company contained a sediment, and that the reservoir on the mountain was being used by boys as a skating pond. The water company was notified, and steps will be taken at once to stop the practice.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

Entertainment in Chapel of Crescent Avenue Church Was Much Enjoyed.

Under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue church, a very pleasing entertainment was given in the church chapel Saturday evening. Owing to the large number of counter-attractions, the attendance was not as large as it would have otherwise been, but those who were present enjoyed the programme thoroughly.

It was opened by Dr. B. VanD. Hedges who gave an appropriate address, after which Miss Margaret Carmen rendered a pleasing selection on the violin. Although but a little girl, Miss Carmen played in a manner which showed careful preparation and conscientious work. All of her selections elicited long applause on the part of the audience.

Miss Grace E. Overton gave several recitations in her usual excellent manner, and the remainder of the programme consisted of baritone solos by Arthur Chamberlain. The audience afterwared adjourned to the lower chapel, where a light repast was served.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Margaret Yerkes and Miss Creegan.

ORIENTAL LIFE.

Cleverly Pictured in Series of Tableaux in Chapel of Crescent Avenue Church Saturday Afternoon.

A very pretty series of tableaux, illustrating the mode of living in missionary countries, were given in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church Saturday afteenoon under the auspices of the Sunshine Mission Band, the members of which depicted the various characters. The manner of eating, entertaining company and various other interesting parts of the oriental life, were shown, the effect being greatly augmented by the proper costumes and surroundings. The countries represented and those takpart were as follows: Syria, Anna Richards, Gertrude Moody, Cornelia Sampson; Persia, Sarah Boyd, Gene Douglas; India, Lucy Budlong, Margaret Mead, Hannah Thayer; Siam, Theodora Miller, Anna Runyon; China, Maida Hyde, Ruth Bullock, Roxy Love; Japan, Gene Douglas, Florence Kanin, Clara Kanin, Frederica Mead and Charles Hyde.

At the conclusion of the tableaux cake and candy were sold, the profits of which in addition to those of the entertainment, netted the band a neat sum.

MELVIN STILL LEADS.

Lost His First Game Last Week in Krewson's Pool Tourney But is First.

The contestants in the pool tourney at Krewson's parlors enter in their fifth week tonight, holding practically the same positions as they did last Monday. The only game last week of particular note was that played Friday night between Moore and Melvin and which ended in the defeat of the latter. This was the first time Melvin suffered a defeat since the tourney began. He is still in the lead, however, which place he seems likely to hold.

Following is the schedule of games for the coming week: Monday, Moore, 60, Pope, 45; Greader, 75, Ammons, 55. Tuesday, Moore, 60, Smith, 60; Sutterlein, 75, Walsh, 60. Wednesday, Dowd, 75, Greader, 75; Beekman, 60, Kingston, 45. Thursday, Coombs, 55, McLaughlin, 40; McCann, 45, McLaughlin, 40. Friday, Greader, 75, Melvin, 60; Dowd, 75, Smith, 60.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Woman Shot By Her Husband While He Was Cleaning His Revolver—at Bound Brook.

Mrs. Josephine Zlinkkufski, aged about 40 years, died at the hospital at 3:30 o'clock this morning. She lived at Bound Brook. Last Thursday evening while her husband was cleaning his revolver, he claims the weapon was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered the abdomen, but was removed soon after the woman was brought to the hospital. She was thought to be out of danger, but complications arose and she died suddenly this morning.

It is not known whether the shock or poison from the bullet caused death, but a post-mortem will be held soon to determine this. The chances are the husband will now be arrested to await an investigation of the case.

Mission Band Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Women's Mission Band will be held at Trinity Reformed church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is urged and all members are requested to hand in their "flag envelopes" containing their century offering. The members are also requested to bring their thimbles and scissors.

THE MAYOR'S DEFENCE OF BOROUGH POLICE.

Mayor Smalley Says That Borough Cannot Provide Private Watchmen for Residents.

COL. WILSON'S REQUEST.

MAYOR TELLS WHAT HE HEARD OF "TUNLAW" ROBBERY.

Says the Administration is Being Unjustly Attacked—Has Been Working for Two Years to Promote the Standard of Usefulness of Department.

Mayor N. E. Smalley is quite disturbed over the public report of the Wilson burglary. He claims to have used untiring efforts in the last two years to promote the standard of usefulness of the borough's police department and His Honor believes that by innuendo his administration is being unjustly attacked at present and is anxious that the citizens of the borough should know the facts of his position in the matter. When seen by a reporter for the Daily Press Saturday, the Mayor said:

"The first knowledge I obtained of a robbery having been committed at 'Tunlaw' was late on Friday. I had been attending to official duties that morning and when I got home to dinner my wife told me that at 10 o'clock Mr. Wilson had 'phoned requesting me to call in relation to some official business, but the nature of the business was not mentioned.

"I went up to 'Tunlaw' as soon as possible and Mr. Wilson informed me of the affair substantially as reported in The Daily Press.

"During the conversation the ex-Mayor ventured the assertion that he was entitled to better police protection because he was compelled to pay a large amount of taxes, but he didn't appear to be much disturbed over his loss.

"It is impossible," asserted the Mayor, "to give him the protection he asks for, because it would compel us to create a corps of private watchmen and this is not provided for under the borough law. In the last two years I have received requests of a like nature but have refused to comply, and will continue to ignore them.

"We never failed to provide ample police protection to molested citizens. The marshalls do all in their power to preserve order.

"Occasionally," said the Mayor, robberies do happen and we can't be blamed. If there is any clue we try to run down the guilty parties."

FOUND MISSING HORSE.

Animal Had Strayed Away and Was Not Stolen as Was First Supposed.

The horse thought to have been stolen from the corner of Third street and Central avenue Friday evening, belonging to James Boice, of Raritan Landing, was found in Cole's stables Saturday. The animal had strayed away while Mr. Boice was visiting relatives at the above address and was found at the corner of Plainfield avenue and West Seventh street by a policeman. Mr. Boice had gone home by trolley after reporting his loss, and the animal was returned to him Saturday afternoon.

TWENTY YEARS WEDDED.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hand Celebrated the Anniversary of Their Marriage Saturday.

Friends and relatives to the number of seventy from this city, Somerville, Newark, Irvington, New Market and Piscataway township, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hand, of West Second street, Saturday evening, to assist them in celebrating the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. Several hours were spent in a most delightful way, playing parlor games, singing and in listening to piano selections by Mrs. Fred Canfield, of Somerville. At 10:30 a bounteous supper was served. Among the many handsome presents which Mr. and Mrs. Hand received in honor of the occasion was a very pretty tea set, the gift of a number of near relatives.

To Consider Licenses.

A special meeting of the Common Council will be held this evening. Liquor licenses will be granted and the committee on streets and sewers will probably report on the recent bids received for sewage improvements.

Small Fire.

The fire department was called out at 11 o'clock this morning to extinguish a small blaze at the home of G. W. Ralph, of Halsey street. The loss will amount to $300.

He was also the delegate of the Firemen's Relief Associan of the State and of the International Association of Fire Engineers, of the United States.

On this occasion Mr. Saltzman was made a life member of the International Congress and was awarded a handsome badge of membership.

Mr. Saltzman expects to embark for Europe shortly in order to be on hand in time for the next meeting of the Congress which takes place this summer in Berlin.

BEAT SAILORS AT FOOTBALL.

PLAINFIELD ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL CLUB WON TWO GOALS TO ONE.

Despite the Cold, Quite a Crowd Collected at the Clinton Avenue Grounds to See the Match.

Last Saturday's severe cold had no terrors for over one hundred footbal enthusiasts who gathered on the Clinton avenue grounds in the afternoon for the purpose of witnessing what was probably the last association game to be played in this city this winter. The contestants were the Plainfield Association Football Club and a team picked from the crew of the ocean greyhound, the "Oceanic." In spite of the fact that the latter team had only arrived in port Thursday and had not yet gotten rid of their "sea legs," they put up an excellent game and made their opponents earn every goal.

The sailors showed a decided lack of practice, playing very poorly when in close quarters, but their team work in passing was very good. The local men were in their usual good form, and with one or two exceptions played faultlessly. The game lasted for two forty-five minute halves and ended with a score of two to one in favor of the Plainfield men.

The line-up was as follows:

P. A. F. C.		OCEANICS.
Dodd	goal	Large
Nicholson	full back	Masters

McCoomb	half back	Duff
Hendry	" "	Boyian

SURVEYING ROUTE.

Engineers Are Laying Out Route For Trolley Line Between New York and Philadelphia.

Engineers are at work surveying the route for the trolley line between New York and Philadelphia, via Somerville, which the Johnson syndicate, controlling the Lehigh Valley Traction Co., propose to put through. Heavy tracks will be laid and the cars run at a speed of sixty miles an hour through the country. The fare for a single trip between New York and Philadelphia will be $1. Albert L. Johnson, the head of the syndicate, is a brother of Congressman Tom Johnson, of Ohio, and already has about $9,000,000 invested in trolleys. The depot in Philadelphia will be in the heart of the city, and Jersey City will be the eastern terminus. Besides the line from Philadelphia to New York, Somerville and Easton are to be connected by trolley by the same syndicate. The Easton line will connect at Somerville with the line to New York and Philadelphia.

TROLLEY TIED UP.

Putting in New Engine at Power House—Then the Piston Rod Broke.

For the first time in many months traffic on all the lines of the local street railway was almost completly suspended yesterday.

The trouble was due to a change in engines being made at the power house of the Plainfield Electric Light Company. The work was commenced at midnight Saturday, and continued without cessation until 8:30 yesterday morning, when the power was restored. From that time until noon the cars ran regularly, but a break in a piston rod caused another tie-up.

Enough power was secured from Elizabeth at 5 o'clock to move the cars at a snail's pace to the barns. The full power was restored at 11 o'clock. Every thing was in the usual order this morning.

—The Rasores Club will meet with Mrs. B. O Bowers, 400 Franklin place, tomorrow. If decidedly stormy, the musical programme will be deferred.

CLEARED OFF DEBT AT ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Grace M. E. Church Began Celebration of Ninth Anniversary Yesterday.

BISHOP ANDREWS PRESENT.

PRESENT INDEBTEDNESS OF $2,938 WAS RAISED AT SERVICES.

Amount Was Pledged—Excellent Sermon by Bishop Andrews—Distinguished Guests Present at Meetings—Special Music Rendered.

The ninth anniversary of Grace M. E. church was appropriately celebrated by special services yesterday and, incidentally, sufficient funds were raised at the services to wipe out the present burdensome indebtedness. The interior of the edifice was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Blooming plants and stately palms were banked artistically around the platform and an abundance of cut flowers added cheerfulness to the surroundings.

The morning service was set for 10 o'clock and before the opening hymn was sung every available seat was occupied. On the platform were Bishop E. G. Andrews, LL.D.; Rev. Dr. M. O'Hanlon, president of Pennington seminary; Rev. G. W. Smith, presiding elder of the Elizabeth district of the M. E. church; Rev. Dr. G Whitney, president emeritus of the Centenary Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown, and the pastor, Rev. G W. Gardner.

Following the opening hymn, prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Smith, and the choir rendered an anthem, "Glory be God on High." Dr. O'Hanlon who is gifted with a well modulated voice, read the scriptual lesson for the day, and the Bishop was then introduced as the preacher.

Bishop Andrews chose for his text a section of the 18 verse, 16 chapter of St. Matthew: "Upon this rock will I build my church and the gates of hell will not prevail against it." The doctor drew his hearer's attention to the lowly origin of Christianity and then carefully traced its history down to modern times. Recounting the adverse conditions under which the gospel was propogated from the beginning, Bishop Andrews declared that the day had now come when the word of God commands the respect of all civilized people.

The God of today is the God of Christianity or no God at all. Constantine, he said, was the first temporal ruler to sanction the practice of the religion of Jesus Christ and from that time forward, though it has occasionly become associated with affairs of State, its chief ministers being emperors and kings, yet it grew and advanced so rapidly that today it is the world's great religion. He sketched briefly the life of the young Jew of Palestine and the absurity of His birth, reciting at length the suspicions of the common people and the bitterness of the chief priests towards Him. Christ was born at a time when He was most needed. The religion of the Jew was nothing but form then and Christ was needed to teach them to worship from their hearts.

Men, who lead a generation, are the embodiment of the spirit of that age, and Napoleon, Bonarparte and Lincoln were cited as conspicuous examples of men of that type. Christ, in his generation, came to preach a gospel which would prevail against the gates of hell. The church today, said Dr. Andrews, is the great institution for the transformation of weak character, and will have accomplished its mission when a glorious, universal brotherhood is achieved.

At the conclusion of the bishop's sermon, Dr. Smith announced that the present indebtedness of the parish amounted to $2,938. Solicitors then passed among the congregation, and before the benediction was pronounced $1,700 was subscribed toward meeting this debt.

The Sunday-school anniversary celebration at 2:30 o'clock was in charge of the superintendent, John Valiant. Dr. O'Hanlan made a short address to the pupils on the aims of Sunday-school work.

He dwelt upon instruction and inspiration as the two divisions of the work, and implored the scholars to pass religion down from the intellect direct to the heart. The Sunday-school classes made a pledge to add $300 to the amount subscribed at the morning service.

LAST WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Much Business Still Unfinished In Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The army appropriation bill will receive the attention of the senate during the early part of the present week, and when it is disposed of another appropriation bill will be taken up. It is probable that the army bill will be debated at length, especially upon the Philippine amendment and the amendment relating to Cuba, if the latter is introduced, as is proposed.

It is hoped that the sundry civil bill will be reported by the time the army bill is disposed of so that it may be taken up next. If it is not in shape to be considered by that time, the river and harbor bill probably will receive attention. The general deficiency bill is likely to be the last of the appropriation bills acted on.

Conference reports will be made from time to time during the week. Some of these will create considerable discussion. The conferees on the war revenue reduction bill expect to make their report during the week.

Of the appropriation bills only two, the pension and the urgent deficiency, have been signed by the president. Both houses have passed the legislative, Indian, District of Columbia, naval, agricultural, fortifications, postoffice and diplomatic bills, and they are in varying states of conference. The army bill and the river and harbor, sundry civil and general deficiency bills still remain entirely unacted upon by the senate.

The senate will continue to meet at 11 o'clock each day and probably will sit every night of the week.

The last week of this congress in the house will be mainly occupied with conference reports on the appropriation bills and the other numerous measures now being fought over by the managers of the two houses. The last of the general appropriation bills went to the senate on Thursday, and the house has its decks pretty well cleared for the final contests with the senate. Some of these struggles probably will be exceedingly fierce, but when it comes down to actual work the house, although a large and unwieldy body ordinarily, can dispose of business under its rules with much greater celerity than the senate.

May Settle Cuban Question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — There were several conferences yesterday of senators looking to an amicable understanding on the Cuban question so that an extra session may be avoided. As a result it is said to be probable that an amendment dealing with our relations with Cuba will be presented in the senate today when the army appropriation bill is taken up. The amendment will be on lines already outlined. The exact phraseology of the amendment, it is said, has not been definitely settled as yet, but the conferences have made it likely that the opposing parties in the senate will get together.

Independence Day In Havana.

HAVANA, Feb. 25.—Independence day was celebrated with processions, mass meetings and general demonstrations of rejoicing. Yesterday morning there was a parade of 10,000 school children, bearing Cuban flags. They were reviewed by prominent politicians. General and Mrs. Wood were showered with flowers by the children as they passed. The Republican party held a meeting in the Tacon theater. Senor Capote, who presided, said there was never more need than now to be quiet. The United States was the only country that had helped Cuba in her time of trouble, and he did not believe that the Washington government was now deceiving the Cubans. The work of intervention was long and difficult; but, in his opinion, everything would be settled satisfactorily to the people of the island. Senor Zayas gave a revolutionary tone to his remarks by asserting that the present Cuban leaders should imitate the martyrs of the past. He declared that the "trick which the Americans have been playing upon the Cubans is the cause of the nondevelopment of the island." He predicted that the end of all would be dissatisfaction, adding that independence could only be attained by the machetes of liberators. "Cuba," he exclaimed, "should be preserved for the glories of the Latin race."

A Hatchet Proof Saloon.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 25.—A small house made of boiler iron and mounted on wheels has been ordered of an eastern machine company by John Webster, a refugee saloon keeper of Kansas. He will use the iron house as a saloon. Webster was the part owner of one of the "joints" smashed by Mrs. Nation early in her career, and he proposes to give the crusaders something they cannot smash. If Webster carries out his present plans he will buy four mules, stock the house on wheels with liquor and drive through Kansas for two months before he goes to Florence, where he will locate, selling as he goes. He believes that the novelty will be a money maker.

Rich Find of Gold.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 25.—Dawson papers of Feb. 16 received here by the steamer Amur have accounts of a rich strike on Lepine creek, 15 miles from Dawson, where quartz assaying $84 a ton was found. Northern papers also tell how Captain Cantwell rescued an Indian boy who was enslaved for life by Nulate Indians because he killed a companion accidentally.

Dowager Empress Gaining.

CRONBERG, Prussia, Feb. 25.—The Dowager Empress Frederick went for a ride in the park for half an hour about noon yesterday in a hand sleigh. She was accompanied by Dr. Renvers, who arrived at 9 o'clock yesterday morning for his usual Sunday visit. Emperor William drove over and remained an hour.

Fatal Trolley Collision.

LEXINGTON, Mass., Feb. 25.—J. E. Butcher of this place was killed and Howard Dalrymple was badly injured as a result of a collision with a Lexington and Boston electric car in this town. The electric car threw their team off the track, Butcher striking on his head and being instantly killed.

A Maine Senator Dead.

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 25.—State Senator Joseph Y. Hodsdon of Yarmouth is dead in this city from appendicitis. He is survived by a widow and one son. Senator Hodsdon was born in Portland in 1837 and during his entire life was engaged in the shoe manufacturing business in that city.

BOERS LOSE HEAVILY

Retreating In Disorder Before General French.

PLUMER MEETS AND ROUTS DE WET

British Suffer No Casualties and Pursue the Enemy—Attempt to Invade Cape Colony an Evident Failure.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Middleburg, Transvaal, Feb. 24: "French reports from Piet Retief, Feb. 22, that the result of the columns sweeping the country east is that the Boers are retreating in scattered and disorganized parties to the number of some 5,000 in front of him.

"Amsterdam and Piet Retief have been occupied, and troops are protecting the Swazi frontier. French will push on, but is much hampered by the continuous heavy rains.

"The summary of total losses inflicted upon the enemy up to Feb. 16 is 282 Boers known to have been killed and wounded in action, 56 taken prisoners and 183 surrendered. One 15 pounder gun, 462 rifles, 160,000 rounds of small ammunition, 3,500 horses, 70 mules, 3,580 trek oxen, 18,700 cattle, 155,400 sheep and 1,070 wagons and carts were captured.

"Our casualties were 5 officers and 41 men killed and 4 officers and 108 men wounded. I regret to say that Major Howard, a very gallant officer of the Canadian scouts, was killed Feb. 17.

"Plumer reports that Colonel Owen captured De Wet's 15 pounder and pompom Feb. 23, as well as 53 prisoners and a quantity of ammunition. We had no casualties. Enemy in full retreat and dispersing, being vigorously pursued.

"De Wet's attempt to invade Cape Colony has evidently completely failed."

The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from De Aar, dated Feb. 24:

"Mr. Steyn addressed the Boers yesterday and told them they must all shift for themselves, returning to Orange River Colony as best they could. He and General De Wet took 300 of the best horses with which to escape."

Plumer Has a Brush With De Wet.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 25.—Colonel Plumer engaged General De Wet Saturday near Disselfontein, on the south bank of the Orange river, capturing a gun and a pompom and taking 50 prisoners. The Boers were scattered and are being pursued by Colonel Plumer. It is reported that General De Wet escaped to the opposite bank in a boat and is now fleeing with a handful of followers. It is reported from a Boer source at Zeerust that General Delarey has been captured. A white child died here yesterday of bubonic plague, and three white children have been attacked by the disease. A white man is suffering with the plague at Woodstock.

Condensed Food For Arctic Trip.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Lieutenant Evelyn B. Baldwin, who is to command the next expedition in search of the north pole, is in Chicago. His errand here is to arrange for the preparation and purchase of some of his most important supplies which he has been unable to procure elsewhere. One item will be an entirely new concentrated food which it is expected will be the staple of the expedition. It was invented by Lieutenant Baldwin on his last arctic trip, and he will personally superintend a trial preparation of the food at one of the big stockyard packing houses. The precise nature of this food is kept a secret by Lieutenant Baldwin, but it will be of a most nutritive power compressed into the smallest space that has even been accomplished in food concentration. The total amount to be ordered will be 125 tons.

King Edward Goes to Cronberg.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—King Edward left Flushing for Cronberg at 6 o'clock last evening. Owing to his desire to divest his visit of any official character, he has declined Emperor William's invitation to stay at Homburg castle and will be his sister's guest at the Friedrichshof schloss. His majesty is due at Frankfort at 9 o'clock this morning and will proceed direct to Cronberg, where Emperor William will meet him. King Edward has informed Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, that, owing to deep mourning, he finds it impossible to visit Ireland this year, as he had wished to do, but that he hopes to make the visit next year.

An Assay Office For Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 25.—A special from Ottawa says the Dominion government has decided to open an assay office at once in Vancouver, at which gold will be purchased from returning miners at its full value in the same manner as during the past season it has been purchased at Seattle, Wash., for the United States mint. This is said to be preliminary to the location of the Canadian mint at Vancouver.

West Virginia Town Scorched.

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., Feb. 25.—At Thurmond fire destroyed nearly all of the business portion of that town. It originated in the Hotel Thurmond. A number of freight cars near the hotel also burned. The loss will reach about $50,000. The buildings destroyed were the Hotel Thurmond, Warner's drug store, Nichols' barber shop, Grubbs' jewelry store, Lopez's dry goods store and the postoffice.

Texas Oil Refinery Burned.

GALVESTON, Feb. 25.—Fire almost totally destroyed the works of the Galveston Cotton Oil Refining company, located on Postoffice and Thirty-fourth streets. The origin of the fire is not known. The damage is estimated by the owners at $90,000, partly covered by insurance. Eight cars standing on a side track loaded with cottonseed meal and soap were burned.

Ohio Newspaper Burned Out.

URBANA, O., Feb. 25.—Fire started in the Boston department store yesterday and spread to adjoining buildings in the center of the city, causing a loss of $75,000. The principal loser is The Daily Citizen plant, totally destroyed, $15,000, without insurance.

Cold Storage Plant Burned.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 25.—Fire at Penn Yan destroyed the cold storage warehouse and contents. Loss, $50,000; partially insured.

GREAT STEEL TRUST

Billion Dollar Deal Has Been Completed.

QUIET CONFERENCE OF FINANCIERS

Representatives of Interested Companies Agreed to Banker Morgan's Figures—Most Gigantic Corporation on Record.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—J. Pierpont Morgan has completed the project by which another and the greatest consolidation of capital is added to the notable list of those of the last ten years. The steel trust plan was consummated at a conference in his office late Saturday afternoon, and yesterday the news was the topic of half the conversation in the corridors of up town hotels.

An official announcement may be expected today from the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., which will in the near future be the seat of the control of this country's great steel properties, to the effect that the Carnegie company, the Federal Steel company, the National Tube company, the American Steel and Wire company, the American Tin Plate company, the National Steel company, the American Sheet Steel Hoop company and the American Sheet Steel company are to be combined in one concern, which is to issue its stock in return for theirs, the valuation having been determined upon the assets and earning power of the respective corporations thus merged.

The combined annual earnings of the companies are over $100,000,000, and all have large surplus funds.

This new trust, it is understood, will be called the United States Steel corporation. Its capital will be $1,100,000,000. Of this $300,000,000 will be 5 per cent general mortgage bonds, $400,000,000 will be 7 per cent stock and $400,000,000 will be common stock. The charter of the company, which has been prepared under the special guidance of William Nelson Cromwell and Francis Lynde Stetson, will be filed in Trenton today.

Stocks of the companies to be merged will be taken in at high figures, and yesterday afternoon the cafe of the Waldorf-Astoria became a sort of miniature and subdued stock exchange, where John W. Gates and his friends bid well above market price for the securities of the corporations which the United States Steel company will swallow up.

This gigantic deal, the most notable in J. Pierpont Morgan's remarkable record of organization, which began three months ago and the first definite step in which was the agreement to purchase from Andrew Carnegie the majority of the stock of the most important steel concern in the world, the Carnegie company, has for some days been virtually assured of success, but the final agreements to the plan were not recorded till Saturday, in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Railway Men Confer.

JERSEY SHORE, Pa., Feb. 25.—Delegates representing the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Order of Railway Conductors and Order of Railway Trainmen employed on the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central railroad, which includes the branch roads in the state of that company, were in conference here yesterday relative to the grievances the men have against the company. The conference was a secret one, and nothing was given out for publication. It is understood, however, that the committee appointed to present the grievances to the officials did not make a report because it has not yet carried out the employees' instructions. It will probably present the grievances to the company's officials today. The men are dissatisfied over the alleged nonpayment of wages for overtime work. There is a feeling here that the difference will be adjusted without resort to a strike.

Killed Her Six Children.

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 25.—A terrible murder of six helpless children by a crazed mother occurred at Uniontown, Wash. Mrs. Rosa Wurzer, a widow, threw her six children, two boys and four girls, ranging in age from 4 to 12 years, into a well 30 feet deep with but two feet of water in the bottom, then jumped in the well and held their heads under the water until all were drowned. Neighbors found Mrs. Wurzer in the well with her six murdered children and, putting a rope around her body, drew her out. She is violently insane and is restrained with difficulty.

Hatchet For Mrs. Nation.

DANBURY, Conn., Feb. 25.—The Rogers Silver Plate company has completed a full sized hatchet, heavily plated with silver, which was shipped to Wichita, Kan., addressed to Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon wrecker. The instrument was inclosed in a leather case so arranged that Mrs. Nation may carry it handily when on her crusades. The express package containing the hatchet and case was inscribed, "From Thomas S. Turrell, Medina, N. Y., who will gladly furnish more hatchets if they are needed."

Series of Fires In Bayonne.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Just after morning service was concluded yesterday in the Bergen Point Reformed church, Bayonne, an overheated furnace set fire to the structure. The church was a very large frame building and a landmark in that section. It was consumed, the loss being placed at $40,000, with partial insurance. When the tall spire of the church fell, burning pieces of wood were carried two blocks, setting fire to a barn, and others were carried on the strong wind three blocks farther, these partially burning a dwelling house.

Miss Gonne In Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—Miss Maud Gonne, the well known champion of Ireland's cause, addressed a large gathering in the Holly Street theater last evening, at which Hon. Patrick A. Collins presided. The audience was composed chiefly of Irish-American citizens and societies and was very enthusiastic. Captain John McBride, who accompanied her, also spoke briefly.

Spanish Ministry Out Today.

MADRID, Feb. 25.—General Azcarraga, the premier, will present the resignation of the cabinet to the queen regent today and will probably be charged with the task of reconstructing the ministry. The responsibility for raising the state of siege will be left with the new government.

OREGON DEADLOCK BROKEN.

Democrats and Republicans Unite to Elect Mitchell For Fourth Time.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 25.—John H. Mitchell was elected United States senator at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning to succeed John W. McBride, whose term will expire on March 4. His election was accomplished by a combination of 35 Republicans with 11 Democrats, making 46 votes, a majority of the legislature. The result was reached on the twenty-fifth ballot of the day and the fifty-third of the session. At noon Saturday the joint assembly met and took one ballot for senator and then adjourned until 8 p. m., when balloting was resumed. Both houses had decided to adjourn sine die at midnight Saturday, and the prospect of an exciting close brought thousands of people to the capitol. Voting proceeded without material change for 20 ballots. Just as the assembly was about to take the twenty-first ballot State Senator Brownell arose and presented the name of John H. Mitchell, which was received with tremendous applause. The next ballot gave H. W. Corbett 36, J. H. Mitchell 35 and A. S. Bennett (Dem.) 19. Three more ballots were taken, but with few changes. The hands of the clock had already pointed to midnight, and the clerks were engaged in checking up the roll call for the twenty-fifth ballot. There was great excitement and loud calls of the name of Mitchell from the lobby.

The first deserter from the Corbett ranks was Hemingway of Lane. On the previous roll call Mitchell had had 34 votes and Corbett 36. When his name was reached, Hemingway in the last roll call without explanation responded "J. H. Mitchell." The call proceeded to the end, and Mitchell and Corbett were then exactly tied, having 35 votes each. The next ballot resulted in many changes, and amid the wildest disorder the president announced that Mr. Corbett had received 29 votes, Mr. Mitchell 46 and Mr. Bennett 16.

Mr. Mitchell has served three full terms in the United States senate from Oregon, having been elected the first time in 1873, when H. W. Corbett was his chief opponent.

THE GOLDEN GATE DISASTER.

A Missing Passenger on the Rio Appears—No More Bodies Found.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—J. C. Holland, third officer of the Rio de Janeiro, who on the day of the wreck was among the missing, has reported to the surprise and delight of his friends unharmed. It is not known how he came to be numbered with the dead further than that after the boat sank he did not report his escape to any of the officers of the steamship company. He was on the wharf and along the beach when the disaster occurred, but his presence was not noted. After the Rio struck upon the reef Holland assisted Captain Ward in getting the passengers into the lifeboats. He and the captain walked aft together on the starboard side, and just as they reached the saloon the boat gave a lurch and disappeared beneath the water. Holland was carried down by the suction, but managed to get hold of a life preserver, which assisted him to rise to the surface, but not until he had been almost strangled by the salt water. Being an expert swimmer, he succeeded in keeping afloat until picked up by an Italian fisherman.

No more bodies have been recovered from the wreck of the Pacific mail steamship Rio de Janeiro, nor has any incoming vessel reported picking up any survivors off the harbor. This fact practically puts an end to any hope that Consul General Wildman and his family escaped in a boat and are adrift on the Pacific. With so many vessels entering and leaving port it would be almost impossible for any small boat to escape notice. It has now been determined that only three of the Rio's lifeboats were launched. Of those two reached shore, and the third, in which were Consul General Wildman and his wife, was cut in two by the steamer as she sank.

Pat Crowe Story Doubted.

OMAHA, Feb. 25.—Chief of Police Donahue says that if Pat Crowe is hiding on Bellevue island the police have no knowledge of it and that he very much doubted if it be true. He knew that Crowe was at Bellevue, where he has relatives, a week prior to the abduction of young Cudahy, but he did not think he had been there since that time. The story that Crowe had been traced to Bellevue island and was being watched there probably originated from the fact that he has a brother-in-law living in the vicinity and that the island has been the scene of a number of captures of counterfeiters and other criminals, for which it affords an inaccessible hiding place.

Noted Physician Dead.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Feb. 25.—Dr. Samuel Camp, the oldest physician and surgeon in southern Berkshire, is dead at the age of 72. He was born in Winsted, Conn., and graduated in 1851 from the University of New York. He began practice immediately in New Marlboro, Mass. Four years later he went to Michigan, returning in 1859 to Great Barrington, where he had since made his home. He served during the civil war as surgeon of the Twenty-seventh Massachusetts regiment and from 1877 to 1892 was medical examiner for southern Berkshire. Dr. Camp was a member of the Massachusetts and Berkshire Medical society.

Russians Buried Alive.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Mailed news from St. Petersburg reports that a search at Terespol revealed the bodies of 28 persons who have been buried alive. They apparently belonged to the self immolating sect which caused a sensation throughout the civilized world in 1897. Kovaleff, the chief of the sect, who was then sentenced to perpetual confinement in a monastery, will be rearraigned in connection with the present discovery.

Billy Brown, Aged 110, Is Dead.

MOBILE, Feb. 25.—Billy Brown, the oldest negro of this neighborhood, is dead. Billy was 110 years old and carried papers to prove it. He had been very active until a few days ago, when he took a cold, contracted pneumonia and died. He came from Virginia and had been married three times. He had a very large funeral.

HICHBORN RETIRES.

Rear Admiral and Chief Constructor of the Navy—Reaches Age Limit.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The retirement of Rear Admiral Philip Hichborn, for eight years past chief constructor of the American navy, marks the passing from public life of one of the ablest naval men in our history. From a shipwright apprentice at the Boston navy yard he rose steadily through the various grades of the construction branch of the service until in July, 1893, he was appointed chief of the bureau of construction and repair, the highest position in the construction corps.

Admiral Hichborn's designs of ships and inventions of naval accouterments are in evidence throughout the service, prominent among them being the barbette turrets, commonly known as "Hichborn turrets;" the Franklin life buoy, which is in use in this and nearly every European navy; submarine boats, water tube boilers, fireproof wood and a complete set of ship boats, which have been adopted as the standard. The admiral also has been foremost in the design and construction of the battleships and cruisers for the "new navy" now being contracted for by shipbuilders throughout the country. Admiral Hichborn retires by age limit March 4, but already has relinquished the active duties of his position.

MISSIONARIES ACTIVE.

Many Converts Reported In and About Manila.

MANILA, Feb. 25.—A largely attended meeting was held yesterday morning in the Tondo ward of Manila under the auspices of the Evangelical church, and a great open air gathering in furtherance of Protestantism was held yesterday afternoon at Pasay. The Rev. James B. Rodgers of the local staff of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, together with Senor Buencamino and others, is preparing articles on church policy and government.

The Methodists report the baptism of 258 converts in Manila last week.

Salamanca, the native Methodist preacher who was arrested at Cavite a month ago, has not yet been tried. The Methodists assert that he will be completely vindicated. They say the charge that he is an insurgent is a fabrication of hostile friars, and they are anxious to have the charges against him investigated.

Twenty insurgents were captured by a detachment of native scouts near Polo, in the province of Bulacan.

There are unverified rumors in circulation here that General Torres has surrendered.

NEW STAR GROWS.

From Extreme Faintness to First Rank In Three Days.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 25.—A telegram has been received at the Harvard observatory from Dr. T. D. Anderson at Edinburgh saying that a new star has been discovered by him in the constellation Perseus. The position is R. A. 3 hours 24 minutes 24 seconds and dec. plus 43 degrees 34 minutes. Its magnitude on Feb. 12 was 2.7. It is bluish white. This star was observed at the Harvard college observatory through clouds on Feb. 22. It was then of the first magnitude. A photograph of this region, taken on Feb. 19, showed that it was then fainter than the magnitude 10.5. This result was confirmed by photographs taken on Feb. 2, 5, 8 and 18.

Accordingly within three days from extreme faintness or total invisibility this star became one of the brightest objects in the sky and the most conspicuous new star that has been seen during the last three centuries. Early in the evening the bright star Capella is nearly in the zenith. Nova is then nearly west of it, about quarter way to the horizon.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The plans to connect New York and Philadelphia by trolley via Somerville, N. J., are fast progressing.

The British steamer Oxus announced that a cyclone swept over the islands of Mauritius and Reunion Jan. 12 and 13, doing great damage.

Thieves entered a Catholic church in New Haven and stole all the sacred vessels and figures. Many beautiful figures of saints of pure gold were taken.

The secretary of war has approved the plans for the construction of the bridge across East river at Blackwells island, New York, known as bridge No. 4.

A Miserly Husband.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 25.—Michael McFeeney, a blind beggar, and his wife were taken to the poor farm in this city by the city almoner, who found Mrs. McFeeney suffering from physical exhaustion and consumption. She told a story of being abused by her husband, who obliged her to go out and beg in the streets. At the farm, when the attendants searched McFeeney's clothing, they found bankbooks, a certified check and money showing him to be worth $3,200. He said he had spent money on his wife when she had two paralytic shocks and felt he could not spend much more. McFeeney told the city physician that he was at one time a veterinarian and had a lucrative practice in Syracuse, where he says his home is at present.

Florida Fruit Uninjured.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 25.—The predicted freeze did not occur in Florida in any part of the fruit growing sections, and the orange trees are in as good a condition as ever. Vegetables are also uninjured. After 2 o'clock Sunday morning the weather began to warm up, and the frost line did not reach the Jupiter station nor the Tampa station.

Lost on the Rio de Janeiro.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 25.—A special form Fulton says: "Fear is entertained by the friends of Harry Austin, a young man of about 23 years, formerly of this place, but lately of Jersey City, that he has been lost in the wreck of the Rio de Janeiro off San Francisco. He is supposed to have sailed from Hongkong on the vessel."

A Gale Off Halifax.

HALIFAX, Feb. 25.—A fierce southeast gale caused minor damage here yesterday. The wind changed from southeast to west and caused a dangerous cross sea on the coast. The lowest barometer, at 3 p. m., was 28.87.

Couldn't Take It With Him.

ROME, Feb. 25.—A Jewish millionaire named Taguiri has committed suicide at Leghorn. Prior to killing himself he burned Turkish rentes to the value of 2,000,000 francs.

ALL DEMANDS MET.

Chinese Court Approves Death Sentences For Guilty.

WILL BE EXECUTED TOMORROW.

China Has Already Agreed to Issue Edicts Prepared by the Ministers For Certain Reforms That Are Required.

PEKING, Feb. 25. The full text of the imperial edict regarding punishments has been sent to the ministers of the powers. It is identical with the unofficial report of the context of the contents of the edict cabled earlier. The ministers say that there is little confusion with reference to strangulation and suicide, but that this is not important.

Li Hung Chang received a bulletin announcing the sentences which could be best carried into effect by the board of punishment, and he requested the Japanese to deliver Ying Nien and Chao Shu Chiao in order that the sentences in their cases might be executed in conformity with the edict, but the Japanese considered the notice too short and have delayed the enforcement of the penalties until tomorrow in order that the ministers of the powers might send representatives, as they desire. It is also intended to guard the men at the place of execution, so as to prevent suicide or escape.

When official confirmation duly certified by high officers of state of the sentences of death upon the others shall have been received and these two have been executed China will have practically complied with the terms demanded by the powers, as she has already agreed to issue edicts prepared by the ministers of the powers for the cessation of examinations and regarding the responsibility of viceroys and governors.

Prince Chun, the emperor's brother, will soon go to Peking to express China's regrets for the murder of Baron von Ketteler. He says China has now accepted to the uttermost and also performed everything required by the powers except the payment of the indemnities, the amount of which has not been decided. He thinks arrangements should be made for the evacuation of Peking in order to enable the court to return. He says he believes no nation in history ever complied with a series of terms more quickly and more completely.

No official announcement has been made of the abandonment of the proposed expedition into the interior, but it is not likely that any further preparations will be made. The foreign envoys feel that the proposal was a master stroke and caused the settlement of what might have been a protracted affair.

The ministers of the powers regard the punishment edict as satisfactory. Chih Siu, former grand secretary, and Hsu Cheng Yu, son of the notorious Hsu Tung, will be publicly executed in Peking tomorrow. An edict has been promulgated suspending examinations at all points which were the scenes of outrages upon foreigners.

Prince Tuan and Duke Lan are to be banished, General Ting Fu Hsiang is to be deprived of his honors, Yu Hsien, Hsu Chang Yu and Kih Siu are to be beheaded and Prince Chwang, Chao Hsu Kiao and Ying Lien are to commit suicide. The other three of the 12 men indicted by the ministers are already dead.

Conger Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Minister Conger will leave Peking immediately for this country on 60 days' leave of absence. Commissioner Rockhill will have full power to conduct the negotiations now in progress. Mr. Conger returns of his own initiative. For some time past he has been anxious to get back to Iowa, but the opportunity has not presented itself until this moment. Now that the foreign ministers have satisfactorily settled the question of punishments of the offending Chinese officials and a new subject is to be taken up it will be easy to pass the negotiations into Mr. Rockhill's hands without sacrificing any points. It was Mr. Conger's own suggestion that Mr. Rockhill be placed in charge.

Italians In Distress.

ROME, Feb. 25.—In view of the increasing distress among the laboring classes at Pouilles and of the threats of disorder Signor Giolitti, the minister of the interior, is sending assistance. The cabinet, however, hopes to maintain order without force and to avoid further trouble by the use of kindness and persuasion. Even at a short distance from Rome the misery of the people is assuming disquieting proportions. The municipalities of Albano, Marino and Arriaca have instituted economical kitchens and are delivering food to persons especially needy. Their resources, however, are diminishing.

Baseball Meeting.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The annual schedule meeting of the National league opened today at the Fifth Avenue hotel. The principal matter under consideration is the subject of the recognition of the players by the magnates, which is thought may avert all danger of a war. At the last meeting of the league the players were refused a hearing. The schedule will probably be adopted on Wednesday. Another interesting feature of the meeting will be the possibility of numerous deals being consummated. The New York team will probably see many new faces.

Two Parties Sail on the Werra.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—On the North German Lloyd steamship Werra, which left for the Mediterranean, were two parties of tourists. The larger party was composed of clergymen and Bible students bound for the Holy Land, the smaller party of scientists bound for Sumatra to view the eclipse of the sun on May 17. There were 38 members of the first party. They will be absent for more than three months.

The Solace Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The transport Solace has arrived here from Manila with 6 officers and 17 privates sick and wounded. She also brought 13 military prisoners, among whom is Frederick M. Baker, a deserter who was captured while serving as an officer in the Filipino army. He is under a sentence of life imprisonment.

The Manchesters Leave Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25.—The Duke and Duchess of Manchester, with Lord Lambert, left last night for New York and will sail Wednesday next for England. He will return next June to witness the yacht races.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FEB. 25, 1901.

COMING EVENTS

February 25—Meeting of Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital.
February 25—Special meeting of Common Council.
February 25—Entertainment of Mizpah Lodge at S. of T. Hall.
February 25—Meeting of North Plainfield Board of Education.
February 25—Entertainment at Park Club.
February 25—Evangelistic meeting at First Baptist church. Evening.

The Gospel Meetings.

All through the country, the evangelical churches have united as far as possible to usher in the new century with a series of evangelistic meetings which are planned to be larger and of more far reaching influence than those held in previous years. In Plainfield this gospel campaign opened last evening when a great union meeting was held in the First Baptist church. All this week, the services will be continued under the charge of Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, pastor of a Brooklyn church. The following week, William Phillips Hall, the well-known evangelist, will come to this city and continue the meetings for ten days longer.

The size and effectiveness of these meetings, which were inaugurated last evening, has been greatly increased owing to the remarkable spirit of Christian unity which prevails among the local churches. It has long been a subject for congratulation that the various denominational troubles, which have unfortunately occurred in other cities, have been entirely absent here. The local pastors have long been in accord and this agreement to sink denominational differences, with a view to advancing the cause for which they are all working, has certainly increased the success of their efforts.

It was the Minister's Association which started this movement and has, with the assistance of a few lay members of the church, arranged for these meetings, the first of which was held last evening. The attendance at last evening's meeting was remarkably large and promises that there will be no lack of interest in those to follow.

The first issue of the Newark Sunday News made its appearance yesterday morning. The Newark Daily News has long been known as the largest and most enterprising newspaper in New Jersey and its venture into the field of Sunday journalism was watched with special interest. The Sunday News proved to be as successful a publication as The Daily News. Yesterday it was composed of four sections of thirty six pages in all. The regular news service of the daily issue was continued, and there were in addition many articles of interest to New Jersey and all the country. All departments are well treated and the initial number compared very favorably with the Sunday issues of many of the metropolitan newspapers. It was particularly for New Jersey readers and contained much information of special interest to them. There is no doubt about the success of the Newark Sunday News.

The street committee of the Common Council, now that the necessary funds have been provided, is preparing to advance the work of giving the city proper street signs. There should be no delay in selecting the proper signs and having them placed in position. Every spring there is an influx of visitors who come here to consider the advantages of Plainfield as a residental city. These signs should be in position before the advance guard of this army of visitors arrives.

According to law, applications for hotel and saloon licenses in this city must be advertised a certain length of time. That time had not expired last Monday so the Council was unable to act on the license applications then. A special meeting of the Common Council will be held this evening, however, when the applications will be acted upon. There is no doubt but that they will all be granted.

In an effort to influence public opinion in favor of the consolidation of spring and fall elections, the advocates of that measure have taken a whole page in the Newark News and therein explain what great advantages to Newark and Essex county, the consolidation would bring about. It is only another evidence that people are beginning to appreciate the real value of newspaper advertising.

All through the State, the fate of the anti-spring election bill is watched with interest. It is a subject on which there is a great diversity of opinion even in the ranks of the Republican party. In the rural districts, the feeling seems to be against it. No expression of opinion has yet been heard from the Plainfield leaders.

It is a fact to be regretted that there are signs of unusual bitterness in the coming campaign in North Plainfield. A good healthy contest is an excellent thing for a municipality but no good will come from introducing personalities into the fight.

It is remarkable the amount of rubbish which collects in the bed of Green brook. The appearance of that stream from the new bridge which connects Madison avenue and Duer street is a blot on the beauty of this fair city.

If there is going to be a speedway in Plainfield, the horsemen of the city will have to act without delay. If they will do their share, the city officials are likely to look on the plan with approval.

The members of both Houses of the New Jersey Legislature will meet again this evening. That troublesome question of the rearrangement of the Congressional districts is yet to be settled.

Overseer of the Poor Alexander M. Ayres has begun his duties and it will now be possible to see whether the alms committee was justified in its choice.

The Morris County Chronicle has issued a particularly attractive Washington's Birthday issue.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and its Citizens.

Hon. Alvah A. Clark does not believe in Bryanism any more today than he did before election. And he is firm enough in his convictions to say so. Mr. Clark does not consider that he was in error last fall and at the dinner in Jersey City last week he made bold to tell his brother Democrats that he did not think the people of New Jersey were ready for any such doctrine. In these days of straddling Democrats it is a relief to see one of them plant his feet upon the old-time Democratic platform and stay there.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

* * * * * *

A bill has been introduced by Senator Reed which abolishes the poll tax in the State. It is doubtful that the bill will become a law and there are many reasons why it should not. The poll tax goes direct to the township or municipal treasury and is quite an item in the financial column. It would take considerable increase in the tax rate on real estate and personal property to net the amount of the poll tax, and as most of those who pay poll tax have no other tax to pay, there is no reason why they should not pay their share for maintaining the government which they enjoy.—Hunterdon Gazette of High Bridge.

* * * * * *

Hon. A. A. Clark has justified the opposition recently made to him by the Democrats of most of the State, by going to a "Robert Davis" banquet in Jersey City and publicly boasting that he, in his exalted wisdom and Democratic purity, opposed the Democratic Presidential ticket in both the last two elections. This speech, however, has created such general disgust and indignation in Hudson county that Mr. Davis' members of the Legislature, who made Mr. Clark a senatorial candidate in so undemocratic a way, are not likely to soon be again elected to anything by that people, no matter who may nominate them.—Clinton Democrat.

Proposed Increase of Death Benefit.

The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet Thursday evening and discuss the question of increasing the death benefit fund from $250 to $500. There is a strong feeling that such a change would be advisable and it would mean an increase of only 10 cents a week to get the double amount. A full attendance of members is desired at the meeting.

We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

RISKS OF SHOPPING.

How a Chicago Girl Was Cheated Out of a Thousand Dollars.

Just Because the Store Detective Wouldn't Arrest Her for Shoplifting—How Another Maid Became a Thief Unconsciously.

"I've just lost a thousand dollars," said the girl with the pensive face, casually.

"Well, it's hard to keep track of such a small sum in one's purse," was the rejoinder the sarcastic young woman in the Morris chair made.

The pensive girl's nose, says the Chicago Daily News, wrinkled in disdain "It was this way," she explained. "I was coming home with one of the latest novels my friend on the North side had lent me. The book I carried was brand new and I was going through a department store and happened to stop and look at some books in the book department. It was then I thought of it They are always on the lookout for shop-lifters, you know, and it suddenly occurred to me that it was quite likely I would feel the heavy hand of a house detective on my shoulder as I walked out of the store. In fact, I didn't quite see how a detective who was doing his duty could avoid nabbing me. There I was loitering around the books and intending to walk away with a brand-new, unwrapped novel under my arm What grounds would the detective have for believing I hadn't stolen it? I decided to remonstrate gently, but firmly with him. He would scoff. Thereupon I would consent to be led away. I would demand being taken to the manager. I would state my case to him in a quiet, ladylike, haughty manner which would cow him, so different would it be from the usual hysterical threats of the real shoplifters. He would be convinced and apologize and hope it was all right. Then I would smile frostily and make no move toward going. 'Oh, no,' I would say, 'it is not all right. You know perfectly well what a box you and your bright detectives have got yourselves into. I have a good damage case against this store and I intend to put it into the hands of my lawyer. Either that and the annoying publicity for you or you sit down and sign a check for a thousand dollars and hand it to me.' Of course he would be glad to get out of it for a paltry thousand and I would depart, planning a summer trip to Europe."

The fascinated audience was listening breathlessly.

The pensive girl drew a long, long sigh. "But the horrid house detective let me walk out right under his nose and I flashed the book in his very face. I could have hit him, I was so mad."

"It was a shame!" sympathized the listening chorus.

"I did shoplift once," the young woman with a reputation for painful honesty broke the silence. Everybody said: "What!" and sat up.

She shuddered. "It was this way: It gives me cold creeps yet when I think what might have happened to me. I was buying some cheap stickpins at the jewelry counter in a department store and had laid down on the card-filled trays on the counter a package I carried which was fastened with two crosswise rubber bands. When my pins and change came I picked up my package and sauntered out. I walked a block and was waiting on the corner for my street car when my hand chanced to rub the under side of the parcel. I felt something strange. I looked. There, slipped under the rubber bands, were two cards, each holding a set of cuff links and shirtwaist buttons. They were expensive ones, too. When I got my breath I started and just ran back to that jewelry counter and almost threw the cards at the clerk, as I explained how I had accidentally walked off with them. I had chills all the way home. If a floor walker or detective had noticed them as I was leaving the first time he'd have put me in the police station sure as fate. There would have been absolutely no way of proving I hadn't intentionally taken them. At the best, the firm would have to let me go with a solemn warning never to do it again. And I know I'd have been a thief from that day in spite of myself, just to carry out their idea of me. Sort of hypnotic effect, you know."

"H'm!" commented the sarcastic girl. "The moral we draw from these harrowing experiences, young women, in regard to shopping, is—don't. Besides, think of all the things you can buy with the money you save!"

Depew's Latest Conundrum.

Senator Depew's latest is this: "If an empty barrel weighs ten pounds, what can you fill it with to make it weigh seven pounds?" The answer is: "Fill it full of holes."

LODGE GOAT IS BUSY

Winter the Harvest Season of Most Secret Societies.

More Members Join Then Than at Any Other Time of the Year—Considerable Horse Play Practiced in Some Orders.

During the cold months of winter is the harvest time of the lodges and secret society organizations. Now is the time when these institutions get the greatest attention from the men. There is no golf, bicycling for pleasure, horseback riding, yachting or scarcely any outdoor pleasures whatever.

Although there was never in all probability never any fact upon which to base the old time-honored fiction about the candidate riding a goat on the night of his initiation into a secret society, yet the goat-riding feature will very likely be attributed to this ceremony by the uninitiated for all time to come. It goes without saying that in the more important secret societies the initiation ceremonies are conducted with considerable dignity, yet from all that has been said and written upon the subject it would seem that the belief is warranted that at least in some of these fraternities the initiation ceremonies are attended with a number of odd features. There is also little doubt that in some of the orders of the second and third class there is considerable horseplay indulged in in the initiation.

Occasionally the newspapers chronicle injuries said to have been received by men in initiation into this or that lodge, but it is noticeable that the fraternities mentioned in connection with these stories are not those of the highest standing. One of the last incidents of this character occurred out in Iowa An initiate was badly injured, so ran the story, by being seated in a chair into the bottom of which electric currents were run. The initiate was kept in this electric chair so long that he was seriously burned and shocked by the electricity.

Among the stories in regard to initiations which floated about in public for many years, says the Chicago

BEFORE HIS ROYAL NIBS.

Chronicle, are those which tell of the use of imitation knives, ice, hot irons, etc. One story which used to be commonly related was that which told of an apparently horrible jump which initiates were compelled to take. According to this story the blindfold was taken from the eyes of the initiate and he found himself standing at the edge of a deep hole at the bottom of which he beheld scores of glittering sharp knives. Then the initiate was told that he must jump upon these knives. His feet were bared to give the knives a better chance to cut and he was then ordered to jump. If the candidate demurred he was then pushed over the edge to his fate. The sufferings of the candidate all took place while he was falling through the air toward the knives, for when he landed he found that the glittering knives were made of rubber and that his bare feet found no difficulty in turning the forbidding-looking edges.

The red-hot iron, which of course looked very forbidding from a distance, received its ruddy glow from a coat of paint, and the candidate was agreeably surprised to find when it touched his skin the flesh failed to burn. Another old game said to have been worked with more or less frequency upon initiates was the use of sharp pieces of ice. These were used, according to the story, while the blindfold was over the eyes of the candidate. Every ruse was used to make the candidate think that preparations were being made to brand him with a red-hot iron. His back was bared and nearby sounds were made as if an iron rod were being heated in a charcoal furnace. Often an iron was actually heated, for the heat was needed in the deception. Finally, when all was ready, the iron, or something else hot, was brought near the face of the candidate to let him know that the red-hot branding iron was ready. Then some one proceeded to draw the sharp pieces of ice over the man's back while another participant burned horse's hoof under the initiate's nose to make him think he smelled burning flesh. It is said this game was quite effective and that often the victim yelled because he imagined he was suffering terrible pain.

J., have signed the following pledge: "I hereby promise not to keep company with or to marry any man who is not a total abstainer from the use of all intoxicating liquors, including wine, beer and cider, and I promise to abstain from the same myself. I won't marry a man to save him."

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. In der „Pfälzer Lehrerzeitung" waren vor Kurzem 13 erledigte Schulstellen ausgeschrieben, darunter vier zum zweiten Male. Zur Zeit können 150 Lehrerstellen der Pfalz in Folge des Lehrermangels nicht besetzt werden.—Mit der letzthin im Cirkus Busch in Berlin stattgefundenen Generalversammlung des Bundes der Landwirthe war auch eine Ausstellung von Pfälzer Weinen verbunden, um diesen mehr Eingang im Norden zu verschaffen.

Kaiserslautern. Auf der Bismarckhöhe bei Heidelberg erschoß sich Otto Specht, Redakteur der „Pfälzischen Presse" in Kaiserslautern. Lebensüberdruß war die Ursache der That.

Ludwigshafen. Während der Arbeit gerieth der Vorarbeiter Christof Kesser in der chemischen Fabrik Gebrüder Giulini in die Transmission und wurde zermalmt.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Die Künstlergesellschaft „Bergwerk," die während der literarisch-künstlerischen Glanzperiode Stuttgarts von dem in 1877 verstorbenen Schriftsteller Hackländer gegründet wurde, feierte jüngst ihr 50jähriges Bestehen. Noch heute gilt die vor einem halben Jahrhundert geschaffene „Bergordnung," noch heute erscheint die „Knappschaft" bei ihren Zusammenkünften im Grubenkittel und „befährt den Schacht."—Gestorben sind hierorts die Gründerin und Leiterin des hiesigen Mädchengymnasiums, Frau Gertrud Schwend, geb. Baronin v. Uxkull, sowie der Forstrath a. D. Hermann Hopfengärtner.

Ebingen. Auf offener Straße erschoß sich der 50 Jahre alte Hutmacher N. Scheimkofer, nachdem er unmittelbar vorher mit seiner Frau einen Wortwechsel gehabt hatte.

Heilbronn. Eine begeisterte Sympathiekundgebung für die Buren ist hier in den „Kilians-Hallen" durch eine imposante Versammlung, die von Angehörigen aller Stände besucht war, zum Ausdruck gekommen. Professor Quidde-München verbreitete sich in eindrucksvollen Ausführungen über die Ungerechtigkeiten, mit denen der Krieg in Transvaal heraufbeschworen und geführt worden sei. Nach Quidde sprach der Burenleutnant De Wet, der von den Greueln und den Schädigungen des Feldzuges ergreifende Bilder entrollte.

Ulm. Jüngsthin begann man mit der endgiltigen Freilegung des Münsterplatzes. Die noch stehenden Baracken aus der Zeit des Münsterbaues wurden entfernt, und der Platz, der jetzt schon theilweise mit jungen Bäumchen bepflanzt ist, wird mit gärtnerischen Anlagen geschmückt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Der Verband der badischen Eisenbahnbediensteten hat sich ein Organ geschaffen, den „Badischen Eisenbahner," der in Karlsruhe gedruckt wird. Das Blatt tritt für die Hebung und wirthschaftliche Besserstellung der Bahnbediensteten und Bahnarbeiter ein.

Baden-Baden. Der Fremdenbesuch unseres Badeortes belief sich im verflossenen Jahre auf 72,055; er blieb um 1414 Personen hinter dem des Jahres 1899, dem höchsten bis jetzt erreichten, zurück. Die Abnahme betraf lediglich die Besucher aus dem Auslande, namentlich die Franzosen, während die Zahl der reichsdeutschen Gäste um nahezu 1000, gegenüber dem Vorjahre, gestiegen war.

Gengenbach. Oberförster Mezel, der in Freiburg verschieden und Ende der sechziger Jahre und Anfang der siebziger Jahre hier angestellt war, hat der hiesigen evangelischen Gemeinde das Legat von 5000 Mark vermacht.

Heidelberg. Als weiteres Opfer der Eisenbahnkatastrophe am Karlsthor am 17. Oktober v. J. ist neulich der Kaufmann Karl Glänzer aus Frankfurt a. M. im hiesigen akademischen Krankenhause gestorben. Es befinden sich jetzt noch sechs Schwerverletzte in der chirurgischen Klinik in Behandlung.

Lörrach. Letzthin wurde im Hofe eines unbewohnten Landgutes im benachbarten Grenzach die Leiche eines jungen Mädchens aufgefunden. Zwei Schüsse in der rechten Schläfe und der neben der Todten liegende Revolver zeigten an, daß die Unglückliche sich das Leben genommen hatte. Man erkannte in ihr die 20jährige Tochter des verstorbenen Professors Miescher in Basel, Frieda.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Zu Ostern wird in den Reichslanden das preußische Schulsystem eingeführt. — Während eines Vortrages des Unterstaatssekretärs Petri in der Konferenz praktischer Juristen wurde ein Amtsrichter plötzlich tobsüchtig und unterbrach den Redner mit den Worten: „Zum Kuckuck das verflixte Gesetzbuch!" Der Kranke wurde in die Heilanstalt Stephansfeld überführt.

THE NEW SPRING HATS.

Roses and Chiffon Prevail—Some Odd Shapes For Everyday Wear.

The new spring millinery shows us that flowers are going to be the one great style for trimming, and even now there are whole hats made of parma and blue violets. The green leaves are coated with a covering of chiffon or crepe lisse, which gives them a frosted appearance most charming to see. From present expectation more flowers will be used this season than before for many years, and this is the natural result of having been so long obliged to wear draperies of liberty, taffeta and other and heavier materials, to say nothing of the tulles and mulls which have formed the largest part of all our hats for so long. Now the frames are made of beautiful Italian straw and chip, with horsehairs intermingled to give the effect of lace. Over the surface of some gold spangles are scattered. Horsehair, or, I believe they call it, neapolitan, is rather a risky thing to wear out in a shower, for the hair curls and straightens in the most grotesque manner, but so long as it is kept dry it is beautiful.

Some of the black horsehair braids are woven in one inch widths and look like loose worsted braid save that they have a sort of scalloped edge done in gold cord. When this is sewed round and round to make the hat, the effect becomes one of black and gold and is exceptionally rich.

The shapes are innumerable. Among them we find rough riders, straw Ladysmiths, sailors, both short and long backed, and all the shepherdess forms, alpines, berets, toques, turbans and Aiglons. Very many hats for spring are made of white or black chiffon or both and the whole almost covered with roses or any other flower preferred. One hat of indefinite shape is twisted of brim and tortured of crown so that dozens of little dents are made, in which are stuck hundreds of violets almost hidden in their foliage. These are mingled with black tulle, which seems to show them off better than any other fabric.

Thousands of straw hats are made to be trimmed with sashes of surah, liberty and no end of Roman stripes, to say nothing of polka dotted and Persian flowered silks. One shape is called the cyclone and is somewhat like an English walking hat. It is made of the coarsest straw and has but a scarf of dotted surah around it, with a row of the braid along the center. The Anna D. is made a flat front brim, and the back part is turned up high. The crown is round, and there is a crush scarf of dotted blue and white surah, with a fancy buckle in front. The Rialto has a square, flat crown and a round brim and a drapery of Persian, with a small bow and large fancy buckle at the side. This is a hat for which I predict much success. The crown is quite high. The straw is very rough and coarse. The Baden-Powell is shaped much like the Ladysmith of last season and is trimmed with a Roman scarf in many colors on the bias. These are what are called ready to wear hats and are for every day, but they will all be well liked, as they are jaunty and becoming while so easy to keep in order.

One of the handsomest hat effects is that where the brim is of yellow straw, with black chenille run in, and the crown of black neapolitan in a Tam shape, and all around the brim is a row of pink roses and at the left side such a mass of roses that one wonders how they could all be gathered there. Some of the hats are raised high, and a band of velvet is set along under the brim at that side to hold it on the head, and the place thus left is literally crushed full of flowers, and often the hat has but foliage, as that alone is very fashionable, and indeed it is very beautiful.

Regarding the flowers, one may say that they are the most important of the new millinery, for they and perhaps a little lace and a small amount of tulle will be about all the trimming. Pink roses in every known and some hitherto unknown shades are seen, but few red ones. Various other pink flowers, poppies, orchids and numbers of wild flowers in pink, among them the tiny pimpernel, laurel, eglantine, peach and apple blossoms, are seen. Some of the field flowers are new to millinery—for instance, marshmallow and "Bouncing Bet." All these are used with forget-menots, cornflowers and morning glories and so many more that this page could scarcely hold them. The field flowers, with any amount of foliage, are tied up in bunches and put on the hats so. They are mingled with fancy straw twists.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

Why the "Plebe" Cadets Never Have Complained

It Is Not Honor Alone That Prevents Their Reporting the Hazers

VERY few officers of the army who are graduates of West Point can be found who will admit that such a thing as severe hazing ever existed at the military academy. Few of them deny, and the majority of them indorse, what might be called a light form of hazing, which exists especially during the days of the summer camp, when the new cadets, the men who have but joined the academy a few days before the camp is established, do the majority of the work, while the older men do the bossing.

There have been books almost without number written of the life at West Point. It is a popular theme with army officers, and there is such a fascination about the life of a West Point cadet to the average American boy, that all of them have found a ready sale. Yet in none of them that I have ever examined have I discoverey any accounts of "fights" or other severe hazing. I know personally a large number of men who have studied at West Point, yet of all to whom I have ever talked upon the subject, but one, and he has resigned from the service, ever admitted that he took part in or witnessed a fight while at the academy. That such a thing as hazing exists at the institution has been proven both by the congressional committee investigating the conditions there and by the action on the part of the cadets in abolishing the practice, but as an interesting experience, get an army officer to acknowledge its existence while he was there, if you can.

THE BARRACKS AT WEST POINT.

Since the sittings of the congressional committee have brought the subject before the public people have asked: "Why do the 'plebes' permit the practice; why will they submit to the indignities offered them? Army officers on duty at the Point, who are responsible for the governing of the institution, say there are strict rules against hazing, and that in every case which has come within their knowledge the culprits have been severely punished and in some cases expelled. Why do not the unhappy 'plebes' complain to these officers and so put a stop to the practice?"

One of the first things the "plebe" learns after he enters the academy is to keep his own council, and it is well for him that he does so. The "plebe" who made such a report would never graduate; the demerits entered against him would prevent his completing the first year of his course, for the standing in discipline counts quite as much as the average in any of the studies given. The officers of the cadet battalion are taken from the ranks of the older classes. It is their place to report all breaches of discipline of those beneath them in rank. The rules governing the discipline of the battalion are very strict, and for each infraction one or more demerit marks are counted up. A cadet officer, while telling nothing but the truth, can so hamper anyone coming under his authority by the reports against him that graduation would be impossible. Anyone receiving 100 demerit marks in six months is dismissed from the academy, and they accumulate rapidly against the "plebe" who questions the authority, whether right or wrong, of the older classmen.

The following extracts from the reports of cadet officers against those who come under their authority will show how strict is the discipline at the academy, and give an idea of how easily an older classman might make it disagreeable for what he would term "a fresh plebe:"

Floor not properly swept at a. m. inspection.

Bedding not properly folded at police inspection.

Late at dinner formation.

Calling for articles of food in an unnecessarily loud tone of voice at supper.

Gloves in clothes press not neatly arranged at morning inspection.

Appearing in mathematical section room with shoes not properly polished.

Inattention in mathematical reception room.

Shoulder belt too short at inspection.

Dust in chamber of rifle at inspection.

In dressing gown at a. m. inspection.

Wheeling improperly by fours at drill.

Absent from quarters at nine a. m.

Cap visor dusty at guard mounting.

Not reporting a cadet for being late at breakfast.

These and many other reports may be made against a cadet. True, there is an opportunity offered for those against whom the reports are made to offer explanation, and if satisfactory the demerits are crossed off, but so numerous are the rules that may be infringed that the most perfect would go down to defeat before the long list of demerits for which no reasonable explanation could be offered if he had every man in the classes above him on the alert to catch his misdemeanors for the purpose of reporting them.

So it is that before the first week at the academy is completed the "plebe" learns to keep his own council and take what comes to him without complaint. For these reasons the "plebes" infariably answer "no" when at the close of each day in camp they are asked by the army officers if they have any complaints to make against upper classmen. Complaints they may have in abundance, but they have learned that it is not best for themselves to express them.

The action of the cadets in voluntarily abolishing the practice of hazing at the academy, so far as it concerns "fights" and other serious methods, may be effective, but army officers who have been through the mill have but little faith, and, indeed, do not see the necessity of stopping the milder forms of hazing that every "plebe" meets with during the days of the summer camp. They believe it strengthens the all-important discipline in the batallion and develops the regard for the importance of detail in the mind of the new men.

Lieut. Hugh T. Reed, in his book, "Cadet Life at West Point," gives a good idea of this method of hazing in a chapter devoted to the summer camp. We quote the following as an example:

"The yearlings kindly (?) showed the 'plebes' how to clean rifles, and this is the way they did it: 'Come here, Plebe; you'll soon be getting your guns, so I'll teach you how to clean yours. Just get that gun over there in my rack; that's the one; get the cleaning materials in the candle box, take out a rag pour oil on it; that's it. Lay the gun in your lap, half cock the piece, open the chamber. Why, you're doing well. See the rust in the breech block? Well, get a small stick out of the candle box, put a bit of rag over it, pour a little oil on the rag, rub it on the rusty place. Rub hard; elbow grease is what counts most, so don't be afraid to use plenty of it,' and so on until the yearling's gun showed an improvement. 'I'll call you again soon to give you another lesson; that'll do now.' Strange as it may appear, even the first-class men condescended to teach us some things, and even the cadet officers showed us how to clean their breast plates. The old cadets never told us, in so many words, to do anything of a menial character, but their broad hints were very persuasive."

It is this kind of hazing that the majority of West Point graduates believe will never, and perhaps should never, be abolished. It does no one any bodily injury, and it teaches a regard for authority, though the source of the authority may not at all times be appreciated.

But, while army officers believe that these milder methods will be kept up, and the "plebes" will continue to clean the tents, equipments and police the camp grounds for the older classmen in the future as they have in the past, they are equally confident that the actions taken by the cadets will result in the complete abolishment of the brutal forms of hazing and that historic old Fort Clinton will see but few, if any, more fistic encounters, and that the barracks life through the winter will be free from the escapades that many of the best officers of the army on duty at the academy have been unable to prevent. YANKEE'S FROG FARM.

Man Down at Ware, Mass., Expects to Make a Large Fortune Out of His Unique Enterprise.

A Boston paper is authority for the statement that at Ware, Mass., there is a frog farm which raises, or will raise, 100,000 frogs before it is through, and which bids fair to make its owner, Mr Merrill, a wealthy man.

This farm, it is said, has five sizable ponds, which are connected by small canals, which the frogs in various stages are to use free of charge. As they grow they are successively put into larger ponds until they attain their fatal majority, when they are shipped away to Boston, New York and other eastern cities.

Their fate is sealed then, for no frog ever returns to his happy home after he falls into the hands of a cafe chef.

A stock pond, a square cement-lined inclosure, is used to keep the croakers in while awaiting shipment.

A curious structure is the "thawing room." This is a small house, nearly air-tight, with a stove, and in it are placed frogs that become dangerously chilled during the cold weather, and where they are revived.

Mr. Merrill lives close to his frogs in a neat little cottage which he calls his bungalow.

The townspeople of Ware are not enthusiastic over the new industry, as they fear that when summer comes the songs of the deep-throated "bulls" will make rest impossible. As the manager of the frog farm declares his belief in the feasibility of raising thousands of frogs from tadpoles, it is quite likely that the fears of the other Wareans are well-grounded.

But while they are worrying over the possibility of a chorus of frog music 100,000 strong, others recall a short story in one of the magazines recently which told of the disastrous end of a somewhat similar scheme.

HORSE IN DRUG STORE.

His Actions Make the Proverbial Bull in the China Shop Look Like Thirty Cents.

Which can play havoc the better—a bull in a china shop or a horse in a drug store? John L. House, proprietor of the pharmacy at St. Mark's and Albany avenues, Brooklyn, is of the opinion that the horse, under such circumstances, can make the bull look like a piece of embalmed beef.

A bay gelding, attached to a supply wagon of St. John's home for boys, plunged into House's drug store the other day, and, with a horse laugh, swept a bottle of vanilla sirup off the marble counter in front of the soda water fountain.

"There's no snap in that!" exclaimed the gelding. "What I really need on this cold morning is a little hot chocolate," and leaping on the counter with his fore feet he smashed it.

"THERE'S NO SNAP IN THAT!"

"Now for a perfecto," he continued, and he drove one iron-shod hoof through the cigar case.

"If I had a stepladder," he went on, "I would sample some of those tinctures on the top shelf." But at that moment the flooring gave way, and the horse, still in the shafts of the wagon, broke through, and his fun was over.

The belief in the neighborhood is that if it hadn't been for the wagon the horse would have started in to put up prescriptions for the grip.

Cow Succumbs to Yeast.

Some powerful yeast-cake caused the death of a cow in Larimer county, Colorado. It is stated that the animal while rummaging through a summer kitchen found and swallowed an old umbrella and a cake of yeast. The yeast, fermenting in the poor beast's stomach, raised the umbrella, and she died in great agony.

Some Things at Which Ye People of Chicago Do Kick

To kick is human; to kick publicly is a privilege. The citizen of Chicago, man, woman or child, does both. They have grievances that to be appreciated must be known, and they air them in the columns of the public press.

Preparing a Public "Kick."

Some time ago the Chicago Record conceived the brilliant idea of a department devoted to "kicks." It was run in the interests of that class of society who did not appreciate the way the world was going, and in it any man was privileged to "kick" against the weather, the politicians, a delay in the arrival or departure of trains, his neighbors — provided he abstained from anything upon which a libel suit could be founded and signed his name—in fact he could use it to "kick" against anything on this earth or his prospects in the world to come if they did not suit him.

But the department was not popular. Not that there were not enough "kicks" to register, but that no one wished to be considered in the light of a "kicker." If the editor had but headed his column of "kicks," "Suggestions for the Betterment of the World," or something on that order, the department would have been overcrowded with MS. awaiting publication.

But when the "kick" column petered out there came in its place "Letters to the Editor." Every local paper prints them as a feature of its editorial page, and in length they run from a few lines to a column and more. To the man of leisure who has time to read a modern editorial page, they are sometimes interesting.

But, even though they should serve no better purpose, they act as a safety valve for the Chicago public.

Greatness of Rockefeller.

Nor are the "kickers" necessarily confined to the citizens of Chicago. The columns of the Chicago press are open to the world so long as the world subscribes. For instance, there is a man in Wisconsin who had recently a complaint to enter against the editor of an educational journal because the latter had said a Chicago "sycophant" had proven, to his own satisfaction, that Rockefeller was a greater man than Shakespeare, and then went on to prove Rockefeller's eminent ability as a scholar (?) with that of Shakespeare. According to the Wisconsin "kicker" the educational editor used his "keen lance" with telling effect.

Greater Genius Than Shakespeare.

But the Wisconsin man "takes a fall" out of the educational editor, and proves the Chicago man correct in his reasoning, viz: that Rockefeller has made more dollars and cents than did Shakespeare.

The Wisconsin man could never have put the case in a way that would have better pleased the Chicago public. Dollars and cents—that is it—dollars and cents. What is there to live for, from a Chicagoan's standpoint, anyway, but dollars and cents, and has not Rockefeller more of these than Shakespeare ever had?

"The greatest genius, in the estimation of the world, is the man who, by his own efforts, makes the most money," argues the Wisconsin man, and we must admit the soundness of his argument. Yes, he is right. Genius, in this age of the world, and nowhere more than in Chicago, is measured by dollars and cents and the ability to accumulate them.

But laugh and make merry over the Wisconsin man's argument as we may, we must admit that he has hit the popular chord. Everywhere, in Wisconsin as in Chicago, it is dollars and cents that count.

Forced Into Office.

There comes another man—a Chicago man—with a "kick" to register in the columns of the public press. He believes that it should be a criminal offense to put any man's name on an election ticket as a candidate for public office unless that man has given his written consent to the same.

Don't Drag Him Into Office.

Written consents? Why, certainly, let us have them, by all means. Strange that no one ever thought of it before. No man, not even a Chicagoan, to whom the acceptance of public office is a necessary though painful duty, would put the city, state or national government to the mortification of having one of her sons refuse to serve once he has been selected.

But this particular "kicker" advances an even better reason than this for his complaint. He wishes the change in the interests of reform in our politics. As an illustration, just suppose that "the gang" wished to gain control of the white house. For the head of the ticket they would nominate a good man, a man in whom the dear public had every confidence, but who they, individually and collectively, knew would not accept the high honor, though elected. Then for the second place they would select as a candidate a tool of their own making, a man who would turn over the affairs of government to themselves. The election is over, the good man at the head of the ticket has carried the day, and with it his running mate into office. Then inauguration day comes around and the good man says: "Gentlemen, you did not have my consent to elect me president; I refuse to accept." There is nothing for it but to put the second man, the tool, in the white house, and "the gang" rules.

The Chicago complainant only carried his argument to the extent of the selection of delegates to the conventions, with good men for the delegates, and "gang" men for the alternates. It was a good idea, one well worthy a Chicago brain, and we have but elaborated it for him.

The Woman's Side.

Yes, women "kick" as well as men, and often with greater force and more accuracy. One has a complaint to offer because she cannot secure a suitable servant girl at wages she considers proportionate to the work demanded.

Prefers It to Housework.

"Girls, foolish young things, are seeking employment in the downtown stores by the thousands at wages that range from $3 to $5 a week with every expense, including their car fare, to meet, while I cannot get a capable girl to do my housework, though I offer her $4 a week, and all of her expenses paid, with the single exception of her clothing."

There is, however, an afterthought added at the bottom, which may call for an explanation. It says:

"Girls by the dozen have I had, but of what account were they? A week's work and a week's pay, and then they leave to again begin their rounds of search for a place in a store, while I must take in another novice and begin again the system of training that is necessary to make a serviceable domestic. A woman in a woman's place, always, and that is not a store. We should have a law preventing the employment of women as clerks."

That sounds very much as though an explanation was needed. It may be true that the girls left to secure a place in a store, and then again there may be other reasons. There sometimes are.

A Kick That Worked.

A woman will always have the last word. There are no exceptions to prove that rule, but none are needed. We said the afterthought in the above feminine "kick" needed an explanation, and the next day it came. It was, as is customary, addressed "to the editor," and it said:

The "Kick" Brought Results.

"The woman who complains because she cannot get or cannot keep a servant girl because the downtown stores attract them should look nearer home for the cause of her trouble. I worked for her for one week, and in that time did ten dollars' worth of work for which she was to pay me four dollars, but deducted $1.50 for a dish one of her children broke and for which I was blamed. She says 'a woman in woman's place.' Let me offer an amendment by making it 'a wife in a wife's place, and that is her kitchen.' The trouble with women who employ servant girls is they want too much for their money. Only one night a week out, and could have no company at the house, and me engaged to be married. Well I guess not. The man at the store lets me off every night, even though he don't pay the car fare, which my beau does."

The name at the bottom had a true American ring, just as I expected it would have before I got to it. The whole thing sounded that way.

For a week afterwards I watched for an answer to that "kick." It was due. In fact I could see no end to the feud, for which woman would quit first? Reason told me neither. But the answer did not come, and then one day I discovered the reason. The first "kick" had been written by a man, a brilliant son of Chicago, one who counts his pennies, and believes a penny saved is a penny earned. He had written a letter to the editor, signed his wife's name and address, and saved the price of a want "ad." For a week afterwards the poor woman was bothered almost to death by girls seeking a place as a domestic.

day were held last evening at 7:30 o'clock. In addition to those who were on the platform in the morning was Dr. H. K. Carroll. The choir sung exceedingly well the soul-stirring anthem, "The Radiant Morn." "Lead, Kindly Light," sweetly rendered by a soprano soloist, was also an enjoyable part of the musical programme. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. O'Hanlon, who took for his text the 11th verse of the 28th chapter of St. Matthew: "Come all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." Members of the congregation subscribed $938 during the service, and the total subscriptions of the day enable the trustees to discharge the long standing debt.

GOSPEL CAMPAIGN IS AUSPICIOUSLY OPENED

when Christ's disciples were eager to go forth and save souls, Christ said 'Tarry till yet be imbued with power from on high.' Have you been anointed? This is the first requisite to good service.

"There is no word in the English language so appalling as the word 'dead.' If we as ministers realized that the people who come to our churches are spiritually dead, we would all preach far different sermons. I thank God that I never preached a secular sermon or one in which I used a human person for my text. What we want is life, and then we shall be ready and equipped to do valiant service for Christ. As soon as the mother found her son dead, it was her natural concern of love to have him raised to life. That should be our concern, to have the dead raised. When Elisha returned he entered the room where the dead son lay, shut the door and prayed to God. There he received that power through prayer, which enabled him to perform a miracle. How much have you prayed for the dead? Dr. Cuyler once said 'Too many prayers go to the dead-letter office,' and I believe that is true. Brains will never save Plainfield, if it would she would have been saved long ago. Ressurection power, together with warm sympathetic hearts is needed, and may we all receive it very soon."

At the conclusion of Mr. Henderson's sermon, Mr. Jacobs sang very tenderly "Will There be Any Stars in My Crown." Then the preacher asked all Christians to rise who would from that very hour pledge to do all their power to bring their relatives or friends out of Christ to Him. A majority rose, and an opportunity was then given for the unconverted to rise and accept Christ. Many did, and after the many Christian workers present distributed and collected cards from those wishing to accept Christ, the service closed with the benediction by Dr. Yerkes.

GLOATS OVER DEAD FOE.

Californian Celebrated the Death of a Bitter Enemy in an Extraordinary Manner.

The San Francisco Call is authority for the statement that Carlo Bisagno, of Stockton, celebrated the death of his rival, Caesar Casoline, by rather unseemly deportment at the funeral recently. He went to the cemetery in a hack drawn by four white horses, and when the ceremony had reached the "ashes to ashes" point he threw a handful of gravel down on the casket.

Casoline, having become enamored of Mrs. Bisagno some time ago, won her affections from her husband. Mrs. Bisagno left her husband and took charge of Casoline's household. Bisagno was surprised by the decamping of his wife to the home of his rival, but he did not take the law into his own hands. Casoline suddenly died, and Bisagno for a time was disconsolate. It was not the ordinary sorrow which comes to a man who has lost a friend, but was due to the fact that his chance for revenge seemed gone forever.

Suddenly a happy thought came. He would get four white horses and have them harnessed to a hack. Then he would occupy a prominent place in the funeral cortege. With mingled feelings of exultation, hate and joy he proceeded to carry his plans into execution. With white horses there could be no indication that he was mourning, and he was willing his wife should supply the tears and sorrow. On the other hand, it gave him a feeling of self-satisfaction to parade his delight at the death of his enemy.

When the funeral procession wended its way to the last resting place of Casoline Bisagno was conspicuous in it. When thesolemn words "ashes to ashes, dust to dust" were pronounced and the gravedigger scattered some earth over the coffin Bisagno cast in some small rocks. After the obsequies he held a levee with his friends in celebration of the event.

BOY WAS COURAGEOUS.

Refused to Subscribe His Name to a Statement Which He Considered to Be Untrue.

When Dr. James H. Carlisle, the venerable president of Wofford college of South Carolina and counselor of the great Chautauqua system, was a lad of ten years he was attending a typical country school of the old south under the management of a typical teacher of the time, a stern and scholarly old gentleman. One day little James found considerable difficulty in some of his work and his teacher, becoming impatient, took the boy's slate, and, writing upon it the words "I am a fool," gave it to the little fellow, saying: "Here, James, sign your name to that."

"BECAUSE IT IS A LIE, SIR."

The learned pedagogue proceeded with the other lessons, but on coming back to his young charge after a time noticed that the name had not been written. Becoming angry, he demanded in thundering tones:

"James Carlisle, why did you not sign your name to that, sir?"

And little James Carlisle slipped from his place on the high, rough old bench, and, looking his teacher squarely in the eye, replied:

"Because it is a lie, sir!"

Modern Miracle in Kentucky.

Rev. J. W. Iles, assistant pastor of the Methodist chuch at Decoursey, Ky., lived with his wife four years before he saw her. At the age of 17 he was a sufferer from the measles, which left him blind. A few weeks ago a number of his friends assembled in a neighbor's log house, and earnestly prayed for the restoration of his sight. Suddenly four scales fell from his eyes, and now his vision is completely restored.

REPTILES IN TEXAS.

Rattlers Are Still Numerous in the Lone Star State.

One with Four Poison Fangs Recently Found Near San Antonio—Death Does Not Always Result from Their Bite.

Rattlesnakes are not as numerous in Texas as they were years ago, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly, and yet they are sufficiently "in evidence" at this day in various parts of the Lone Star state to add a considerable spice of danger to traveling by foot on the plains and river bottoms. It is said that the heavy rains of recent years have apparently led to an increase in the numbers of these serpents, especially in eastern Texas. The fact that the rattlesnake has a market value is doubtless one reason why the tribe has declined somewhat. Thousands of them are killed every year for their skins and oil. One firm in San Antonio sold over 2,000 rattlesnakes last year. They are bought either dead or alive.

The head of the rattler shown in the illustration was taken near San Antonio by Dr. Rudolph Menger, a prominent physician of that city. This snake had four poison fangs and was considered a rare specimen.

Apropos of this subject of rattlesnakes, the remarkable statement may be quoted, recently made by Prof. Edmund J. James, of the University of Chicago, to the effect that death from rattlesnake bite is a great rarity. He has been working for 20 years, he says, to obtain a well-authenticated case of death from such a cause. Many stories of people dying from rattlesnake poison had been found, upon investigation, to be without foundation. One genuine case discovered recently in Georgia was considered by Prof. James sufficiently remarkable to warrant him in obtaining a sworn affidavit to the fact from the attending physician. The case was that of a man, a "snake charmer," who was bitten by a large rattlesnake of the variety known in the south as the "diamond rattler." The man died from paralysis of the heart, caused by the bite, after lingering in great agony for 18 hours.

HEAD OF RATTLESNAKE.
(Thousands of These Reptiles Are Caught Annually in Texas.)

Referring to Pof. James' statement, Dr. Menger says that his own experience and that of many of his professional associates in Texas indicate that death from rattlesnake bite is not so rare a thing as the Chicago professor would have the world believe.

"Rattlesnakes," says Dr. Menger, "are not in all instances deadly, depending upon the parts injured, the amount of poison injected, susceptibility, etc. Often the snake's tooth breaks off in striking, or it penetrates thick clothing, the boot or shoe, etc., before the fang reaches the flesh, and in these cases only painful and superficial wounds are inflicted, with, perhaps, only slight symptoms of the poison. When, though, the poison fang strikes a vital part, especially blood vessels, the poisoning symptoms are at once alarming, and in most of these instances death generally occurs. Fright during the sudden meeting of a rattlesnake, with a blood-curdling 'hiss' of its rattles, and the consequent shock upon the nervous system, especially the heart centers, undoubtedly has also produced sudden death."

Dr. Menger adds that during his own experience as city health officer of San Antonio, and in his own private practice, he had known of no less than six deaths from rattlesnake poison. In one instance a farmer at Medina, some 25 miles west of San Antonio, in plowing his field came across a rattler, his plow, which severed the snake in two parts, leaving only about six inches of the creature's neck and head. The farmer thought the snake dead, and went on plowing. In turning back from the opposite end to the place where the plow had run over the reptile he noticed something like a stick or branch of a tree among the weeds, and, in the act of picking it up, he unfortunately seized the severed snake's neck. With a sudden strike the rattler plunged its fangs into the farmer's hand, and before five hours passed the man was dead.

Results of Raines Law.

New York's Raines law regulating saloons has yielded $61,000,000 to the state and local treasuries since its passage five years ago. Saloons have decreased from 33,000 to 27,000, and arrests for drunkenness diminished from 12 to 9 for each 1,000 of population.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

There will be no performances by the Broadway Theatre Stock Company a Music Hall this week, the organization for some unaccountable reason having failed to put in an appearance, but late Saturday night Manager Maze Edwards succeeded in making arrangements with Manager T. W. Dinkins, of the Bon Ton Theatre, Jersey City, for a performance of "The Utopians," a famous extravaganza organization, who will be seen for the first time here Friday night. The great success attained by "The Utopians" is largely due to the many novelties presented by this excellent attraction. This year Manager T. W. Dinkins after careful consideration and considerable research has gotten together a company that promises to eclipse any extravaganza company on the road, and with the assistance of George Totten Smith, the clever librettist, two new and original extravaganzas are presented, which will certainly create a sensation. The first part is a dream of scenic splendor, entitled "In Grand Utopia," and introduces sixteen handsome women in a series of poses, dances and medleys, attired in costly Pierrette costumes. The olio comprises many acts entirely new to the vaudeville stage, among which may be mentioned Odell and Perry in a very funny Irish act; the beautiful Whiting Sisters, serio-comics; the three Hickman Brothers, European eccentrics, in a sensational comedy act, and Garnold and Gilmore, the popular singers, in a repertoire of songs. The entertainment closes with a burlesque on the department store methods and is entitled "Wanna-Macey & Co.," and calls for the full strength of the entire company, including a brass band of ten pieces. During the action of the extravaganza many features of a novel nature will be introduced and the finale is one startling series of evolutions, marches, etc.

HOW IT IS GOING IN DEMOCRATIC CAMP.

Many Candidates Mentioned as Possible Choice in Coming Borough Election.

SEVERAL NAMED FOR MAYOR

FORMER MAYOR SAUNDERS SAYS HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Dr. Zeglio and Former Mayors Wilson and VanWinkle Suggested—On What Grounds Democrats Hope to Win—Candidates Suggested.

Indications point to a lively campaign in North Plainfield. The Democrats are spoiling for a fight and their leaders claim to be industriously at work mapping out plans for the line of action to be pursued. The minority party's primary will not be held until Friday evening. There is more or less conjecture at the present time as to who the party will nominate.

For mayor, the Democrats have several candidates in view. Dr. P. J. Zeglio is the choice of a number of his friends who are actively advocating his candidacy. Then the names of the three former mayors, John F. Wilson, William L. Saunders and John H. VanWinkle, have all been suggested as possibilities.

Former Mayor Saunders when questioned today regarding the possibility of his accepting the nomination replied that under no circumstances would he accept the office. He explained that he had already held the position two terms, and owing to the fact that he is now a very busy man he cannot consider the proposition at all. He thanks his many friends for their kind expression.

There is no scarcity of likely candidates for the Council in the two districts. Samuel Townsend, D. N. VanVliet and Wm. J. Conroy, of the First district, are prominently spoken of in this connection.

In the Second, Frank Krewson has some supporters. The names of John Becker and Tell A. Beguelin are also likely to cut some figure at the primary meeting.

Augustus VanDeventer will be urged to accept the nomination for collector. He is especially equipped for the office, because of his expert knowledge as an accountant.

J. O. Odgood will be brought out for a place on the School Board and with him H. P. Reynolds.

The present head of the State Board of Education Samuel St. John McCutchen, will undoubted be renominated as a member of the local board.

For the assessorship Elston M. French is mentioned. Three years ago Mr. French received over 200 majority at the polls and he is therefore considered a very strong man. Up to this time no opposition has been made to Mr. French's candidacy.

An active Democrat who takes a leading part in political affairs over the brook told a Press reporter that it the intention of the party to place before the people a ticket that is sure to command the attention of the voters.

The gentleman in question stated that Democrats intend to attack the policy of the present administration. The tax rate, he said, has been increased 18 points in the past year and that it will be further increased during the next year in order to meet the extra expense of widening Somerset street.

It is also gathered from the statements of those in a position to know that the minority party will oppose the method of raising the funds necessary to defray the cost of the Somerset street improvements.

Their grievence is that heretofore that the cost of borough improvements of this nature has been largely borne by the persons particularly benefitted, and not by the citizens in general. In the Watchung avenue case the abutting property owners bore two thirds of the entire expense.

"In the case of Somerset street," said a Democrat Saturday, "the entire burden of the cost is saddled on the tax payers at large and a nominal sum has been paid to the adjoining property owners, who in turn are to contribute not one cent towards the improvement of their own property.

"This," said he, "is manifestly unjust and considerable opposition will be made to such practice."

The statements made by the gentleman quoted were endorsed by several other Democratic leaders from over the brook and a warm campaign is anticipated.

This is the situation at present but in a few days matters will take a more definite shape.

HIT IN EYE.

Wm. Addis, Jr., Met With Accident While Working at the Ralph Fire Yesterday Afternoon.

A serious mishap befell Wm. Addis, Jr., as he was at work in the Ralph residence during the second alarm of fire yesterday afternoon. In company with several other firemen he was tearing away the casing of a door when a part of it flew out and struck him directly over the right eye. It is presumed the piece of timber held a nail, as a piece of flesh was gouged out of the lid, but the eyeball remained untouched.

Addis was taken to the hospital in Chief Doane's wagon and the injury was properly dressed. He was forced to return this morning for a second examination and will probably continue treatment for several days in order that no serious results may ensue.

RECEIVED MARTINE'S OFFER.

BUT BOARD OF GOVERNORS TOOK NO ACTION ON HOSPITAL SITE.

Committee Appointed to Confer With Mr. Martine and View the Site He Offers.

A meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg hospital was held last evening at which, in addition to several other matters of importance brought up for consideration, was the formal receiving of James E Martine's offer to donate a site for the proposed new hospital. While the board was duly grately for the offer, the members individually were unfamiliar with the property, having only seen it on paper and for that reason it was deemed best to defer any action until a committee conferred with Mr. Martine and viewed the site.

The matter of selecting the committee for this purpose was left to the discretion of Charles J. Fisk, to whom Mr. Martine first made the offer. The selections will be made as soon as possible in order to expedite matters

Very encouraging reports were also received in regard to the building fund as subscriptions still continue coming in.

ANOTHER FIRE.

Started in Same Place Where Fire Had Originated Less Than Two Hours Before.

Within two hours after the fire department left the residence of George Ralph on Halsey street, yesterday noon after completely extinguishing, as they supposed, a small fire on the second floor, flames again broke out in exactly the same place as on the previous occasion. In spite of the long run the department responded quickly and prevented the complete destruction of the house. The floor in the middle of the house was torn up and soaked with the contents of one tank from the chemical engine. It was afterward thoroughly inspected by Chief Doane in order that the slightest spark should not remain.

The fire in both cases was probably due to a defective chimney, although the second outbreak is a complete mystery to the firemen because it is next to impossible for anything to burn that has been touched by the chemical. The loss will not amount to over $200 and is fully covered by insurance.

SMALLEYS TO BUILD.

Will Soon Start Store and Office Building on North Avenue Where Old Thompson Building Was.

Smalley brothers will commence in the near future the construction of a three story brick building on the lot formerly known as the Thompson property on North avenue. This morning the excavation for the foundation was begun but it will be some time before work on the structure is started as the contract for building has not been given as yet.

The plans of Frederick L Lancaster, the architect for the structure, call for a light brick facade, with two stores on the first floor. The second and third floors will be devoted entirely to offices and possibly on the top floor there will also be a lodge room.

Princeton Alumni Banquet.

The Princeton graduates of Union county will hold their annual banquet in the Royal Arcanum hall, at Elizabeth, on the evening of March 15. The graduate members of Old Nassau, residing in Plainfield and vicinity, have received invitations to attend.

To Be Married in April.

The marriage of Miss Ada Woolston, daughter of Former Councilman L B Woolston, of Fairview avenue, to Wm. N. Woodland, son of Henry Woodland, of Grandview avenue, will take place in April. It will be a home wedding.

LICENSES GRANTED TO FIFTEEN APPLICANTS.

Common Council Considered Applications for Hotel and Saloon Licenses.

ONE DISSENTING VOTE.

COUNCIL WILL REGULATE HORSELESS VEHICLE TRAFFIC.

Councilman Gloak Introduced an Ordinance Providing for Lights and Bells For Automobiles and Limiting Their Speed.

A special meeting of the Common Council was held last evening with eight members present including President Dumont and Councilmen Clifton, VanHerwerden, Tolles, Gloak, Lee, Craig and Buckle. The last two named came in late. Mr. VanHerwerden was excused before the meeting was concluded. It was considerably after 8 o'clock when the meeting was called to order, but as there were not many matters to be considered, the session was not a lengthy one.

The Council chamber was far from being warm. The fire in the stove had gone out, and overcoats and ulsters were far more comfortable than otherwise. It was probably for this reason that the members hastened the business of the evening and left the room as soon as possible.

The principal business was the granting of licenses for saloons and hotels. The present number, fifteen in all, were granted, the only dissenting vote was that of Mr. Craig. Those who received licenses were: J. A. Staats, J. A. Blatz, Henry Haurand, Henry Windham, Hibbard & Jones, John Rafferty, Charles Schantz, J. J. Walshe, Michael Watson, Frank Linke, Eastern Bottling Association, Jacob Blimm, Bernard Clark, Daniel Galbraith and A. D. Findley. There will be no other liquor licenses granted this year, unless it is one for the Hotel Netherwood, which it is customary to grant every summer.

The foregoing licenses were presented by Chairman Gloak, of the license committee, who stated that the committee recommended the granting of the same. He also recommended the granting of licenses for hackmen and peddlers after the usual fees are paid.

Another important action taken by the Council was that in reference to the adoption of an ordinance providing for the operation of automobiles, locomobiles and other similar vehicles. The provisions of the ordinance are that a light, the illuminating power of which can be seen at least 100 yards, must be attached to each vehicle. It is to be lighted an hour after sunset and until one hour before sunrise. The ordinance further provides that there must also be attached a gong, horn or whistle that can be heard 100 yards distant. This alarm must be sounded when approaching another vehicle, a corner or crossing a street. The speed allowed by the ordinance is ten miles an hour.

This ordinance was offered by Mr. Gloak, of the license committee, and for violations of it a penalty of $20 for each offense is attached. Immediately after the adoption on first and second readings and the ordinance was ordered engrossed and advertised. Mr Gloak moved that the application of the Plainfield Automobile Company to operate horseless vehicles in the city, be granted subject to the provisions of the ordinance. It was so ordered. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

A Combination Shop.

Elmer Queen and Charles GaNun will open a combination upholstery and bicycle shop on Somerset street next door to Lafayette Rosenstiehl's barber shop. Mr. Queen will devote his entire attention to the upholstery business and the bicycle trade will be in charge of his partner, Mr. GaNun.

To Hire Night Watchmen.

The Park residents of North Plainfield, growing alarmed at the numerous burglaries of late, have contributed towards a fund to support of a private night watchman for that district. James Block, of Stone street, was selected as watchman and entered upon his duties Thursday evening.

Two Valuable Paintings.

Christian Scheufelin, of Dunellen, has placed two handsome oil paintings from his valuable collection, in the store of the Plainfield Art Company, where they are to be sold at a sacrifice. The paintings are scenic views and are from the brush of the famous Voll weider.

MEEKER'S BILL WENT THROUGH THE HOUSE.

Passed Anti-Spring Election Bill—Senate Will Also Pass It—Governor's Action.

MADE CAUCUS MEASURE.

THREE UNION COUNTY ASSEMBLYMEN VOTED FOR THE BILL.

Both House and Senate Considered Measure in Caucus—Joint Appropriations Committee at Work—Bills Introduced.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Trenton, February 26.—Despite the objections of the legislators from the rural districts, it seems quite probable that the anti spring election bill, which Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker, of Elizabeth, introduced in the Lower House, will soon become a law. It was made a caucus measure last evening and was passed by the Assembly by a vote of 34 to 21. It is generally understood that a majority of the senators have agreed that it shall pass the Upper House as well. On excellent authority, the statement is made that Governor Voorhees will allow the measure to become a law by filing it without his signature.

A conference of the Republican Assemblymen was held previous to the meeting of the Assembly and it was then decided that the bill should go through at last evening's session. The three Assemblymen from Union county all voted for it, as did Hoagland, of Somerset county.

Senator McCarter withdrew his Newark school bill, and later introduced a substitute covering the same ground, which was advanced to third reading and passed.

The bill enables Newark to borrow money for school purposes in anticipation of the payment of taxes, and Mr. McCarter explained the unusual haste by saying that should the bill fail to become a law the schools of Newark would be compelled to close on March 1.

The other business of the evening in both Houses consisted chiefly in the introduction of bills, and, after adjournment, the Republican Senators held a conference on the new congress districts and the anti-spring elections bill.

The joint appropriations committee decided to cut the amount asked for by the New Jersey commissioners to the Pan-American Exposition in two. The commission asked $50,000, but will only get $25 000. The only other matters disposed of was the fixing of the amounts for the National Guard and Naval Reserve. These remain the same as last year.

SOLVED AT LAST.

Servant Girl Problem Settled in Clever Dialogue Given at Mizpah Lodge's Entertainment.

The great American servant problem was satisfactorily solved, to the audience at least, in a dialogue given during the entertainment of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., in Sons of Temperance Hall last evening. It was called "Hiring Help," and the examination, rejection and at last hiring of one of ten applicants furnished a most laughable sketch.

The would-be servants were of all nationalities, ages and color, all of which afforded the members who took part an opportunity to display their talents. Another sketch entitled "Gossip," which required four characters to interpret, provoked much mirth and was presented in a very creditable manner.

In addition to the dialogues the following programme was rendered to the evident appreciation of the large audience: vocal solo, Miss Ethel Reynolds; vocal solo, Mrs. J. A. Stiglitz, accompanied by Miss Margaret Shepherd; recitations, Misses Nettie and Sadie Leichtentritt; recitation, Philip Zimmer; vocal solo, Miss Maude Runyon.

With the aid of refreshments a social hour was afterward passed which brought the evening's enjoyment to a close. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. David Bush, Mrs. Andrew Cox, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Pearson.

Thursday at the same hour he purposes to speak to the men employed in the Scott Press Works. The meetings are for employes only, the public not being admitted.

DEEP INTEREST IN THE GOSPEL CAMPAIGN

Large Attendance at the Evangelistic Meeting in First Baptist Church Last Night.

AFTER MEETING WAS HELD

REV. MR. HENDERSON MADE AN EARNEST PLEA TO SINNERS.

Meeting Opened With Song Service Led by Mr. Jacobs and Chorus Choir—Speaker Pointed Out the Dangers of Delay.

The interest manifested in the evangelistic services held last evening in the First Baptist church augurs well for the success of the gospel meetings inaugurated Sunday evening. A great outpouring of people, largely non-members of church, and a generous and hearty participation in the services, showed that times are ripe for a great religious wave to sweep over Plainfield.

The first row of chairs on the platform was occupied by a number of evangelical ministers, Rev. Dr. D. J Yerkes, and Revs. G. W. Gardner, Charles L. Goodrich, George W. Smith, A. E. Main, John A. McMurray and the evangelist, Rev. Theodore S. Henderson.

The arrangement of the service was practically the same as on the previous meeting. On the specially constructed platform in the front of the edifice was a choir of at least seventy-five, and over these choristers ably presided F. H. Jacobs, who will act as musical conductor during the entire period of the evangelistic meetings.

A service of sacred song served as an introduction to the address made by Evangelist Henderson. It began with a hymn, "Scatter Sunshine" and ended with "Bring Ye All the Tithes," during which all the congregation arose and joined in the chorus.

An appropriate prayer was offered by Rev. A. E. Main, and Rev. Dr. Yerkes took occasion to reiterate the statement made at the Sunday evening service as to the purpose of the collection to be taken up. During the offertory the choir rendered as an anthem, "I Surrender All."

Rev. Mr. Henderson selected as his text the fifty-ninth and sixtieth verses of the CXIX Psalm: "I thought on my ways, and turned my feet unto thy testimonies. I made haste and delayed not to keep thy commandments." The religion of Christ is the great thought provoker because it makes a man think why he is here and where he is going, said the evangelist. He claimed that God wants a man to think of himself, and he asked his hearers to pray to God that they might focus their thoughts on themselves. Then classifying the different types of Christianity he dwelt upon the importance of quality in Christianity in preference to quantity, and he put the general interrogation to the congregation as to what their record was.

Unless one turns immediately, thinking of one's self is valueless. Tomorrow, said he, is a phantom and a dream and a shadow. Now is the accepted time and delays are dangerous. No Christian ever said he turned too soon. After thinking and turning comes the final step—obeying. These, said the evangelist, are necessary to make a Christian.

Cards of declaration of intention to become a Christian were passed among the audience, and any who had turned from Christ or who never knew Him was requested to fill out the blank and return it. A prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Smith and the benediction pronounced by Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

Before dismissing the congregation the evangelist requested that all should stay who had signed the pledge card and desired to follow Christ and also all who desired sincerely to save souls. He then announced to those remaining in the church edifice that it is his intention to form this evening a group of evangelistic workers, whose duty it would be to pray three times a day for the success of the meetings and to make an earnest endeavor to lead at least one soul to Christ.

STAGE TO WATCHUNG.

Texier is Arranging to Run Line of Stages Between Plainfield and Watchung—Five Trips a Day.

The management of the Texier glove factory at Watchung is arranging to have a stage make five trips daily between this city and that place for the accommodation of the employes of the factory and anyone who wishes to ride back and fourth. Several bids have been received to operate a stage line, and the successful bidder will be announced in a few days.

It is proposed to operate the stage trips from March 1. It is also hoped that in the near future Somerset street may be widened as far as Johnston's drive and eventually to Watchung, thus making a fine boulevard. This can be done by co operation on the borough, trolley company and the North Plainfield Township committee.

BOROUGH SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SCHOOL BOARD HELD MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Arranged For Commencement Exercises And For Easter Vacation—Also For Exhibition.

The North Plainfield Board of Education held a meeting last evening in the school house. All current bills were ordered to be paid and there remains a small balance in the hands of Collector Brown, the custodian of school funds. It is the intention of the Board to hold a public exhibition of the work accomplished by the pupils in manual training especially in cooking and woodworking.

The exhibition will be held some afternoon and evening before the time of the annual public school meeting which takes place March 19. The building will be especially lighted for the occasion. afternoon exhibition will be conducted for the mothers of the pupils. The night meeting is held so that the fathers of the children may be able to attend the exercises. Practical work will be done in cooking and wood working in the presence of the public at both exhibitions.

The president of the board, S. St. John McCutchen, at the meeting last evening appointed A. V. D. Honeyman, Dr. J. H. Cooley and John H. VanWinkle as a committee of arrangements for the proposed exhibition.

A communication was received from Councilman John Valiant notifying the board of his willingness to offer the prizes to the members of the graduating class as heretofore. Mr. Valiant in former years has given a $15 gold piece to the pupil attaining the highest average in mathematics, including arithmetic, algebra and geometry. This generous offer of Mr. Valiant was accepted and the prizes will be confined to mathematics as heretofore.

The board fixed the period of the Easter vacation. It will commence Good Friday, April 5, and close Tuesday morning, April 16.

Senator E. C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, was chosen as the commencement day orator. Mr. Stokes was formerly school superintendent of his county and is today a great champion of education.

The evening of June 21 was selected as the time of holding the annual commencement exercises at Music Hall.

PLUMBERS REFUSE TO ACCEPT BOSSES' TERMS

So Non-Union Men Were Put to Work at New Houses This Morning.

GENERAL STRIKE PROBABLE.

JOURNEYMAN PLUMBERS ASK FOR ARBITRATION COMMITTEE.

Fight is Over Recognition of Trades Council by Master Plumbers' Association—Neither Side is Willing to Give in—Meeting Tonight.

The past twenty-four hours have failed to bring any amicable adjustment of the troubles between the Master Plumbers' Association and the Plainfield Building Trades Council. Both employers and employes refuse to recede from the position which they have taken, and unless a settlement is soon reached a general tie-up of all the building trades may be expected.

While the immediate cause of the trouble was that George Schaefer, a member of the firm of Leland & Company, went to work at one of James Manning's new houses on East Front street without first securing a card from the Trades Council, the fight is really one to secure the recognition of the Trades Council by the Master Plumbers' Association. On that point the whole trouble hinges, and until that is finally settled no satisfactory agreement can be reached. It will be remembered that some time ago the Master Plumbers' Association passed a resolution declaring that they would not recognize or affiliate with the Trades Council, while they were perfectly willing to work in harmony with the Journeymen Plumbers' Union.

When the Master Plumbers' Association learned of the strike, which resulted because a "working boss" went to work without having a card from the Trades Council, they notified the Journeymen Plumbers' Union that the boycott must be removed from the new houses where Leland's men had been working or the association would act in the matter. The ultimatum expired at 8 o'clock this morning.

An informal meeting of the Journeymen Plumbers' Union was held last evening when it was decided not to comply with the request of the employers. A communication was sent to the Master Plumbers' Association asking that the trouble be referred to arbitration and that a committee be appointed.

When the regular men did not return to work this morning, Leland & Company put non-union men at work on the Manning houses to complete the job. They were secured in New York. This action was done with the approval of the Master Plumbers' Association. This will undoubtedly result in a strike at every place where Leland's men have been working and may result in a general tieup.

Local plumbers, prominent in the Master Plumbers' Association, deplore the fact that a strike may result but declare that the association will not recognize the Trades Council under any circumstances. They say they are perfectly willing to treat with the Journeymen Plumbers' Union but will have nothing to do with the Trades Council. They believe that other employers in the building trade are of the same opinion.

A meeting of the Master Plumbers' Association was held last evening when it was decided to hold another meeting this evening to which all other employers of labor in the building trades are to be invited. The meeting will be held in the Board of Trade rooms in the Babcock building. There will be a discussion of the present labor trouble and it may result in some form of united action. The communication from the Journeymen Plumbers' Union, asking for arbitration, will not come up at that meeting, of course, but will be considered at the next meeting of the association.

A HAZING EPISODE.

Students Resent a Freshman's Resistance to Discipline.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26. — Henry Schurman, a freshman at the Maryland university, was driven from the grounds of the institution by his fellow students who pelted him with eggs in various stages of decay, dead cats, cabbages and any other missiles they could lay their hands on. This was the result of Schurman's resistance to hazing.

The trouble began about a week ago when several of the students caught Schurman in the dissecting room of the college, bound and gagged him and shaved off his luxuriant mustache, it being a rule among the sophomores that freshmen must be clean shaven. Schurman who is a married man, resented this treatment and had his tormentors haled before a magistrate, who fined the chief offender $25 and costs. This the students made up by contribution, and when Schurman again appeared at class he was roughly treated a second time. Again he appealed to the courts, and two more students were fined, each being taxed $10 and costs. Then the students burned the offending magistrate, who, by the way, is one of the famous Poe family, in effigy, and Schurman decided to stay away from the university until the affair blew over.

Yesterday he concluded that the time was propitious and, escorted by several policemen in a patrol wagon, made his appearance at the entrance. The boys waited until he got inside the grounds and the guardians of the peace had left him, and then the bombardment began.

Accounts as to the result differ. Schurman says he was struck by but two eggs one in the back of the head and the other between the shoulders. The students say he was hit by three dozen eggs, 27 cats and at least a barrel of cabbages. At any rate, he retreated in confusion and has not yet made up his mind as to his future course. It is thought other arrests will follow.

Porto Ricans Start For Inauguration.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 26.—The United States transport Rawlins left for the United States yesterday with the Porto Rican battalion ordered to attend the inauguration. An enormous crowd gathered at the wharf to witness the departure of the steamer. The men, who number 260, seemed delighted at the opportunity to go. The regimental band and all the officers except Lieutenant Colonel Buchanan and Captain Bissell accompanied the detachment. The troops carry complete outfits of winter clothing, but will have no medical attendance beyond the ship's doctor, who is not familiar with the Spanish language. As the climatic changes will be abrupt, the men never having experienced a frost, it is probable that there will be some illness.

Mrs. Nation's Grandson Quits.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Riley White, Mrs. Carrie Nation's grandson, who for several years has been a conspicuous figure in the levee district as the keeper of one of the dives on State street, has reformed. His bar apron has been exchanged for a hatchet, and he has gone to Topeka to join the train of his grandmother. Before White left Chicago for Topeka he bade goodby to his old associates in a grand "blowout" and sold his saloon property, saying that he meant to forever remain out of the business.

Left Much Money.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—It has been discovered that Marietta Doe Hay, who died two weeks ago at Tarrytown, N. Y., left a fortune, although it was supposed she had only a few thousand dollars. She was a peculiar woman in that she hid her money in all sorts of peculiar places and pretended to be poor. Since her death about $100,000 has been found. Sewed into her corset lining was found $1,400. She left a will written by herself. Albert G. Beach of Watertown, N. Y., is named as her executor.

French Explorer Warmly Welcomed.

BORDEAUX, Feb. 26.—M. Gentil, who in 1896 began explorations in the region of the upper Kongo, pushing along the river Chari and finally reaching Lake Tchad, receiving subsequently the post of administrator of the Chari district, and who was the leader of the French expedition which finally resulted early last year in the defeat of Rabah, then the principal chieftain of central Sudan, has arrived here from Africa, meeting with an enthusiastic reception.

Hamilton Gets His Sentence.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Frank H. Hamilton, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, was brought into court yesterday afternoon. Judge Brooks sentenced the prisoner to seven years at hard labor in the state prison at Stillwater for the killing of Leonard Day last November.

ANGLETOWN, Tex., Feb. 26.—W. Munhall of Pittsburg has closed lease contracts for 150,000 acres of land in Brazoria county to prospect for oil. Other contracts have been closed for 50,000 acres more. It is believed the purchasers represent the Standard Oil company.

Bluestone Company Extends.

SCORE FEDERALISTS.

Party Accused of Favoring Protestants.

MEMBERS TO BE REFUSED SACRAMENT

Many Natives Take the Oath of Allegiance—Some Fighting Reported—Peace Negotiations in Northern Panay.

MANILA, Feb. 26.—Rev. Father McKinnon, who was formerly private secretary to Mgr. Chappelle and who is now pastor of the Ermita Catholic church, says that there are upward of 800 native priests in the Philippines opposed to the Federal party and that these will refuse to administer the sacrament to Federalists because they believe the Federal party to be merely a cloak for Protestant attempts to weaken the power of the church of Rome. He referred to the Federal party as "resting on an insecure foundation and destined to crumble soon" and asserted that the Methodist and Presbyterian missionaries were using unfair means to induce Filipinos to leave the Catholic faith. He assailed the character of Senor Buencamino and other evangelical leaders and contended that only by securing the co-operation and good will of the padres could the Americans make permanent progress in the Philippines.

Senor Tavera, president of the Federal party, when the views of Father McKinnon were brought to his attention, replied, "So much the better, as it will bring the matter to an issue."

Senor Tavera asserted that the Federalists who had relatives and friends among the prominent insurgent leaders were endeavoring by correspondence to induce them to surrender, although thus far without result.

Chaplain Fitzgerald administered the oath of allegiance to 2,200 Ilocanos at a church in Vigan Feb. 22, and a parish priest at Santa Catalina administered a similar oath to 700 natives Feb. 24.

Lieutenant West, with a detachment of the crew of the gunboat Laguna de Bay, attacked 200 insurgents under Caballos near Cavinta, Province of Laguna. After a hard fight of 40 minutes the insurgents were dispersed, losing 6 killed and 14 captured.

A detachment of the Forty-seventh volunteer infantry encountered a body of insurgents in the province of Albay, killing 18, and subsequently another body, killing 9. The Americans had no casualties.

A squad of the Eighteenth United States infantry surprised a band of Ladrones at Moosin, island of Panay, killing six. The Americans captured five rifles.

A peace commission is negotiating with the insurgents in northern Panay, and there is a prospect of an early surrender.

The New Star a Wonder.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Regarding the new star recently discovered in the constellation Perseus J. K. Rees, professor of astronomy at Columbia university, said that, owing to the lack of instruments, he had only been able to make an observation of the star with ordinary glasses and that was to observe its brightness. "This temporary star, as it appears to be," the professor continued, "so far as magnitude goes, is the most magnificent temporary star since the star seen in 1572 by Tycho Brahe and others, which appeared in the constellation of Cassiopeia not more than 20 or 25 degrees from where this star is seen."

Mangled by a Bull.

HUDSON, N. Y., Feb. 26.—John Finch, a well to do Columbia county farmer, residing at Rayville, aged 60 years, went to the barnyard on Saturday to feed the cattle, among them a heretofore tame bull. While Finch's back was turned toward the bull the animal attacked him, tossing him repeatedly in the air. Before assistance came Finch was terribly mangled. Efforts to attract the bull's attention proved unavailing. Several pistol shots had no effect, a rifle ball finally stopping the animal's fury. The man is still alive, but has little chance of recovery.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Edward A. Leasure, a former electrician on the battleship Oregon, has pleaded guilty before Judge Hurd in Brooklyn to manslaughter in the second degree for the killing of George Crotty on April 26 last in South Brooklyn with a revolver because, as alleged, he had become afraid that Crotty would sooner or later take his life on account of a dispute over a woman. Besides serving on the Oregon in the Santiago blockade Leasure was under Dewey in the Asiatic squadron.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, Feb. 26.—The one matter of interest in the legislature last night was the Meeker antispring election bill. Practically the entire evening was taken up with caucuses on the bill by the Republican assemblymen and senators. The Republican house members were in caucus for more than an hour, and finally, by a vote of 25 to 16, it was decided to pass the bill in an amended form that had been agreed upon by the committee on municipal corporations.

Ice Jam In the Delaware Broken.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—The ice jam in the Delaware river between Gloucester and Red Bank broke last night, releasing a score of vessels, including many large steamships which had been hemmed in for several hours. The Ericsson from Baltimore, Manhattan from Savannah, August Korff from Bremen, Berkshire from Savannah, Ravenswood from Las Palmas, Saxon from Providence and Spartan from Boston were among the vessels wedged in the ice.

No Bodies From Steamer Wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—There is nothing new regarding the wreck of the steamer Rio de Janeiro. The beaches are being patrolled constantly, and the surface of the bay is being carefully scanned for bodies of victims of the disaster or for flotsam of a variable nature, but so far the efforts of the watchers have not been greatly rewarded. It is the general opinion that few if any bodies from the wreck will be recovered before the end of the week.

Wyoming Mine on Fire.

BOISE CITY, Feb. 26.—A message has just been received by Superintendent Calvin of the Oregon Short line railway stating that mine No. 1 at Diamondville, Wy., is on fire between the sixth and seventh levels. It is thought that the lives of 30 or 40 men are in danger.

CONGER'S WORK DONE

Our Minister to Peking Given a Vacation.

COMMISSIONER ROCKHILL IN CHARGE

Negotiations Practically Complete. Diplomats and Correspondents Will Soon Leave—No Further Trouble Expected.

PEKING, Feb. 26.—Yesterday Mr. Conger turned over the affairs of the United States legation to Mr. W. W. Rockhill, particularly the conduct of the negotiations with the Chinese plenipotentiaries, and he will shortly return to the United States for a six months' vacation.

Americans here feel that this arrangement is a confirmation of the report that everything is practically settled, for Mr. Conger felt it his duty to finish the negotiations satisfactorily. The Pei-ho river will open next week, and then the exodus of diplomats, correspondents and others will begin.

Li Hung Chang says he expects that the imperial court will return to Peking as soon as notification is given that the troops of the allies are evacuating the capital. He also asserts that no further difficulty in the negotiations is possible.

W. W. ROCKHILL.

Some old residents here think there may be difficulty in connection with the ceremonial of receiving the ministers of the powers by the court, but the ministers themselves do not anticipate any.

The German and Russian barracks for the guards of their respective legations will be ready in a month.

Mr. Rockhill attended for the first time a meeting of the foreign envoys in an independent capacity. No business of importance was transacted.

Further Massacres Reported.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Reuter Telegram company has received the following from Shanghai, dated Feb. 26: "Prince Tuan, Prince Chwang Lu and General Tung Fu Hsiang are still taking refuge at Ning-hia-fu, province of Kansu. Two native Christians from Kusihua-cheng, in the northern part of the province of Shansi, report the massacre of 20 male and female missionaries and 9 children who have been missing since October."

The Executions.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The Lokal Anzeiger has the following from Peking, dated Feb. 25: "The execution of Chih Siu, former grand secretary, and Hsu Cheng Yu, son of the notorious Hsu Tung, tomorrow by the hangman will occur upon the same place where last summer two procivilization mandarins were beheaded. The spot is within the German zone. All the other officials whose lives are demanded by the ministers of the powers will be beheaded in Sian-fu."

A German View of Conger's Return.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Commenting upon Mr. Conger's transfer of the affairs of the United States legation in Peking to Mr. Rockhill, the Berliner Tageblatt says, "It is probable that Mr. Conger's leave of absence means his recall, since he has been but imperfectly able to accommodate himself to the lukewarm policy of Washington." Most of the papers believe Mr. Rockhill will act more in harmony with the other powers.

Haitians and Dominicans Clash.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, Feb. 26.—A skirmish has taken place between Haitians and Dominicans at Phitobert, on the northern frontier. A party of Haitians was suddenly attacked by a number of Dominicans. Mrs. Nation Out Again.

Mrs. Nation found two men who were willing to give bonds in the sum of $2,000 to procure her release from the county jail, and she is at liberty. Before she left her cell, however, she had been rejoiced by news of another saloon smashing raid carried out by her emulators in the darkness of the early morning. The Home Defenders raided a beer depository and had a fight with the police, in which one man was shot and a preacher, the leader of the band of smashers, was arrested.

The lecture was distinctly popular in tone and was received with great appreciation.

Chicago Sportsmen's Show.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Elaborate preparations have been made for the National Forest, Fish and Game exposition at the Coliseum which opened today. Under the supervision of Indians, guides and experienced sportsmen the gigantic structure has been transformed from an auditorium into a veritable primeval forest. Hundreds of pines and spruce trees have been stripped to cover the place, and hundreds of others have been put in position to make the scenes more natural. Immense tanks have been built, and in these nearly every known kind of the finny tribe is to be seen, from the giant muskallonge to the diminutive albine brook trout.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

Bank Tax Bills Appear Dead—Good Roads Agitation.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—It is stated on excellent authority that the bills imposing a tax on state and national banks will never reappear from the committee on taxation and retrenchment of the senate. Recently Senator Trainor asked Senator Krum when a hearing was to be held on these bills, and the senator replied rather tersely, "Whenever one is asked for." No hearing has been asked, and the understanding seems to be that the bills are beyond resurrection.

Representatives from the eight judicial districts of the state will assemble in this city this week to appear before legislative committees in behalf of this year's proposed appropriation for good roads improvement.

A bill providing for compulsory arbitration between employer and employee will be introduced in the assembly today by Assemblyman Costello. It is framed on the lines of the New Zealand compulsory arbitration law. The state under its provisions is divided into three arbitration districts.

It is learned that it has been almost definitely settled that the legislature will not adjourn during the week of inauguration in spite of the fact that a former governor of the state is to be inaugurated as vice president.

A TOWN AROUSED.

Matawan, N. J., Tortures a Suspected Firebug.

MATAWAN, N. J., Feb. 26.—After having been twice strung up by the neck from the rafters of a barn while the crowd pulling on the rope from below shouted "Lynch him!" "String him up!" and "Hang the firebug!" and lying in jail under strong guard, Charles Herbert was hurried to the county jail at Freehold to await the action of the grand jury. The officials feared an attempt at mob rule if Herbert were kept in Matawan.

Herbert had the narrowest kind of an escape late Sunday night from death by lynching and while being dragged to jail the crowd which pressed about struck and kicked at him. He had been seized by a throng of citizens who suspected him of having a hand in a fire, supposedly of incendiary origin, which threatened Matawan, and the more excitable were in favor of immediately putting lynch law into effect.

This was the second suspicious fire within a month in Matawan. The first occurred early on Jan. 27, which was also a Sunday.

A Fortune In Gowns.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Marietta Doe Hay, who two weeks ago died in Tarrytown, N. Y., left an amount of property concealed in her clothing which amazed those who examined her effects. It was known that she had money and jewels, but the strange ways which she had of concealing them astonished those who searched for her valuables. They found in her clothing such a variegated assortment of pockets that they were astonished. There were bills of large denomination stitched in ruffles, and crisp bank notes were woven into the hems of silken skirts. The shoulders of jackets were padded with greenbacks, and the interlining of many a gown was composed of legal tender. The sum of $1,350 was collected from the various repositories, besides jewels valued at $1,000. The estate of Mrs. Hay has been estimated at $100,000, although only a short time before her death she swore off an assessment of $10,000 on her personal property.

Building Planned by a Woman.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—The plans for the building which is to represent the six New England states at the coming Pan-American exposition at Buffalo were accepted at a meeting of the commissioners at the Parker House yesterday. The architect of the building is Miss Josephine W. Chapman, one of the few women architects in the country, who has had considerable success in her work in various parts of New England. The appropriations for this building by the six states have already been made, and when completed it will cost $18,000. A site for the building has already been awarded to New England.

Silkmakers to Ask Advance.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 26.—It is reported that a concerted request will be made today for an advance in wages by the makers in all the mills of Paterson where silk ribbon is manufactured. There are about 2,000 ribbon weavers in Paterson, and a general strike would affect about 12,000 more, including doublers, warpers, winders, quillers and hand silk workers. The plan is, however, should a strike be deemed necessary, to start with the factories in which the lowest wages are paid, and the strikers will be given the moral and financial support of those who remain at work.

Fatal Mining Accident.

BIWABIK, Minn., Feb. 26.—A terrible accident, resulting in the loss of three lives, occurred at the Elba mine, six miles from Biwabik. Five boys were riding a car which is used in the shaft. The car crashed down the shaft opening, hurling the three young boys to the bottom of the shaft, killing them instantly.

LATEST CUBAN PLAN

Senate Attempts to Avert an Extra Session.

THE GOVERNMENT POLICY DEFINED.

Matter to Be Covered In an Amendment to the Army Bill—The President Is Empowered to Act.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The real struggle for insular legislation at this session began yesterday in the senate The army appropriation bill was under discussion, and the Philippine amendment was reached. In addition the Cuba amendment was offered and the general debate on these propositions began.

The amendment to the army appropriation bill gives the president power to act on the Cuban constitution when it is received without the approval of congress. It is understood that the terms of the amendment are satisfactory to the different parties in the senate and to the president.

Senator Platt of Connecticut presented the amendment to the senate. It reads:

"That in the fulfillment of the declaration contained in the joint resolution approved April 20, 1898, entitled, 'For the recognition of the independence of the people of Cuba, demanding that the government of Spain relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and to withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters and directing the president of the United States to use the land and naval forces of the United States to carry these resolutions into effect,' the president is hereby authorized to 'leave the government and control of the island of Cuba to its people' as soon as a government shall have been established in said island under a constitution which, either as a part thereof or in an ordinance appended thereto, shall define the future relations of the United States with Cuba substantially as follows:

"First.—That the government of Cuba shall never enter into any treaty or other compact with any foreign power or powers which will impair or tend to impair the independence of Cuba nor in any manner authorize or permit any foreign power or powers to obtain by colonization or for military or naval purposes or otherwise lodgment or control over any portion of said island.

"Second.—That said government shall not assume or contract any public debt to pay the interest upon which and to make reasonable sinking fund provision for the ultimate discharge of which the ordinary revenues of the island after defraying the current expenses of government shall be inadequate.

"Third.—That the government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba.

"Fourth.—That acts of the United States in Cuba during its military occupancy thereof are ratified and validated, and all lawful rights acquired thereunder shall be maintained and protected.

"Fifth.—That the government of Cuba will execute and as far as necessary extend the plans already devised or other plans to be mutually agreed upon for the sanitation of the cities of the island to the end that a recurrence of epidemic and infectious diseases may be prevented, thereby assuring protection to the people and commerce of Cuba as well as to the commerce of the southern ports of the United States and the people residing therein.

"Sixth.—That the Isle of Pines shall be omitted from the proposed constitutional boundaries of Cuba, the title thereto being left to future adjustment by treaty.

"Seventh.—That to enable the United States to maintain the independence of Cuba and to protect the people thereof, as well as for its own defense, the government of Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points to be agreed upon with the president of the United States.

"Eighth.—That by way of further assurance the government of Cuba will embody the foregoing provisions in a permanent treaty with the United States."

The amendment was referred to the committee on military affairs.

New Yellowstone Geyser.

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 26.—A special from Livingston, Mon., says that tourists to the Yellowstone National park next season will be treated to an added attraction in the shape of a wonderful new geyser which is said to rival any of the old ones. James King, who has been living in the park during the past winter, says that early on the morning of Feb. 18 he was awakened by a terrific explosion. He discovered the new geyser about 200 feet south of the famous Fountain geyser. It was sending a solid column of hot water fully 600 feet in the air, the water gushing forth from a hole about five feet in diameter with a loud roar. Mr. King says that for 1 hour and 30 minutes the column shot up. It then subsided and has since been playing at regular intervals of about two hours.

Two Miles of Flame.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 26.—The Standard Oil company's pipe line broke near Ringoes late on Saturday night, and thousands of gallons of oil were lost before the break was repaired. The pumping station at Lancaster, Pa., discovered the presence of the leak about 11 o'clock, and Edward H. Silvers found the break near the house of Freeholder Durham about 7 o'clock on Sunday morning. The oil ran into a small stream and flowed upon the water for more than two miles As soon as the leak was stopped the floating petroleum was set on fire. The flames spread rapidly, and the stream was afire for nearly two miles.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FEB 26 1901.

Progress of Methodism.

Methodism has made wondrous progress in Plainfield. Out of the little congregation which worshiped in the Methodist church on West Front street, near Madison avenue, twenty years ago, there have sprung two other churches which have in turn grown and flourished. They are no longer connected with the parent church but are self supporting and making rapid progress each year.

The celebration of the ninth anniversary of the founding of the Grace M. E. church and was built and conducted for several years under the guidance of the original congregation. Finally the chapel grew so fast that it was ready to assume the responsibility of an individual career. Then it separated from the original Methodist congregation, taking with it some of those who have been very active at the First church.

The attention of the remaining members of the main church was then devoted to what was known as the Monroe Avenue chapel. That chapel as well became self-supporting and branched out on a career of its own The places of the workers, who went with the two younger churches, were filled by others and the First M. E. church is today just as strong as it was in the days when there was only one Methodist congregation in the city.

A certain portion of the trade of a community will go to any deserving concern which does not shrink from public sight, says the Philadelphia Record. The more widely the establishment is favorably known the larger will be its share. That the best and most economical way to make a business known is by advertising in the daily newspapers has been repeatedly affirmed by all the leading business men. For example, F. A Stuart, who made a clear million in six years by the sale of an article, has said: "I attribute my success to advertising in the daily newspapers and to putting a meritorious article on the market. The daily newspaper with the largest circulation is the whole thing with me—no circulars, no posters, nothing but the daily newspaper!"

A great deal has been heard at various times about the proposed trolley line from New York to Philadelphia. A great corporation is now at work which promises to make that line a reality. Much has been said about the possibilities for through traffic on this line but it is hardly possible that it will cut any figure in the through traffic at all. Must of the distance, the trolley line will run through the thoroughfares of the State and the various municipalities are not going to allow the cars to go at any speed which will permit them to seriously enter into competition with the steam railroads.

The people of Matawan attempted to secure a confession from a man whom they supposed to be a fire bug by hanging him a little while from a rafter. He didn't confess. If the man was innocent, as appearances would now indicate, there is trouble ahead for somebody. It is the first time that lynch law has operated in this vicinity for many years. Most people thought that New Jersey was above such brutality.

Because the fact is not blazoned forth in the newspapers, it is not a necessary inference that the police forces of city and borough are not using every possible effort to capture the burglars who have worked so successfully here in the past. When something has been actually accomplished, it will be time to tell what special provisions are being made in that direction.

The idea of skating on top of the reservoir of the water company, on the side of the mountain, is a rather novel one but it is not particularly pleasing to the boroughites who are accustomed to drinking the water which flows from that tank.

The trolley cars have come to be so important to the people of Plainfield that any sudden cessation in the service is almost universally felt by the inhabitants of this city.

It is almost time for the opening of the new railroad station to the public.

Society has settled down to the usual quietness of the Lenten season.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Plainfield Press says that two citizens of Plainfield offer to donate lots for the proposed new glove factory in that city, while a third offers to pay half the cost of any lot which the company may select. This shows enterprise. The third offer seems, on its face, to be the best. There are plenty of city lots, in Plainfield and other cities, that could well be given away for the sake of having a large new factory in the vicinity. But an offer to pay one-half the price of any lot a company may select, is an offer without any visible commercial string attached.—Elizabeth Journal.

The Westfield Leader accounts in this way for the defeat of the plan to incorporate a new city. It says:

The people by their votes Saturday have shown that they are not ready for a city form of government. Many of those who worked and voted against incorporation admit that the laws governing cities under 12,000 inhabitants are better adapted to Westfield's needs than the present township laws, but they say they are afraid that the Common Council elected by the people might be too reckless in expenditures. They cited the history of neighboring cities as examples.

In other words, the people of Westfield were afraid to trust the men whom they would elect to office in the new city. Well, it must be admitted, when the governing bodies of other cities are studied, that the people of Westfield had some warrant for their lack of faith.—Elizabeth Journal.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"The Utopians" under the management of T. W. Dinkins, who appear at Music Hall on Friday will afford a treat to lovers of gorgeous theatrical display and clever comedy. The first part of their programme is entitled "In Grand Utopia" and furnishes some of the most beautiful scenic work ever produced, in a series of stage pictures descriptive of "Utopia" the land of dreams, with beauty, love and pleasure. To describe the gorgeous scenic effects is impossible, and the costumes of the company are the most expensive and beautiful ever furnished in an extravaganza production. They include six distinct changes for the entire company. The bill presented in the olio is one of the strongest ever seen here and includes the famous cineograph showing wonderful life-motion pictures and a series of living pictures The programme concludes with an after-piece entitled "Wanna Macey & Co.," a clever travesty on the methods of the department stores, and introduces troupes of pretty girls in the uniforms of United States Cavalry, Artillery, Rough Riders, etc., and a complete brass band in the uniform of Uncle Sam's "men behind the guns" of our navy.

With Jean Marcel's living bas-reliefs and human statuary as the leading feature of the programme, Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre is constantly crowded and as they are under contract to open at Proctor's Montreal playhouse next week, only a few more days will be allowed New Yorkers a chance to see those wonderful reproductions of art. A massive programme of features will also be found at Proctor's: Ivan Tschornoff's dogs, Europe's sensational animal act; Gertrude Mansfield and Caryl Wilbur in the comedietta, "A Bird and a Bottle;" Hilda Thomas, assisted by Lou Hall, in "The Lone Star;" Kittie Mitchell, a dainty comedienne; Hill and Hull, European grotesques; Rixford Bros., Martinetti and Sutherland, etc. Prices always 50c., 25c, and 15c. Continuous, 12:30 to 10:45 p. m.

"The Dairy Farm" which has proved such a great success during the past season and was played for twelve consecutive weeks in New York City and thirteen in Chicago to overflowing houses, will be seen at Music Hall Wednesday night of next week. This play is the work of Miss Eleanor Merron, an actress well and favorably known and who has been seen as the leading support of many of the greatest American start. The play is on the order of "The Old Homestead" and by many critics is considered a truer picture of farm and village type.

Dunellen, Feb. 26—The stoppage of power on the Plainfield lines of the trolley Sunday, left one of the large cars of the Middlesex and Somerset Company in a peculiar predicament at the borough terminus. About twenty-five feet from the Plainfield end, the Brunswick power stops and the space intervening from there to the terminus is made by Plainfield power. The Middlesex and Somerset car was over the line when the power went off and as a result was unable to get back to its own power. It was too heavy to be pushed over and the crew was at a loss as to what to do until some genius borrowed a crow bar from the round-house and with this the car was slowly drilled back.

Following the announcement of the Republican party that their primary will be held March 7, word comes from the Democrats that they will meet some time during the first of the month. 'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Feb 23—The pupils and teachers in the public school were agreeably surprised several days ago by receiving a handsome bronze statue of George Washington, a gift from A. D. Shepard. The statue has an interesting history, being presented a number of years ago to Mr. Shepard by the late James Ritchie, an old resident of the village, who at that time was the proprietor of an iron foundry in Brooklyn. Mr Ritchie had the statue cast at the foundry and presented it to his friend, Mr. Shepard, who in turn presented it to the public school. The gift occupies a prominent place in the assembly room of the building, where it can be seen by all.

The members of the Epworth League Society held an enjoyable weekly meeting in the Methodist church last evening. Miss Nellie Hollingsworth was in charge of the meeting.

South Plainfield, February 26—The funeral services of Mrs. Marshall Kenney, this afternoon, at the Marconnier chapel, were largely attended. Mrs. R. B. Manning and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley sang two hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "It is Well With My Soul." The sermon was preached by Rev. C. E. Herring, of Plainfield. Mrs. Kenney, or Amanda Willis, as she was familiarly known, was thirty-four years old and had been suffering from consumption for several years. She had made her home with the family of Isaac Smith. She was the daughter of Israel Willis and leaves three brothers and a husband.

John H. VanWinkle, Jr., son of Former Mayor John H. VanWinkle, of Duer street, was yesterday admitted to the New Jersey bar as an attorney-at-law and was sworn in later in the day. VanWinkle was one of fifty-two young men who took their written examination last Thursday. The oral examination took place yesterday before the Supreme Court at Trenton. Thirty-seven successfully passed both examinations.

VanWinkle is well known in city and borough, where he has lived for many years. He attended the borough public schools and graduated from the High School there in 1896. He then entered the law office of his father and has spent the required four years there. He took the course at the New York University Law School, graduating from that institution in 1900, receiving the degree of LL.D. He has studied hard and faithfully and the honor which he has won is well earned. He will be associated with his father in the legal business.

THE NEW CARDINALS

There Will Be No Americans or Englishmen Among Them.

Archbishop Martinelli, Apostolic Delegate at Washington, Sure to Be Appointed—Work Laid Out for the March Consistory.

The consistory to be held at Rome about the beginning of March will, it is thought, afford an insight into the diplomatic relations likely by that time to obtain between France and the Holy See. The proposed law against religious orders now being discussed in the French assembly will cause the recall of the papal nuncio at Paris and his elevation to the cardinalate. Appearances now seem to indicate the passage of this law by the assembly, but should it not pass it is thought to be hardly possible that the pope will elevate any French ecclesiastic to the sacred college. The French government always suggests the names of prospective cardinals to the Holy See, and in the present tension it is needless to say such suggestions would be disregarded if made. Instead, several Austrian and German prelates will, it is said, be nominated.

Archbishop Martinelli, who has filled the position of apostolic delegate at Washington since 1896, has already been officially notified of his coming nomination. Of course, he will not remain in America after he is made a cardinal, but, like his predecessor, Cardinal Satolli, will be recalled to Rome. Who will succeed him at Washington is already a matter of speculation.

Well-informed ecclesiastics expect the successor to Archbishop Martinelli as apostolic delegate at Washington to be Mgr. Raffaele Merry del Val. He at present occupies the position which Mgr. Satolli did at the time of his nomination to this country, that of president of the Noble Ecclesiastical academy in Rome. Mgr. del Val is still a young man, but bears the dignity of titular archbishop of Nicae. His father is a Spanish marquis, who married an English lady, and he himself was born in London in 1865. He was educated in England and speaks English as fluently as Spanish, French and Italian. His father has been for many years ambassador of Spain to the Holy See. In 1896 Del Val was sent as apostolic delegate to Canada, to settle difficulties arising over the school question in Manitoba. His tact and diplomacy succeeded so well that Prime Minister Laurier had to make several concessions to suit the views of the Holy See. His appointment will give general satisfaction to the Catholic hierarchy of the United States.

ARCHBISHOP MARTINELLI.
(Papal Ablegate at Washington, Who Will Be Made a Cardinal.)

One of the Roman prelates who will be made a cardinal at the March consistory is Mgr. Francesco S. della Volpe, who is the present major domo in the Vatican palace. He is not yet a bishop, and so will be made a cardinal deacon. He has held his present position since 1894, and papal major domos are always expected to be elevated to the sacred college.

Mgr. Lorenzeli, nuncio in Paris, will also be made a cardinal. He was born in 1853 near Bologna, and the two years spent in France as nuncio have admittedly not been a diplomatic success. It is said he will be recalled, no matter what happens to the bill in the French assembly against religious orders. As nuncio of the first class, he will be made a cardinal, even if his recall is caused by the failure of his mission.

Another Italian cardinal will probably be Mgr. Aristide Ronaldini, nuncio in Spain since 1896. He is 56 years of age and has been in diplomacy almost since his youth. Several other Italian prelates occupying prominent positions in the curia will, it is said, be nominated cardinals, for the college contains, since the recent death of the venerable Galeati, only 55 members, while the full college numbers 70.

Of the foreign element no American or Englishman will obtain the honor this time. Of the foreign names the preponderance will be Germans. Germany is fast assuming the position of protector of Catholic interests in China and the orient. Gossip even mentions the name of Bishop Anzier, of Peking, in connection with the sacred college, and it is known that he is acceptable to the German emperor. Spain already has a preponderance in the college beyond its usual quota, and so it is said that the bishops of Metz, Strasburg, Bamberg, Munich, Breslau and Fulda stand above any Spanish prelates, and the selection of any of them will indicate the growing influence of the German emperor in Vatican diplomacy.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Die Zahl der Aerzte in Oesterreich beträgt nach dem kürzlich erschienenen Medizinalschematismus 10,576.—Der Kaiser spendete dem Baukomite der Wiener freiwilligen Rettungsgesellschaft den Betrag von 600 Kronen.—Aus unbekannter Ursache erschoß sich der 31jährige Hauptmann Friedrich Freiherr v. Fries vom 60. Infanterie-Regiment.—Gestorben sind anhier der frühere österreichische Justizminister Alois Freiherr v. Prazak, sowie der Direktor der Staatsdruckerei, Hofrath Ottomar Beltmer.

Borysław. Der Strike in den Borysławer Erdwachsgruben der Galizischen Kreditbank wurde beigelegt. Die Bergwerksleitung machte den Arbeitern folgende Zugeständnisse: Lohnerhöhung, Einschränkung der Sonntagsarbeit, Reform der Statuten der Bruderlade und zweistündige Mittagspause für die Arbeiter mit 12stündiger Schicht.

Bozen. In einer hiesigen Fremdenpension wurde der Kaufmann Oskar Rötting aus Leipzig in seinem Bette todt aufgefunden. Der Kopf war mit in Chloroform getränkten Tüchern dicht umhüllt. Rötting war hochgradig nervenleidend, in welchem Umstand auch das Motiv des Selbstmordes zu suchen ist.

Budapest. Unter den Beamten der hiesigen Post war kürzlich die Influenza derart heftig aufgetreten, daß die Postdirektion das Publikum wegen der Verzögerung der Abwickelung des Verkehrs um Entschuldigung ersuchte.

Iglau. Mit unterschlagenen Geldern in Höhe von 40,000 Kronen hat der Geschäftsmann Richard Mandl die Flucht ergriffen.

Innsbruck. Unlängst wurde der Kaufmann Josef Klimesch in seinem Komptoir todt aufgefunden. Er hatte sich in Folge mißlicher finanzieller Verhältnisse das Leben genommen, indem er sich mit in Champagner gemischtem Cyankali vergiftete.

Maros-Vasarhely. Dahier fand ein ernster Wahl-„Riet" statt. Die aufgeregte Menge nahm eine drohende Haltung gegen die Gendarmen an, und diese gaben Feuer. Drei Personen wurden getödtet und 20 verwundet.

Preßburg. Die jüngste Volkszählung ergab hier das überraschende Resultat von 61,944 Einwohnern, was eine Vermehrung der Bevölkerungszahl um 18 Prozent, im Vergleiche zu der Volkszählung von 1890, bedeutet.

Teplitz. Der Gastwirth Hecker aus Sobrusan wollte ein Kränzchen besuchen und mußte über die Elbe. Er verfehlte in der Dunkelheit den Weg, stürzte in den Strom und ertrank.

Trient. Auf dem Hügel in der Nähe von S. Nicolo bei Trient wurde neulich in dem Weingute nächst der fürstbischöflichen Villa bei Anlegung eines Neurautes eine alte Grabstätte aufgefunden. Sie lag ungefähr einen Meter unterhalb des Erdreiches. Sie besteht aus fünf ungearbeiteten Steinplatten in der Dicke von 15 Centimeter. Die Unterlage ist blos von Erde. In der Grabstätte fand man Gebeine und oben am Kopfende stand eine irdene Schüssel.

Schweiz.

Bern. Im Jahre 1900 sind aus der Schweiz 3816 Personen überseeisch ausgewandert, 1323 mehr als im Jahre 1899 und 1528 mehr als 1898, in welchem Jahr die Auswanderung mit 2288 Köpfen den tiefsten Stand erreicht hatte. —Im Bahnhofrestaurant zu Zerisberghof ereignete sich eine fürchterliche Acetylengas-Explosion. Das Gastzimmer wurde total zerstört, und der Wirth Hurni wurde, in den letzten Zügen liegend, aus den Trümmern hervorgezogen.

Zürich. Das Obergericht zu Zürich verurtheilte den ehemaligen Gymnasiallehrer Dr. Paul Nadig wegen Heirathsschwindeleien zu acht Monaten Zuchthaus.

Schwyz. In Einsiedeln wurde für die 93 dort lebenden Protestanten ein regelmäßiger evangelischer Gottesdienst eingerichtet, den der evangelische Pfarrer von Arth jeweilen hält. Der Bezirksrath hat hierfür die Aula des Schulhauses zur Verfügung gestellt.

Freiburg. Von den 57 Professoren der Freiburger Universität sind nur 19 in der Schweiz heimathberechtigt; unter den 380 Studirenden befinden sich blos 147 Schweizer.

Aargau. Der greise altkatholische Pfarrer Fischer in Aarau hat an der Universität Zürich mit einer philosophischen Arbeit „Zur Geschichte der Kant'schen Erkenntnißtheorie" die Doktorwürde erlangt.

Mill Hands

don't have an easy life that is certain. The continued grind from early morning to night admits of little time for exercise and recreation. The result in time is a general weakening of the physical system, in which condition disease is readily contracted. A young woman who works in a mill in Philadelphia Pa., has found Ripans Tabules particularly helpful. She says: "I am using Ripans Tabules every day, and they afford me great relief. I used to have bad headaches and couldn't sleep at night, but now I can sleep well and feel like going to work mornings; whereas before I used them I had to force myself to do it. I persuaded a number of the girls who work with me to use them, and they say they feel a beneficial change. They are an invaluable remedy for ne[illegible] such as mill hands are subject to. I recommend them to all mill hands who have headaches and that sick [illegible] during working hours. You may publish my letter as there may be a mill hand who would be glad to know there is something that makes work lighter."

The Tabules are within reach of everybody. 10 for five cents, at drug stores.

DESIGNED BY GRANT.

Vehicle That Is a Combination of Carriage and Tally-Ho.

May Have a Place in the Inaugural Procession—Has Not Been Used Since the General Left Washington, D. C.

The quaint, handsomely built vehicle known as the "Grant carriage," which President Grant designed, and in which he frequently rode with his wife and members of his cabinet, may form a part of the inaugural procession on March 4 next.

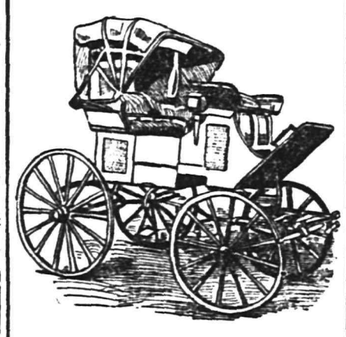
It is a remarkable combination of carriage, tally-ho and park wagon, that is called "the Grant carriage," and it forms an interesting contrast to the shining automobile, with its pneumatic tires, which President McKinley is able to order when he wishes to ride about the streets of the national capital.

Gen. Grant was a great lover of equines and admired fine equipages. He was fond of driving fast horses attached to his light-running buggy.

When Gen. Grant became president, he found the white house carriage a rather worn and old-fashioned affair, and he designed a family conveyance which was most unique. Carriage dealers declare that they have never seen another vehicle which resembles it. It was built of the best material obtainable, and by the most skillful wheelwrights in New York city in 1870. Grant paid $1,200 for it.

It was a handsome piece of workmanship and was greatly admired. The carriage was originally painted black, with fine red stripes, and varnished until it shone like a mirror. The cushions were made of fine curled hair and navy blue broadcloth, which also lined the inside of the box, and the polished leather top over the rear seat. It had silver trimmings and a silver side lamp upon either side of the box.

The vehicle is what is known as a platform gear, and has a very high box, a portion of the sides of which is made of finely woven canework.



THE GRANT CARRIAGE.
(It May Form Part of the Coming Inaugural Procession.)

It has abundant room for four persons besides the driver, although two or three more can conveniently ride in it. There is a large compartment in the box designed for storing refreshments upon a long journey, an idea of Gen. Grant which is not easily accounted for.

When Gen. Grant left the president's chair and Washington, says the St. Louis Republic, he stored the vehicle and never rode in it afterwards. There it remained until after his death and his affairs were settled. Then it was sold at public auction to S. J. Meers' Sons, who are the present owners.

A western wagon works company has offered them a large sum for the vehicle to preserve as a relic and place upon exhibition, together with the carriage which Gen. Lafayette owned when he was in this country, and the conveyance which Gen. Andrew Jackson rode in while he was president, both of which they own. Messrs. Meers have, however, refused to consider the sum offered.

The carriage is still strong and would wear for many years yet. The wheels, the axles, the springs, and, in fact, the box are all in good condition, and if retrimmed and painted it could yet be made very serviceable. Upon the streets, however, it would attract marked attention, because of its peculiar design. In the inaugural parade it would create a sensation. It is much heavier than the average carriage, weighing about 1,000 pounds. The carriage has not been in use for many years, and has never been regularly driven since Gen. Grant's second term as president expired.

A Tale of Two Senators.

Congressman Jones, of Virginia, tells this story of his father: Directly after the war Jones, Sr., was sent to the state senate. An old slave who had belonged to him was also elected to the senate. The two drew adjoining seats. Senator Jones was very courteous, and in addressing his former slave always called him senator. The old negro stood it for some time and finally said: "Massa William, I don't like dis senator business. Kain't I come down to yo' house and visit that cook of yourn? I suhtinly would like permission to visit yo' kitchen." The request was granted, and while Senator Jones was in his library the other senator was down in the kitchen visiting the cook.

Lively Little Negro Girl.

Fanny Payne, a ten-year-old negro girl, at Perry, Ga., committed a theft, and because her two younger brothers refused to agree not to tell on her she pitched them into a well 30 feet deep.

THE ATTRACTIVE HOME

First I am going to talk about the parlor. It has grown fashionable to call it the drawing room, but with your kind permission I will stick to the first name. There is something about the word drawing room which suggests a chilly atmosphere and row upon row of stiff furniture only used on state occasions. The word parlor, on the contrary, suggests cheeriness. You know it derives its source from the French word "parloir," which may be literally translated as "chat room." The trouble with the average room for receiving one's friends is that there isn't enough "parloir" to it.

Thank goodness, the day has gone by when somberness was considered synonymous with elegance—the period of black walnut furniture, heavily embossed wall paper and carefully drawn window shades. We are also to be congratulated that we are gradually leaving behind us the rococo monstrosities and impossible gilt chairs and tables. The state apartment has ceased to be, and the "chat room" is all the style.

A COLONIAL PARLOR.

I shall never forget the first visit I made to a friend of mine when we were both young girls. She received me in the drawing room, a high roofed, solemn apartment glittering with gorgeousness. We sat on the edge of two little gilt chairs smiling primly at each other. She said it was a horrible day outside, and I asked her if her cold was better. Then deep silence fell between us. Suddenly she burst out laughing. "Oh, come on up to my room," she giggled. "I guess we can have a better time up there!" And we did.

The prettiest parlor of all is colonial. It has white woodwork and broad windows with window seats. The sun streams through daintily draped curtains of white point d'esprit and dances over the hard wood floor and the large square center rug. This rug is big enough to cover all but a wide border of the hard wood flooring. It is rich in coloring. The furniture is mahogany and simple in form. The chairs are covered with material of different soft shades to harmonize with the wall paper. This has a narrow empire stripe in pale green interwoven with garlands of pink roses. There is not one striking color in the whole room, but a combination of many carefully shaded tints. In one corner stands a small tea table bearing a lamp with a fluffy rose shade. In another there is a little inlaid writing table in case the visitor should want to leave a note. A low, flat stand holds the latest books and perhaps a leather portfolio of loose engravings. The square colonial divan is heaped with pretty pillows, and there are one or two in each window seat. In cold weather a wood fire burns in the simple white fireplace, and in summer bunches of flowers brighten the room. The walls are hung with gay water colors and clever bits of black and white. Nothing can be too bright and cheerful for the "chat room" where we receive our friends.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Appetizing Recipes For the Lunch and Dinner Table.

Celery Fritters.—Scrape the stalks and cut them into inch pieces. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. To make the batter take the yolks of two eggs well beaten and half a cupful of milk and one tablespoonful of olive oil. Season a cup of flower with a saltspoonful of salt and stir it gradually into the mixture. Add the whites of the eggs beaten very stiff. Be sure that your fat is very hot. Dip each piece of celery into the batter and fry in a deep kettle.

Prune Mousse.—Stew half a pound of prunes till quite soft, mash them and take away the stones. Add to the pulp half a pound of sponge cake crumbs soaked in a little sherry. When thoroughly mixed, stir in a cup of cream whipped till stiff and powdered sugar to taste. Place this mixture on a fancy dish and set it one side for half an hour at least. Pour over a pint of cold custard, scatter chopped almonds and place cherries over and serve. This is an excellent and simple sweet.

The MOSQUITO as a Breeder of Malarial Fevers

Interesting Experiments in Europe, Africa and America Show This

DEATH to mosquitoes! The verdict has been rendered in Cuba, in portions of America, in Italy and in Africa.

But how?

That little question is attracting the attention of learned scientists everywhere. Since it was proven that mosquitoes were carriers of disease germs in fever infected districts the wise men of science have been attempting to solve the problem of either how to exterminate the mosquitoes, or, if that is impossible, how to minimize the evil of their bite.

In Cuba the mosquitoes have been blamed for the spread of yellow fever; in some of our own southern states, in Italy and in Africa the annual scourge of malaria is charged to them.

In Cuba the experiments and investigations have resulted in the advice: "Live in screen protected houses." It is also proposed to isolate fever patients in protected houses so that the mosquitoes cannot get to them and so secure the germs to be transmitted to others. There it is not believed possible to get rid of the mosquitoes, but these precautions are expected to minimize the spread of the disease.

The town of Winchester, Va., claims to have solved the problem in a much simpler way by working from the other end. Instead of attempting to protect themselves from the mosquitoes they declared death to the insects, and seemingly executed the sentence in a very simple manner. Last summer the town council passed an ordinance requiring the property owners of the town to pour crude petroleum upon all stagnant water on their property, and every household to place a large vessel filled with water and oil under each tree or bush in the yard. The ordinance was strictly enforced, and its effect was felt immediately. Within a few weeks the mosquitoes had disappeared almost entirely, and before the end of the summer there was not a mosquito to be found in Winchester. With the passing of the mosquitoes passed also the malaria, with which the town had been afflicted each summer, and during the coming summer other towns in Virginia will try the same method. Throughout the state the mosquitoes seem slated for extermination.

ALBANELLA STATION FITTED WITH SCREENS.

Probably the most interesting and extensive experiments in this line were those made by Prof. Grassi and a corps of selected assistants in the malaria infected district near Rome, and by Sir William McGregor in the British colony of Lagos, West Africa.

Prof. Grassi was instrumental in discovering that malaria is brought about by the sting of the infected mosquito rather than the respiration of unhealthy air, and is now attempting to prove the truth of this discovery.

He had two objects in view: (1) To prove beyond dispute all that the microscope had already discovered, i. e., that malaria is propagated by the sting of this particular mosquito, "anofeli;" (2) to overcome the difficulties which might be encountered in putting into practice the rules imposed by the new theory in order to free Italy from malari. To accomplish his experiment the professor chose a spot near Pesto which contains two railway stations, S. Nicola Varco and Albanella. That region is infected to such an extent that from June to November it is nearly depopulated; all those possessing even the smallest means taking to the hills at the first approach of the dangerous season.

The experiment consisted in isolating a number of signalmen and their respective families, living in the ten houses between the two stations—33 children under ten years of age, 104 persons in all. Prof. Grassi began (1) by curing those still suffering from malaria in the season when the "anofeli" are not infected—from January to June; (2) by preserving his little colony from stings during the malaria season by means of metallic nets. Each person had scrupulously to observe all precautions suggested for this preservation, viz., to retire at sunset, and to remain in the house until after sunrise; all communicaton with the outer air, even the chimney-tops, to be protected with metallic nets; and all persons to remain in the house or under the net pavilion, shown in our photograph, with which each house was provided.

The employes who were on night duty had a veil stretched round the hats, and also wore cotton gloves.

All persons were visited by the professor twice a day, and the slightest indisposition very carefully studied. Care was taken that quinine was not procurable from any source whatever, and Prof. Grassi personally superintended the carrying out of his instructions.

For several nights Dr. Grassi slept in the station of Albanella with wide-open windows, protected by metallic nets, and so also did Drs. Martiran, Blessich and Gilblas, and not one of them suffered from malaria fever, although they did not use quinine. The result obtained was beyond all expectation. To fully appreciate this it is enough to draw a comparison with the houses not included in the experiment. The 25 inhabitants of one of these, although under quinine treatment, were all infected by malaria. This house was only 500 yards from the place chosen by the professor for his experiment.

The task which Sir William Macgregor has set himself is even more difficult than that of Prof. Grassi, but his is not so much in the line of an experiment. He has accepted the theory that malaria is caused by the bite of a mosquito, and now he intends to get practical results by preventing the bite.

There is probably no worse malarial infected district on earth than the little colony of Lagos and the neighboring territory. It is so bad that it is impossible for a white man to remain longer than nine months at a time in the country, and the British government has found it necessary to keep two sets of officials, the one to relieve the other every nine months. The little colony lies almost in the center of the west coast of Africa, and the natives have become so thoroughly saturated with malaria as to be practically useless.

Sir William is working on the theory that if a malaria infected mosquito never bites a man that man can never have malaria, and if a mosquito never gets a chance to bite a man afflicted with malaria the mosquito can never carry the disease germs. He considers that to accomplish his purpose one of two things is necessary. Either he must stamp out the mosquitoes, or he must prevent their biting. The first he considers impossible in Lagos, which, he says, is nature's ideal breeding ground for mosquitoes. For that reason he will give attention to the second course, and stop their biting.

He was recently in England and took back to Africa with him a master carpenter and a master tinsmith as well as a large supply of wire gauze. He intends to provide every white man in the colony with at least one mosquito-protected room, and it will be the duty of the carpenter and tinsmith to instruct the natives how to make and fit the wire doors and windows, and instill in them a desire for protection against the pest. The natives are also to be instructed in the method of manufacture of wire screening, and hopes in time to build up a profitable industry in this line.

To carry the course of instruction further he will introduce it in the government schools of the colony, and insist on the teachers instilling a fear of the mosquito in the minds of the native pupils.

Another of Sir William's methods is to stupefy the mosquitoes with smoke from burning cones of chrysanthemum seed powder. Tobacco smoke, if dense enough, will kill a mosquito, but when dense enough to accomplish this purpose it is also decidedly harmful to a human sleeping in a room with it, while the smoke from the chrysanthemum powder is rather pleasant than otherwise, and though it but stupefies the insect it prevents its biting, which is the one important object to be attained. Sir William believes that chrysanthemums can be grown and the powder manufactured in Lagos as well as in other portions of the world, and that it is possible to develop a new and important industry [illegible]

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kindey complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after 2 or 3 days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

Woe Is CHICAGO When the Days of WINTER Come

Jack Frost is a foe to every municipality that he visits, but to poor, suffering, financially embarrassed Chicago his coming is dreaded to an unusual extent. When the first frost and snow of winter come Chicago realizes the detriment of being big. It is a nice thing in summer to boast of hundreds of miles of streets, of a vast territory, of a fire system with 20,000 or more hydrants and of a water system that supplies a clear sparkling fluid from far out in the lake. But when, in the winter season, it comes to finding the dollars to care for all these it is an entirely different proposition. It costs money to shovel snow from the streets, to prevent fire hydrants from freezing, to keep the great tunnels that supply water to the city free of ice.

Not Appreciated in Chicago.

The public official of the city of Chicago finds his pleasure in life in the summer time. If he did not find it then he would be unable to find it at all. In the winter time his days are made miserable by the appeals of suffering humanity throughout the length and breadth of the great, overgrown city for relief from conditions which he cannot prevent, and his nights are hideous with dreams of what the morrow will bring. As one official put it after he had labored with suffering constituents from dawn to dark: "I should like to be elected to office only for the summer season. Public office may be a public snap then, but it is no sinecure when there is four inches of snow on the ground, and every man's nextdoor neighbor fails to clean his sidewalk."

That expresses the situation exactly. The mayor, the aldermen, the city prosecuting attorney, the chief of police, everyone connected with the city government is looked to for relief from conditions for which they are in no wise responsible, and which it is impossible for them to change. But the springtime is coming, and with it a new election, and the public official must listen with patience to every tale of woe.

Trials of Public Officials.

An example of all this may be found in a telephone conversation in the mayor's office a few days ago, when the mercury was touching the zero mark. The little bell tinkled out a summons to the wire, and a clerk answered the 'phone.

When Public Office Is a Snap.

"Is this the mayor's office?" came over the wire, in a harsh, feminine voice.

"It is," replied the clerk.

"Is this the mayor?" asked the voice at the other end of the wire.

"No, ma'am, but I'll answer for him."

"I don't want you to! I want the mayor!" shrieked the voice.

"Is it important that you should talk to him?" insisted the clerk.

"Of course it is, or I wouldn't want him," howled the woman.

"Then hold the wire until he can come to the 'phone," said the clerk.

Just at that time the mayor was engaged in an important conference with his political leaders, but the summons to the wire could not be disregarded, and he answered it.

"Are you the mayor?" asked the voice, when he had answered the call.

"Yes, madam. What is it you want?"

"I want to tell you that I can't get any water in my kitchen, and that we're payin' fer it, an' want it."

"I expect your pipes are frozen, madam. You had better call a plumber to repair them."

"And who's going to pay that plumber? I pay my taxes and am supposed to have water, and I'm goin' to have it."

But the mayor did not answer. He hung up the receiver. It was only a woman, anyway, and perhaps her husband, if she had one, would understand the situation better. If she did not have it did not matter, anyway.

Work at the Cribs.

But there is a serious side to this fight against the elements of the winter season by the city authorities. A side that represents not only a heavy financial expense to the city, when the city can ill afford it, but also represents danger of great physical inconvenience and suffering to the people of the city, and a heavy loss of private and public property.

Fighting the Elements at the Crib.

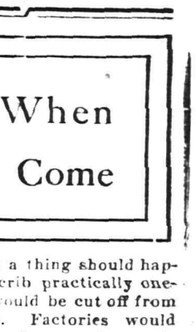
Considering the former of these first imagine the results should the intake cribs of the city's water supply be choked with ice, and the supply of water be cut off. Such is not an imagined danger, but a constantly real one. At the two-mile crib on the north side there is the greatest danger of this. There the great masses of ice driven shoreward by the winds crowd about the crib, and, but for constant vigilance and ceaseless effort, would soon choke it. If such a thing should happen at this one crib practically one-half of Chicago would be cut off from its water supply. Factories would shut down, thousands upon thousands of men thrown out of employment, and unless the ground should be heavily covered with snow there would be no other means of providing water for the most necessary purposes.

All through the winter a small force of men, seldom more than 30, are kept at work at this crib. To assist them in their fight against the elements two powerful tugs are anchored at the crib and keep churning the water and ice into foam with their screws. Without the tugs the task would be almost hopeless, but there the two little boats stay throughout the winter, practically the one protection a great part of the city has against a water famine. During the more severe weather, when old Boreas is sending his most chilling blasts from the north, the men and boats are cut off from communication with shore, and, though often short of provisions and suffering with hunger, the fight must be kept up.

This one feature of Chicago's fight against the elements costs the city government more than $16,000 each winter.

Dreaded by the Firemen.

Chicago's fire department dreads the coming of winter quite as much as does the city water department, though the water department must share the troubles of the firemen.



The Fire Fighter's Peril.

The winter season is the time of fires. Overheated stoves and chimneys cause an unusual number of them, and with every force of nature working against them the firemen must protect the property and lives of the citizens, even at the peril of their lives.

Before the first frost has left its white coating over everything the fire department begins its preparations for defense. There are more than 2,000 hydrants in the city. The hydrants are not only too expensive to permit of their destruction by frost, but they represent the fire protection of the city. To keep them from freezing is an important item in the economy of the city, and to do this each hydrant is packed with stable manure. The work is usually done by contract at a cost ranging from $1,500 to $2,000 per year.

But aside from the possibility of meeting with a frozen hydrant at an inopportune moment the city fire department dread the coming of winter. Fighting fires with the mercury down below the zero point, when the water seems to freeze before it hardly leaves the hose nozzle, is by no means child's play. It is not alone the increased danger in them that appalls the men of the department. The danger is to the firemen themselves quite as much as to the property interests of the city. Climbing over ice-covered buildings, and in and out of windows that are a dozen stories from the ground, with every stepping place ice covered is hair-raising work. The average fireman is a brave man, familiar with danger, and willing to take the chances his calling makes necessary, but he values his life quite as much as other men, and while he does these things it is because it is his duty to do them and not because he appreciates the experience.

The Snow Sweepers.

The city fathers of Chicago provide for the cleaning of the snow only in the business section of the city—the First ward. Outside of that small section the unhappy citizens who do not live on the boulevards must either wade through the snow or shovel it themselves.

Beware of the Street Sweeper.

On residence streets the snow is appreciated, but on the suburban business streets it is not. Neither is a heavy fall of "the beautiful" appreciated along the streets occupied by street car tracks, for the powerful sweepers of the street car company whirl the snow from the tracks and pile it in amateur mountains along the edges of the curbstones, and onto the sidewalks. Retail dealers along these streets suffer great inconvenience from this because of the trouble of getting their delivery wagons up to the sidewalk for the purpose of loading them, but the street railway corporations care little for the convenience of the retail dealers, and the dear public still continues to dodge the showers of snow from the sweepers.

To clean even the streets of the business center of the city is an expensive operation. Twenty thousand dollars may not be a great sum to some cities, but it is to Chicago, and that is what it costs the city to clean the winter's snow from the streets of the First ward. Altogether the winter season costs the Chicago city government between $60,000 and $70,000 each season.

The whist teams from the Jersey City Club and the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club contested last week in the first game for the new Metropolitan trophy. The game was played at Jersey City and the Elizabeth team won luckily by the small margin of one trick, the final score being 7 to 6. The play was very close and it was either club's match up to the play of the last hand, and it was really not decided until the play of the last card.

STATE DINNER.

State Y. M. C. A. to Hold a Banquet at Which Plainfield Will be Represented.

One of the most interesting events in Young Men's Christian Association circles this year will be the annual dinner to be given by the State executive committee to the friends of and contributors to the work throughout the State Friday evening, March 1, at Berkeley Hall, East Orange. In view of the fact that this year has been one of exceeding growth and development the committee have decided that the annual dinner shall be an affair commensurate with the largeness of the work which has been accomplished. The State committee look back with much pride over the magnificent record of the year just closing, and believe that the future offers exceptional fine opportunities for aggressive work throughout the State.

One of the special features of the State work the past year has been the projection of the association idea to the small towns. While this work is now in its infancy, the time is not very far distant when the 600 small towns of the State will each of them have its band of young men organized to do effective association work under the direction of the State committee.

The guests of honor at the dinner will include Brigadier-General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A., Commander Albion V. Wadhams, U. S. N., and others. A large number of invitations have been issued, and it is believed that a fine representation of the leading business men of the State will be present, including several of Plainfield's prominent citizens.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

M. Weinberger is Putting His Store in an Up-to-date Condition.

M. Weinberger, the enterprising and hustling clothing merchant, is making extensive alterations and improvements at his store on West Front street, next to Music Hall. An entirely new plate glass front is being put in the store, which will give it a decided metropolitan appearance. Heretofore, Mr. Weinberger has not had the display in front that he desired and could not properly exhibit his goods. When the improvement is completed he will be able to display his up to-date clothing in an attractive manner.

Since coming to Plainfield Mr. Weinberger has brought about a great change in the clothing trade and he has advanced the interests of the wearer of fine clothes very much, making it possible for everyone to purchase fine quality of clothing at low prices.

CEDAR BROOK DRY.

J. E. Martine Believes That Water Company is to Blame.

Cedar brook, the little stream which runs through James E Martine's farm on Watchung avenue, is today utterly dry. In dry seasons, the stream is very low but it has never been known to dry up entirely before. Mr. Martine was compelled to carry water from his house for his cattle.

The trouble is attributed by Mr. Martine to the Plainfield Water Supply Company which, he claims, is pumping away all the water from the head of the stream near Netherwood. He is going to ascertain if the company is not liable for damages.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N Y.

Mentioned His Horses in His Will.

A remarkable will, made by the late Francis H. Wood, of San Francisco, Cal., has been filed in the county office, as he owned $8,000 worth of property here. His estate is valued at about $600,000. The will is composed of 50 pages of legal cap paper, has 44 codicils, and Mr. Wood wrote every word of it himself. In the will everybody about his home was remembered. The servants, from the lowest up, were not forgotten, and even his family team of horses was provided for. The section relating to the horses reads: "My family team of horses, who have been so faithful, but who by long service are getting old and tired (General and Pet), I give to my children with this reservation: First, that they shall always have the best of care and attention; second, that they shall never be sold to go into other hands, but should the time come when they cannot do the family work and other horses are needed they shall, by a veterinary surgeon and by an aesthetic, pass away into the great universe of God, where all intelligence which is a part of God finds its place."—Spokane (Wash.) Chronicle.

A Story of King Victor.

King Victor Emmanuel is an early riser and very active. One morning at eight he arrived unexpectedly at the office of administration of the royal household, which is situated opposite the palace. He only found the servant sweeping and dusting. The king took out a cigarette and walked up and down, waiting. At 9:30 the first clerk arrived. The king asked at what hour the employes were expected to be at the office. "At eight o'clock, majesty," replied the embarrassed official. "And it is now 9:30," remarked the king, taking up his hat, and leaving the premises. Since then the whole of the persons employed at the office have made their appearance punctually at eight a. m., thanks to the personal vigilance of the king.—London News.

Why 1901 Seems Familiar to Him.

"It may sound odd to you," said a bookkeeper, "but the date 1901 seems already more familiar to me than 1900 ever did. You see we don't get a cipher at the end of a year date but once in ten years, and we get two ciphers there only once in a hundred years. Practically no man ever sees more than once in his lifetime a year with two ciphers in it; and, as a matter of fact, it never gets to be familiar to him; and so 1900 seemed just about as strange at the end of the year as it did at the beginning; whereas a year running out with figures, to which we are accustomed, does seem familiar. Actually, 1901 seems like an old friend, and I'm glad to see it."—N. Y. Sun.

Licorice.

In the southern Caucasus large tracts of land are covered by the licorice plant. A Scotch gentleman who visited this country from Constantinople had his attention drawn to this potential source of wealth, and erected a factory on the spot for the distillation of the licorice juice. The erection of similar factories quickly followed, so that now a large export trade is carried on in this product, and the peasantry of the district find a remunerative occupation in the gathering and sale of the root to these establishments.—Chambers' Journal.

Unwarrantable.

"It is all right and pardonable, in a certain sense, for you to have the hay fever when the rest of us have it, Serena," said Mrs. Upjohn to the domestic, "for we are away from home at that season, and it doesn't put us out, but, upon my word, I can't see any reason why you should want to have the grip now, just when I'm getting it myself, and it will be so dreadfully inconvenient."—N. Y. World.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

Decided That Mrs. Zuinkkufski Met Death Through Pistol Shot Fired by Her Husband.

A post mortem examination of Mrs. Josephine Zuinkkuski, who died at Muhlenberg hospital yesterday, was held at that institution last evening. County Physician Wagoner, of Somerville, determined that death was caused by peritonitis.

This morning a coroner's jury was empaneled and met at Coroner De Mott's establishment at 10 o'clock. The jury consisted of Andrew Lutkins, foreman; Adam Seader, Robert Simpson, George Wilson, Zacariah Wilson and Frank Hale.

Drs. J. B. Probasco, B. Van D. Hedges and the county physician testified that death was due to peritonitis. This, the jury decided, was caused by blood poisoning as a result of a bullet passing through the abdominal cavity and lodging in the intestines.

The husband, who fired the fatal shot, is still confined in the Somerset county jail to await the action of the prosecutor.

DARING BURGLAR.

Frightened Away From Residence of Walter C. Walker, of Jackson Avenue, Saturday Night.

A daring attempt to rob the house of Walter C. Walker, of Jackson avenue, Saturday night at midnight, was frustrated by Mr. Walker's sister-in-law, Miss Agnes Morse.

The intruder had succeeded in raising a window in Miss Morse's room, when she with great presence of mind rushed to the window and locked it.

The only description Miss Morse is able to furnish is that the man was tall and wore a fedora hat. An overcoat collar turned up, hid his face.

MANY ARE WORKING TO SAVE SINNERS.

Last Evening's Evangelistic Service Showed a Steady Increase of Interest in the Meetings.

WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

TWO COMMITTEES OF A HUNDRED FORMED AT AFTER MEETING.

Each Member Will Try to Win One Soul—Strong Appeal by Rev. Mr. Henderson—Local Pastors Present.

Interest in the evangelistic meetings being held in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Ministers' Association is steadily increasing, as was shown by the very large attendance at the meeting held last night, scarcely an empty seat being left in the building. The service was a helpful and impressive one.

On the platform, besides Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, the leader of the meeting, and F. H. Jacobs, the musical director, were Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, Rev. J. O McKelvey, and Rev. Charles L. Goodrich. D. E. Davis, organist of the Park Avenue Baptist church, presided at the organ, and the larger part of the platform was filled with members of the chorus choir, who, under the direction of Mr. Jacobs, led the introductory song service.

Opening prayer was offered by Dr. Richards, and Mr. Jacobs sang "Count Your Blessings," after which Mr. Henderson stated that a change from the original programme had been made, to the effect that one afternoon meeting will be held this week, to take place Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the First Baptist church. That same day, Mr. Henderson will also speak in the Scott Press Works at 12:20 o'clock.

Mr. Jacobs sang in an impressive manner the song beginning: "There is Never a Day so Dreary But God Can Make it Bright," after which Mr. Henderson, having offered a brief and very earnest prayer, announced as his text for the evening, John 10:3; "He calleth His own sheep by name, and leadeth them out."

The speaker began by telling something of the habits of the eastern shepherds, whose sheep know their voices and come at their call. He then went on to speak of Christ as the Good Shepherd, and especially to mention some of the incidents related in the New Testament, in which the Saviour had called some one by name to lead him to a higher life.

One of these cases was that of Zaccheus, who was called to leave his own way of life, and enter upon God's way. Mr. Henderson said that though his hearers might not have committed the same sins that Zaccheus had, if they were not followers of Christ they were imitating the publican in walking after the devices of their own hearts, which made them fit subjects for this call of the Good Shepherd to follow Him in the way of eternal life.

Another who received a personal call from the Shepherd was Saul of Tarsus. He was called out of a perfectly sincere, but a misdirected way of life. No mortal was ever more sincere than Saul, the speaker said, but his energies were bent in the wrong direction. Mr. Henderson emphasized the fact that it is not enough for a man to be sincere in his belief, if it is a wrong one; he must heed the call of the Shepherd to come and learn of Him.

Mr. Henderson also spoke of Jesus' words to Thomas, who was called out of doubt into faith; to Martha, whose life was changed from discord to harmony; to Mary Magdalene, who, at the empty tomb, was called out of sorrow into consolation; and to Peter, to whom, after the denial of his Lord, came the thrice-repeated question, "Lovest thou Me?" This question the speaker, who, as he proceeded, had made each point practical, personal and telling, now brought before his hearers with especial emphasis. He closed his address with a strong and intensely earnest appeal to those who had not as yet given their hearts and lives to God to hear and heed the call that had come to them, urging them, by every argument he could command, to enter the fold of the Good Shepherd. "God calls you, tonight. Yes, you. Will you hear Him?"

The story of the Shepherd's pleading with His wandering sheep was continued in the song with which Mr. Jacobs followed the address, "I Was Wandering, Sad and Weary." Cards

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

WILL BE HELD IN NORTH PLAINFIELD, MARCH 19.

Successors Will be Chosen For S. St. J. McCutchen, Dr J. H. Cooley and E. J. Waring.

The annual public school meeting of North Plainfield will be held March 19. The terms of three of the present members of the Board of Education expire then and it will be the duty of the meeting to select their successors.

On that occasion also S. St. J. McCutchen, the president of the board, will present his report. Mr. McCutchen is one of the members whose term expires this spring. For over eleven years past he has been an active man on the Board and is at present a member of the State Board of Education and President of the State School Board Association.

The other two members whose terms expire are Dr. J. H. Cooley and E. J. Waring. The former is the chairman of the building committee and regarded as invaluable to the school work. Mr. Waring, unlike Mr. McCutchen and Dr. Cooley, will not be a candidate for re-election. He resides at Perth Amboy and is ineligible as a candidate for a member of the North Plainfield School Board.

John Valiant, of Myrtle avenue, is regarded by many as the logical successor of Mr. Waring. Mr. Valiant takes great interest in the schools and has been a large contributor to the library. He is at present a Councilman, but his term ends shortly.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street, is also mentioned as a strong man to fill the vacancy. Dr. Buchanan is a Princeton graduate and has many friends in North Plainfield.

TO ENFORCE TRUANT LAW.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SCHOOL BOARD IS READY TO ACT.

Proper Forms are Being Prepared and Will be Served on Truants Tomorrow.

Preparations are being made to enforce the truant law in the public schools of North Plainfield. Much delay was incurred in the enforcement of the law because of the fact that the State Board of Education failed to include the necessary legal forms in the codification of the school laws in 1900.

Proper forms have been drawn by Former Mayor John H. VanWinkle and they were adopted by the school board at the meeting Monday evening. They have also been approved by the State Board. Typewriters are now engaged in making copies of the forms, and as soon as the work is completed they will be placed in the hands of Marshal Campbell, who is the present truant officer, for service.

The first form is in the nature of a notice to the parent to compel the attendance of the truant within five days. The second form is a summons issued by the Justice in case of the parents' failure to obey the first notice. The parent is called upon to appear before the Justice.

The offense of not complying with the original notice constitutes a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $25 or an imprisonment not exceeding three months. The minimum penalty is $1 fine or five days imprisonment. If the parent sets up as a defense that the child is incorrigable, the justice is empowered to remand the truant to the State Reform School.

Rally Tonight Given Up.

The rally devotional services, scheduled for this evening at Grace M. E. church, will not be held because of the desire of members of the congregation to attend the evangelistic meeting at the First Baptist church. An Epworth League rally will be held in the church Friday evening as announced. Rev. Dr. R M Aylesworth, of Simpson church, Jersey City, will make an address. Epworth League chapters from Plainfield and vicinity have been invited to attend the rally.

Entertained Heart Club.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Yates, of Kensington avenue, entertained the "Evening Heart Club" at their home last evening. Mrs. James Hallock and Mrs. Eugene Moore won the first and second honors for the women, while Eugene Moore and Percy Stewart were successful in winning the first and second prizes for the men. Mrs. George Kirkner will entertain the club Tuesday evening, March 12.

BUILDING BOSSES MET TO CONSIDER STRIKE.

Passed Resolutions Declaring Their Sympathy With Master Plumbers' Association.

MEETING LAST EVENING.

EMPLOYERS EXPRESSED OPINIONS OF BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL.

Favored Separate Unions But Not a Combination—Committee Appointed to Investigate Labor Troubles—Will Report Later.

In response to a call from the Master Plumbers' Association there was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the boss carpenters, painters, masons and plumbers, in the Board of Trade rooms last evening, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the boss plumbers had the sympathy of other bosses in the stand they have recently taken in refusing to affiliate with the Building Trades Council. John H. Carney, president of the Master Plumbers' Association, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Carney stated the object of the meeting. He said that the members of his association were not opposed to unions, but they are opposed to the Trades Council. They had invited the other bosses to hear their views on the subject.

To secure an expression of opinion a motion was offered by L. B. Woolston, of the firm of Woolston & Buckle, which declared that the sympathy of the bosses was with the Master Plumbers' Association and against the journeymen plumbers, who, it was declared, had violated their agreement, made for one year. By the terms of the agreement between the boss and journeymen plumbers, he stated, the latter were not to affiliate with any organized body and they were to give twenty-four hours' notice of a strike. In both instances the resolution declared that they violated their agreement. This resolution was unanimously passed. It was then decided that the bosses from each trade should select a representative, these men to compose a committee to meet, investigate the troubles existing and report later. The representatives selected are as follows: Carpenters, John Abbott; masons, Wm. C. Smith; painters, L. B. Woolston; roofers, David S. Dunavan; plumbers, George J. Tobin. These selections were confirmed by the Master Plumbers' Association and will be recognized officially.

All of the employers present were invited to express their views on the subject and most of them took advantage of the opportunity to say something. The general sentiment expressed was that unions were advantageous to both employers and employes, but that a combination of unions, like the Building Trades Council, was injurious to all. Some of the men related their own experiences with the Council.

Those present at the meeting included John H. Carney, A. H. Enander, D. W. Littell, Charles H. Hand, Charles Laing, Finton Hibbitts, J. N. Snyder, James Bolmer, R. V. Saume, Edward Cranston, Philip Cottrell, George Ryno, L. B. Woolston, John Abbott, James Manning, W. H. Brokaw, John Case, George Leland, Michael Armstrong, C. W. Krausse, Seaman Williams, D. J. Galbraith, John Wyman, Robert Jahn, F. M. Masker, Ira Hurlbert, W. C. Smith, James Hansen, Charles B. Pope, D. S. Dunavan, Peter Mundy, Jacob Voehl, Jr., Thomas Walsh, D. F. Pound and William Thompson.

The committee selected last evening met this morning and held a conference as to the most advisable step to take. As a result it was decided that unless the journeymen plumbers employed by George Leland are reinstated by 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, there will be a general lock-out in every trade in the city.

A Daily Press reporter interviewed an officer of the Journeyman Plumbers' Association this morning, and was informed that their association would not give in. The action of the joint committee was communicated to the journeymen and their refusal to accede to the demands will mean a complete tieup of all building and work in this city.

Funeral of a Child.

The funeral services of Walter B. Daniels, the infant son of Walter N. Daniels, of 521 East Sixth street, will be held from the residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Hillside cemetery is the place of interment.

A supper was served at midnight and the morning was ushered in with dancing. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Jed Smalley on Somerset street, March 12.

RAILROAD CASE IN COURT.

HEARING BEGAN ON INDICTMENTS AGAINST THE JERSEY CENTRAL.

At the Somerset County Courts Yesterday—Indictment for Maintaining Nuisance at Street Crossing.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 27.—The indictment against the Jersey Central Railroad for maintaining a nuisance in the Middagh street crossing, was moved yesterday morning in the Somerset county courts, before Judge Schenck, by Prosecutor Griggs. Hon. Alvah A. Clark represented the company.

There were two counts in the indictment. First, that the company obstructed the crossing and impeded travel by allowing trains to stand on the crossing. Second, that they failed to give notice of the approach of trains to the crossing by whistle or bell, which was a menace to life.

Nine witnesses were examined for the State, who testified that the company obstructed the crossing and failed to give warning when approaching the crossing.

Mr. Clark moved for a non-suit on the ground that the evidence fell far short of proving a nuisance and was not conclusive of failure to give signals. There was no evidence of criminal intent on part of the company, and if any employes were guilty of negligence they were liable and not the company. He said that if the case should go to the jury and they found a verdict of guilty, that the Judge would not be justified in law in imposing sentence.

Judge Schenck refused to grant his motion for a non-suit, saying that the evidence was sufficient to go to the jury.

The first witness for the defense was Frank L. Morse, assistant-superintendent of the Central division, and he was on when court adjourned for the day.

CAN'T CARRY PACKAGES.

Refused to Allow Whitney Frazee on Trolley Car With Packages.

Whitney Frazee, who carries on a parcel express business between this city and New York, is again in trouble. For some time past he has been travelling between Plainfield and Elizabeth on the trolley line, and between Elizabeth and New York by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Last night when Mr. Frazee got on the trolley car at Elizabeth an inspector of the road was there and refused to allow him to board the car with his parcels. He told him that he could ride, but would not be allowed to place packages on the car. He then returned home by the Central Railroad. Just what he will do in the future he has not decided.

ILL BUT TWO WEEKS.

Mrs. Christiana Thompson Passed Away at Her Home This Morning.

After an illness of but two weeks, Mrs. Christiana Thompson passed peacefully away at her home on West Front street, early this morning. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Thompson was 61 years old. She came to this city nine years ago from Denmark. During that time she made many friends, all of whom knew her as a faithful Christian and devoted mother. She was a member and regular attendant of Hope chapel.

Six daughters and one son are left to mourn her loss. They are Mrs. William Robinson and Mrs. S. P. Peterson, of Richmond Hill, L. I. The Misses Marie, Christiana, Carolina and Tena Thompson and Andrew Thompson, all of this city.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence, 313 West West Front street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

Miss Eva Lance, of Woodhull & Martin's store is enjoying a week's vacation with out of town friends.

FORMER PASTORS TOLD THEIR EXPERIENCES.

Continuation of Anniversary Exercises at Grace M. E. Church Last Evening.

PLATFORM MEETING HELD.

SHORT ADDRESSES BY THE THREE FORMER PASTORS OF THE CHURCH.

Dr. Carroll Told The Story of The Formation of Grace Church and How It Has Grown Since Its Organization—Social Hour Followed.

This is anniversary week at Grace M. E. church, and the celebration of last evening was in the shape of a platform meeting. The speakers were the former pastors, and the addresses were all delivered in a reminiscent and humorous vein. Each of the clergymen, who had filled the pulpit of the church, recounted his personal experience, much to the enjoyment of the congregation.

The singing of "Jesus Reigns" marked the opening of the devotional exercises. Rev. George W. Smith, presiding elder of the Elizabeth district, invoked Divine blessing and the choir sang an inspiring anthem. The CXXI and CXXII Psalms constituted the Scriptural lesson for the evening and were read by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Gardner. A sweet soprano solo, "Abide With Me," preceded the announcement of the speakers of the evening.

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, the first pastor of the church, took occasion to explain to the congregation his dual capacity of pastor and layman. The doctor said that though regularly ordained he had served but four months as a pastor, and during that short time was in charge of the First M. E. church mission in North Plainfield, now Grace M. E. church.

Dr. Carroll, in a very interesting way, recited the brief history of Methodism in North Plainfield. He related how the movement began some nine years ago. The old First church found at that time the necessity of taking progressive action to spread the faith in this vicinity. An "aggressive committee" was appointed and the Doctor used all the means in his power to get the committee to start a mission in the borough.

Consent was given; the lot of ground purchased and the erection of a mission building commenced. This was nine years ago.

Within a year Dr. Carroll and his co-workers petitioned the mother church to release the infant congregation. This was granted and though the new church has encountered many trials and tribulations, mostly of a financial nature, it had a happy issue out of all its troubles Sunday when the dreaded debt at last was liquidated.

The church as an institution started with 72 members and it now has 272. The Sunday-school, under the guidance of John Valiant, has grown rapidly, and Rev. Dr. Carroll believed that it was all because "the people had a mind to work."

Rev. H. F. Randolph, of South Orange, was introduced as the second pastor of the Grace M. E. church. Mr. Randolph recalled his short pastorate and was followed by his successor, Rev. H. J. Johnson, who told, in a decidedly witty and pleasing manner, of the difficulty he had in trying to remember that he was no longer the pastor of the congregation then present. The exercises concluded with an appropriate hymn, "Blessed be the tie that binds," and the usual benediction was said.

After the services a social was held and the members of the church had an opportunity to shake hands with their former pastors.

Pledge Day.

Band of Mercy day and pledge day were simultaneously observed yesterday afternoon by the Loyal Temperance Legion at the rooms on Madison avenue. An address on the advantages of the temperance pledge was delivered by Mrs. Tomlinson. Nine new members signed the pledge of the organization before the adjournment.

Several Candidates to be Initiated.

At the next meeting of Noah Dove Encampment, I. O. O. F., several candidates will be initiated, and the members will enjoy themselves in the "good of the order."

No Prayer-Meeting.

The prayer-meeting at the Crescent Avenue church scheduled for this evening will not be held on account of the special services at the First Baptist church.

TO BE MUSTERED IN TONIGHT.

COMPANY K WILL BEGIN IN OFFICIAL CAREER THIS EVENING.

Probable Roster of Officers For Plainfield's Militia Company—Will Number Sixty at the Start.

Plainfield's militia company will be mustered into service this evening in Central Hall by Col. Quincy O M. Gillmore, and there is no reason why the event should not be an auspicious one in every respect. Great care has been exercised in forming the company to be known as "K," which will be attached to the Second Regiment. It is expected that the company will be mustered in with not over sixty members. This will make a strong organization.

There has been considerable talk concerning the probable officers, and a slate has been prepared which is likely to be confirmed in most instances. A preliminary meeting will be held this evening before the muster, when the officers will be selected. Regarding the office of captain, this will be left vacant for the purpose of offering the same to Walter Stewart, who has been in Uncle Sam's service in the Philippines. He recently resigned his commission and is now on his way home on the transport "Indiana." The office will be left open until his return. If he refuses to accept another person will be elected.

Dr. W. Kempton Browning is the only one mentioned for first lieutenant, while John M. Lewis and Harry Kitchell are suggested for the office of second lieutenants. John P. Mosher is named for first sergeant, and Charles Peterson for second sergeant. Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson and J. P. Cregier are also mentioned for sergeants. There are other minor offices that will be easily filled.

HOW TO STUDY DANTE'S WORKS

SECOND OF SERIES OF LECTURES BY DR. EDW. H. GRIGGS.

"The Inferno" Was the Chief Topic of the Lecturer—Lecture Was Given in Vincent Chapel.

"The Inferno" was the chief topic of Dr. Edward H. Griggs' second of the series of lectures on Dante, Vincent chapel, in which the discourses are delivered, was well filled with an eager audience largely composed of local school teachers.

The lecturer chose Longfellow's translation as a text work for this lecture and announced that hereafter he will rely on that translation when making any references to the work.

Dante's poetry is distinctly ethical in all its parts, said Dr. Griggs, and it is pre eminent in this respect. In Shakespeare, ethical instruction comes merely from indirection and in an Aesop Fable there is a moral only at the end.

Dante's plan was to take each change of human virtue and ask what it means in its last result as worked out in the final judgment of man. The way to study his work is to study what he really says and then to determine the meaning. Dante, himself, stated that every line had at least four meanings—literal, allegorical, moral and analogical. To understand what he wrote one must lead himself out of the present generation into the middle ages and when the meaning is ascertained to apply it to the present.

Dante is the hero of his poetry and his works portray the feeling of his life, though an intense reserve in this respect is apparent. The poet looked out on a world that was in a condition of moral chaos and this must ever be borne in mind.

The lecturer gave an elaborate sketch of the poem. The doctor said that Dante looked on Virgil as his personal friend. The hero of the poem is lead by Virgil from the dark forest, where he meditated, into hell and from hell to purgatory and finally into paradise.

Injured at The Saw.

Randolph Vail, of Dunellen, a sawyer at the Pond Tool Works, was struck a heavy blow in the face yesterday afternoon, by a large sliver of wood which flew from a saw. The lower part of face was badly cut and bruised and he was forced to quit work. He will be kept at home for two or three days.

Invited to Meet Session.

Those wishing to come into the membership of the Crescent Avenue church are invited to meet the Session at the close of the preparatory service Friday evening.

MEEKER BILL IS NOW BEFORE THE SENATE.

Passed on Second Reading Yesterday and Will Come Up For Final Vote Today.

SOME OPPOSITION SHOWN.

NO SETTLEMENT OF CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING YET.

Now Suggested That Union, Somerset and Middlesex Be Made One District—Morris County Objects to Democratic Neighbors.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 27.—Assemblyman Meeker's anti-spring election was the chief object of interest at yesterday's session of the Legislature. Having passed the House, it went to the Senate where it was passed on its second reading after some filibustering on the part of the minority leaders. It is expected that the bill be passed on its final reading today.

At a caucus of the Republican Senators, held yesterday, it was agreed to pass the bill by a vote of 13 to 12. When the bill came up in the Assembly Republican caucus Monday night, it was opposed by both Assemblymen Foote and Smith, of Union county.

The result of the conference between the special committee of the Senate and House, appointed to consider the new Congress districts, seemed rather to complicate than to clarify matters. A feature of the meeting was the submission of a new plan, which was to arrange the counties concerning which there is a dispute by placing Mercer, Ocean and Monmouth in one district. Union, Middlesex and Somerset in another and Morris, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren in a third. This plan was opposed by Senator Pitney, who objected to having his county put in a district with three Democratic counties. The new suggestion is a radical departure from former plans, and, while it would satisfy the Mercer and Union leaders, one or the other of which has opposed almost every other scheme proposed, it would awaken even a stronger protest from other quarters, and particularly from Morris county.

FELL ON LAMP.

Mrs. Wm. Titus, of Watchung, at Muhlenberg Hospital as Result of Peculiar Accident.

Mrs. Frank Titus, of Watchung, wife of one of the employes of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, is at Muhlenberg Hospital in a precarious condition as the result of an accident which occurred a week ago. During the night, Mrs. Titus left her bed and, lamp in hand, started to walk across the room. She was taken with a fainting spell and fell, dropping the lamp. She fell directly on the lamp which set fire to her night-robe and to the matting on the floor.

Her husband was awakened by the noise of the fall, but before he could discover what was the matter, Mrs. Titus was badly burned on both thighs, the flesh being literally roasted. One wound has since healed, but an operation will probably be performed tomorrow to graft skin on the other burn. Dr. M. B. Long, of this city, is attending the woman.

To Great Council Meeting.

Great Sachem William Newcorn will go to Trenton tomorrow to attend the session of the Great Council. At that time Mr. Newcorn will complete his term as chief officer, and will be advanced to the highest position in the order, that of past great sachem. Mr. Newcorn has been a faithful and zealous worker in the cause of Redmenship and has succeeded in increasing the interest and membership throughout New Jersey's reservation.

Lectured to Rutgers Boys.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett gave a lecture in the Fine Arts Building, Rutgers College, last Monday afternoon, it being the first of a series of the "Engineering Lectures" to be given. Mr. Gavett, being an expert upon modern methods of disposing of sewage, has made a thorough study of the most advanced systems. It was on this subject that he talked in an interesting and instructive manner.

AN INDIANA LYNCHING.

Negro Hanged to a Railway Bridge at Terre Haute.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 27.—George Ward, a negro, was taken from jail here yesterday by a mob and lynched. He assaulted and murdered Ida Finklestein, a schoolteacher, near here Monday and was arrested. He confessed the crime.

The mob battered down the door of the jail and broke through an inner steel structure. The negro was taken out and hanged to the railroad bridge over the Wabash river. There was some shooting, and it is reported that the negro was shot before he was hanged.

The crowd afterward took the negro's body from the bridge and stripped off its clothing. Then some one set up the cry of "Burn him!" The body was carried to the west shore, a fire was built, and the body was burned.

Miss Finklestein was shot, assaulted and her throat cut late Monday afternoon as she was coming through a woods road to the main highway from her school east of the city. She was brought to a hospital in the city, where she died. The negro was hunting and called to her to stop. She ran, and he fired at her, some of the shot striking in her hair. She stopped, and when he came up to her she handed him $3 which she had and started on, but he caught her and in the attempt at assault used a knife on her throat when she resisted. After he left her she walked half a mile to the house where she boarded.

Too Spry For the Governor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—When Governor Durbin heard that Ward was in danger of being lynched, he telephoned the chief of police of Terre Haute and was informed there was no danger. The sheriff also told him that he was fully able to control the situation. Twenty minutes later the sheriff telephoned that a mob was gathering about the jail. Immediately an order was issued commanding the colonel of the militia company at Terre Haute to get his men ready and protect the prisoner. The order was on the way when another message to the governor announced that the mob had entered the jail, secured the prisoner and lynched him.

NO HOPE FOR MINERS.

Thirty-five Lives Lost In Wyoming Mine Fire.

KEMMERER, Wy., Feb. 27.—Thirty-five foreigners, whose names are a yet unobtainable, undoubtedly have perished in a fire which was discovered in the sixth level of the Diamondville coal mine No. 1. Only one man, John Anderson, was able to reach the main shaft and make his escape, so quickly did the fire spread through the level.

Officials of the company state that upon investigation they have come to the conclusion that the fire started in the drivers' cabin at the main entrance of level No. 6. It is supposed to have originated through the carelessness of some of the drivers who congregated there between runs.

Practically all hope of finding any of the men alive has been given up. All entrances to the workings have been tightly sealed in an effort to smother the fire.

A complete list was compiled of the men employed in the colliery and resulted in placing the number of miners lost at 35 instead of 50, as at first reported.

Why Edward Went.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Truth will say tomorrow: "King Edward has gone to Germany not because the empress dowager is considered to be in great and immediate danger, but to discuss private affairs of importance with her. The empress dowager is about to make a new will, and she is anxious that both Emperor William and King Edward should approve the proposed arrangement of her affairs."

The Reichsrath Closes Stormily.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—The reichsrath transacted business with tolerable quietness for four hours yesterday and closed stormily, with bitter personal interchanges, partly over Dr. Schercher's protest against the printing of a stenographic report of Herr Schoenerer's interpellation in secret session on Monday enumerating 66 alleged priestly immoralities.

Prizefighters Held In Texas.

GALVESTON, Feb. 27.—Following up the arrests of Pugilists Choynski and Johnson, it is said Governor Sayers has determined to stop prizefighting in Texas. To this end he has employed special counsel to prosecute all participants in Monday night's bout. Choynski and Johnson waived examination and were held in heavy bonds to the grand jury.

Charged With Extreme Cruelty.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—James Kells, an orphan, is dying at the Orange county poorhouse of injuries alleged to have been inflicted by Abraham Campbell, a farmer of Woodbury, to whom the boy was indentured by the authorities of the Snake Hill (N. J.) almshouse. Campbell is now in the Goshen jail.

NEW BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 27.—Information from Tolland, five miles northwest of here, states that a hermit, name unknown, was burned to death in his cabin Monday night. The man was a German by birth. The local authorities have gone to the place to investigate.

THEIR HEADS CUT OFF

Chih Siu and Hsu Cheng Yu Executed In Peking.

FOREIGN TROOPS STAND GUARD.

Former Grand Secretary of China Met Death Calmly and Fearlessly. His Companion Drugged With Opium.

PEKING, Feb. 27.—Chih Siu, former grand secretary, and Hsu Cheng Yu, son of the notorious Hsu Tung, were publicly beheaded yesterday. The street in which the execution took place was guarded by French, German and American troops. The condemned officials were taken to the ground in carts, escorted by a company of Japanese infantry.

Chih Siu met his fate in a dignified manner, walking from the cart calmly and fearlessly. Hsu Cheng Yu was stupefied with opium. They were both dressed in their Chinese official costumes without the insignia of their rank.

Heavy Fighting Reported.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—"It is reported that heavy fighting has taken place between the French and Chinese near Cheng-ting-fu," says the Peking correspondent of The Morning Post, wiring yesterday. "Count von Waldersee, it is understood, is issuing orders for a cessation of expeditions, but these orders do not refer to the preparations for the projected expedition to Sian-fu. The Chinese, on the suggestion of M. Pichon, have proposed to the British and American ministers to select representatives to discuss the missionary question and the claims of native converts. Sir Ernest Satow is not inclined to act."

Rockhill Heard From.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Rockhill was heard from yesterday for the first time in his capacity of conductor of the negotiations at Peking. His message merely stated that he had assumed charge for the United States on the 24th inst. Mr. Conger sent his last message Monday. It is said at the state department that Mr. Rockhill remains in the capacity of special commissioner and that if there is any representative of the United States minister in a ministerial capacity it is the secretary of legation, Mr. Squiers, though as there is no tsung-li-yamen he cannot now discharge any functions.

Clamoring For More Heads.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—From a reliable source it is learned that Great Britain, France and the United States are demanding the execution of a dozen Chinamen involved in the murders of missionaries in the provinces in addition to the ringleaders already mentioned. Germany, it is understood, has nothing whatever to do with this demand, no German missionaries having been killed.

Railway Thief Caught.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 27.—Bert Houghton Sheppard, a former Syracuse university student, was arrested yesterday. On Aug. 26 last the office of the Syracuse, Lakeside and Baldwinsville Railroad company was broken into and $292.46 in cash, $144 in stamps and six $1,000 bonds were stolen. Sheppard offered the bonds for sale in New York, and when he had made an engagement to dispose of the bonds he was arrested. He worked for the railroad company last summer, and his arrest was a great surprise to those who knew him. Sheppard's home is in Richfield Springs. He would have been graduated in June in the electrical engineering course, but left college last November.

Left All to Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 27.—The will of Daniel A. Buckley, for many years a Cambridge newspaper publisher, was filed for probate here, and it was learned that the bulk of the property is given in trust for the use of Harvard university. John Buckley, brother of the testator, also filed notice of appearance as a contestant of the will. The estate of Mr. Buckley is estimated to be worth about $50,000. The testator left two brothers and several nieces and a nephew. In a codicil the testator sets forth in detail the reasons for making no provision for them.

British Suffer Loss In East Africa.

MOMBASA, East Coast of Africa, Feb. 27.—A British expedition of 500 men, after making an eight day march of 114 miles into the Somalis' country to punish them for killing Subcommissioner Jenner, was attacked Feb. 19 at Sannasa, 29 miles from Affmadu, and lost 17 men killed, including Lieutenant Colonel Maitland. The Somalis were beaten off with the loss of 150 men killed. The cattle captured on the march were stampeded and lost. The expedition has returned to Affmadu.

A Fiendish Act.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Feb. 27.—An attempt was made to burn the Commercial hotel on Third street by smashing in a pane of glass and throwing a large bunch of burning oily waste through the window. The prompt work of the fire department saved the structure from going up in flames. About 50 guests were in the hotel at the time, and had the fire got a good start it is probable that several lives would have been lost.

Our Citizens Abused In Venezuela.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 27.—Systematic and violent abuse of Americans instigated by high Venezuelan officials implicated in the asphalt conspiracy has begun in the Caracas press. Everything hostile to the United States is seized upon and exaggerated. United States Minister Loomis is shamefully attacked for daring to inform Washington of events occurring in Venezuela.

Fixing Franchise Valuation.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—The state board of tax commissioners has begun the work of placing a valuation on the special franchises operated by corporations in this state. This is the second valuation which the board will place on the franchises and is for the next fiscal year. The first valuation was determined one year ago, but no taxes have as yet been collected, the law being tied up in litigation.

Republicans Take Up Carter.

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 27.—The Republicans yesterday voted for Thomas H. Carter for the short term senatorship in place of Lee Mantle, the former choice of the Republican caucus. The vote follows: Carter, 28; Frank, 28; Maginnis, 19; Cooper, 7; Conrad, 2; Coburn, 2; Toole, 1; Clements, 1.

A VALUABLE TROPHY

Ancient Fragment of the Gospels Just Discovered.

OTHER ARCHEOLOGICAL TREASURES.

The Collection of Papyri Recently Sent to the University of Pennsylvania From Egypt Proves of Great Worth.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Rev. Dr. William C. Winslow of this city, vice president of the Egypt exploration fund, announces the discovery of a most valuable trophy among the large number of papyri recently received by Dr. Winslow for distribution among several universities, 29 of which went to the University of Pennsylvania. It is the oldest fragment of the gospels in the world now in this country. Dr. Winslow states that the papyrus contains a large part of the first chapter of the gospel of St. Matthew. It was found at Oxyrhynchus, 140 miles south of Cairo, near the famous "Logia," or "Sayings of Jesus," and its date is placed by some experts at 150 A. D. and by the editors of the society's publications at 50 or 60 years later.

This papyrus of St. Matthew belongs to the same class as the famous Sinaitic and Vatican codices and of course is a remarkable corroboration of those texts and our accepted version. On an important doctrinal point it declares in common the exact language, "Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary, thy wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost." This papyrus is the oldest fragment of the gospels or, indeed, of the New Testament.

Dr. Winslow states also that valuable papyri of Homer, Thucydides and Euclid are also in the collection. The papyrus of Thucydides includes no less than chapters 36 to 41 of his fourth book and dates from the first century.

Very fortunate, too, says Dr. Winslow, is the University of Pennsylvania to now possess a splendid papyrus of a large part of the fifth book of the Iliad in very good text. It dates a little later than 200 A. D. The accentuation is full and somewhat unique.

All in all these papyrii form a wonderful collection for any library or museum to possess. A Philadelphian last season sent to the Egypt exploration fund office in Boston a check for $750, and Dr. Winslow says that is why Philadelphia reaps so handsome a return in papyri as well as antiquities, as all subscriptions to the explorations govern pro rata the distribution of the antiquities among our museums.

To Burn Lake of Oil.

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—J. M. Guffey and J. H. Galey, the owners of the Great Lucas oil gusher near Beaumont, have decided that the 300,000 barrels of oil which now fill an earth reservoir covering about 75 acres are of such little commercial value owing to their being mixed with surface dirt and trash they shall be destroyed by burning. This oil represented a value of thousands of dollars. It will be diverted into small ditches and set on fire one day next week. It will be one of the biggest fires ever witnessed in this country. The statement was also made here by a practical oil man who is in a position to speak authoritatively on the subject that the actual flow of the Lucas well at the time the controlling value was placed on it was more than 60,000 barrels of oil a day of 24 hours. It has been heretofore estimated that the flow was 20,000 to 30,000 barrels a day.

The Steel Deal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Mr. J. P. Morgan authorizes the statement that the capital issue of the new United States Steel corporation will be $300,000,000 bonds, $400,000,000 of preferred stock and $400,000,000 of common stock. Asked as to the terms for exchange of the stock and bonds of the Carnegie company for the new securities, Mr. Morgan intimated that this was a matter which concerned the stockholders and bondholders of the Carnegie company. As to the probability of the early issue of the syndicate circular writing subscriptions to the new securities, Mr. Morgan said that it would depend upon "tying up ends," which required time, and that no further statement was likely to be forthcoming regarding the terms of the consolidation until the circular is issued.

Gambling Dens Raided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Instigated by the committee of 15, the police early this morning made raids on a dozen or more alleged gambling and disorderly houses in the Tenderloin and adjoining precincts. Incidentally they created a degree of excitement seldom seen among the peculiar population which makes the neighborhood its headquarters. The alleged gambling houses, however, were apparently not doing business. Shades were drawn tightly. Lights burned dimly for some time previous to the arrival of the raiders. No persons were seen to enter any of the houses. Evidently some one had given the divekeepers a tip.

Fashionable Apartments Ablaze.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A fire started in the top floor of the Strathmore apartment house at Fifty-second street and Broadway last evening. The flames got good headway, and though the fire department responded promptly the upper stories were soon enveloped in the blaze. A second alarm was turned in and more engines brought to the scene. The Strathmore is a seven story building and a fashionable place. The three upper stories were burned out before the fire was under control. No lives were lost.

A Body In a Box.

KASKASKIA, Ills., Feb. 27.—The decomposed and mutilated body of a man was found in a box on a sandbar close to the Kaskaskia river by a farmer hunting. The box was too short for the body to lie lengthwise, and the head was cut off and shoved down in one corner. The box was made of heavy two inch oak planks and the lid of thin pine. It had been deposited on the spot three weeks ago and had not been disturbed. The man appears to have been dead about three months.

Dewey Going South.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Admiral Dewey, who has been suffering from the grip, is contemplating taking a southern trip for his health. It is doubtful whether the admiral's health will permit him to attend the inauguration ceremonies at the capitol Monday. He will not attend the inaugural ball because of his health and of the recent death of Mrs. Dewey's mother.

VANDERLIP RESIGNS.

First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Going Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The resignation of First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Frank A. Vanderlip is to take effect March 4.

It is Mr. Vanderlip's intention to sail for Europe soon in order to make a study of financial and industrial affairs in England and on the continent. It is understood that upon his return he will become identified with a large western corporation, an offer of which position he has held under consideration for several months.

Mr. Vanderlip entered the public service simultaneously with Secretary Gage, coming to Washington as the secretary's private secretary. In the rush of the first few months of President McKinley's administration he demonstrated executive ability of a high order and a capacity in the management of affairs which won an assistant secretary's commission, he having been appointed to that office in July, 1897, upon the expiration of the term of the late Scott Wike. He retires from the department of his own free will with the confidence and the high regard of both the president and the secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Vanderlip was conspicuously successful in the management of the details of the war loan of 1898 and of the recent refunding operations under the new financial law.

Mr. Vanderlip's resignation has occasioned deep regret in the treasury department.

It is understood that Mr. Milton E. Ailes of Ohio will succeed Mr. Vanderlip. He is 34 years of age and is a native of Sidney, O. He entered the government service 14 years ago as an assistant messenger in the internal revenue bureau of the treasury department and since has passed through all of the grades of the civil service.

Strange Death of Mother and Son.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Feb. 27.—George Brownell, aged 30 years, a well known Hamilton county lumberman, was instantly killed Monday. He was riding on a load of logs, and while going down a hill the sleigh slid around, and he was thrown off. His skull was crushed, and his neck was broken. The accident was witnessed by his brother Seymour, who was on another load a short distance behind. Seymour picked up the dead body of his brother, put it on one of the loads and guided both teams to Hope Falls. Seymour at once went to the home of the aged mother, Mrs. Joseph Ross, to inform her of the accident. Upon entering the house he found her lying on the floor dead. She had prepared breakfast for her sons in the morning, and when they started on their trip she was apparently as well as usual.

Three Children Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Three children locked in the home of their parents at Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., while their mother ran out on an errand were burned to death. One of them was taken out alive, but died in a few minutes in the arms of the fireman who dragged her from the house. It will never be known how the fire started. It is believed one of the older girls began to play with the fire and dragged a live coal upon the kitchen floor and that they stood watching the fire until it spread about the room and caught them. The mother was thrown into a fit of insanity and is guarded to prevent her from committing suicide.

America Must Be Checked.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Daily Mail, in an alarmist editorial on the "threatening aspect of the steel trade," says, "The time has surely come to recognize that in an era of the fiercest and most unscrupulous competition the community and the state must stand by the threatened trade, and if national efforts will not suffice international resources must be invoked to keep in Europe trade that will otherwise go to America."

MADRID, Feb. 27.—Lieutenant General Azcarraga formally presented the resignation of the cabinet yesterday to the queen regent, who informed him that she would confer with the presidents and former presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies and with the leaders of the minorities. GUNNER MORGAN SURPRISED.

Confident That Justice Will Be Done In Spite of Sampson's Letter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Gunner Charles Morgan of the United States navy, who is one of the most talked of men in the country today on account of Admiral Sampson's objections to his promotion, being a modest as well as a brave man, does not relish the notoriety which the case has achieved.

He came down from Newport to the navy yard Sunday on the tug Leyden, which brought ammunition for the New York, now outfitting. The Leyden sailed for New London Monday morning.

While at the navy yard several friends spoke to him of Sampson's classification of him as one of a "class of men who have not had the social advantages that are requisite for a commissioned officer."

He had no comment to make on this declaration, but he did say:

"I would have been pleased to have my application acted upon without this publicity. Naturally I have no criticism whatever to make. My friends, who are stanch friends, can do the talking. I have no fear that I will not receive just treatment."

It has been hinted that the members of the navy clique will find some way to thwart his ambition, and he may be made to suffer for being the innocent cause of Admiral Sampson's blunder.

SERIOUS TRAIN WRECK.

Forty Passengers Injured on the Wabash by a Broken Rail.

GOSHEN, Ind., Feb. 27.—Passenger train No. 9 on the Wabash railroad, which left Buffalo Monday night and which was scheduled to arrive in Chicago yesterday morning, was wrecked two miles west of Millersburg at 9:35 a. m. yesterday. The accident was caused by a broken rail. The engine passed over the break in safety, but the six cars following left the rails, and one of them, the rear Pullman, rolled over on its side and slid down a 25 foot embankment. Of the 40 or more passengers in the train not one escaped injury, 12 being severely hurt, some of whom probably will die. The railroad officials were prompt in securing medical aid, and in a short time surgeons were hurrying to the scene of the wreck on special trains from every available point in northern Indiana. The Lake Shore officials made up a special train and also carried doctors to the relief of the injured.

The little hotels at Millersburg and Benton, several miles from the scene of the wreck, were turned into hospitals.

No deaths are thus far reported, but some of the injured are in a critical condition. The crew of the train escaped injury.

DE WET FLEEING?

Rumor That His Army Has Been Scattered—Botha Surrendering.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—A dispatch from Cape Town says that it is rumored that General De Wet's force has been smashed, but that De Wet succeeded in making his escape. The rumor is not confirmed. "It is reported that General Louis Botha is now between Ermelo and Middelburg," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg, "and that two peace delegates from Belfast, Messrs. De Kock and Meyer, have been shot."

The Daily Chronicle this morning publishes under reserve a rumor that Lord Kitchener has met General Louis Botha to arrange terms for the surrender of the Boers and that an armistice of 24 hours was granted the Boer commandant general to enable him to consult with the other commandants.

According to The Daily Chronicle, the cabinet council yesterday considered this new turn of affairs.

Forster Wanted In Chicago.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Chief Inspector Watts has received a telegram from the Chicago police stating that John Forster, who was arrested here last week on the charge of larceny of $650 from unknown persons, is wanted in Chicago for obtaining 100 watches from M. A. Mead & Co. of that city. Forster was arraigned before Judge Forsaith, and his bail was increased from $1,000 to $2,000, and the case was continued to March. STORM IN THE HOUSE

Lentz of Ohio Creates a Sensation.

SPEAKER HELD UP OFFENSIVE SPEECH

Recent Remarks Attacking Senator Hanna and His Mode of Securing Election Fail to Appear In The Record.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The house was the scene of a sensational incident late yesterday afternoon which threw that body into a violent state of excitement. For an hour the storm raged, ending abruptly when an adjournment was taken on motion of Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority.

Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat who has created many sensations during his service in the house, stirred the Democrats to a fever pitch by rising to a question of privilege and alleging that a speech he had turned over to the public printer under general leave to print had been withheld from The Record and had been turned over to General Grosvenor of Ohio by the speaker. The nature of the speech was not developed during the events that followed, but it was learned that it was an attack upon Senator Hanna and the methods by which he was elected to the senate.

The speaker explained that it had been represented to him that the speech violated the privileges of the house, and he had directed that it be withheld until he could look over it. Pressure of business had prevented him from doing so, however, and only 20 minutes before, he said, he had directed that the speech go into The Record, believing that if it contained anything offensive it could be stricken out by the house later.

Intense excitement followed. Several points of order were made by Republicans, but the speaker declined to side track the matter in that way, holding, however, that to proceed a proposition of some kind must be before the house. Thereupon Mr. Richardson, the Democratic leader, offered a resolution declaring that the speaker had no right to withhold speeches. Against this the question of consideration was raised by Mr. Lacey, and by a strict party vote the house decided not to consider it.

CONGRESSMAN LENTZ.

Amid still greater excitement and confusion Mr. Richardson offered another resolution condemning the speaker's action in terms and directing that the speech be "delivered forthwith" to the public printer. Again Mr. Lacey raised the question of consideration, and again by a strict party vote the house refused to consider it. At this point further proceedings were cut off by an adjournment taken on motion of Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority, and again sustained by a strict party vote.

Earlier in the day a partial conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was agreed to, and the bill was sent back to conference.

An important amendment to the Philippine amendment to the army appropriation bill was agreed to in the senate. It was an amplification of the amendment previously offered by Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, laying restrictions upon the sale of public lands and the granting of franchises and concessions in the Philippines. It was accepted by the committee in charge of the measure and is now a part of the committee amendment. Mr. Morgan of Alabama continued his speech begun Monday and occupied the floor during the greater part of the day.

A complete agreement has been reached by the Republican conferees on the most important items of the war revenue reduction bill. On beer the house wins its contention and the senate yields. The house fixed a rate of $1.60 per barrel without any discount, while the senate retained the old rate of $2 per barrel with a 25 per cent discount. The difference between the two rates is about 10 cents on the barrel.

The tobacco tax is compromised. The house left the tax standing at 12 cents per pound, as in the existing law, while the senate reduced it 25 per cent, or to 9 cents per pound. The compromise provides for a reduction of 2.40 cents per pound, leaving the rate 9.60 cents. The house also comes out ahead on bank checks. The house repealed the entire tax on checks, but the senate did not accept this action. The senate conferees now concede the house provision. The reduction in the revenue will be $7,000,000 on account of this action. The house provision entirely repealing the tax on proprietary medicines is also accepted.

The senate in executive session confirmed all the naval nominations for promotion sent in except those of Admirals Sampson and Schley.

Aid For The Hospital.

There is no doubt now but that new quarters for Muhlenberg Hospital will soon be built, whether the Board of Governors of the Hospital decide to accept Mr. Martine's generous offer or not. The present buildings of the hospital are utterly inadequate to accommodate the demands which are made on them while the present location is not at all desirable for such an institution. These facts are now generally known to the public of Plainfield and the result has been a large response to the request for subscriptions for the new hospital.

While the committee which has charge of the collection of the necessary funds for the new buildings is greatly encouraged by the response on the part of the people of this city, it does not mean that they have secured all the money they need. Such is not the case. Even by the most economical arrangements, the present subscriptions will not meet the cost of the new establisment. The members of the committee are hoping, however, that the citizens will continue their donations for that worthy institution so that the Board of Governors will be enabled to give Plainfield one of the best equipped hospitals of its size in the land. It will necessarily have to be larger than the present hospital and everything should be thoroughly up-to-date.

Another fact which will be worthy of attention of all good citizens is that the new hospital will naturally require a greater revenue than the present one as it will be larger and contain several added features. If the contributions were generous enough, the Board of Governors would be able to establish an endowment fund which would materially assist in bearing the necessary expense incurred in conducting the hospital.

Nobody denies that the Muhlenberg Hospital is a very worthy institution. It is therefore entitled to consideration and every citizen of Plainfield and North Plainfield should do his share in aiding that institution to secure proper and pleasant quarters and, when it is once established in the new location, he should assist in maintaining it in the right way.

The first day of April is usually considered "moving day" in this city although there are a number of residents who make any change of residence a month later. Then there are always many families who come to this city for the summer months arriving in May or June and departing in September. It is particularly desirable that the new street signs should be in position before these strangers, who come either for the summer or indefinitely, arrive. The street committee of the Common Council is now at work selecting the proper signs to be used. It is to be hoped that the committee will be as expeditious as possible in advancing the good work so that the signs may be up in time.

No judicious and persistent advertiser in the newspapers, remarks the Philadelphia Record, who has offered for sale articles of any merit has failed to score a business success. Hundreds of large advertisers have given testimony that their success would have been impossible without newspaper advertising. In floating 60,000 shares of copper company stock, T. W. Lawson expended $30,000 for newspaper space, and received subscriptions for 160,000 shares at $25 each. Mr. Post has been offered a million and a half for his cereal business, which he says he built up "by newspaper advertising exclusively."

The erection of a handsome business block on North avenue where the Thompson building formerly stood will be a great improvement to the business section of the city. The ruins of the old Bard Co. fire were among the first things seen by a stranger on arriving at the station and they were not exactly ornamental. A substantial building there will give the stranger a far better impression of Plainfield when he first looks over the town.

It will be well if city and borough unite in an attempt to improve the present appearance of Green brook as viewed from the new bridge which now unites Madison avenue and Duer street. The expense would be next to nothing and the improvement would be a wonderful one.

Even if they cannot get the trolley up there, the residents of Watchung are determined to establish some regular means of communication with the rest of the world and a line of stages is to be established shortly. They will run to the Plainfield railroad station.

Assemblyman Meeker has fathered a bill which has undoubtedly caused more comment through the State than any other measure now before the Legislature. Somehow, Union county always manages to figure prominently down at the State capital.

The Union County Building Trades Council is having trouble with the management of the Lyceum Theatre at Elizabeth over the discharge of some stage carpenters. Both sides are determined not to give in.

The Borough Board of Education has been particularly fortunate in securing Senator Stokes as the speaker for the High School commencement exercises next June.

The idea of a physician as the leading executive officer of a municipality seems to have found favor throughout the State.

The return of the open winter during the past few weeks has brought out the bicycles again.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

In view of the fact that there is this year to be held a State election in New Jersey, and in view of the additional fact that one of the most deserving Republicans that the party has known probably will be the candidate for governor, the Legislature, remembering that in the last State election the Republican candidate for governor was chosen by less than six thousand plurality, should need no warning that its conduct during the present session largely will make the issues of the next campaign, and that even a worthy Republican candidate for governor will need a united party and a clean record to secure his election. If, therefore, the present Legislature does only what is absolutely needed to be done, it will have done its duty, and there can be no just complaint against or criticism of its proceedings. But if it stirs up a hornets' nest, metaphorically speaking, large or small, in every county of the State, it will have assumed a responsibility which will neither illuminate the common record nor reflect credit upon individual statesmanship or political sagacity. There are matters that must receive attention. Others can wait, and should be permitted to do so.—New York Tribune.

Her sister, who was with her, had presence of mind enough to run to her assistance at once and soon pulled her to the shore and hurried home with her, none the worse for the chilly bath.

MORE BURGLARS.

Broke Into Residence of Chas. Pearson on West Seventh Street While Family Is Out of Town.

Sometime during last night, burglars entered the residence of Charles Pearson, of West Seventh street, through a cellar window and beginning on a lower floor, ransacked every room. The family is in New York at present and it is not known how much booty was secured, but if any, it will probably consist only of clothing as Mr. Pearson had taken the precaution to put all the silverware and other valuables in a safe place before leaving.

The discovery of the burglars' visit was made this morning by John Overland, of West Fourth street, who is taking care of the property. An examination of the premises failed to disclose any clue which might lead to the identity of the visitor.

Word was sent at once to Mr. Pearson and upon his arrival in town this afternoon an investigation will be made in order to learn just what was taken.

READY TO FIGHT.

Chas. Bock is Going to Get an Injuction Preventing Widening of Somerset Street When Work Starts.

Charles Bock, of East Second street, who owns property abutting on Somerset street, proposes, if possible, to prevent the improvements contemplated on that thoroughfare. He has retained Walter L. Hetfield as counsel in the matter.

Mr. Hetfield stated today that as soon as an attempt is made to change the street line in front of his client's Somerset street property certiorari proceedings will be instituted. On the strength of the affidavits submitted in these proceedings a temporary restraining injunction will be asked for in the Supreme Court, and the argument will take place as soon as possible after the granting of the injunction.

VALIDITY SUSTAINED.

Vice-Chancellor Pitney Announced Decision in The Hedge Case Yesterday.

The case of Kate Hodge, administratrix of William Hodge, deceased, against Benjamin Jennings, executor of Emily Hodge, deceased, which was over a promissory note made by a wife in favor of her husband shortly before her death, was decided by Vice-Chancellor Pitney at Newark yesterday.

This was a second trial, the first being before the Somerset Circuit Court a year ago, when Counsellor W. S. Angleman, for the defendant, secured a non-suit from the Chief Justice, now Chancellor Magie. Yesterday's decision was in favor of sustaining the validity of the note. Vice-Chancellor Pitney in giving his decision complimented Mr. Angleman highly for the able manner in which he argued the case.

Appointed Receiver.

By an order of Benjamin A. Vail, judge of the Union County Court of Common Pleas, Lawyer Carlos C. Gallup, of this city, has been appointed receiver of the property and things in action of John J. Wahl, of Westfield, a judgment debtor examined in supplementary proceedings before Supreme Court Commissioner Winfield S. Angleman, on Feb. 21.

Darling, of South avenue, secured the blue ribbon at the dog show in Madison Square Garden last week, winning over scores of competitors. This make twenty-one prizes which the spaniels have taken at shows all over the country.

While at work in the Pond Tool Works yesterday, Patrick Kneeland, of Lee place, met with a serious mishap. In some manner his left hand was caught between two radial drill columns and was badly crushed. The injury was dressed and although very painful, no serious results are anticipated.

Jewish Tombs in China.

Jesuits who visited China in the fifteenth century found at Kai-Fung-Fu the remains of a magnificent temple, modeled after the temple at Jerusalem. A small company of Jews remained, who gathered about their rabbi in a small synagogue. In the possession of this congregation of Jews was found a priceless collection of ancient rolls and manuscripts, and unsuccessful efforts were made by the Jesuits to secure them. Two hundred years later a priest was sent to Kai-Fung-Fu for the express purpose of getting possession of this collection, but the congregation had melted away. The synagogue and temple were gone and the collection of rolls and manuscripts lost, except a few fragments which were in the possession of a Jewish family that could not read them and did not know what they were, but treasured them along with the tradition of their descent. The lost rolls and many more like them may yet be found in some of those Jewish sepulchers near the modern city.—Leslie's Weekly.

Onions as Weather Prophets.

In some country households there are to be seen at the present time 12 large onions placed in a row, with a pinch of salt on the top of each. What mission have these odoriferous roots to perform? They are there, an English agricultural paper explains, as weather prophets. The onions were set in position on Christmas day. They will be kept on guard until twelfth night. Then the believer in their prophetic office will examine them with scrupulous care. On some onions the salt will have melted; on others it will have remained dry. Each onion represents a month. A rainy month is indicated where the salt has melted and a dry month where it has kept intact.—N. Y. Times.

The Trans-Pacific Cable.

The survey of the Pacific bottom for the proposed cable to Japan and the Philippines has been completed and Rear Admiral Bradford, head of the hydrographic bureau, announces his readiness to proceed with the laying of the cable. About 60 miles east of the island of Guam an abyss was encountered, the deepest ever found, in which bottom was only reached when 31,614 feet of wire had been run out. This abyss, now named the Nero deep, is, of course, avoided. At another place a high mountain range was discovered, through which it was necessary to find a pass.—N. Y. Times.

Chestnuts for Food.

In some parts of France, writes Consul John C. Covert, in what are called the schist lands, chestnuts form a very important article of daily food. They are boiled, pulverized and eaten like our mashed potatoes. In every city and nearly every village during the fall and winter they are sold in doorways and on street corners fresh from large roasting pans. About noontime numbers of poor people may be seen around these roasting pans waiting to invest their pennies. Nine or ten chestnuts are given for a cent. They are about the size of our horse chestnuts.—N. Y. World.

KING RELEASED.

But Newman Will Have to Serve Out Full Sentence of Sixty Days.

(Special to The Daily Press.

Elizabeth, Feb. 27—In the Union County Court this morning Judge Benjamin Vail announced that he had reconsidered and rescinded his former sentence in the case of John Newman and John King, the two Plainfield young men convicted of assault on William J. Dodd. The original sentence was sixty days in the county jail for both, but King was released today on the payment of a $25 fine, having served one week. Newman's sentence remained the same, and he will spend the next two months in jail.

A ladylike young man who edits what we are distinctly told in the title is a publication for "ladies" says he wrote to 50 women, several being journalists, and to 50 men editors asking the said women and the said men editors whether they would be willing to have their daughters get employment as steady workers in a newspaper office. He tells us that nearly all the answers were "No." One of the men editors cried with almost hysterical vehemence, "A thousand times no!" What was the reason? The principal one appeared to be that newspaper office influences were demoralizing and degrading. Some of the writers declared that in journalism women would lose that "intangible something" which is the sex's charm. I may say that for 20 years I have been trying to find out what that "intangible something" is that we have heard so much of. I have never yet succeeded. I have given it up at last. But it is a lamentable comment on the state of their own offices and the kind of newspapers they publish when men editors declare these would be demoralizing to a pure minded young woman. It is high time they were reforming themselves, their offices and their journals. As a woman whose life from girlhood has been spent in newspaper work, most of it in offices, I wish to put on record that there is no field of labor more promising or more desirable for earnest young women with a gift for writing than that of journalism. I have found newspaper men uniformly courteous, respectful and helpful. Newspaper men are not monsters. A refined, sensible girl, free from that deplorable sex self consciousness which a false education fosters, may safely set her feet in the highway of journalism and tread it to success.

A woman who by hard work and capability earns her place in any trade or profession is entitled to that place, no matter who objects.

It is a satisfaction to note a success in co-operative housekeeping, at least so far as the experiment has gone. A lady writing in a magazine under the heading "To Simplify Daily Living" reports the happy progress made by the Longwood Co-operative Cooking association near Chicago. The association has one kitchen instead of a dozen and takes from the individual housekeeper the worry and strain of maintaining a separate cooking establishment. It has been found that the expense of the co-operative plan is less than that of individual kitchen keeping.

Not from coeducational institutions come the tales of cruel and inhuman college hazing with which our minds have lately been harrowed up. Have you noted that? The hazing is practiced in schools for young men alone. West Point and Annapolis are instances. It was at Yale recently that the revolting farce of a mock murder trial in the Jennie Bosschieter case was enacted. It does not seem as if young men who could participate in such an outrage on common decency could ever have had any sisters, or, indeed, that they are possessed of much human feeling. That they belong to the Yale senior class makes the affair yet more abhorrent. The toughs appear to be developed in the colleges attended only by men students.

The largest apple orchard in the northwest is owned and managed by a woman, Mrs. Laura Alderman of Hurley, S. D. Fruit raising is a good occupation for women.

A considerable number of young women attorneys of my acquaintance who are now in successful practice began as stenographers in law offices. They studied their profession while thus earning their living.

Says Henry George: "I have come to believe that very much of the inattention, the flippancy, the want of conscience, which we see manifested in public matters of the greatest moment arise from the fact that we debar our women from taking their proper part in these matters. Nothing will fully interest men unless it also interests women."

At length New York city is actually to have that hotel for women which has been talked of for ten years. The site has been bought; the money to build it has been arranged for. It will be 12 stories high and will contain all modern conveniences, likewise the luxuries of light, air and plenty of water. The price of living will be moderate. The hotel will be a boon unspeakable to women coming alone at night as strangers into New York. Mankind at the close of the twentieth century will read with astonishment that the barbarism of denying accommodation to lone women, no matter how respectable, was habitually practiced by hotel and restaurant keepers of New York at the latter end of the nineteenth century.

Franklin Pierce, Esq., a flourishing attorney of New York, was appointed assistant district attorney. His wife, also an attorney and an exceedingly capable one, immediately assumed charge of his private practice and office, and business is conducted as usual at the old stand.

An Outdoor Vacation in the Winter Months for Chicago

HOW to put the largest possible section of "out doors" beneath a roof and give people a "vacation" in it in the winter months of February and March, was the problem that some representative men of the country solved when they planned the International Forest, Fish and Game exposition for the Coliseum, Chicago, February 27 to March 12. Boston and New York have had these sportsmen's expositions and have set their seal of approval on them. Nearly every person has so much love for outdoor life and its animal attractions that shows held in the east would have been successful had they even been lacking in live wild animal exhibits.

While the snow was deepest in the great northwest and out in the Rocky mountains this winter and "Teddy" Roosevelt was leading his strenuous life in Colorado, scores of Indian hunters and trappers, warmly clad in woolens, furs and skin garments and armed somewhat as were the Nimrod heroes of the boys of dime novel reading days, were risking their lives pursuing animals which soon will be exhibited in this great show. To add to the wild flavor these same redskin trappers will come to the show, build typical wigwams and tepees and live in the camps that are protected by the Coliseum's big roof, cook over camp fires that are primitive enough for the Hudson Bay country and give exhibitions of canoeing, spearing fish, hunting fur-bearing animals, etc.

In addition to the scenes of western life in camps there will be log cabin settlements and a live game park in which the natives of the far western retreats will show amid surroundings that will be at once instructive to the school children and intensely interesting to the parents who would like to sight along Winchesters at "just one big mountain lion."

The plans of the directors—James H. Eckels, the former comptroller of the currency and now a banker, is president of the show—include the making of an artificial lake for the aquatic sports, log rolling—how many city children ever saw a Canadian lumberman riding logs and brailing them into rafts?—swimming matches, water polo, high diving, canoeing, etc.

If the Central association of the Amateur Athletic union can be brought into a position of realizing the futility of sticking too close to the absolute letter of the rules, the water polo championships, scheduled to be contested under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., will be famous affairs. Basket ball, too, in all of its best phases, will be a big feature, as Manager Peffly, of the famous Ravenswood Y. M. C. A. team, has been commissioned to gather together several of the best teams of the country for the programme.

It is also proposed to have the finest live bird exhibit ever attempted in America. All of the game birds hunted in this country and the birds so familiar to aristocratic hunters in Europe will be exhibited. Dr. S. P. Bartlett, of the United States fish commission, has arranged for some elaborate aquarium exhibits. American game fish will be shown as elaborately as any lover of the rod and reel would like to see.

President Eckels has sent out circulars in which people are told that the officers of the association have subscribed sufficient funds to assure the exposition of a successful run. The cordial cooperation of not only sportsmen but all interested in the preservation of game and the cultivation of forests, fish and game is asked. The promoters are not sanguine of making profit because of the enormous expense attached to the show, but there are many who think that it will prove a greater attraction than New York's horse show.

Looking over the list of wild animals that the Indians have obtained for the show, I found everything from a boar to a quail. The lordly and majestic bison, that ran in herds of countless numbers on the western plains within the lifetime of an adult, and which is now only preserved by carefully breeding them with Galloway cattle, so as to keep the half-breeds for protection against the full breeds becoming morose and fatally ill, will be represented at the show. It is said that a mountain goat, or white goat as he is called, has never been shown in captivity. But this show has some specimens. Jack Monroe, the "boss hunter of the Blackfoot reservation," has captured the Mazama Montana, and he says he will have one of the white fellows with a long beard and his spike horns that will make the city people stare. With a species of humor quite out of place in the Rocky mountains, this hunter says that the white goat is the original porch climber. The ancient dwellings in the cliff houses had to build walls to keep this animal from stealing their frijoles. The funny part of all is that the naturalists tell you that this great mountain climber is not a goat at all, but a species of antelope.

Among the game promised for the exposition is the Big Horn sheep. If the statements of the promoters are to be accepted, there will also be moose, elk, caribou, antelope, deer — several varieties of this beautiful animal—timber wolves, several kinds of foxes, including the silver fox, bears of the various species, lynx, panthers, a few beavers—it will be extremely difficult to provide these animals—and wild hogs. If but half of the animals promised are collected the natural history park will be an instructive place. Inasmuch as the exposition is to be a "promenade" affair, the visitors walking about instead of sitting in an auditorium, while a programme of sports is being carried on, the idea of the promoters of bringing a wild west vacation to city toilers seems to be a good one. If I have not been wrongly informed, there will be guides from Wisconsin and Maine pine woods at the show to give the visitors practical ideas on woodmanship. Perhaps from these men of the forest prospective vacation enthusiasts will get enough "pointers" to find plenty of sport in the wilds of the pine woods next summer.

Decorations in keeping with the woods will be a feature of the exposition. Each arch will be faced with Norway pine to produce that "cloistered effect." The plan of previous sportsmen's shows in the matter of decoration seems to have been to arrange sporting material in groups and add a gala appearance by draping bunting. However, the promoters of the Coliseum event have given this important feature to experts so that a general scheme patterned after the old Roman idea of oak leaf garlands offset against the deep green of the American evergreen will be executed. At the base of each arch there will be a head of some game animal surrounded with a heavy green wreath. Long ropes of oak leaves will hand in festoons and so much of the real forest effect as is possible will be produced. Another thing promised is a "real marsh," with wild rice and native rushes so deftly placed that a wild duck might be deceived by it.

Much stress is put upon the artistic development to be shown in this exposition. Several works of art are included in the big list of paintings that will be submitted. The Shiras series of midnight flash pictures taken of wild deer at their favorite springs and salt licks, and the only pictures of their kind to be honored with a gold medal at the Paris fair, will show a phase of outdoor life that will suit many.

MARIA---A Sketch from Life in HAWAII

The Sad Yet Romantic Story of a Beautiful Child of Nature in the Mid-Pacific Isles

WHAT does the name suggest? Something very different, I am sure, from the figure confronting you on this page. And yet that was, and is, her name.

I remember well the first time I saw her. It was in Honolulu. I thought her the most perfect physical specimen I had ever beheld, this half-white girl, this Spanish-Hawaiian beauty. Her Spanish blood gave her the fire lacking in the Hawaiian and added vivacity and charm, which really, you know, it is not necessary for the "half-white" to possess; they are dangerous enough without.

I asked her name and when told it was "Maria" I laughed; it seemed so incongruous. That name belonged rather to a staid, dignified New England woman and not to this wild, brown thing. The cognomen, one would think, might have had a steadying influence on the girl, given her an ideal to strive for, but quite the contrary was true; instead of the name Maria influencing the girl, the girl influenced the name.

To me "Maria" stands for a laughing, fearless girl; a creature with flashing eyes, wavy mane; a lithe, beautifully rounded form; the softest, smoothest skin; a creature one moment in perfect repose, a sleeping kitten; the next alert, eager, joyous. To me the name stands for a girl generous, witty and graceful in action and word, with an inborn courtesy that a courtier might envy, with a natural taste one could but marvel at, with a wit that charmed but never stung.

Was there a bit of drapery about the house that my lady's hands bungled with? Maria was called in and in a moment the perch on the stepladder was reached, a turn with the tapering fingers and the silk lay in true folds. She passed the hibiscus hedge, picked a great red ribbon and carelessly put it above her ear; on any one else it would have looked queer and out of place; on her it was perfect. A wedding was to take place. Who could twine the maile so well? Who could dress my lady's hair and place the white stephanotis just right? Who scatter a laugh and a word here and there and keep everybody in good humorr? Who but Maria?

Who danced with such undulating grace? Who frolicked in the sea as in a natural element? Who rode with the abandon and fearlessness of a cowboy? Who helped save Akiabi, the favorite saddle horse, after the veterinary pronounced his case hopeless? Who looked after all the animals on the place with tender, wise care? Whose strong, shapely hands gave the lomi-lomi (massage) to aching head and wearied limbs of the overtired human? Who cheered, amused, loved, inspired by her presence? Who was indispensable?

Although Maria was so charming, she could be so naughty, so naughty. She wouldn't mend her clothes if she could help it—it was such an easy matter to pin a flower over a rent, and surely no one will call a flower less pretty than a patch. She would look at the boys, and you may be sure they looked at her. She would sit on the grass, strum on a guitar and talk about—when she should have been at her tasks. She would, when she could steal away, throw a lasso over the head of the wildest horse in the pasture, mount her captive and gallop madly about among the startled steeds.

"A ruby lip to kiss, love,"

Maria did not mean to be naughty. She would tearfully listen to good "advices," as she called it, tearfully and honestly promise to be good and obedient forever after, and straightway go and disobey. But now all Maria's naughtiness are forgotten. Now her friends think of her only with the most tender, most pitying love.

* * * * * * * *

I said Maria laughed even when pilikia threatened. But there came a day when she did not laugh—a day that never will be forgotten in the household of which she formed a part. One morning, with languid step and lackluster eyes, she approached her kind lady and when she was sure all were out of hearing whisper d something in her ear. The listener started, sat as if spellbound, grew white to the lips. She said to the girl:

"No, Maria, it cannot be! It cannot be! You are mistaken, frightened."

The girl did not answer in words, but a hopeless look shadowed her face.

"What makes you think so? When did you suspect it?"

"I burn my hand and do not know I burn till I smell the fire. I take up an hot iron all same one cold thing. A month ago I been see a spot on my body, but I thought I wait. Now I know it ees it mai pake (Chinese disease—leprosy), and I think I must tell, must not let you dear ones I love get my kind of sick. I come tell you take me away, take me to doctor. I no make trouble; I go Molakai, and not hurt my loved friends."

Miss Blank, herself blinded by tears, ordered the horse, and soon she and Maria were driving down the white coral road. Through the brilliant sunshine they drove, past the green ricefields, the tall palms, the glorious blossoming trees. How beautiful the world was! How dreadful the world was!

Maria saw it all as in a dream, the familiar street, the flowers, the windtossed branches. Her eyes were fixed on the sea, and beyond—where lies the leper island of Molokai, from which place of exile there is no return.

Dr. Knight was so kind, so sympathetic, but feared the worst. He asked for consultation. The physician called in agreed with him, but promised nothing hasty should be done—the girl should be given every chance. It was decided, instead of sending her to the suspect station, where other leper suspects are held pending the final decisions of the board of physicians, that she might live for a few months in a cottage by herself. That day she was moved, bade farewell to the house that had sheltered her for many happy years.

They would not, could not, let her go to Molokai, where are those hundreds of loathsome lepers. They sent her to Japan, the goal that lepers who can afford it go to for the baths and the Japanese treatment of the disease.

And now there comes back word to those friends in Honolulu who cared for her and gave her that one great chance in Japan that Maria's charms have captivated the heart of a Japanese noble, captivated him so strongly that he has taken her as his wife and will make the days she has to spend on this earth as happy as it is possible to make them.

But Maria's fate is sealed. She is a leper. God grant that some day the "baths" or the sea engulf her and she be spared the later stages of the disease, the living death.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"The Utopians" under the management of T. W. Dinkins, who appear at Music Hall Friday night will afford a treat to lovers of gorgeous theatrical display and clever comedy. The first part of their programme is entitled "In Grand Utopia" and furnishes some of the most beautiful scenic work ever produced, in a series of stage pictures descriptive of "Utopia" the land of dreams, with beauty, love and pleasure. To describe the gorgeous scenic effects is impossible, and the costumes of the company are the most expensive and beautiful ever furnished. The bill presented in the olio is one of the strongest ever seen, and the concluding play, entitled "Wanna Macey & Co.," a clever travesty on the methods of the department stores, introduces troupes of pretty girls in the uniforms of United States cavalry, artillery, Rough Riders, etc., and a complete brass band in the uniform of Uncle Sam's "men behind the guns" of the navy.

* * * * *

All the scenes in Eleanor Merron's charming play, "The Dairy Farm," which comes to Music Hall Wednesday night of next week, are laid in the old town of Hurley, Ulster county, New York, to which the inhabitants of Kingston fled when that place was burned by the British. The story is simple, clean and full of dry humor. The young lovers are charmingly picturesque in the clothes that father courted mother in before the present generation was born.

FANWOOD WON BY ONE POINT.

DEFEATED COMPANY M'S BASKET BALL TEAM AT SOMERVILLE.

Game Was Hotly Contested — Visitors Handicapped by Low Ceiling — Score Was 16 to 15.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 27—By a single point, the basket ball team of the Fanwood Athletic Club defeated the five of Company M, N. J. N. G., of this place, in the gymnasium of the latter last evening. Fanwood won by a score of 16 to 15, after a remarkably hard fought game.

In was evident from the start that the Fanwood boys were the better players but they were badly handicapped by the low ceiling which made the goal throwing extremely difficult. The play was hard and, at times, rough. The Company M. team took the lead at the start and held it to the close of the first half when the score stood 12 to 11 in their lead.

In the second half, the play was particularly fierce, the Fanwood boys assuming the aggressive. The winning point was made on a free throw from a foul.

The teams were:

FANWOOD A. C		COMPANY M.
Bonner	right forward	Dudeck
Kleb	left forward	Huffman
Smith	centre	Layton
Long	right guard	Houston

Score—Fanwood A. C., 16; Company M. 15. Goals from the field—Bonney, Kleb, Smith (4,) Dudeck, Huffman (3,) Layton, Chambers Goals on fouls—Smith (3,) Long, Dudeck, Houston (2.) Fouls—Fanwood A. C., 15; Company M. 16. Referee—M. D. Thomson, of Somerville. Umpires—William Hobbie and Charles B. Morse, of Plainfield. Timer—A. G. Koehler, of Somerville. Scorers—J. E Griggs, of Somerville, and Charles H. Bent, of Fanwood.

Rev. C. R. Bliss is Dead.

Word has been received from Long Meadow, Mass., telling of the death of Rev. C. R. Bliss, formerly of "The Homestead," Fanwood. It will be remembered that Mrs. Bliss died recently at Fanwood and about the same time a sister of Mr. Bliss died at Long Meadow. The remains were taken to the latter place, where a double funeral was held. Mr. Bliss was seriously ill at the time, but it was believed he might recover.

COMPANY K MUSTERED INTO STATE MILITIA

Col. Gillmore Visited Plainfield Last Night and Met Members of New Company.

FIFTY-TWO MEN INCLUDED.

DR. W. K. BROWNING AND JOHN M. LEWIS ELECTED LIEUTENANTS.

Captaincy Held Open Until Walter Stewart Returns From Philippines—Office Will be Offered to Him—List of Members of Company.

Company K, Third Battalion, Second Regiment, is Plainfield's representative in the National Guard of New Jersey. Colonel Quincy O'M. Gillmore, in pursuance of an order issued February 21 by Adjutant General Alex C Oliphant, met the newly formed military organization last evening in Central Hall and formally mustered the company into the service. Fifty-two men form the nucleus of Co. K., and there is every prospect that before the next meeting the total enlistment will reach three score.

Col. Gillmore was the mustering officer detailed and Major J. F. Cline, Second Regiment, of Burlington, was also present under orders from headquarters. Lieutenant John Wherley and First Sergeant Koehler, of Company M., of Somerville, were likewise in attendance. The local organization committee is composed of J. P. Mosher, chairman; Dr. W. K Browning, Fred M. Leteon, Charles A Peterson, John M. Lewis, H. B. Kitchell, John Pierson and Fred Masker.

This committee had notified the applicants to report at 8 o'clock sharp, but it was fully half an hour later when the command of "attention" was given.

Col. Gilmore, read "Order No. 6" which called for the mustering procedure and then stated in general terms the object and duties of the company. It was found on roll call that there were less than fifty men in line, minimum number necessary for a company, and this necessitated another delay.

After a long wait, the number required fell in line and the oath was administered to them by Major Cline, and the members, in alphabetical order, attached their signatures to the form of oath.

The company then proceeded to elect a temporary first and second lieutenant. Dr. Kempton Browning was the only one nominated for the former office and, on motion, J. P. Mosher cast a ballot in his favor on behalf of the company.

For second lieutenant J. M. Lewis and H B Kitchell were the nominees, and Major Cline appointed Dr. Browning and J. P. Mosher as tellers and Fred M Leteon as judge of the election. Mr. Lewis received sixteen majority on the first ballot and was duly declare elected.

The captaincy was not filled. Lieutenant Walter Stewart, who was appointed by the President to a lieutenancy in the department of the Philippines has lately resigned and is expected home in a few days. It is the intention of the company to offer the office of captain to Mr. Stewart upon his return.

The Plainfield company will form a part of Major Cline's battalion. The other companies in his battalion, (the Third,) at present are two companies of New Brunswick. The local organization fills the vacancy caused by the disbandment of the Montclair company.

The formal selection of a captain and the ratification of the election of lieutenants will take place at the next meeting which will be held at Hotel Kensington Monday evening.

As soon as a return of the election is made by the local organization to Adjutant General Oliphant the State Brigade Board will examine the officers in military tactics and other requirements. The result will be reported to the Adjutant General, and, if satisfactory, commissions will be issued by him to the Plainfield company's officers.

The members sworn in last evening were: W. K Browning, J. M. Lewis, W. B Mosher, Robert M. Clark, O R Pierson, Chas. A. Peterson, W. R Peterson, Asa Randolph, E V. H Voorhees, F J. Pope, A. J. Littell, E F Dorman, D A Stover, J B Judson, J. D Conover, N. B. Drake, E C Walker, Fred Leteon, J. A. Love, G. H Whitney, J. A Daly, W. J. Dunn, O S Rogers, Roy DeCamp, J. W. IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Willie Gleason Will Now Probably be Sent to Reform School as Being Incorrigible.

Willie Gleason, a young orphan, who is cared for by Mrs. Fred Wharton, was again taken in custody by the police yesterday on the complaint of Mrs. Wharton that the youngster is incorrigible.

Last Wednesday the boy was detained at the police headquarters for the same offense and after a severe reprimand was discharged the following day by City Judge Runyon. The youth promised to do better in the future but his conduct grew steadily worse and in consequence he is again in the hands of the law.

It is alleged that Gleason is implicated in the forcible entry of the residence of Charles Pearson on West Seventh street Monday night.

The boy will be sent to Elizabeth by the authorities here and will probably be put in the Reform School.

PARK CLUB BOWLERS WON.

DEFEATED TEN MEN TEAM FROM THE CASINO LAST EVENING.

First Game of a Series Rolled on Casino Alleys—Home Team Led to Sixth Frame.

The first of a series of three bowling matches to be rolled between ten men teams from the Park Club and the Casino, was rolled last evening on the Casino alleys. It was an exciting match from beginning to end, and although the Parks were victorious, plenty of amusement was afforded both sides. The home team had a chance to win the match, as they led their opponents up to the frame. They then became rattled and did not make a glorious finish. The Parks did not wind up auspiciously, but after the sixth frame they took the lead and managed to hold it to the end, winning by 69 pins.

The Casino team was at a disadvantage as three members had never rolled a game before, and Charles Burnett, the old stand-by, was unable to roll, having a very sore thumb. His place was taken by E. H. Booth, one of the three who never rolled a game before. High scores were not the rule, but considering that most of the players were somewhat out of practice, the scores were excellent.

There was plenty of excitement throughout the contest, and both teams were cheered long and loudly by their supporters. It was the cheering while rolling the sixth frame that rattled the home team and caused them to lose heart. They are not wholly discouraged, and, when the second game is rolled on the Park Club alleys two weeks from last evening, they expect to win.

One feature was the wager made between C. M. Evans and Charles Burnett. Mr. Evans wagered that if he failed to roll a score of 175 he would give a supper for five. He lost and will pay the forfeit.

The following is the score:

THE GOSPEL CAMPAIGN IS GAINING STRENGTH.

Many Were Aroused By the Strong Appeal at Last Night's Meeting.

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGE.

POWERFUL ADDRESS BY THE EVANGELIST, MR. HENDERSON.

Singing Was in Charge of Mr. Weeden—After Meeting With Sunday-school Workers Encouraged Them to More Active Work.

Without the slightest decrease in the attendance, practically every seat being occupied, the fourth of the evangelistic meetings took place in the First Baptist church last evening. That it was more beneficial, from a spiritual standpoint, than any of its predecessors, was attested to by the fact that an unusually large number stood up at the close in answer to Mr. Henderson's appeal to acknowledge the acceptance of Christ. The continued interest manifested augurs most gratifying results before the meetings are terminated.

In addition to Rev. Mr. Henderson, the pastors occupying the platform last evening were Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., Rev. A. E. Main, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, Rev. John Murray, Rev. W. C. Gardner, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes and Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards. The chorus choir was in charge of W. C. Weeden, of New York.

After the introductory song service, the opening prayer was made by Rev. Cornelius Schenck in which he invoked the Divine blessing on the meeting. He was followed by Dr. Yerkes who also offered prayer after which the offertory was made. While it was being taken Mr. Weeden sang in a most impressive manner, "Ninety and Nine." He possesses a voice of much power and sweetness.

A book in the Bible, which according to the speaker was seldom turned to or read, furnished Mr. Henderson his text for the evening. It was Lamentations 1:12, "Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?" and in a manner which held the interest of all throughout he sought to prove that it was. He began his remarks by saying that human character is capable of the greatest heights and the lowest depths and that both sides are brought out by contact with Christ, who is the touchstone of character. Many biblical characters have become loathed and despised or respected by simply coming in contact with him as in the case of Pilate and Peter. It is something to know this, as until a man becomes imbued with Christ his true character is not known.

"I want to ask you," said the speaker, "is it nothing to you that God is love? He gave all that He had to prove it, yet there are some who disbelieve, simply because they have been cheated by the devil out of a most precious gem, as God's love is the rarest jewel on earth."

Continuing he said that God is not a tyrant nor a hard hearted ruler but that His heart beats with love for all His children, although by many it is spurned or rejected.

Mr. Henderson said that Christ came into the world to save sinners and he besought his hearers to make it something to themselves to reciprocate His love, and at his request persons in every part of the church rose to their feet in recognition of their faith in God. They remained standing while the entire congregation sang "Just as I am Without One Plea." The pledge cards were then passed and many new names were added to the already large list. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Richards.

Before the dismissal Mr. Henderson stated that he would like to meet all superintendents and Sunday-school workers at the close and in answer to his call a large number remained. A beneficial meeting followed, during which the evangelist made a special plea to those in attendance to exert every influence in bringing their pupils to Christ.

The old cars will, it is reported, be placed in use on the Plainfield city line.

REPUBLICANS WILL NOMINATE TONIGHT.

Little Doubt But That Mayor Smalley Will Head The Ticket.

THE OTHER CANDIDATES.

PRIMARY WILL BE HELD AT SAENGERBUND HALL.

H. J. Martin and J. P. Emmons Candidates For Assessorship—No Opposition to Collector Brown's Renomination.

The Republican primary of North Plainfield will be held this evening in Saengerbund Hall instead of in the school building as originally intended, and a complete ticket will be chosen. The nominations include a candidate for mayor, assessor, collector and free holder. Two candidates for councilmen and two candidates for justice of the peace are also to be named.

Mayor Smalley's friends expect no serious opposition to their choice for the mayoralty. For justice of the peace, H S. Thomas has been brought out and today he is the only candidate known for this office though by tonight it will be necessary for the leaders to find still another candidate.

In the contest for assessor as near as can be learned today Horace J. Martin and John P. Emmons will run very close together on the first ballot. Martin's supporters claim their candidate is entitled to the assessorship because of the fact that he resides in the second district and in all probability his name will be the only one presented from that district in the caucus this evening. J. K Arnold was considered a strong candidate for the assessorship a few days ago, but he appears to be losing strength gradually.

No opposition to the candidacy of George F. Brown for a renomination as collector has materialized and Andrew Lutkins and L E. Barkalew are in the field for freeholder. Ex Mayor Charles Place will be the permanent chairman of the meeting.

COMPLETING COURSE.

Miss Cramer Will Spend Three Months in New York Hospital

Miss Cramer, who for some time past has been the efficient and faithful assistant superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital, leaves today for New York, where she will pursue a course of three months in further preparation for her profession as a trained nurse. At the completion of this course she will have about three weeks to serve at Muhlenberg Hospital before she will be graduated. During her service at the hospital she has won the esteem and admiration of not only the physicians, but the sister nurses and patrons, by her genial manner and untiring efforts to perform faithfully the duties assigned. Her successor has not yet been chosen, but probably will be in a short time.

MEEKER BILL LACKS ONLY GOVERNOR'S NAME

Anti-Spring Election Bill Passed By Senate Yesterday After a Hot Debate.

MINOR AMENDMENT MADE.

AMENDMENT NEEDED TO PREVENT IT FROM BEING UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Amended Bill Passed By Lower House—Strong Defence of Bill by Senator Reed—Explained Why It Should Be Passed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 28—Assembly bill No. 261, commonly known as the anti spring election bill has been passed by both Houses of the New Jersey Legislature. As was anticipated, the bill came up at yesterday afternoon's session of the Senate and was passed on final reading During the day it was discovered that there was an error in the bill. An amendment was prepared and passed and then the bill went back to the Assembly again, where it was passed in its amended form.

The error was in not excepting justices of the peace from the officers whose terms should be extended. The constitution provides for the term of office of the justice of the peace, and without this provision the law would be unconstitutional.

A caucus of the Republican Assemblymen was held during the morning when enough votes to adopt the amendments were secured.

In the Senate the bill was returned to second reading. Senator Reed championed the act in a lengthy speech. The bill, he declared, was one of which the party was not ashamed and had no reason to be It was in the interest of good government and economy, he said, and, by the consolidation of the elections, the various cities affected would be saved thousands of dollars, while the general disturbance of business and other interests caused by frequent elections would be abolished.

Referring to the opposition to the bill on the ground that it would carry politics into local elections, and prevent an independent expression of opinion on the local issues, Mr Reed declared that the abolishment of spring elections would lead to a fuller expression on all questions, as a larger vote was always polled at fall elections than in the spring. It was not a partisan measure, he insisted, but one that most of the minority believed in and would be proud to favor if they were in the majority.

There were other speeches, Senator Hudspeth bitterly attacking the bill. On the final vote the bill passed 17 to 3, and was immediately sent to the Assembly.

At the Lower House, that body was placed under call for the first time this winter. The doors were locked and the sergeant-at arms rounded up several missing members. When put to vote the amended bill was passed by a vote of 35 to 8.

A number of bills were passed by the Assembly. The one of chief interest to Plainfield was the one making second class cities of those between 25 000 and 125 000 population. There were also a number of bills passed by the Senate.

CEMETERY IMPROVED.

Evergreen Cemetery Put in Good Condition and Will Be Left Under Charge of Keeper.

Until a short time ago the Methodist cemetery on Plainfield avenue was in a somewhat neglected condition. Lately the place has been thoroughly overhauled and a comfortable lodge built for a caretaker, who was selected by the trustees in charge of the cemetery property.

Adjoining this graveyard is Evergreen cemetery which is under the control of the Baptist denomination. This property has been improved lately by the erection of a much-needed fence.

Under the terms of an agreement made by the Evergreen cemetery trustees with the Methodist managers, the latter's caretaker will hereafter attend to both yards. The lot owners of the Evergreen cemetery have lately received letters requesting subscriptions to defray the expense of maintaining the lots in proper condition.

BOSSES LOCKED OUT ALL UNION PLUMBERS.

Gave Journeymen Plumbers 24 Hours to Stop Boycott Against Leland.

THE TIME IS UP TONIGHT.

WILL REPLACE WITH NON-UNION MEN IF NO SETTLEMENT IS MADE.

Active Warfare Between Master Plumbers' Association and Building Trades Council Began This Morning—23 Men Out.

Active warfare was opened in the fight between the Master Plumbers' Association and the Plainfield Building Trades Council this morning when a lockout was instituted by all the members of the Master Plumbers' Association. Twenty three journeymen plumbers, all members of the Journeymen Plumbers Union, were notified by their employers this morning that no work would be done today. This action was in accordance with the proceedings of the joint committee of bosses, organized under the auspices of the Master Plumbers' Association, and which held a meeting yesterday. The Journeyman Plumbers Union was notified that the men who had stopped work on James Manning's new houses, must be replaced or non-union men would be substituted on all work.

This notification of war was sent to the journeymen plumbers yesterday afternoon and stated that twenty-four hours would be given in which the trouble was to be settled up. That twenty-four hours will expire this afternoon at 5 o'clock. If the journeymen plumbers do not return to work then, the lock out will be made permanent and non-union men will be put at work. As soon as non union men are sent to any jobs where union carpenters, masons or other union mechanics are working, the latter will stop at once and a general tieup in the building trades will ensue.

While the fight at present only includes the employers and employes in the plumbing business, it is well understood that the real question at issue is the recognition of the Building Trades Council by the master plumbers. The officers of the Master Plumbers' Association declare that they will not recognize the council either by having the working bosses take out union cards in the council or in any other way. They say that they are glad to see the journeymen organized and will work willingly with their organization, but that they will not allow mechanics of any other trade to interfere with their business. If the plumbers are not willing to work that way, they will get new men.

The journeymen plumbers are just as positive as the bosses that they are in the right and utterly refuse to recede from their present position. John Moran, president of the Journeyman Plumbers Union, explained their side of the controversy to a Press reporter this morning. This was the first intimation, he explained, that the men had had that their employers objected to their membership in the Trades Council although the masters had known for some time that they were members and just what the objects of the council were. The men did not want trouble and were anxious to work but they would stand up for their rights. They had tried to settle the controversy by arbitration but the master plumbers had not given them a chance to be heard. Regarding the workings of the Trades Council, it was as much to protect the master plumbers from outside competition as it was to protect them against cheap competition of non union labor.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

The attraction at Music Hall tomorrow night will be T. W. Dinkins "Utopians," a company and production which really merits its name. The first part of the production is one of the grandest spectacular shows ever put on the road and is entitled "In Grand Utopia." The scenery of this part is simply gorgeous and is a masterpiece of the work of those famous New York scenic artists Messrs. Gates and Morange. It reveals marvels of coloring and scenic effect in reproducing the artists' wonderful and artistic conceptions of "Utopia," the land of dreams, beauty, frolic and luxury. This part serves to introduce a monster company. The closing play—following a fine olio of specialties—"Wanna-Macey & Co.," a clever and uproariously funny skit on department stores and their methods, introduces gorgeously costumed tableaux of handsome girls in the uniform of United States cavalry, artillery, Rough Riders and other troops, the march being headed by a complete brass band in the uniforms of United States sailors. Altogether this show is the best on the road this season.

"Undersleeves" are coming into fashion again with women, it is said, and men are once more wearing "stocks." Whether these are the forerunners of other articles of garmen ure contemporary with them it is, of course, impossible to say, but a glance at photographs of the members of the cast of "The Dairy Farm," which will be at Music Hall on Wednesday night of next week, will show that in 1854 1856 with the stocks men wore "spike-tail" coats with abnormally high collars, low cut waistcoats of gorgeous fabrics and pegtop trousers, while women were clad in gowns with long straight bodices and skirts of enormous width, inflated by hoopskirts. The clothes worn in the play were carefully copied from old fashioned plates, daguerreotypes and articles of dress that have been handed down to decendants of the original wearers as heirlooms.

This will be the last week of "Barbara Freitchie" which has had a very successful run at the Academy of Music, New York city. Miss Effie Elisler took the part of the heroine of this delightful war play and made a decided hit in the part. She was supported by an excellent company. Like other plays which have appeared at the Academy of Music, "Barbara Frietchie" was staged in superb style and with all the mechanical aids which modern invention has produced. Large audiences have been the rule at all the performances, and the theatre-going public of New York and vicinity will be sorry to see the last of it for this season. Next week, W. A. Brady's mammoth production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the attraction at the Academy of Music It will be the largest and more elaborate production of that well known drama that has yet been on the New York stage.

Mrs. Moses Schloss, of West Front street, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Samuel Kreiger, of Philadelphia.

BULACAN PACIFIED.

Civil Officers Installed For Large Luzon Province.

GUIGUINTO, Philippine Islands, Feb. 28.—The Philippine commission has extended the benefit of civil government to the 250,000 residents of the province of Bulacan.

Previous to this there had been a lively two days' convention of the various factions over the question of the location of the capital. After a bitter contest Malolos, which was the popular choice, was decided upon by the presidentes, who cast their votes under the secret ballot system. This furnished the presidentes with their first instruction in the right of franchise, and they seemed to grasp the idea enthusiastically.

The commission then appointed officers for the various offices on the same plan as in the province of Pampanga, except that the salaries to be paid are somewhat lower. The province, which was until recently in arms against the Americans, suffers under two or three factions. There are Filipinos who belonged to the peace party, others who favored the rebels and also former insurgent officers who exert a wide influence. Some municipalities are undoubtedly supporting insurgent representatives who are holding office under the Americans.

Upon recommendation of Governor General MacArthur and General Fred Grant the commission appointed Jose Serapio, a prominent leader, governor. Captain Ernest A. Greenough of the Forty-first volunteer infantry treasurer and Lieutenant E. Wells of the Thirty-second volunteer infantry supervisor. Certain factions protested against the appointment of Senor Serapio on the ground that he had been acting as the agent of the friars.

Strong delegations of the various factions participated in the meetings of the commission and the convention.

Sold $3,670 For 11 Cents.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—In the excitement attending what Mrs. Mary Conley and her husband had hoped would be their last journey to die among the friends from whom they had parted 40 years ago the savings of a lifetime of the old couple, amounting to $3,670, were sold inadvertently to a ragpicker for 11 cents. They had saved $3,000 and raised $1,000 by mortgaging their house. Tickets to Australia had been bought for $245 and the household goods packed. The wife placed the money in a bit of cloth and hid it among a lot of rags. During her absence a ragpicker appeared, and Conley, not knowing the whereabouts of the money, sold the whole lot of rags for 11 cents. Of the money $1,020 was in gold and the remainder in bills. The police are looking for the ragpicker, but he has not yet been found.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 28.—Miss Jennie Howell, the West Scranton woman who was a week ago adjudged mentally sound after a sensational inquiry instituted by her brother, Franklin Howell, to declare her a lunatic, was married yesterday afternoon at her home here to Edward B. Dean of Hackensack, the lover who stood firmly by her while the inquiry was on. It was because of her engagement to Mr. Dean that the brother questioned her sanity, although it was claimed in defense that the brother had misused fully $100,000 of the sister's money and it was to secure control of her estate that the proceedings were begun.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Feb. 28.—Louis J. BOTHA SURRENDERS?

Report Received In London, but Unverified.

EARLIER DISPATCHES TO CONTRARY.

Pretoria Correspondents Say the Boer General Is Not Cornered, but Is Safe In the Rear of the British Under French.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Daily Chronicle, which has received a report it believes trustworthy, though it has no means of verification, that General Botha has surrendered to Lord Kitchener, says:

"According to earlier information General Botha was to have been received at Lord Kitchener's camp about the end of this week, but if the foregoing report is correct events have ripened with unexpected rapidity."

Special dispatches from Pretoria locate General Botha, with a small force, north of Middelburg. They point out that he is probably making for the headquarters of Commandant Viljoen and the seat of the Boer government beyond Roossenkal.

Lord Kitchener has been at Middelburg for the last few days, but there is no indication from any quarter other than that relied upon by The Daily Chronicle that General Botha has surrendered.

Bennet Burleigh wires to The Daily Telegraph from De Aar, under Tuesday's date, as follows:

"The Orange river remains high. Our columns are tightening their grip upon Steyn, De Wet and Hertzog near Petrusville, and our patrols have been engaged. I anticipate that a general action is about to be fought and that the collision is likely to prove serious."

The correspondents at Pretoria concur in stating that General Lucas Meyer and not Commandant General Botha commands the section of the Boers which General French is driving before him and from whom he captured large quantities of stock, etc. General Botha is now stated to be between Ermelo and Middelburg, immediately in the rear of General French, communication with whom is difficult owing to the rain. These reports indicate that General Botha is not cornered, and much disappointment is expressed thereat. He is apparently successfully imitating General De Wet's jack in the box tactics.

The entire absence of news concerning General De Wet is taken to indicate that he is free and that he has possibly joined Commandant Kritzinger or Commandant Herzog.

Murder and Suicide.

SAVANNAH, Feb. 28.—W. F. Aiken, a leading specialist, shot and killed his wife in their bedroom at an early hour yesterday morning. The report of the pistol awakened their little son, aged 8 years. In his night clothes and barefooted the child ran into the street to call a policeman. When the officer entered the house, he found Mrs. Aiken dead on the bed with a bullet hole through her head and Dr. Aiken, with a pistol in his hand, lying on the floor dead. After shooting his wife he had placed the weapon to his own head and sent a bullet through his brain. The child said that he had heard his father count "one, two, three," and then the pistol shot. It was developed at the coroner's inquest that Dr. Aiken was about 38 years old. He was born in New York and was graduated from Yale at the age of 20 years. After graduating he was located for a time with the health department of New York city.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A telegram announces the death at El Paso, Tex., of John P. Madden, the former Democratic leader of Queens borough. He died of consumption. He came to Long Island City in 1881 and worked as a reporter on The Star. Afterward he became manager of the Long Island City Tribune. Subsequently he went to Albany, where he was clerk of the senate committee on cities. He was at one time cashier of the water department of the city of New York. He was a member of the assembly in 1894-5.

RELATIONS DEFINED.

Cuban Convention Adopts Set of Resolutions.

NAVAL STATIONS NOT INCLUDED.

These, It Is Thought, "Would Militate Against the Independence Which Both Parties Wish to Preserve."

HAVANA, Feb. 28.—The scheme of relations already cabled was publicly approved last night by the convention. For two hours previous to the public meeting an executive session was held to draw up a preamble and revise the report of the special committee. Another vote was then taken on the preamble and the scheme of relations, only three dissenting, the same who had dissented at the meeting in the morning. Senor Giberga and Senor Quliez favored the adoption of the scheme of relations recommended by the United States senate committee. Senor Cisneros opposed this on the ground that Cuba was independent and should not enter into any scheme of relations with the United States.

The preamble, which is lengthy, sets forth the receiving of the letter from General Wood outlining the wishes of the Washington executive regarding future relations. It asserts that the convention understood the desire of the executive to be to bring about these specified relations with the object of preserving the independence of Cuba and that the suggestion as to naval stations was made on those lines.

"But this in itself," the preamble goes on to say, "would militate against the independence which both parties desire to preserve."

Regarding the other conditions suggested for preserving independence, such as raising loans, the preamble points out that these are fully covered by the constitution, which document, in the opinion of the convention, amply protects independence, including liberal laws as to the rights of foreigners and individual rights.

Regarding the sanitary question, the preamble declares that the future government should make satisfactory arrangements with the United States to protect that country as well as Cuba.

The convention clearly implies that its action would not bind the future government, for the last part of the preamble reads:

"The convention considers that relations might exist if the first government under the republic thinks it advisable."

The convention remained in session until 3 o'clock yesterday morning completing the work of drawing up the clauses of the constitution referring to the relations between Cuba and the United States. The following is the scheme which was adopted:

"The government of Cuba will not make a treaty or agreement with any foreign power which may compromise or limit the independence of Cuba or which may permit or authorize any power to obtain by means of colonization or for military or naval purposes or in any other manner any foothold or authority or right over any portion of Cuba.

"The government will not permit its territory to be used as a basis of operations for war against the United States or against any foreign nation.

"The government of Cuba accepts in its entirety the treaty of Paris, in which are affirmed the rights of Cuba, inasmuch as the obligations which are explicitly indicated in these and especially those which the international law imposes for the protection of life and property, substituting itself for the United States in the pledge which they assumed in that sense according to articles 12 and 162 of the treaty of Paris.

"Cuba recognizes as legally valid all acts of the military government during the period of occupation, also the rights arising out of them in conformity with the joint resolution and the Foraker amendment and the existing laws of the country.

"The governments of the United States and Cuba ought to regulate their commercial relations by means of a treaty based on reciprocity and with tendencies toward free trade in natural and manufactured products, mutually assuring ample special advantages in their respective markets."

Narrow Escape For Millionaire Wife.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay had a wonderful escape from injury yesterday when the hansom in which she was riding was run into on Fifth avenue by a Twenty-eighth street crosstown car. The windows of the hansom were closed, and Mrs. Mackay was held a prisoner inside when the rig was overturned. Throughout it all she remained cool, and it was in large part due to this that she was not hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Mackay had spent the afternoon together making calls, but when the accident occurred Mrs. Mackay was alone. Mr. Mackay had stopped off at Fifth avenue and Twenty-first street to go to the Union club.

Patrick Charged With Murder.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Albert T. Patrick will have to stand trial for murder in the first degree. He is now charged with being the murderer of William Marsh Rice, the Texas millionaire. The lawyer had hoped to secure his release from the Tombs on bail in a day or two, but the district attorney foiled any attempt on his part to obtain his freedom. Assistant District Attorney Osborne received from Professor Witthaus a statement regarding the result of the chemist's analysis of the contents of Mr. Rice's stomach. The chemist reported having found mercury in the kidneys and intestines. Mr. Osborne at once went before Justice Jerome in the court of special sessions and asked for a warrant for Patrick's arrest, charging him with murder in the first degree. The request was granted, and the warrant was served on Patrick in the Tombs prison.

A Prosperous Missionary Society.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—The fortieth anniversary meeting of the Woman's Union Missionary society was held here yesterday. Addresses were made by Miss Mary Deyo, a missionary of Japan, and Mrs. B. H. Bradley, prominent in mission work in India. The subject of both addresses was "The Woman Behind the Curtain," and both speakers told of mission work in foreign fields. The society was organized in 1860, is the oldest woman's foreign missionary organization in the country and has numerous branches throughout the United States. It has also established centers in Burma, India, China, Japan, Greece and Cyprus. The society's boarding school in Japan was the first of its kind in the empire, and in this institution hundreds of girls have been fitted for teachers, evangelists and other positions of usefulness.

Kidnaper Heard From.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—E. A. Cudahy, the Omaha packer, whose son was kidnaped to secure a reward of $25,000, is in receipt of an anonymous letter declaring that upon his assurance that the kidnapers will not be punished all but $5,000 of the ransom money would be returned to him. The letter was mailed at Waukegan, Ills., Tuesday and sent to Omaha. Mr. Cudahy was in Chicago and received a transcript of the letter by telegraph. "I do not know whether the letter is authentic or a hoax," said Mr. Cudahy to a reporter. "I will pay no attention to it and certainly have no intention of letting up on these men.

Monkey Market Brisk.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—The demand for monkeys has grown in Chicago until dealers find it impossible to fill their orders. Telegrams are received whenever a new shipment arrives, advising the owner to set his own price on the coveted simians. The animals are sought by persons who desire to keep them as pets as well as by owners of circuses, who seek them for exhibition purposes. The heaviest shipment of monkeys said to have been received in Chicago has just arrived, its value being $3,730. The animals came directly from Antwerp, and every one was sold prior to its arrival, the dealer naming his own price.

WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 28.—John T. Hayes, who shot and killed Miss Winifred Cook, a schoolteacher, here on Feb. 11 and afterward attempted suicide, was arrested and brought from the Litchfield county jail yesterday for arraignment on the charge of murder. He has apparently recovered from his self inflicted wounds. The news of Hayes' presence in town caused a large crowd to gather about the courthouse, but no demonstration against the prisoner was attempted.

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kindey complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after 2 or 3 days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

M'MACKIN GETS A PLUM.

Appointed Labor Commissioner—Other Doings at Albany.

ALBANY, Feb. 28.—Governor Odell has appointed John W. McMackin of New York city as state labor commissioner. For the past two years Mr. McMackin has been state commissioner of labor statistics, succeeding John T. McDonough when the latter was elected secretary of state. The appointment was made yesterday under the provision of the new law creating a state department of labor. The nomination was sent to the senate for confirmation. The salary of the commissioner is fixed at $3,500 and the term of office four years.

Mark Twain was the piece de resistance of the hearing yesterday on the bill to license osteopathy in the state. That is, Mr. Clemens appeared with the advocates of the bill, but he did not seriously ask for the bill's passage or urge the benefit of the cult other than to merely say that he believed in "medicinal liberty" as well as civil liberty and that he thought a man ought to be allowed to be doctored as he desired.

Former Senator John Laughlin of Buffalo practically made the assertion before the senate judiciary committee that the so called employers' liability bill introduced in the senate by Senator Brackett and in the house by Assemblyman Costello was a bill put forward by the railroads to meet the governor's suggestion of legislation and prevent the enactment of legislation that might help the employee. Mr. Laughlin's statement was practically borne out by the attitude of the railroad lawyers present. The bill in its present form was opposed by James Lavery, who represented the Federation of Labor.

All day long the corridors of the assembly and senate have echoed with whispers of new action to be taken on police measures to overcome the New York difficulty, and it was asserted with some positiveness at 3 o'clock that the way had been paved to the passage of a bill.

The senate has passed the bill taxing savings banks 1 per cent on the par value of their surplus by a vote of 35 to 13.

Mrs. Nation Leaves Peoria.

PEORIA, Ills., Feb. 28.—Surrounded by a large crowd of men and boys Mrs. Carrie Nation yesterday afternoon boarded the Burlington train at 3 o'clock and started for Topeka, where she will be surrendered to the sheriff and resume her jail life. She says she will remain in jail until released without promising not to smash any more. Yesterday morning she visited the city hall, where she lectured Mayor Lynch for the manner in which he runs the city. Then she had a controversy with W. A. Brubaker, the Prohibition orator who helped her to edit The Journal on Tuesday, and then visited the Great Western distillery. Peter Casey, the manager, escorted her through it. She begged him to smash it. When asked what she thought of the largest distillery in the world, she replied, "It is hell."

Locomotives For South America.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—Orders for 106 passenger and freight locomotives have been received by the Baldwin Locomotive works from railways in this country and South America. Four narrow gauge freight engines are to be built for the Guayaquil and Quinto Railway company of Ecuador. Forty-seven of the locomotives will be built for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. Of these nine will be high speed passenger engines, 34 will be ten wheel compound freight engines and the remaining four will be single expansion pusher engines. Fifty-five engines will be constructed for the Baltimore and Ohio railway. Of these 20 will be consolidated freight engines and 35 will be ten wheel compound freight engines.

Bodies of Miners Recovered.

DIAMONDVILLE, Wy., Feb. 28.—Outside of the relief shifts which have been working heroically and incessantly since Monday night the little mining camp of Diamondville has been at a standstill, miners, merchants and housewives having practically suspended their daily avocations in the face of the terrible calamity that has visited the camp. Groups of anxious men, women and children still surround the main entrance to the mine. The number of lives lost is at least 26 and possibly 29, but no more. The work is necessarily slow. The searching party yesterday succeeded in bringing out eight bodies. The bodies show evidence that the ill fated miners died from suffocation.

Pig Iron Advances.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 28.—Within a week the price of Bessemer pig iron has advanced about $1 a ton. Since the purchase by the Carnegie company two weeks ago of 150,000 tons there has been a scarcity of iron, and this week but 1,000 tons were sold, the price being $14.75 a ton at the valley furnaces or $15.50 delivered in Pittsburg. The iron purchased by the Carnegie company was at the rate of $12.50 a ton at the furnaces. Gray forge has advanced this week from $13.25 a ton to $14 and $14.25 a ton.

Seven Jockeys Sail.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Seven well known American jockeys left here on the steamship Oceanic, which sailed for Europe yesterday. They were Lester Reiff, who led the list of winning jockeys in England last season; his brother John, Willie Simms, "Cash" Sloane, Eddie Jones, Morgan and a young lad named Erbsmetil, who accompanied Jones. Clem Jenkins, who was also to have sailed on the same ship, according to reports, failed to show up.

Raid Victims Arraigned.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The prisoners captured in the sensational raids on the gambling houses in the Tenderloin Tuesday were arraigned before Judge Jerome in the library of the district attorney's office. Where the prisoner was able to furnish bail, Judge Jerome held him for examination on March 6 in $1.500—unusually high bail—and where they could not he remanded them to the Tombs for examination.

The Spanish Cabinet Crisis.

MADRID, Feb. 28.—The queen regent yesterday consulted with the presidents of the senate and chamber, and both of these officials advised her majesty to intrust Senor Silvela with the work of forming a cabinet. Senors Silvela and Sagasta afterward were also consulted.

A Ten Per Cent Reduction.

NORWICH, Conn., Feb. 28.—Notice is posted in all departments of the Shetucket Cotton Mills company of Greenville of a 10 per cent reduction in the wages after March 4. The reason given is the low market price of the goods. About 500 hands are affected.

ARMY BILL PASSED.

Vote Taken This Morning After Long Session.

INSULAR AMENDMENTS ADOPTED.

Both the Philippine and Cuban Amendments to the Measure Are Hotly Attacked by Democrats. House Has a Busy Day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The senate passed the army appropriation bill at 12:54 o'clock this morning, containing the propositions of the Republican majority for the temporary government of the Philippines and defining the future relations between the United States and Cuba. Many amendments were offered to both propositions, but all were voted down. The original Spooner amendment was amended regarding franchises as proposed by Mr. Hoar, the latter proposition having been accepted by the majority yesterday.

The vote on the Spooner Philippine amendment was taken at 10:35 o'clock, and it was adopted—45 to 27. It was a party vote, except that Senator Hoar voted with the Democrats in opposition to the amendment, and Senator McLaurin of South Carolina acted with the Republicans. The Cuban amendment was adopted by a vote of 43 to 20.

The senate adjourned at 1 o'clock this morning, having been in continuous session from 11 a. m. yesterday.

Not since the enactment of resolutions declaring a state of war between the United States and Spain has there been such an avalanche of passionate oratory as the senate listened to yesterday.

Throughout the session the army appropriation bill was under discussion, the controverted questions being the Spooner Philippine amendment and the Platt Cuban amendment. Curiously enough, the debate was confined entirely to the Democratic side of the chamber, with one exception. Both amendments were denounced as vicious and pernicious legislation, subversive of the principles of this government and unparalleled in the history of legislative enactments.

The most notable speech of the day was delivered by Mr. Bacon of Georgia.

Early in the evening the voting began on the minor amendments to the measure. All of them were offered by Democratic senators, and all of them were voted down by heavy majorities.

At 10:35 p. m. the Spooner amendment was adopted—45 to 27. It was a party vote, with the exception that Senator Hoar voted with the Democrats and Senator McLaurin voted with the Republicans.

The Cuban amendment to the army bill was adopted. The vote was 43 to 20.

The house had a busy day of routine, agreeing to the conference reports on the fortifications, District of Columbia and the Military academy bills, the last named containing the antibazing legislation. The naval appropriation bill was sent back to conference after the defeat of a motion to concur in the senate's provision for three more submarine torpedo boats. The Louisiana purchase exposition bill, which has been in a precarious parliamentary state, was finally sent to conference for an adjustment of differences. Several bills for statues were disposed of by parliamentary maneuvers. The revenue cutter bill also received a reverse, the house adjourning when an effort was made to take it up. Early sessions began in the house today.

Morgan Came to Thank Sampson.

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—Gunner Charles Morgan, concerning whose application for promotion to the line Admiral Sampson wrote his now famous letter against the promotion of warrant officers, was a caller at the navy yard yesterday. Morgan left for Newport again in the afternoon. Just before he started he was induced to say, "I came up from Newport to thank Admiral Sampson for the very friendly indorsement he gave me." The chief gunner said he did not take it as a personal affront that the admiral had advised against admitting warrant officers to the line, saying that he considered that the admiral had given him a good recommendation. He had a long talk with the admiral, he said, and with Mr. Bennett, the admiral's aid, with whom he dined. "I found Admiral Sampson,' he concluded, "kind and courteous, as always. More than that I cannot say."

Money In a Dump Pile.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 28.—Carl Sanberg, while playing on a city dump pile at West Point Mill, on the banks of Cooper river, this city, found $5,000 in money and certified checks. The little boy found a package of letters from Rockhill, in this state, and opened them through curiosity. As soon as he came across the money he went to his grandfather, Charles Colson, who reported the facts and delivered the letters to the postal authorities here. The package of letters is supposed to have been carelessly dropped at the postoffice here and swept out as rubbish. Two of the largest certified checks were for $2,600 and $1,800 respectively.

New York Courthouse Afire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A large room on the topmost story of the criminal courts building was discovered to be afire yesterday afternoon. The flames gained such headway that three alarms had to be sent in. The loss, which includes many valuable court records, will reach $25,000. The metallic roof of the building was destroyed. Court was in session at the time, and there was a panic and scramble for the open air.

The New Election Law.

The municipal elections in Plainfield will hereafter be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, when the State and county elections take place, instead of on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in December, as heretofore. This change is one of the results of the anti spring election bill which has been passed by the New Jersey Legislature.

This anti-spring election bill, which Assemblyman Ellis R. Meeker, of Elizabeth, introduced into the Lower House of the Legislature, has been the subject of much controversy. There are many Republicans throughout the State who gravely question the political expediency of passing such a law. There was opposition against it right among the Republican members of the Legislature, but it was made a party issue and thus was passed through both Houses.

Monday it was passed by the Assembly. Yesterday afternoon it came before the Senate where Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, was one of its strongest advocates. The Senate passed it with a few minor amendments to which the Assembly subsequently agreed.

As Governor Voorhees has already expressed himself as opposed to the measure, it is doubtful, indeed, if he signs it. As it has been made essentially a Republican measure he is not likely to veto it and the chances are that the bill will be allowed to become a law without his signature.

The original bill, as presented by Mr. Meeker, was by no means satisfactory to the Republican leaders and so Senator McCarter amended it until it answered the purpose intended. The measure affects only cities and provides that the municipal or charter election, which in some cities is held in March and in others in December, shall take place in November when the county and State tickets are voted on.

The chief arguments that have been advanced for the bill are that it will do away with much needless expense occasioned by a separate election and that it will secure a fairer expression of opinion as the vote at the November election is always heavier than that at the municipal or charter election.

Opposition in the Republican ranks has chiefly been that of political expediency. The opponents believe that the people of New Jersey will not favor the change. Many favor keeping the National and State issues distinct from the local ones. As New Jersey is now classed in the Republican column on National and State issues, it is argued that this is merely an attempt of the Republicans to secure local offices on the strength of the main ticket.

How the people of New Jersey will like the measure time will show. In Plainfield, it will probably be condemned by the Democrats and some of the independent Republican voters who believe that municipal elections should be kept entirely separate from State and county elections. Its effect here will probably be to slightly increase the Republican majorities for city officials and tend to prevent the placing of a citizen's or independent ticket in the field. It would be hard to get votes at a State election for a ticket which bore candidates for local offices only as a citizen's ticket would have to be.

Many successful men have borne testimony to the efficacy of newspaper advertising in the exploitation of medical, food, patented and other articles, all manufacturers of such commodities agreeing that without the liberal use of newspaper space the measure of success which they have achieved would have been impossible, says the Philadelphia Record. That the same mediums of publicity are equally important to merchants and to others whose business is confined to a community or section has been proved by the practical experience of thousands. For example, Mack & Co., of Ann Arbor, who started with a small stock of dry goods, have built up the largest trade in general merchandise in Southern Michigan, and the manager has declared that the chief element in the success of his firm has been a larger use of newspaper space than has been employed by any rival establishment.

Several communications, regarding various subjects but lacking the real signatures of the writers, have been received at this office. While The Daily Press is glad to print any letters on topics of current local interest even, on occasions, without the name of the writer attached, the name must always accompany the communication, not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

That bright little flower, which appears before the snow is hardly off the ground, known through this section as the trailing arbutus, but in New England as the mayflower, has just been proposed as the floral emblem of Nova Scotia. A bill to that effect has been introduced in the Legislature of that province.

The anti spring election bill will not affect North Plainfield's coming election. The bill refers only to cities An attempt to include boroughs and townships in the bill was defeated. The rural communities seem, as a general thing, opposed to the consolidation of the State and local elections.

It is to be regretted that the local horsemen are apparently lacking in interest in the speedway project. Twice recently have attempts been made to advance the project but lack of a quorum has prevented.

The new management of the trolley system, which includes the local street railway lines, is already making provision for the big summer traffic that is sure to come.

Senator Reed has been a staunch advocate of the anti spring election bill during its career in the Upper House of the Jersey Legislature.

The spring election in the borough is now less than two weeks away.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Augusta M. Seacord Johnson, departed Dec. 2, 1900:

RESIGNATION TO THE DIVINE WILL.

I want to have no will but Thine,
For Thine alone can bless,
And make me good, and keep me pure,
And save from sin's distress.

None knows so well as Thou, which way
Is best for me to go,
To surely bring me home at last,
And Heaven's ble-sings know.

Thus lead me on, Thou blessed One,
According to Thy will,
And hold me by Thy loving hand,
Till all my wants are still.

Then I shall be Thine own indeed,
And glorified with Thee,
Shall spend with those I loved so well
A blest eternity.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A revised list of Alumni of Rutgers College, just issued, is interesting. Including the class of 1904 there has been a total of 2,969 men who have attended Rutgers. Of these 2,014 are graduates and 955 non graduates, including under-classmen. Of the graduates, 1 277 are living and 737 are dead; of the non-graduates 723 are living and 232 are dead. The great majority of the living, both graduates and non-graduates, are in New York and New Jersey, the former having 943 men and the latter 977. Pennsylvania has 76. There are but few States or countries with more than 20 men, aside from those mentioned. Included among the local cities, Plainfield has 29 men. There are Rutgers men in 41 States, including the District of Columbia and in 16 foreign countries.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Dear Sirs.—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank. Respectfully yours, VERDICT AGAINST CENTRAL.

JURY BROUGHT IN DECISION IN TRIAL AT SOMERVILLE.

Action Will Now Be Taken in Chancery to Secure Gates at Crossings in Question.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Somerville, February 28—The case against the Central Railroad for maintaining a nuisance at the Middagh street crossing occupied the attention of court all day yesterday, although only two witnesses for the defense were produced. The time was mostly consumed by counsel arguing over the admission of certain testimony.

Assistant Superintendent Morse was again placed on the stand and testified that an average of fifty-five trains passed daily over the Middagh street crossing, although some days as many as seventy had been run. He said that numerous complaints had been received by the company concerning the blowing of whistles in the town and order had been given to the men in charge of trains to blow no whistles between Jersey City and Raritan, which accounted for the failure to give warnings in approaching the crossings. An attempt was made to introduce the book of rules promulgated for the use of employes, but it was ruled out on the ground that the company were liable for the negligence of employes, no matter what the rules might be.

George P. Norton testified that he could see from the Middagh street crossing trains approaching as far east as the Woolen Mills and as far west as Raritan.

The summing up of Hon. A. A. Clark for the defense, of Prosecutor James L Griggs for the State, and Judge Schenck's charge took up the whole afternoon.

The jury, after being out an hour, brought in a verdict of guilty on both counts.

The board of commissioners of Somerville will now begin proceedings in the Court of Chancery to compel the railroad company to place gates or flagmen at the Middagh and Hamilton street crossings.

There are also two damage suits pending against the railroad company, one for the killing of a child at the Middagh street crossing, and the other for the injury of a man at the New street crossing, which will now be pushed.

LOOKED HIM OVER.

Ira Gage Walker, of Scotch Plains, Had an Experience With a Plainfield Policeman in Plain Clothes.

Ira Gage Walker, a well known citizen of Scotch Plains and a member of the Seeley Paper Mills Company, has not a high opinion of police methods in Plainfield, judging from a letter which has been received at this office. Mr. Walker relates an experience he passed through in Plainfield Saturday evening while waiting for a trolley car to take him home.

Mr. Walker had been shopping and had his purchases in a small grip. While he stood at the corner of North and Watchung avenues, a man approached him and began to question him concerning his destination and business. The man was in citizen's clothes. Mr. Walker was inclined to resent the seeming familiarity of the man and refused to tell him anything. Then the man explained that he was on officer and demanded to see what was in the grip The investigation was made and Mr. Walker was allowed to go.

Then followed recitations by Miss Try Mattox and Mrs. Andrew Cox, piano solo by Miss Clark, a vocal duet by the Misses Grace and Jessie Gunn, a piano duet by Miss Clark and James Clark, a vocal solo by Mrs. William A. Westphal, a vocal solo by Mr Blair and a vocal duet by William Howard and Mr. Blair

Interesting remarks were made by V. W. Nash and Prelate Mrs. William J. Ford. After the entertainment, a committee served refreshments during which a social time was had

NO SKATING THERE.

Officials of Water Company Deny That Any Boys Have Been Skating on Water Tank—Say it is Impossible.

Officials of the Plainfield Water Supply Company who have been investigating the report that boys have been skating on top of the reservoir on the mountains, state that they find no ground for the assertion. They say it would be impossible for boys to reach the top as it is almost five feet from the top of the ladder to the top of the reservoir. Besides, they say that if a boy should reach the top it would be a very difficult feat for him to get on the ice. If he did it would be impossible for him to get off The ice does not extend to the sides of the reservoir and for this reason the boys could not safely land on the frozen surface.

The officials say that there is a standing reward of $10 for anyone who will detect and report any such violations to the company, and if the report circulated is true they ask why has not someone come forward for the reward.

FRENCH WILL RUN.

Denies Report That His Candidacy Depends on Who the Republicans Nominate.

Considerable gossip has been heard concerning the various nominations of both parties in North Plainfield. A Daily Press reporter interviewed Elston M. French this morning regarding a statement made in another newspaper that he would accept the Democratic nomination for assessor only on condition that a certain man was nominated on the other side.

Mr. French stated positively that the report was without foundation and that if his part should honor with him the nomination, he would feel it his duty to accept as he does not wish to place his friends in an embarassing position at this late day by declining. This disposes of any possibility of a withdrawl as far as Mr. French is concerned, no matter whom the Republicans may name.

HIS FIRST CASE.

Attorney Van Winkle Appeared in Nash's Court This Morning in a Case.

Attorney John H Van Winkle, Jr., appeared in Justice Nash's court this morning and caused a distress warrant to be issued for Frank Neal in his action against Mrs. Nellie Clark for the collection of rent. The defendant resides at the corner of West Front street and Central avenue.

Yesterday Justice Huff issued an attachment against goods held by Mrs. Clark for Miss Louisa A. Daly. The latter is a dressmaker and she claims that Mrs. Clark has goods belonging to her, also that Mrs. Clark owes her money for goods purchased.

Death of Gustave Lund.

Gustave Lund, aged twenty-two years, until recently a resident at 656 West Fourth street, with his sister, Mrs. Gustave Brandt, died Monday at Springfield, Mass., where he had gone to secure work. He formerly worked in the Pond Tool Works, and was well-known in this city. He was a native of Sweden and came to this country at an early age. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of Mrs. Brandt at 2:30 o'clock.

New Waiting Room Ready.

The new waiting room of the trolley company, located in the building at the corner of East Second street and Watchung avenue, will probably be thrown open to the public tomorrow. It has been fitted up with many conveniences for both passengers and employes.

Moved to Passaic.

Mrs. Theron Van Iuwagen, her son and her mother, Mrs. Manning, who have been living on Franklin avenue, moved to Passaic today, where they will live in the future. The house will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs Charles J. McNabb, now living in the Jackson building.

OWL CAR EPISODES.

Lively Ride on an Early Morning Street Car in New York.

Plenty of Excitement Furnished by a Tipsy Conductor and Tipsy Passengers — Sober Ones Were Glad to Make Their Escape.

A drunken conductor and several intoxicated passengers furnished excitement to sober persons who rode uptown on an Eighth avenue trolley car, says the New York Sun. The conductor was in the "don't care" stage of intoxication. When the car reached Fourteenth street, where some people were waiting to board it, he kept them back by shouting in stentorian tones:

"Stand clear gangway. Freightsh got to be discharged 'fore new baggage ish taken on. All ashore who go 'shore. Now—all aboard. Tumble up, my hearties. Step lively. This car'sh an ocean greyhound. Can't wait. Two bells. Full shpeed ahead."

Then he clanged the bell twice. The car went on. Suddenly, without warning, a neatly dressed woman near the front door began singing "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." After finishing the song she politely asked the conductor to pull the bell, as she had reached her destination. He complied, murmuring:

"One bell. Go slow. Stop her. Full shpeed ashtern."

After the car had come to a stop the woman told him to hold it until she had shaken hands with every passenger

"Don't hurry, lady," he said, smilingly; "oceans of time. We ain't late."

Finally the woman got out with some difficulty, and two men with different kinds of jags clambered aboard. As they lurched through the now rapidly moving car the conductor called out:

"Where're yer sea legs, yer land lubbers? Steady thar. Better anchor."

Just then the car gave a big lurch and both were thrown into seats. The conductor waited considerately until they had recovered from the shock and then reeled up to collect the fares. One paid, but after looking at the conductor in a dazed way, asseverated with drunken dignity that he had already paid his nickel. The conductor said:

"SHAKE!" SAID THE CONDUCTOR.

"Shay, cap, yer either pays yer fare er yer takes yer departure—shee?" Then he appealed to the intoxicated man in the seat opposite. "Shay, did dis guy pay hish fare?"

"Naw," said the man addressed; "jeashtways, I didn't shee him, anyway, I don't care whether he did or not."

"Thank you, friend, you're a zhentleman," said the conductor.

"Now look ahere," said the obstinate one, indignantly. "I haven't zhe honor of zhat zhentleman's acquaintance. How dare you shay, shir, zhat I didn't pay my fare?" With that he made a move with his arm as though to annihilate the grave drunkard opposite him, but the conductor interposed.

"Leave zhat zhentleman alone," he said, with dignity; "yer quarrel ish wi' me."

By this time the women in the car showed signs of nervousness. But when the obstinate man saw the conductor straighten himself, preparatory to ejecting him, he reluctantly fished out a nickel, grumbling that he always paid his way wherever he went, and that he had traveled, in his day, farther than any conductor on any car, too. After this row had subsided an Englishwoman, with eyeglasses and a severe mien, asked for a "transfer."

"Shertainly, madam," said the conductor, politely. "Anywhere you want." Then he gave the Englishwoman a transfer, and also gave one to each passenger in the car, omitting, however, the formality of punching it. "Them transfers are good anywhere and any time," he said, with a comprehensive wave of his hand.

Things became monotonous for a little while after this. Presently the tipsy man who had paid his fare under pressure lurched down the car and approached the conductor.

"Shay, old fel, no hard feelings, hope. Lemme out Eighty-sixth street," he said.

"Sure, shake," said the conductor.

Then the two shook hands, and when Eighty-sixth street was reached the conductor helped the other out as well as he could.

The Old Lady Was Thrifty.

A large snake frightened a sitting hen from a nest in Brownsville, Tenn., swallowed the dozen eggs, and occupied the nest. The owner of the hen, an old lady, discovered the intruder and killed it. She cut open the snake, removed the eggs, but could not persuade the hen to resume her duty. She therefore practiced economy by selling the eggs to a country grocery.

MADURO THE RECKLESS.

Exciting Adventures in the Career of the Generalissimo of South American Bandits.

In the gentle gloom of an equatorial twilight Maduro, generalissimo of the South American bandits, accompanied by a woman, approached the house of his beautiful inamorata. The price set upon his head had been raised to 10,000 pesos, since the Huachiro opera house trick.

On that occasion he had rung up the curtain at the Plaza theater with a score of bandits on the stage, their rifles aimed at the richly jeweled audience of the first fashion. Then he had directed four stanch brigands to "take up the collection" of money and diamonds, the people to remain quiet the while at the peril of their lives. This done, he thanked the audience for their kind attention and disappeared.

He had but fairly entered his sweetheart's house when a vehement rap on the door warned him of danger.

A moment's hesitation and a servant opened the door for the city's chief of police and a train of his men. Brushing the maid aside, the chief ordered his subordinates to search the rooms, while he made at once for the inner court.

"A thousand pardons, senora, but Maduro is here and we want him."

"Maduro, the notorious bandit! Maria santissima! Impossible!"

"Come, come, where is your visitor?"

"In the parlor," pointing to the further end of the court. The chief thanked her, but before proceeding inspected the reception-room behind the woman—its divans and tables, and in one corner an old suit of armor worn by the ancient South American friars in the Passion play.

"Where is Maduro?" came the chief's stentorian notes, but as he spoke he heard a clangor and clamor at the outer entrance.

It was the ancient armor of the friars passing into the street. Maduro was gone.

In Maduro's last adventure he appeared in Huachiro disguised as a traveler and being recognized escaped to the Foreigners' Union club, where he stripped and gagged the waiter, then opened the door for the police, who came in search of him, and who immediately dispatched him for several assistants. With this help he speedily made off, and is now amusing himself with the promise to the public, through the Huachiro papers, that on next Friars' day he will assist the holy brethren in gathering alms.

POODLE PLAYS PIANO.

Remarkable Accomplishment of an Indiana Woman's Pet Dog Who Is a Real Wonder.

"One thousand dollars cash would not tempt me to sell 'Toots,'" said Mrs. Otto Dowden, of Muncie, Ind.,

THIS DOG IS A WONDER.

referring to her pet St. Charles French poodle dog.

The dog is a wonder. Aside from playing the piano and singing, "Toots" has many other talents, the result of two years of patient training by his mistress.

"Toots" has the distinction of being the only specimen of his kind in this country. He is about ten inches high. His hair is black, long and curly. He was purchased in Indianapolis by Mrs. Dowden three years ago.

The first accomplishment mastered by "Toots" was to sit on his hind legs. In this position he will remain for hours while his mistress plays the piano. Mrs. Dowden conceived the idea of teaching the dog to play the piano, and it took him just one week to master the art. "Play the piano" is the only signal that is required for "Toots' to mount the stool and begin playing. Wagging his long tail as if delighted at the privilege, he sits on the stool and drums on the keys with his fore paws with much vigor.

The dog transfers his paws from the high to the low keys and can play and sing at the same time. His mistress will say: "Now sing," and he will whine and bark to the noise of the piano.

SELF RELIANT CHILDREN.

How the Little Ones Should Be Taught to Depend on Themselves.

The other day I called on Mrs. X. We had not met for several years, and so, as you well imagine, we had plenty of things to talk about. Just as she was telling me a very interesting story a plaintive child's voice was heard from the region above stairs.

"Oh, mamma," it wailed, "where is my pocket handkerchief?"

"Top drawer, to the left, Flossie."

There was a brief pause, followed by another wail. "Oh, dear; oh, dear! 'Tisn't handkerchiefs at all, only nothing but stockings."

"Did you look in the top drawer to the left, dear?" Mrs. X. asked gently. "I said left, you know."

Silence again, during which my friend went on with her interrupted story. "Mamma (this from up stairs), where is my boot buttoner? And I can't put my coat on alone, and—oh, dear; oh, dear!—where did I put my mittens?"

Mrs. X. rose with a worn little smile. "If you'll excuse me just a minute," she said, "I think I'll just run up stairs and dress Flossie. She wants to go out skating, and if I don't find her things for her she'll never get ready this afternoon. She's such a helpless child!"

"I'm sure I don't understand what makes her that way," she added when she came down stairs all out of breath with her exertions.

I think I could have told her the cause. When Flossie was a wee little mite, I had spent many afternoons with her mother in the nursery. I never saw a more restless child in all my life. No toy could hold her attention more than two minutes, and if some one did not condescend to amuse her she would sit right down in the center of the floor and cry bitterly. This stratagem never failed. She was immediately picked up in her mother's arms and soothed with the promise of a story. Of course with a mother who was willing to read aloud to her by the hour it was not wonderful that Flossie refused to do the work herself. She was 7 years old when she first learned to read, and then she was taught by main force. It was the same with her toys. She never knew the joy of originating, of deriving pleasure from her own inventions.

It is the greatest wrong that can be done a child, this bringing it up to depend always upon others. I am not taking into consideration the wrong that is done to the mother by making her a sort of upper servant to amuse the child, pick up its toys, put away its clothes and wait upon it generally. I am leaving out the element of selfishness which is implanted in the child. What I am thinking of is the deliberate weakening of the child's character. All through life that child will depend upon others to do the work which it should do itself. We see such people every day, people who lean on others, who can't stand alone, and we call them life's failures. But how many of us trace the evil to its first cause—the fact that self reliance was not taught in the nursery? MAUD ROBINSON.

MY LADY BARBARITY.

The Crimes Tender Woman Commits In Fashion's Name.

Early last fall we were told the slaughter of birds was over. The Audubon society's efforts had not been in vain. Women wept at the harrowing details which were brought to their notice. They signed resolutions not to wear even so much as a pinfeather. Result, the milliners laughed in their sleeves and laid away their feathered hats for awhile.

In a month or so hats with birds began to reappear in the shop windows, also lines of admiring womankind. First one vain creature yielded to temptation and wore her purchase on the sly, then a dozen followed her example, and now hats with birds promise to be more popular than ever. The newest turban looks as if a whole nestful had expired on one spot. It is entirely made of a breast and eight or ten wings. Recently a beautiful woman came out from the opera wearing a cloak trimmed with countless grebe heads and breasts. For goodness' sake, why don't we go one step farther and wear flights of real stuffed swallows on our evening dresses instead of the velvet ones?

Playing the Last Act in the Venezuelan Comedy

Commissioners Are Now Setting the Boundary Posts Between That Country and British Guiana

THE last act in the comedy, which at one time gave fair promise of developing into a tragedy, with Great Britain as the heavy villain, the United States as the hero and Venezuela as the cause of it all, is now being played in the tropical forests of Venezuela and British Guiana.

Starting at Point Playa, on the Atlantic, commissioners representing Great Britain and Venezuela, seven of the former and 11 of the latter, are now pushing their way through the dense forests along the line determined by the court of arbitration and setting up the little white stone monuments that will forever mark the dividing line between the two countries. But four or five of these little monuments have been placed so far, and it will be many months before the task is complete and the British ministers had proposed yielding the point to Venezuela, but it had never been done. This fact was taken into consideration by the court of arbitration, and Barima Point, controlling as it does the mouth of the Orinoco, has been awarded to Venezuela. This deviation from the Schomburgk line gives to Venezuela but a small tract of territory, but it does give her the control of the Orinoco, which is of far more importance.

Another change from the Schomburgk line which gives to Venezuela a small additional territory is in the valley of the Cuyuni river. The modified Schomburgk line followed this river to its source in the mountains, while the present line leaves the Cuyuni at its junction with the Wenaima and follows that stream to its source, from which point it cuts last stone erected in the Sierra Pacaraima range of mountains that touch the southernmost point of the boundary between the two countries.

But it is the beginning of such a work, quite as much as its completion, that marks a step forward in our civilization. The acceptance by England of the intervention of this country into the affair was a distinct victory for the United States, and established more firmly than ever our right to the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine that makes us the protector of the weak of the new world against the strong of the old.

A glance at the map and the explanation which accompanies this article will give a fairly comprehensive idea of the difficulties that confronted the court of arbitration to which this boundary question was referred. England claimed a wide stretch of territory beyond the Schomburgk line, of which we heard so much during those exciting days when peace or war hung in the balance, while Venezuela, even more ambitious than England, laid claim to a broad tract of territory that comprised more than half of British Guiana.

The world, and especially America, quick to search for a reason for the dispute, laid the trouble, and the extensive claims of England, to the newly discovered gold fields that were located in the disputed territory. We called England many harsh names, but a second glance at the map will prove the fact that Venezuela was claiming much more gold producing territory that the court of arbitration has decided rightfully belonged to England than that country was claiming of Venezuela. Not only were the gold fields in dispute, but the virtual control of the great Orinoco river as well. The original southeast until it again joins the original line at Mount Enkenam, in the Sierra Pacaraima range.

It is evident that the court attempted simply to compromise, as it seemed virtually impossible to settle the case upon its merits, and in effecting such a compromise an effort was made to follow natural boundary lines as far as possible. This latter fact will greatly aid the commissioners from the two countries who are now erecting the boundary stones, as there is but comparatively a small part of the long line that is not marked by rivers.

It is quite probable also that considerable new and valuable information regarding the resources of this almost unexplored and undeveloped country may be ascertained by the commissioners as they work their way up the rivers, through the tropical forests, and over the high mountain ranges.

The gold fields, which were supposed to have figured so prominently in the controversy, remain practically as they were, each government retaining the fields which they have been working for some years past, with the exception of one locality through which the original Schomburgk line ran that has now been awarded to British Guiana. But it deprives England of the gold fields near Guacipati, which she claimed.

Venezuela has yet other boundary disputes to settle, as but few of her boundaries have ever been definitely fixed. Her claims of territory to the south and west are sadly mixed with those of Brazil, Colombia and Ecuador, but it is not probable that these claims will ever lead to serious difficulties, as before the time arrives when the disputed territory becomes of sufficient value to fight over it is and the modified Schomburgk lines, of which we heard so much through the year 1895, gave to England a hold upon the mouth of this stream that would mean the blocking of the commerce upon it if England so desired.

It has been generally conceded that more common sense than documentary evidence was used by the arbitration court in the settlement of this long-standing dispute, though the boundary as finally fixed coincides, except in two small particulars, with the line drawn in 1840 by the British commissioner, Sir Robert Schomburgk. The joint claim over the mouth of the Orinoco had been the subject of continued diplomatic correspondence between England and Venezuela for years, and a number of hoped that universal arbitration as a means of settling such difficulties will have displaced war.

Some Men Who Are Helping to Make the History of the World

Army officials generally approve the selection of Col. Cornelius Gardener to be the governor of Tabayas province, Luzon island, as a wise choice.

Col. Cornelius Gardner.

It is not an easy task that confronts Col. Gardener, but army officers say that he is as well or better fitted to solve the difficult problems that will arise than any other man that might have been selected, and, as a rule, army officers are not given to undue praise.

It is his ability as an organizer, his tact in handling men and his personal magnetism that fit him so admirably for the difficult position which he has been called upon to fill. He has had a long training in the army, having graduated from West Point in 1873, and served with distinction through the Indian campaign of the seventies and eighties in the west. He has solved the difficult problems to be encountered in the recruiting, training and disciplining of a regiment of men, having been placed in command of the Thirty-first regiment of Michigan volunteers at the outbreak of the war with Spain, which, though a national guard regiment of considerable soldierly qualities and training, yet which, when recruited to its full war strength, was composed of at least 50 per cent. of undisciplined and untrained men. A second, and even more trying, experience came when he was placed in command of the Thirteenth United States volunteer infantry, recruited in 1899 at Fort Sheridan. Here he had to take officers and men that were to a great extent new and untrained, and he made of them one of the best of our volunteer regiments that have seen service in the Philippines, and it was with considerable regret that the men of the regiment departed from Manila on their way back to this country without their colonel.

Col. Gardener is a native of Michigan, and in the regular service is a major in the Thirteenth infantry.

Twice Declined the Proffered Honor.

It is not often that a seat in the French Academy is declined, and especially by a Frenchman, yet Jules Verne has twice refused to accept such an honor. The first time 28 years ago, and the second time but some few weeks ago.

Jules Verne.

In expressing a reason for thus declining the proffered honor the great writer of physical science stories said that between the time of his declination and the second offer 59 members of the academy had died, and if academicians be immortal it was not the academy that had made them so.

He was probably right, and of the long list of those who have died in that time there are but few whose fame as writers will live with that of Verne. He has endeared himself to the people of every reading nation by his tales of wonder, and to none more than to Americans. This is accounted for by the number of American characters that he has put in his books, and by the number of distinctly American stories which he has given us. Of these latter his "Californian Mystery," "The Blockade Runners," and "An American Uncle" attracted probably the greatest attention as distinctly American, though some of his other works had a larger sale both in this and other countries. In all of his writings in which he has introduced American characters he has shown that he believed in America and its institutions, and appreciated its power and its people.

The great story writer is now 73 years old, having been born in Nantes, France, February 8, 1828. By his writings he has accumulated a great fortune, and is now living on the income from it at a beautiful home at Amiens, France. He has not yet outgrown his usefulness as an entertaining story writer, and new books from his pen may be looked for before he is called to join the "great majority."

The Queen's Biographer.

The phenomenal sales of the great books of the past century, both biographies and autobiographies, will undoubtedly be far surpassed by the forthcoming biography of Queen Victoria now nearing completion by the masterful writer, the duke of Argyll, son-in-law of the late queen, husband of her fourth daughter, Princess Louise.

Duke of Argyll.

Such a work will have a remarkable sale throughout the entire civilized world, and coming from the pen of one so closely associated with the queen as the duke of Argyll it will have an exceptional value.

The duke, who succeeded to his title last year, being formerly known as the marquis of Lorne, is not a novice in the literary field. In his time he has produced many valuable books, and is looked upon as a leader in the English world of letters. One of his works which had a number of years ago a large sale in this country, was entitled "The United States After the War." It was among his earliest literary works, being published in 1865, but it displayed a master hand, and while written by an Englishman, and so not wholly in keeping with American views in all things, was generally accepted as a valuable review of the situation.

Of his work along more familiar lines may be mentioned his volume on "Imperial Federation," "Memories of Canada and Scotland," "Canadian Pictures," and the less notable "Tales and Poems," "Windsor Castle," "Psalms in English Verse," etc. But the greatest of all his works was undoubtedly his "Life of Palmerston," and this gives us an idea of his power as a biographer.

By the death of his father he succeeded to many high titles, to an estate of 170,000 acres, to a magnificent home and to a treasure house of rare books and paintings and valuable trophies. Among these may be mentioned paintings by Gainsborough, relics of Mary Queen of Scots, sole complete copy of the first book printed in Gaelic and Bishop Carsewell's translation of John Knox's liturgy printed in 1567.

A Royal Engagement.

Grand Duke Michael, heir presumptive to the throne of Russia, is going to marry the English Princess Victoria, daughter of King Edward VII. At least this is the burden of the present gossip of European courts. This marriage, if it takes place, will be one of political convenience, for it is commonly known that Michael is deeply in love with Grand Duchess Helene, daughter of the late czar's brother, Vladimir. Being first cousins, the reigning sovereign would not give his consent to this match, on the ground that it would be within the prohibited degrees of propinquity defined by the Russian church. Why this same objection will not hold good in the present case it is hard to see, for Michael and Victoria are also first cousins.

Grand Duke Michael.

Princess Victoria is one of the prettiest young women of the blood royal in Europe, and one of the best loved. She has had numerous suitors, but no pressure has been brought upon her to marry. Her spinsterhood (for she will be 33 years old next July) has been explained by a story to the effect that there existed at one time an attachment between the princess and a certain young lord, who left England in his youth. It is also reported that she was very much pleased with Prince George of Greece, but the affair never came to anything of a serious import. Michael is ten years younger than his alleged fiancee, having been born November 22, 1878. He was the third son of the late Alexander III., whom he very much resembles in face, figure and character. It is said he would make a most popular ruler should he ever come to the throne. He became heir presumptive by appointment of the czar on the death of Grand Duke George, an older brother.

Liked Canada Best.

It was quite fitting that the ancestors of Robert Laird Borden should have removed from this country to Canada. They resided in Connecticut during the revolutionary war and were pronounced tories. So strong was their liking for the government of King George that when the patriot army had won the independence of the struggling colonies, and Lord Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown, the whole Borden family shook the dust of the country from their feet and migrated to Canada.

Robert Laird Borden.

Their going created no commotion at the time, nor were they received with any undue manifestations of joy by the Canadians with whom they chose to cast their lot, but to-day descendants of the house of Borden of Connecticut origin have risen to proud positions in the Canadian government, and Robert Laird Borden has been chosen leader of the opposition forces in the Canadian parliament at Ottawa.

Like his ancestors, the new Canadian leader came near being an American. Before he had attained his majority he had accepted a professorship in the Glenwood institute in New Jersey, and for a time expected to make America his permanent home. But his family ties were all in Canada, and after a short time he returned there to take a place in Canadian politics with other members of the family. He is now 46 years old, represents Halifax in the Canadian parliament, and is a cousin of F. W. Borden, minister of militia in the present Canadian cabinet.

BASEBALL.

The Lenox baseball club, of New York city, would like to arrange games with teams offering suitable inducements for Saturdays and holidays. The St. Mary's and Leal's School preferred. Address, Charles J. Krank, 705 Cauldwell avenue, New York city.

Elizabeth is to have a professional and amateur baseball team next summer. Harry N. Fitch and Herman Fredericks will manage the professional team, while the Y. M. C. A. will manage the amateur team. The association has leased the Walnut street inclosed grounds. The association also expects to place a strong football team in the field next fall. The amateur baseball team will be composed of the best players in Elizabeth and vicinity.

GOLF.

The first meeting of the Westfield Golf Club to be held in the new club house will take place Saturday evening when important business will come up for consideration and it is desired that all members be present. To reach the club house from either Plainfield or Westfield take trolley cars and get off at Jerusalem road and then walk to the right a short distance to the club house.

Mr. Evarts is Dead.

New York, Feb. 28.—William M Evarts, the celebrated lawyer and former Secretary of State died at his home in this city at 9:10 o'clock this morning after a brief illness of pneumonia.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Was Not Put Off Car.

Whitney Frazee, the parcel expressman says that he was not put off one of the trolley cars at Elizabeth. The story gained circulation, he says, owing to the fact that he boarded one of the small cars at Elizabeth and then got off again, deciding to wait until one of the larger cars made the trip. He did so because the car was filled and he had many bundles and did not want to occupy too much room.

Something the Matter.

There is apparently something wrong with the drainage of the street at the corner of West Front street and Plainfield avenue, as the surface water does not run off as it should. A little attention on the part of the street commissioner would easily remedy the difficulty.

Resigned as Cashier.

Miss L. T. Mills, who for the past four years has been in the service of the U. S. Express Co. has tendered her resignation as cashier of the local office to take effect tomorrow. She will be succeeded by Alfred Trenchard, of the borough.

Eighteen Patients at Hospital.

Quinine and Whisky.

A Kensington doctor, whose practice is largely among the mill hands of that district, tells an amusing story at the expense of an old Irishman. Both he and his wife were taken with severe colds that threatened to develop into grip, and the doctor advised quinine and whisky as an antidote. "You must both take it," he said. "Take it every three hours—two grains of quinine and a swallow of whisky." The next day he called again. The man was up and about, but his wife was in bed. "Did you follow my instructions?" asked the doctor. "To the letther," replied the husband. "How much quinine have you left?" was the next question. "Sure, Oi t'ink she have taken th' whole av it," said the man. "And didn't you take it, too?" asked the doctor. "Divil th' bit," was the reply. "Begorrah, it kept me busy takin' th' whisky every toime she took a pill, an' sure she's in bed an' I'm up."—Philadelphia Record.

The Growth of Golf.

A surprising growth in the game of golf in America is shown by Harper's official golf guide for 1901, just published. Details are given of 1,037 courses existing last season, against less than 900 the preceding year, and the aggregate investment of money must be very large. New York state is first in the list with 164 courses, but Massachusetts, the second, shows a much greater concentration of golfing culture with 158. Idaho and Indian territory remain the only sections of the country without golfing organizations, but as Oklahoma and Wyoming have not entirely disdained the sport there is still hope. Possibly golf is destined to wield a softening influence in those unregenerate communities.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

A Bimoral Fable.

When the New Reporter came in to write his first Story, after Adopting Journalism, the Hardened Sinners in the office began to offer Bets. One and all wanted to bet Ten Dollars that he Would.

Just to Accommodate them, a Foolish but Sportive Stranger took them up.

And when the New Reporter turned in his Copy, which told about a Circus, it was found that he had not referred to the Elephant as "the Giant Pachyderm."

So the Stranger won.

Moral—It is wrong to bet.

Submoral—But the New Reporter did not know how to spell "Pachyderm."—Baltimore American.

Lost the Stairs on a Bet.

One of the most extraordinary mementoes of gambling mania is to be seen to this day at Houghton hall, the residence of the marquis of Cholmondeley. This is a blank space where the central flight of steps leading to the entrance hall should be. The hall at one time belonged to Robert Walpole, earl of Orford. Lord Orford was a tremendous gambler. One of his feats was to gamble away that particular flight of steps. The winner carried them off, and they have never been replaced. The effect of the blank space is most singular.—N. Y. Times.

Old Superstition Fulfilled.

The old superstition that from folks dying near the seashore the life goes out with the tide was curiously fulfilled in the death of Queen Victoria. According to the official announcement the queen died at 6:30 p. m. on Tuesday. The British tide table shows that it was high water in Spithead near Cowes about 20 minutes after noon on that day. So it would be dead low water at 6:30 o'clock in the evening and at low water the dying queen of England "went out with the tide."—N. Y. Sun

CARRYING GOSPEL TO SHOPS.

REV. T. S. HENDERSON IS HOLDING MEETINGS FOR WORKINGMEN.

Conducted One at Potter Press Works Yesterday and Another at Scott Press Works Today.

The thoroughness with which Rev Theodore S. Henderson is endeavoring to spread the gospel in Plainfield is exemplified in the practical method he has adopted in going direct to the people who for good and sufficient reason cannot come to him.

Yesterday Mr. Henderson conducted a somewhat remarkable meeting at the Potter Press Works. There, during a good part of the noon hour he talked to one hundred employes and succeeded in holding their attention all the time. "Christ, the Working man's Friend" was the text from which he drew a vivid picture of the nobility of His life as a workingman He was clean; He was consistant and He was above all a Christian. Mr Henderson in conclusion implored the men to emulate the glorious precedent set for them by the Divine Toiler.

Today at 12:20 o'clock he spoke to the employes of the Scott Press Works. Charles L Lewis assisted at the service by singing some gospel hymns. Mr. Henderson claims that the most important question for a man to answer is, "What Shall I do then with Jesus?" Dismiss Him, said he, and the Saviour will return to you; reject Him and He will reject you; accept Him and He will make you a child of God; obey Him and He will lead you in the right path

At the conclusion of the meeting the men were invited to attend the evangelistic services at the First Baptist church.

As it is the only combination of all the natural digestants ever devised the demand for it has become enormous. MR. WRIGHT'S FUNERAL.

Held From the House on Rahway Road Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Charles L. Wright, were held from his late residence on Rahway road yesterday. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, was the officiating clergyman.

The casket was entirely covered with flowers. Among the many handsome floral tributes was a large bank of flowers from his former associates in the Plainfield Driving Club. At the close of the service the remains were taken to Hillside cemetery and interred. The pall bearers were from New York.

Thigh Was Splintered.

Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, of 27 Jackson avenue, who fell on the ice two weeks ago, is doing nicely. A few days ago a consultation of her physician and Dr. J. T Fritts was called and it was then ascertained that her thigh was splintered instead of dislocated, as at first supposed. A Garfield bed was procured on which the sufferer is now resting more comfortably.
